INTRODUCTION

The first Mandaean book which came into my hands was a small volume of two hundred and thirty-eight pages in a poor handwriting. It was presented to me by an old Mandaean silversmith a year or two after the first world war. This volume inspired me with curiosity, and later, when I had read Lidzbarski's translations and had studied Nöldeke's Mandäische Grammatik, I found that it contained prayers for the minor ablutions, the daily office (the 'niana) and the masiqta prayers.

An early visit to 'Amarah resulted in the acquisition of a damaged and imperfect copy of the entire codex, I mean prayers considered canonical and still used by priests. A head priest (a ganzibra) copied into it some of the missing pages, and to these I added others when I had had access to other MSS. Complete copies of the collection are hard to come by, for they are in constant use.

It was not until many years later, in the spring of 1954, that I persuaded the owner of a prayerbook, himself a ganzibra, to give me his in exchange for a money gift, for sacred manuscripts are never bought. This codex, No. 53 of my collection, is in a good hand and from it very little was missing. That little I was able to supplement from D.C. 3 and other fragments of the liturgical prayers that I had acquired or seen. It is this manuscript which is photographed and reproduced for the present volume, and into it, regardless of desecration, I have pasted numbering to correspond with the numbers in the translation, following throughout the arrangement of the prayers in the original.

Of the canonical prayers used for centuries by the priests fragments had reached Europe. In 1867 Euting transcribed the Qulasta (a word which means "collection") from manuscripts in Paris and London, and this provided Lidzbarski with the greater part of his Mandäische Liturgien published in Berlin in 1920. Whilst this volume contains all the baptism prayers and masiqta prayers, it represented only about a third of the complete book possessed by Mandaean priests. Important sections, such as the Blessed Oblation prayers and the Coronation prayers are missing.

In presenting the full version I ventured to re-translate into English, and sometimes to differ from the translations made by Lidz-barski. His was a brilliant and scholarly achievement. However, the possession and study of a number of texts unknown to him and, above all, a personal knowledge of Mandaean rites as I have seen them performed and explained by celebrants, elucidate some obscurities although, indeed, far too many still exist, for the language used by gnostics is purposely archaic, symbolic and intended to mystify. Translation often limps when forced into literal rendering of obscure passages. I have been helped by the perusal of ritual texts. These, forbidden to the Mandaean layman, contain traditional teaching about the symbolism and true meaning of the ancient rites during which prayers are recited.

That an ancient gnostic sect should have survived into our time is remarkable: that so many of their writings, their magical texts, their secret doctrine in the ritual scrolls and their liturgical literature has been preserved, is little short of a miracle.

The sect is dying out rapidly: priests are few and old and the numbers of the faithful dwindle year by year. I feel it a privilege to have been brought so nearly into contact with a religion which may before long become extinct.

THE CANONICAL PRAYERBOOK OF THE MANDAEANS

My Lord be praised!

In the name of the Great First Other-Worldly (lit. "strange") Life! From far-off ¹⁾ worlds of light that are above all works may there be healing, victory, soundness, speech and a hearing, joy of heart and forgiving of sins for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš through the strength of Yawar-Ziwa and Simat-Hiia!

I

In the name of the Life and in the name of Knowledge-of-Life (Manda-d-Hiia) and in the name of that Primal Being who was Eldest and preceded water, radiance, light and glory, the Being who cried with His voice and uttered words. By means of His voice and His words Vines grew and came into being, and the First Life was established in its Abode.

And He spoke and said, "The First Life is anterior to the Second Life by six thousand myriad years and the Second Life anterior to the Third Life by six thousand myriad years and the Third Life more ancient than any 'uthra by six thousand myriad years. And any 'uthra is older than the whole earth and older than the Seven Lords of the House ²⁾ by seven hundred and seventy thousand myriad years. There is that which is infinite.

At that time there was no solid earth and no inhabitants in the black waters. From them, from those black waters, Evil was formed and emerged, One from whom a thousand thousand mysteries proceeded and a myriad myriad planets with their own mysteries.

The Seven were wroth with me, were outraged and said, "The man who set out and came towards us hath not bound a circlet ³⁾

²⁾ "the House" = the earthly world.

³⁾ In all later texts klila (lit. "circlet") and here probably "crown", means always "wreath".

about his head!" Then I turned my face toward my Creator who created me, the celestial Lord of Greatness, and I said to Him, "O my Creator who created me, (O) Lord of lofty Greatness! As I went (my ways) the Seven were wroth with me and said, 'The man who went and came towards us hath not bound a circlet about his head!'"

Then that Lord of Lofty Greatness took a circlet of radiance, light and glory and set it on my head; He laid on me His hand of Truth¹⁾ and His great right hand of healings and said to me, "Upon thee shall rest something of the likeness of Sam-Gufna and of Sam-Gufaian and of Sam-Pira-Hiwara (Sam-the-White-Fruit?), whose radiance gleams and whose appearance beams, for they are holy and believing beings in the Place of Light and in the everlasting²⁾ Abode."

And Manda-d-Hiia, the valorous 'uthra, taught, revealed and said "Every Naṣōraean man who is righteous and believing, on arising from sleep, must take a white turban symbolising the great mystery of radiance, light and glory and shall recite this prayer thereon. And he shall twist it round his head and repeat the prayer secretly. It will be his praise in the house of the great Celestial Father. And all persons³⁾ who behold him will be subdued in his presence: any persecutor, or one who inciteth to wrath, will stand before him in fear, terror and trembling, (their knees) knocking together. And for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, who have prayed this prayer and (these) devotions, there will be forgiving of sins and I shall be pure in all my words. And Life is victorious. [This is the prayer of the turban].

Illumined and illuminating is⁴⁾ Zihrun, the great Mystery of radiance, light and glory, from whom Manda-d-Hiia emanated and was divulged, and from whose very Self noble sons of the mighty and sublime Life proceeded. He created 'uthras at his right and his

²⁾ Tagna has a double meaning (a) lustrous, gleaming (b) enduring, durable, constant (particularly when in antithesis to baṭla in daura baṭla, "the abode that comes to nought").

³⁾ Almia ("world") is also "persons".

⁴⁾ Zhir umzahra also = "secure and assured". A play on words.

left and installed them in their own škintas.¹⁾ And they gave out light and were effulgent in their own raiment and gloried in the knowledge that their Father had transplanted them from the House of Life. And it is incumbent²⁾ on a pupil to honour his Master like his parents, (so) the 'uthras rose on (their?) thrones of radiance, light and glory and took off the crowns on their heads and placed them on the thrones of radiance, light and glory, saying, "A teacher is superior to parents! Rise, our Father, in praise, and lay on me Thy hand of truth and Thy great right hand of healings!" And Life be praised!

[This prayer is the opening³⁾ prayer of "In the name of that First Being"]

In the name of the Life!

Life created Yawar-Ziwa⁴⁾, son of Light-of-Life, Hamgai-Ziwa son of Hamgagai-Ziwa. Illumined and illuminating is the Great Mystery of Radiance, Zihrun, a Crown of radiance, light and glory from whom a flow of living water streamed out to the škintas. For he is the revealer (lit. opener) of radiance and light and displayeth his treasure⁵⁾ which emanated from him, to eager 'uthras. All worlds adore and praise the mighty First Life in its Indwellings, and Life is victorious.

As the 'uthras stand in their škintas they adore and praise the Great Place in the Light which is eternal, and praise Manda-d-Hiia and speak with him. When the 'uthras are standing in their škintas they adore and praise that Tarwan-Nhura. To what shall they

¹⁾ Škinta ("dwelling", "indwelling", "shecinah") is also a word used for the cult-hut, the sanctuary.

²⁾ Lit. "granted to", "permitted to".

³⁾ Or "loosing". The word šrita is applied both to "consecrating and "deconsecrating" in ritual.

⁴⁾ Yawar (act. part. YUR or 'UR) = dazzling (i.e. blinding with light).

dedicate the wreath upon their heads and upon what shall they hang it? They dedicate it to the Tree of Radiance and hang it (thereon).

And Life be praised!

[This is the prayer of dedication of "Life created Yawar-Ziwa]

In the name of the Great Life!

Let there be light, let there be light! Let there be the light of the Great First Life! There shone forth wisdom, vigilance and praise of the First Mana ¹⁾ which came from its place. He who twineth the wreath is Yufin-Yufafin: the bringer of the wreath is 'It-'Nšibat-'utria. 'It-Yawar son of 'Nšibat-'utria set on the wreath. He brought it and placed it upon the head of the implanted mana which was transplanted from guarded (?) ²⁾ manas. The wreath flames and the leaves of the wreath flame! Before the Mana there is light, behind the Mana glory, and at either side of the Mana radiance, brilliance and purity. And at the four corners of the House and the seven sides of the firmanent silence, bliss and glory prevail (lit. are found). And Life be praised!

A crown of ether-light shone forth dazzlingly from the House of Life. 'Uthras brought it from the House of Life and the mighty First Life established it in His škintas. He who setteth it up shall be set up and he who uplifteth it shall be raised up into the world of light and he who establisheth it into the enduring Abode. Ye are established and uplifted to the place (in which) righteous (beings) are established.

And Life be praised.

[This is the prayer of "loosing" ³⁾, "Let there be Light". These three prayers "In the name of that Primal Being", "Life created Yawar-Ziwa" and "Let there be light" read near thy crown ⁴⁾ and place

¹⁾ Mana = "mind", "intelligence": also "garment or robe", "vessel".

²⁾ Mania smiria "manas kept in reserve?" The language is so high-flown that any precise meaning attached to such an expression is probably incorrect.

³⁾ See p. 3 n. 3.

⁴⁾ The priest's "crown" is a fillet of woven white silk.

it on thy head. And read "Manda created me" over the myrtle-wreath and put it on thy head above thy crown. And twine a myrtle-wreath for thy staff and hold it with thy crown. And when thou goest to the jordan read "Answer me, Father, answer me!]

In the name of the Great Life!

There shall be healing for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš! Strengthened and enhanced ¹⁾ is the great mystery of radiance, light and glory which resteth on the mouth of the Great Life! for from it came into being and was manifest ²⁾ Knowledge-of-Life (Manda-d-Hiia) who knew and interpreted the thoughts of the First Life, which are wondrous.

And Life be praised!

[Read this prayer and hold thy pandama ³⁾ for thy baptism.]

Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for the mighty, first, sublime Life from worlds of light, the Ineffable above all works! for the ancient Radiance and for the Primal Light, for the Life which emanated from Life and for Truth (Kuṣṭa) that was pristine, from the beginning.

Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for Yukabar-Ziwa who was mighty in his radiance, and came in his light and his glory (as) messenger ⁴⁾ to the first righteous elect (people). He crossed over the worlds and came and rent the firmament and revealed himself.

Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for Yuzaṭaq-Gnosis-of-Life, source of Life, who interpreteth silence and giveth hope and taketh ⁵⁾ the prayers of spirits and souls of righteous and believing men, the virtuous and wellpleasing, into the Place of Light and into the Eternal Abode.

²⁾ Read ḡ-hua up̄ta as in D.C. 3.

⁴⁾ Sumerian aš-gan-da "minister, messenger", Accadian ašgandu. The name given to the helper or server at Mandaean rites.

⁵⁾ Read uahid as in D.C. 3 and M.L.

Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for the Father of 'uthras, the Ancient, Lofty, Occult and Guarded, the Man who is high (yet) remaineth deep and hidden. He seeth and understandeth that which the worlds and generations do in the worlds of darkness.

Incense that is fragrant, incense, that is fragrant! yea for the dwelling of Life and the planting of 'uthras. Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for the dwelling of four beings, sons of Perfection. Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea for the Dwelling of Abathur. Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for the dwelling of Hibil, Šitil and Anuš¹⁾, sons of a living, brilliant, healthy and steadfast stock, beings not removed by sword, nor burnt by flames of fire, nor drowned in water-floods; whose (very) sandal-straps on their feet are unwetted by water. They sought and found, went to judgment and were vindicated, spoke and were heard. They are complete, lacking in nought; perfect are they and not imperfect. They came from a pure place and go to a pure place.

Incense that is fragrant, incense that is fragrant! yea, for the lives of the men who were our ancestors, of righteous and believing men who rendered up (their souls) and departed from their bodies; and of those who yet live in their bodies. They testified and the door of Sin will be shut to them and the door of light open to them and they will be knit together in the union of Life, in which there is no separation.²⁾ Pray ye for us from there, and we will pray from here for you! All fruits perish; all sweet odours vanish, (but) the perfume of Life is established for ever and unto world's end, upon those who love His name of Truth.

Those souls who descend to the jordan and are baptised shall be without sins, trespasses, follies, mistakes and evil deeds: they will rise and behold the great Place of Light and the Eternal Abode. And praised be the Great Life in light. And Life is victorious.

[This saying, "Incense that is fragrant, yea for the First Life" recite over both incense and sandalwood and put them before thee on the jordan-bank in a new incense-pan. And make a fresh fire on the copper³⁾ incense-pan - (these) are aids of all order which ye carried, put (lit. "performed") at the Jordan. Then read the baptismal "We acknowledged" "Praises" "Thee, Life," "I sought to raise eyes" (Prayer 77) and "Raising eyes".]

Raising ¹⁾ my eyes and lifting up my countenance ²⁾ toward the Place which is all portals of radiance, light, glory, beauty, repute and honour and to the Abode which is all beams of light; I adore, laud and praise the Mighty, Strange (other-worldly) Life, and the Second Life and the Third Life; and Yufin-Yufafin, Sam-Mana-Smira, and the Vine which is all Life and the great Tree which is all healings. I adore, laud and worship the precious and guarded Place, the secret and guarded manas and the Lord of Greatness from the Secret Place and, from the Hidden Place, the pihta ³⁾, need(?) ⁴⁾, truth and faith.

I worship, laud and praise Sam-Smira, the great radiancy of the First Life, son of the Great Primal Life who thought and was manifest, seeking His own: His shecinah resteth on waves of water. The assembly of souls which proceeded from Him, on the Last Day, when they leave their bodies, will rejoice in Him, will embrace Him and will rise up and behold the outer Ether and the everlasting Abode.

I worship, laud and praise the multitudinous Radiancies and great mighty Lights: I worship, laud and praise Piriawis, the great Jordan of the First Life which is all healings. I worship, laud and praise the pure Yušamin who abideth on treasures of the waters and upon mighty celestial wellsprings of light. I adore, laud and praise the life which proceeded from Life and the Truth which existed before, in the Beginning. I worship, laud and praise Yukabar-Ziwa, envoy of the Life and the Word of the first Elect Righteous ones. I worship, laud and praise the Ancient, Supernal, Occult and Guarded Abathur, who is high, hidden and guarded, whose throne is placed at the gate of the House of Life. He sitteth with the scales set before him,

²⁾ Read gilia paršufai. Lidzbarski (M.L. p. 15) translated Wellen des Antlitzen. Gilia suggests rounded contours, hence "features". In translation it is best omitted.

³⁾ Pihta, "the opened", "The "opened up" is the sacramental bread.

⁴⁾ Šarka. The meaning is doubtful.

weighing deeds and (their) recompense. He seeth and discerneth that which the worlds and generations do. I worship, laud and praise Manda-d-Hiia lord of healings, the being whom the Life summoned and bade him heal the congregation of souls, divesting the congregation of of souls of (their) darkness and clothing them with light; raising (them) and showing them that a great restoration of life exists, a place where the spirits and souls of our forefathers sit clothed in radiance and covered with light; showing the great restoration of life which is before them.

I worship, laud and praise Šilmai and Nidbai, the two delegates of Manda-d-Hiia, who rule over the great jordan of Life, for they baptise with the great baptism of Light.

And Life is victorious.

IO

On the day that the Jordan was bestowed upon Sam-Smir, the great pure radiance¹⁾ of the First Life which flowed forth²⁾ from Him, Bihram and Ram-Rba-Hiia went with him³⁾ (and?) four hundred and forty-four thousand myriads of 'uthras, sons of light, who descended to the jordan. He baptised them and they rose to the bank. He raised them up and conferred upon them some of the glory and some of the greatness which was (conferred) on himself.

And Life is victorious.

II

I have worshipped and praised that Yawar-Ziwa whose škinta is situate in the world of Outer Ether and in the Enduring Abode. I have worshipped and praised the seven holy and guarded mayas which were transplanted from it. I sought in prayer the First Life, and, in the presence of the mighty sublime Life, discovered that which offendeth in myself, (in me), Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš

¹⁾ "The great pure radiance" must refer, not to Sam-Smir, but to the Jordan,

²⁾ The verb NGD as Lidzbarski comments, (M.L. p. 18, n.1) is usually connected with water or with the drabša (light or banner. The mss. vary, D.C. 53 ngad, D.C. 3 ngid: M.L. has 'tingid).

³⁾ The first part of the hymn is obscure. Were it "aus Bihram" as Lidzbarski translates, it would be minh mn Bihram, moreover, the word ma before "four hundred" is meaningless. The baptist is Sam-Ziwa, although one would expect Bihram-Rba to be the officiating baptist. The formula at baptism is "Thou art immersed (baptised) with the baptism of Bihram-Rba". The names of Bihram and Ram are coupled in Prayer 25.

and about what which causeth my friends to offend, and my friends' friends and the friends of the great Family of Life.

And Life is victorious.

[Pray these three prayers, " Raising eyes", "The day that the Jordan was bestowed" and "I have worshipped and praised that Yawar-Ziwa" on the jordan-bank after "I sought to raise eyes". They are the helpers (aids to) baptism.]

12

I am Yur son of Barit (I shone forth). In great effulgence the radiance glowed (with heat?). The *tanna*¹⁾ dissolved and a škinta came into being, a škinta came into existence and was established in the House of Life.

And Life is victorious

[Read this prayer and grasp thy kanzala (stole).²⁾ It is the opening prayer for the jordan. Then recite "I went to the jordan"].

13

I went to the jordan, but not I alone, (for) Šilmai and Nidbai, my helpers, went with me to the jordan; Hibil and Šitil and Anuš went with me to the jordan - they who baptise with the great baptism of Life. Piriawis-Ziwa and Piriafil-Malaka give free movement³⁾ to the limbs of my body!

I go down before these souls whom the Life delivereth and saveth, and protecteth these souls from all that is evil and from those who give nothing, but take away; and from those who lend nothing and

²⁾ The kanzala, a long strip of white material, is used to loop round the staff when the baptist goes into the river and sticks the end of his staff in the river mud. The loop prevents the staff from floating away, and frees both the baptist's hands.

³⁾ D.C. 53 pralia hindamia, D.C. 3 pralia handamia, M.L. prulia handamia. See also p. 17. The verb PRA (cf. פִּרַע "to break through", "to loosen") also means "cause to move or to flow". (See Pet. v. 17: 20; D.C. 36: no. 174 etc.) when used for the command to clear channels to the baptismal pool so that water may flow through it without obstruction.

(yet) are paid back; and from evil spirits which hasted yet did not arrive, and from liliths which fell down and did not arise.

Their hands fell (powerless) on their knees; their eyes were blinded and unable to see and their ears became deaf and unable to hear. In your names, Šilmai and Nidbai, and through the strength of Hibil, Šitil and Anuš, secure, seal and guard these souls who go down to the jordan and will be baptised, by the great seal¹⁾ of Yuzataq-Manda-d-Hiia, the healer, whose strength none can attain.

And Life is victorious!

[Recite until thou reachest (the words) "Piriafil, loosen the limbs" (etc.). And descend (into the water) up to a fourth of thy thighs. If thou art baptising a single soul, say "my body, and I go down before this the soul of N."

If there are several souls, recite as written (above), and at the place where it said "secure, seal and guard" say "secure, seal and guard this soul of N. and establish it" and then recite thy saying over the staff.]

In the names of Yusmir the First Vine, from whom Yawar took a staff of water and went to the bank of the jordan, covered, as it were, with radiance and clothed in light. Over it he pronounced secret sayings - these mystic names: "In the name of Yusmir-Yusmir, and of Sam-Mana-Smira; in the name of Hauran-Hauraran by which the first Yawar raised up 'uthras, flourishing Vines of life, in the jordan. By it (by its power) Hibil raiseth up living souls in the jordan, those worthy of the great Place of Light and of the Everlasting Abode. By it they will be established and raised up in the House of the Mighty Life. It will raise these souls who go down to the jordan and are baptised: they will behold the Great Place of Light and the Everlasting Abode.

[This saying is for the staff. Recite it over the olivewood staff and stick it into the jordan (-bed), then recite the baptism (al prayers.)]

Bound is the sea²⁾, bound are the two banks of the sea! Bound

²⁾ Yama here refers to the tank of running water called the yardna, or, alternatively, to a shallow part of a river. Salt water is forbidden.

are the devils and demons, the demon-visitants ¹⁾, haunting spirits²⁾, and satanic amulet-spirits. Bound are the three hundred and sixty mysteries that are in the House!³⁾

I am secured and sealed, I, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, and these souls who are descending to the jordan and will be sealed by the seal of the Mighty Sublime Life, and by the great MA ⁴⁾ and the great YA and the great BAZ and by the great AZIZ and by the great AS and by the great ASIN and by the sea (of?) AS. Bound are (Magian) priests⁵⁾, slaughterers⁶⁾, priests who cut up victims,⁷⁾ scorers, those who make evil signs and the seven mysteries which are in the sea. Every demon (exorcised) by name, every evil spirit by his appellation, every amulet-spirit and all idol-demons who raise their heads and show their countenances, lifting themselves in pride against the Sublime Being and directing their evil Eye ⁸⁾ towards these souls who are going to the jordan, shall be struck down and smitten by Yaha-Yaha and by Zha-Zha and by angels which were sent and come against them. Flee in fear before them! and before the glory which is mighty upon them. Depart in fear and avaunt! Seven walls of iron have been set around me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, with which Haiašum, the first Kušša, surrounded himself.

And Life is victorious.

I am a perfected gem ⁹⁾: into the midst of the worlds and ages am I cast down. I am an iron club, a great rocky crag. And Life is victorious.

17

Avaunt! flee in fear all (ye) evil, restricting, wrathful spirits! Flee, begone, be vanquished and brought to nought before the glory and light of Manda-d-Hiia! Piriawis-Ziwa and Piriafil-Malaka have set moving ³⁾ the limbs of my body: I descend (to the jordan) before these stedfast, flourishing souls of the living ⁴⁾. Šilmai and Nidbai, fly, approach, arrive! Bear ye witness to these souls who are going down to the jordan to be baptised. Ye four 'uthras, sons of light, Rhum-Hai, 'In-Hai, Šum-Hai and Zamar-Hai, be ye my witnesses on the great day of departure (from the body). Great Jordan of Life, I laud thee and adjure thee by 'Uṣar-Nhura (Treasure-of-Light), the great solace and support of life, that thou givest no room to evil beings (who are) against these souls who go down into thee. Healing shall be theirs in the name of the Sublime (Strange) Life from worlds (of light). May Life be established in Its indwellings, and Life is victorious.

In the name of the Life!

Piriawis, the great jordan of the First Life, which is all healings ⁵⁾, is afire like the glory flaming in the Tanna ⁶⁾. When Life was

¹⁾ Like Lidzbarski, I suggest that the verb should be Ethpeel.

²⁾ 'usfar in D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 (M.L. p. 24:2 'sfar). As 'usfar occurs in D.C. 21 with the seeming meaning of a cutting instrument, I take it here to be part of the name of a spirit.

³⁾ See p. 9, n. 3.

⁴⁾ d-hiia, not here "of the Life", but as translated.

⁵⁾ Lit. "healings"; plural to agree with hiia.

ardent¹⁾ and life burst forth in the great glory which flameth therein, Life arose and founded its škinta above the Tanna.

The radiance waxed ardent, the Tanna dissolved. They opened the waters and Life was established by its own waters²⁾. Yur (brilliant light) established Yur: Life was increased in power by its own radiance and by the great glory which flamed in It.

And in the waters Life established living (creatures); above the the waters fruit appeared³⁾ and a škinta was founded.

Thee do I invoke, great Jordan of Life, by (in the name of) Treasure-of-Light, the great support and solace of the Life, and by pure Yušamin⁴⁾ who dwelleth upon the treasures of the waters and upon wellsprings of light; by Yusmir, the being who united with water; by Adatan and Yadatan who sit at the Gate of Life and seek spirits and souls in the Place of Light; by Šilmai and Nidbai who bear witness before the Great Life. Behold these souls who quit destruction for construction, (go) from error to truth and (leave) the abode of fear of the deity of the House (i.e. world) for the great Place of Light and the everlasting Abode!

If he to whom I speak listeneth and he to whom I call is established (in the faith) and is knit into the communion of Life and built into the great fabric of Reality⁵⁾, I will take his hand and be his saviour and guide to the great Place of Light and to the Everlasting Abode. If I speak to him and he hearkeneth not and call to him and he is not uplifted, he will be put to the question (tortured). (But) I shall not be put to the question, because of the Word of Truth (Kušša) and its uplifting by Yukabar. And Life is steadfast in its

¶[Then cry] "In the name of Life! Let every man whose strength enableth him and who loveth his soul, come and go down to the jordan and be baptised and receive the Pure Sign; put on robes of radiant light and set a fresh wreath on his head". [Here baptise the souls. And they shall descend behind thee and shall submerge three times. And thy staff shall be (rest) on thy left arm. When thou hast signed them, say, "N, son of N. ²⁾", thou hast been signed ³⁾ with the Sign of Life and the name of the Life and the name of Manda-d-Hiia were pronounced upon thee. Thou hast been baptised with the baptism of the great Bihram, son of the mighty (life). Thy baptism will protect thee and will be efficacious. The name of the Life and the name of Manda-d-Hiia are pronounced upon thee!"

And give them three palmfuls of water to drink and say to them "Drink! and be healed and be strengthened! The name of the Life and the name of Manda-d-Hiia have been pronounced upon thee". Recite "Manda created me" over the myrtle-wreaths and place them upon their heads. ⁴⁾ When placing thy hand on their heads recite these secret names: "The name of the great mystic First Wellspring ⁵⁾ be pronounced on thee; the name of the great First Palmtree ⁶⁾ be pronounced on thee; the name of the great Šišlam be pronounced on thee; the name of the great 'Zlat be pronounced on thee; the name of the great Yawar be pronounced on thee; the name of Simat-Hiia be pronounced on thee; the name of the great Yukabar be pronounced on thee; the name of the Mana and its Counterpart be pronounced on thee; the name of the Great Mystery and the secret sayings be pronounced on thee; the name of the great first Shaq-Ziwa be pronounced upon thee; the name of Sam-Ziwa-Dakia, the Eldest, Beloved, great First (Being) be pronounced on thee; the name of the Life and the name of Manda-d-Hiia be pronounced on thee."

When thou recitest "Bound is the sea", "I am a perfected gem", "Avaunt, flee in fear", "Piriawis" and all as it is written, speak as written if there are two, three or many souls; but if only one soul say "the soul of N. who descended to the jordan and was baptised and received the pure sign." (And pay close attention to thy baptism.)

Manda created me, 'uthras set me up, radiance clothed me and light covered me: Haza-zban ¹⁾ set the wreath on my head, mine, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, and on these souls who descend to the jordan and are baptised. Its tendrils shine and its perfume is sweet, for they (the tendrils) wither not nor do they come apart, and its leaves do not fall off.

And Life be praised!

[This is the set prayer for the baptism wreath. Recite it over the myrtle-wreath and place it on the heads of the souls that thou baptisest ²⁾].

Blessed art thou, Outer Door, and blessed art thou, Everlasting Abode! Blessed are ye, great beings of radiance ³⁾ and mighty and powerful beings of light. Blessed, lauded and honoured be the 'uthras which dwell on the jordan! Jordan! be gentle towards these souls which have descended into thee! Let healing be theirs by virtue of the Word of Truth and its uplifting by Yukabar-Ziwa.

[This is the dedicatory prayer of the jordan. When thou hast extolled the jordan, if thou baptisest several souls recite as it is written; if only one soul, say "The soul of N. who hath descended into thee" and rise to the bank and recite "I rose up from the Jordan" ⁴⁾.]

¹⁾ In D.C. 53 written haza zban, not as a single word. See ML p. 29 n. 2.

 'If I go into fire I shall burn,
 I shall scorch ¹⁾ and perish from the world!'
 To heaven I lifted mine eyes
 And my soul waited upon the House of Life.
 I went into fire and burned not,
 I came, and found the life of my Self.

"What did thy Father do for thee, Soul,
 The great day on which thou wast raised up?"
 "He took me down to the jordan, planted me,
 Took me up and stood me upon its bank.
 He broke and gave me bread,
 Blessed the cup and gave me thereof to drink.
 He placed me between his knees
 And pronounced over me the name of the Mighty (Life).
 He entered the sea before me;
 He cried aloud that I might hear,
 That I might hear he cried aloud.
 'If there is strength in thee, Soul, come!'
 'If I go into the sea I shall sink,
 I shall be overturned and perish from the world!'
 To heaven I lifted mine eyes
 And my soul waited upon the House of Life.
 I went into the sea and was not drowned,
 I came, the life of my Self I found,

¹⁾ Ethpa. KMR has a double meaning in Mandaic: "to turn over", "turn round" (or "back") and "to burn, scorch".

Yea, Life! lo, Life! Life hath triumphed over this world
And Life is victorious.

[This is a baptism hymn. Set up (recite?) the hymns, and where it says "souls" recite as written, but if it is a single soul say "amongst manas of light, the soul of N. son of N. who went down to the jordan and was baptised and received the Pure Sign" and chant "What did thy Father do for thee, Soul" and recite the antiphonal hymn "How lovely are plants which the Jordan (planted)" and "Rightly did my baptiser baptise me", "Šilmai baptised me with his baptism", "The jordan in which we were baptised", "I rejoice in my priests" and chant other hymns: "Truly do I say to you", "To you I cry, men who have received the Sign, and explain", and "A disciple, a new one, am I who have gone to the jordan-bank"

Then recite the "Blessed and praised" of Šum (Shem) son of Noah and at the place where it says "a wreath from the Vine Ruaz" (say) "will be set on the heads of these souls who have descended to the jordan, been baptised and received the pure sign and who were called, established and sealed by this baptism, and (on the heads of) our fathers, teachers, and brothers and sisters who have departed the body and those who are yet in the body". Should it be a single soul whom thou hast baptised, say "the soul of N. who went down to the jordan and was baptised" and finish.

And recite "Good is the good for the good" and end. And offer up the Petition and say the *Rahmia*¹⁾ for the souls thou baptisest. Say "these souls who went down to the jordan and were baptised and received the pure sign." If it was a single soul, say "the soul of N. son of N. who went down to the jordan and received the pure sign."

And beware: from the beginning to this point recite all thy baptism(al prayers) with care, attention and knowledge. And again perform kušṭa with them²⁾ and say to them "Kušṭa make you whole my brother-'uthras! The communion of the living hath been performed³⁾ in the manner in which 'uthras perform it in their *škintas*⁴⁾. Fragrant is your perfume, my brother-'uthras, (for) within ye are full of radiance."

¹⁾ The devotional prayers to be said daily at certain hours.

³⁾ Lidzbarski takes laf for an imperative. The act of communion has, however, taken place when this is said.

⁴⁾ Every act of devotion on earth is paralleled in the world of light, and the earthly cult-hut has its heavenly prototype.

And they shall say "Seek and find, speak and be heard!" and kiss their hands ¹⁾. If the souls be female or if the soul thou baptisest is one (woman), perform the kušṭa with them and say to them "Kušṭa heal thee and raise thee up. Thy kušṭa shall be thy witness and thine alms thy saviour. When they say "Seek and find, speak and be heard" and kiss their hands, then say to them "Your kušṭa shall be your witness and your alms shall be your saviour. Your prayer and praise will rise and obtain mercy for you. In the name of the Great Life; we have acted (according to) the goodness of the Great (Life). And we have arranged (all things?) according to Thy loving-kindness from beginning to end. We have called upon the great Jordan of Water of Life and upon the three hundred and sixty jordan in which Hibil-Ziwa was baptised ²⁾". And he (H-Z.) said "Warn them, deliver them, save them and protect those souls which went down to the jordan, were baptised and received the pure sign from adultery, theft, black magic, from going to temples and worship in temples and from eating temple-food. And eat not of that which was killed by lion or wolf, or of anything disgorged or (found) dead. But immerse yourselves and purify yourselves. Manda-ḏ-Hiia will be your helper, and your baptism will be efficacious." Then pray a prayer and Rahmia ³⁾ for thyself, and say "In the name of the Life! I worship the First Life and praise my lord Manda-ḏ-Hiia and that great Presence of Splendour which emanated from Itself". Then recite "The First Life be praised! Truth make you whole! Ye are established and raised up" and transfer thy staff to thy right arm and end (the prayer). Then return it to thy left arm and recite the "Blessed and praised be Life" of Šum son of Noah. And sit ⁴⁾ and recite "Good is good for the good" and bend thy knee, sit, and pour out ⁵⁾ at "forgiving of sins" (be there for) "our forefathers" (etc.) "and the souls of Mandaeans, priests, ganzivri, treasurers, chief men ⁶⁾ and ethnarchs" in the "forgiving of sins". Then rise to thy feet, take the pihta and mambuha and recite the eight pihta prayers for the pihta and the two mambuha prayers for the mambuha. Dip the pihta in the mambuha and recite "The Life spoke and Life opened" for thy pandama and unfasten it. Eat thy pihta and drink thy mambuha and drink the rinsing-water ¹⁾ and take a second rinsing and recite "Life is fulfilled" and "The (Great) Life dwelleth on those who love Him" and cast in thine incense at (the words) "Radiance goeth up to its place" and at the place where it says "will forgive those that love his name of Truth" he shall say "those souls who went down to the jordan, were baptised and received the pure sign, and Life is victorious". Then throw (water) beneath thy staff, recite "Good is the good for the good" and make the Petition and repeat the Rahmia for thyself. Perform the kušta with the šganda ²⁾ and when he goes down, recite "In radiance that is great am I immersed", slip aside thy pandama and honour thy crown ³⁾.]

Radiance goeth up to its place and Light to the Everlasting Abode. On the day that Light ariseth, Darkness returns to its place. The Forgiver of sins, trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes will remit them for those who love his name of Truth, and for those souls who went down to the jordan, were baptised and received the pure sign. Consuming fire will consume thee ⁴⁾ and thy ministration will be (noted?) in the habitations. The fragrance of life riseth to the House of Life, and we (too) will rise up to the House of Life: we shall be with the victorious ⁵⁾. It is our support, and our confidence is in life in the Place of Light and in the Everlasting Abode. Life is established and set up in its indwellings, and Life is victorious over all works.

[In the name of the Great Life! May my thought, knowledge and understanding be enlightened, mine, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, by means of these (prayers) ⁶⁾, admonitions and hymns of baptism, which were transcribed from the scroll The Great Wellspring. This is the baptism wherewith Adam the first man was baptised by Hibil-Ziwa when he breathed the pure mana into him and he got up, sneezed and lived.

⁴⁾ The priest is addressing the incense.

And Adam questioned, and spoke, "Through the power of Hibil-Ziwa have I attained my end!"¹⁾

Then Hibil-Ziwa arose, put on the seven vestments, and went to the jordan-bank. When Adam had placed the gauqa ²⁾ (and) fire before Hibil-Ziwa, Hibil-Ziwa twined a wreath for his staff and twined a wreath for Adam, then rose and went to the jordan and recited the prayer "Answer me, my father, answer me, for I have gone to the jordan in the strength of my father Yawar, and in the strength of Manda-d-Hiia a wreath hath been set upon the 'uthras."

Then he arose and recited "In the name of that First Being" for his crown and set it on his head, then recited ³⁾ "Life created Yawar-Ziwa", "Let there be light" and Manda created me" for the myrtle-wreath and set it beside the crown.

And he held the end of his stole and recited "Strengthened and enhanced is the great mystery of radiance, light and glory" over his pandama, folded his pandama over his mouth and recited "Incense that is fragrant, yea, for the First Life" and cast incense on the fire. And he recited "We have acknowledged," "Praises", "Thee, Thyself", "I sought to lift mine eyes", "The day that the jordan was bestowed on Sam-Smir", "I have worshipped and praised that Yawar-Ziwa" and "I am Yur son of Barit; in great radiance". And he held his stole and recited "I went to the jordan, but not I alone" up to the place where it says "give free movement to the limbs of my body; I go down," and he went down into the jordan up to a fourth of his thighs. And he recited "In the name of Yusmir, the First Vine" over his staff, and at the place where it saith "covered with radiance and clothed in light" he cast the myrtle-wreath over the staff and "clothed" it with his stole ⁴⁾.

And he recited "Bound is the sea" and traced three circles ⁵⁾

²⁾ The gauqa (a small terracotta cube) is placed on the birihia. (See MMII, p. 106). See p. 6, n. 3.

³⁾ In D.C.53 the narrative becomes directions to the priest in the imperative. I continue to use the narrative form.

thrice over in the jordan. And he recited "I am a perfected gem", and "Avaunt, flee in fear" and splashed the water in the jordan at his right, his left and in front of him and recited "Piriawis" as written. Then he chanted a hymn and said to him "Any man who hath strength thereto and who loveth his soul, let him come and go down to the jordan, be baptised, receive the pure sign, put on robes of radiant light and set a fresh wreath on his head."

And Adam descended into the jordan and submerged himself thrice behind him (Hibil-Ziwa), who took him by the right hand transferred him to his left, placed him between himself and his staff, dipped him thrice and signed him thrice in the jordan.

And he gave him three palmfuls of water to drink and recited "Manda created me" over the myrtle-wreath and set it upon his (Adam's) head and pronounced the secret names over him.

(Then) he took his hand in kušṭa over the staff and made him go up before him.

(Then) he took water from the jordan into his phial and recited the hymn "At the waterhead I went forth" and "Blessed art thou, Outer Door", and recited "I rose up from the jordan, and a group (of souls) I met". And he came up out of the jordan and completed it (the hymn). And he took up the oil and recited "We have acknowledged the name of Life", "Precious oil art thou" and "Thou wast established, First Life" over the oil. Then he signed him thrice and made passes over him thrice, and at each signing he laid his hand on his (Adam's) head and repeated those names which he had pronounced over him in the jordan.

And he performed kušṭa with him. (Then) he took the pihta and recited the eight prayers for the pihta over the pihta and the two prayers for the mambuha over the mambuha. And he gave him the pihta so that he should eat and gave him the mambuha that he might drink, and he drank the rinsing (water) ¹⁾.

And he grasped his hand in kušṭa and seated him before him and recited the "sealing" prayers, "When a jordan of living water was bestowed upon Sam-Smir, the great Radiance of Life", "Bound and sealed", "By 'Uṣar-Hiia" and the greater (longer) "Bound and sealed" and laid his hand upon him and stood and recited "Ye are set up and raised up", "What did thy Father do for thee, Soul?", "How lovely are the plants which the jordan planted and raised up",

¹⁾ M.L. omits "and he drank the rinsing". It should be omitted.

"Rightly did my baptiser baptise me", "Šilmai baptised me with his baptism and Nidbai", "The jordan in which we were baptised will bear us witness", and "I rejoice in my priests and Naṣōraeans who hearken to my converse".

And he chanted the hymns "Truly do I say to you", "To you I cry and explain" and "A new disciple am I who hath come to the jordan bank".

And he read all the hymns and homilies unto their end and recited "Blessed and praised be Life" of Šum son of Noah and "Good is the good for the good". And he recited "In radiance that is great am I immersed" and loosed his kanzala (stole) and "honoured" his crown ¹⁾.

And Life is victorious.]

[Then Hibil-Ziwa gave judgement and said "The Life hath anathematised and Manda-d-Hiia hath cried out against and the Great First Word hath pronounced against any man, priest, who performed a baptism without his pandama. He shall be accursed by the Name (Vein) ²⁾ of the Great Wellspring: Šilmai and Nidbai the guardian 'uthras of the jordan will curse him and the Wellspring and Palmtree will curse him. Yukabar will take away his crown and his seal and hurl him back to his natural home, the Place of Darkness. Moreover, before any Naṣōraean who retains his pandama whilst performing a baptism, a vein of the Great Wellspring will heap up and all that he doeth will be confirmed. All mischances will avoid him and darkness will roll away from him. His vestments ³⁾ will be kept in our safekeeping. Whilst he is alive in his body the Seven will be powerless to loose fear against him and lofty strength will be sent to him.

When he departeth the body the clouds which precede 'uthras will come towards him and dread of purgatory-demons ⁴⁾ will be powerless over him (for) he will not pass through the Purgatories ⁴⁾.

And Abatur will clothe him in his glory and all the 'uthras will shed their light upon him.

²⁾ D.C. 3 and M.L. both have širiana for kiniana.

³⁾ D.C. 3 has "his head".

⁴⁾ Mandaean literature, especially the Diwan Abatur, justifies this translation. The planetary watchhouses are places of purgation.

This is the limit ¹⁾ (end) of the baptism which came to this world, the (baptism) wherewith Hibil-Ziwa baptised Adam the first man and it was preserved in the ages for the elect righteous, for it was written down in the scroll of the Great Wellspring belonging to Ramuia son of 'Qaimat. And Bayan-Hibil son of Brik-Yawar wrote it here and distributed it amongst a hundred Naṣoraeans, (copying) it from his own scroll which he copied from the scroll of Ramuia son of 'Qaimat. ²⁾

It was written in the town of Ṭib and was placed with Haiuna daughter of Yahia, and Bainai son of Zakia.

Those who hold to it, (let them) expound it. (But) he who doth not establish it, let him keep away from it and not approach it.

And Life is victorious.]

Then said Yahia-Adam son of Sam-Saiwia, "When the scroll of Ramuia son of 'Qaimat found in the possession of Haiuna daughter of Yahia and Bainai son of Zakia came into my possession ³⁾ I put it together and arranged it as it was written originally, and removed nothing from it.

And Life is victorious.]

According to the Haran Gawaita it was the first settlement of the Naṣoraeans when they migrated from Harran under the protection of the Parthian kings. In the name of the Life!

Water of Life ²⁾ art thou! Thou art come from the Place which is life-giving and art poured forth from the House of Life.

(At thy) coming, Water-of-Life, from the House of Life, the good come and refresh themselves, (but) the wicked are discomfited and the children of (this) world abashed and say "Is there (not?) room for us in the Place of Light? We have sought and found and we have spoken and been heard in thy presence, Manda-d-Hiia, lord of healings. As water when poured out falleth on the earth, so (too) so doth evil fall abased before good. As the water falleth on the earth, so shall their sins, trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes be loosed from those who love the name of Truth (kušṭa) and from the souls of this masiqta, and from (the souls of) our fathers, teachers, brothers and sisters who have departed the body, and those who (still) live in the body And say "Established is Life (or "the living") in Its (their) dwelling".

Hail ³⁾ to the First Life before Whom none existed, the Sublime from worlds of light, the Ineffable which is above all works; to the Ancient Radiance and the Great Primal Light, the Life which emanated from Life and the Truth that was of old, from the beginning. silence ¹⁾, giveth hope and keepeth the prayers of the spirits and souls of righteous and believing men into the Place of Light. Hail to the life of sincere and believing men who have come to their end and departed the body, and hail to those who are still alive in the body. May the gate of sin be barred to them and the gate of light be open for them. May they be knit together in the communion of Life in which there is no separation.

Pray ye from there for us and we will pray from here for you. All fruits wither: all sweet odours pass away, but not the fragrance of Gnosis of Life, which cometh not to an end nor passeth away for an age of ages and for world without end. May the souls of this masiqta rise up without sin, trespass, folly, stumbling and mistake unto the Place of Light and to the Enduring Abode.

And Life be praised!

[Read this ordinance for the incense and cast it on the fire. Then recite the prayers for the masiqta.]

In the name of the Life!

I sought to lift my eyes, shoulders and arms towards the Place which is all life, radiance and glory, the place where which is all life, radiance, light and glory; a place where they who seek of it find, those who speak of it are heard and to those who ask of it, it is given them, day by day and hour by hour. This hour I address to thee, my Lord, Manda-d-Hiia, a vital petition, large and not small, for this congregation of people ²⁾ who have bent their knees to the ground and stretched forth their hands to the intermediate and upper (worlds). They have forsaken images, pictures and idols of clay, gods (made) of blocks of wood ³⁾, and vain rites, and have testified to the name of the great, strange (sublime) Life. To them the gate of sin is closed and for them the gate of life is open. May our request, our prayer and our humble submission rise before the supreme Life which is above all works.

Before thee (in thy sight) all hands are thieving, all lips have lied. Water is in the jordan. Before thee (in thine eyes), Manda-d-Hiia, no man is clean: we are slaves who are all sin, and thou a lord who art all mercy. When thou art with us, who shall conquer us and if thou justifiest us who will convict us? Judge us not after the fashion of earthly courts of law; despise us not for our follies and associate us not with the false rites practised by the worlds and generations.

²⁾ Cf. ܡܫܝܩܬܐ "a body of people, congregation, company".

³⁾ Cf. ܡܫܩܠܐ: plu. "tree-roots cast up by flood".

The worlds thrust hard at us, but we fell not. Backed by the Truth which is thine own, we have perfect confidence.

Establish life, and wilt thou not establish ¹⁾ human beings? Thou hast spoken to us in thy Word and hast commanded us with thy command "Ask on earth and I will supply you with heavenly fruit: ask from below, (from) reed ²⁾, swamp and mud, and I will supply you from the lofty heavens. Make supplication with the fleshly right hand, and I will bring you (what ye asked) with the right hand of kušṭa. ³⁾

The first (generations) sought and found: let those that come after seek, and they will find. Seek and find for yourselves, for your friends, for your friends' friends and for those who love the great Family of Life. Your eyes shall not turn away from me unsatisfied." ⁴⁾

Thou art the father of all the 'uthras, the Support ⁵⁾ which is all light, the Vine which is all Life and the great Tree which is all things. ⁶⁾ For Thou knowest hearts, understandest minds and searchest out consciences (even) in the nethermost hells of darkness. Like a servant lying prostrate before Thee, our eyes are lifted to Thee, our lips give Thee praise and blessing seven hours of the day and the three watches of the night.

Those who seek of Him find, and to those who ask of Him it will be given. For to him that standeth at a closed door Thou wilt open the closed door. In the Place of Light Thou wilt wipe away and remove from us our sins, trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes and wilt cast them into the hells of the earth and the nethermost limbos of darkness. Thou wilt raise us up as sinless and not as guilty, as virtuous and not as vicious before thee, Manda-q-Hiia.

The good behold and are refreshed: the wicked are discomfited and the children of (this) world abashed. And they say "Is there no place for me¹) in the Place of Light, since those who seek therefrom find, and ask thereof and it is given them?"

We beseech thee to let some of thy radiance, thy light and thy glory rest upon us. Thou art the Healer above all means of healing, a Raiser-up above (all) that raiseth up, a Radiance above all radiances and a light above all lights. For thou openest doors of truth and revealest mysteries and wisdom and showest forth mighty deeds in Jerusalem. Thou confineest demons and devils and frightenest away the gods from their high places. Great is thy name and praised is thy name! Thou art the counterpart of the Life, for thou wast in existence before all. Thou art the Vine, for thou wast in the Ether above heaven and above the earth. When worlds came into being and creations were called forth, thou didst hold in thy grasp the worlds and generations. Thou hast laid down a road for sincere and believing men to the Place of Life. (Though) spirits and souls sit (here) as guilty, (yet) by thy name they shall rise as innocent, (thy name of) Yuzataq-Manda-d-Hiia. To support the hands of good people, thou wilt be (bring?) healing of life to the souls of this masiqta. Life is established in its indwellings and Life is victorious.

[This prayer is good for all occasions: (it may be used) on occasion for the Rahmia (daily office), or for the masiqta, or for baptism and for all purificatory rites. For the masiqta, after thou hast recited over the pandama, "water of prayer"²) and the ordinance for the incense, pray "We have acknowledged", "Praises", "To Thee", "Lifting eyes" and "I sought to raise my eyes". Then I worship, laud and praise Pirun, that great occult first Vine from whom there emanated eight hundred and eighty eight thousand myriads of 'uthras.

From Them and from those 'uthras proceeded one 'uthra, whose name is the Great Countenance ²⁾ of Glory who is (at once) less than his brethren and more venerable than his parents. Manda-d-Ḥiia, the well-prepared 'uthra, divulged and revealed and said "Any Naṣōraean man who sitteth to recite "Established is the First Life" and breaketh bread ³⁾ will receive condemnation from the House of Life,"

He arose and broke bread in secret and gave thereof to the sons of men and establisheth his Abode in secret.

I worship, laud and praise that secret saying which Yawar pronounced secretly. He made it known, and divulged and established a Life-ray therein. Radiance and light came and dwelt at his right and glory and resplendence dwelt at his left. And the 'uthras entreated the Life that they might behold the Likeness of Yawar-Ziwa in their own ²⁾ glory.

Yawar-Ziwa the vigilant 'uthra divulged and revealed and said "Sixty-four sins daily will be forgiven a Naṣōraean man who repeats this secret saying, in the Great Place of Life and the Lasting Abode".

I have worshipped and praised 'Uṣar, who broke bread for the hidden first 'uthras, so that they (find) rest in their hearts.

The holy ³⁾ 'uthras stood in their dwellings ⁴⁾ and praise the mighty Life in its Dwelling, adorable in Its radiance and wondrous in Its light.

²⁾ I.e. in the glory of Yawar-Ziwa and his Dmuta (Likeness or Counterpart) ? The plural seems unjustified by the context.

³⁾ Kasia plu. Kasīa, "mystic". "occult" can sometimes be better rendered by the word "holy".

⁴⁾ The various meanings of škinta must be borne in mind: i.e. "dwelling" "indwelling", "shedinah" and "sanctuary" or "shrine" (as of the cult-hut and its precinct).

I worshipped and praised that supreme First Vine, for within it is its Sap: its leaves are 'uthras and its tendrils rays of light. 'Uthras sit in its shade. And within the great first Cloud of Light there came into existence, within the Treasure-of-Light there was generated, the Secret Mana.

I worshipped and praised Treasure-of-Light, the great Awaker (yawar) of Life, who broke bread in the Hidden and gave (thereof) to the Mighty First Life in Its Dwelling. I praised the seven mystic precious and preserved manas who derived existence from Their Place and were transplanted from Their Treasure-house. I worshipped and praised the mighty First Life that transported Itself from Its Place, transferred itself from its own Treasurehouse in which it came into existence, was developed, dwelt and was established; and (whereof) It discoursed and wherein It had gloried.

It praiseth and speaketh, "Every Naṣōraean who reciteth these secret sayings will seek and find, will speak and be heard seven times daily. And seven sins will be forgiven him in the great Place of Light and Eternal Abode.

And Life be praised!

I worship, laud and praise that first secret Word which Yawar imparted in secret. He expounded and explained it and established therein that which is living, Rays (of his light). And Yawar said "Enlightenment and praise have come to pass". And Yawar came and his glory rested upon his own škinta. Radiance and Light came and were established before him: Glory and Enlightenment came and dwelt at his right hand. And the 'uthras¹⁾ ask the Life to behold the appearance of Yawar-Ziwa in their (its?) radiance, and to commend the prayer and praise which they pronounced to Šilmai and Nidbai, the 'uthras who are the two messengers of Manda-d-Ḥiia

Yawar hath said, "Every Naṣōraean who repeateth this secret prayer seven times daily, seven sins a day shall be forgiven him. And Life abideth in its Dwelling".

Life is victorious.

Thou, Manda-d-Hiia, hast established for thy chosen that which thou hast revealed to us from the book Nhur (Be light) and from Pta 'uṣra (They revealed treasure ¹) and from 'Uṣar Nhura (Treasure of Light), a solace, a great support of life, that which shineth in light, the light of which enlighteneth.

It (Manda, gnosis) came into being, was revealed, fulfilled and went forth in strength abundant and became mighty by growth of knowledge ²) It increased in radiance and was full of light which proceeded from the Counterpart(?) of ³) Life, a wondrous counterpart!

Thereupon the worlds were ashamed, for none had seen its like, its brilliance or its glory.

Kušṭa standeth by his friends and Manda-d-Hiia by his chosen ones.

For thou hast chosen (us), hast taken us out of the world of hatred, envy and disputes and hast set us firmly on paths of truth and faith, so that we stand and praise the holy and guarded place. And he who partaketh of this bread (pihta), put out ⁴) (for him) will be sinless in the Place of Light, the Everlasting Abode.

And Life is victorious.

[These are the prayers appointed for the pihta].

44

Biriawiš, source of living waters, first upsurging that sprang forth, great outburst of the radiance of all-abundant Life! (Be) life for the souls of this masiqta.

¹) Lit. "opened treasure".

²) Rabut manda.

³) Lidzbarski translated dimat hiia, Träne des Lebens (Life's tears), an unsatisfactory translation. "Distillation" (ܕܡܬܗܝܐ) is also doubtful. I take the word to be influenced by dmu, which follows closely, hence possibly an archaic form of dmu? See below, p. 43 n.5, where dimat hiia recurs - dmu hiia d-mn dimat hiia (counterpart of Life that is from the likeness of Life?).

⁴) Brita. I suggest a connection with "food put out for mourners" (see Hif. of ܒܪܝܬ "to strengthen, offer refreshment, esp. to mourners").

[This is the appointed prayer for the mambuha. If there are (several) souls, read as written; if one soul say 'for this the soul of N.']

Thy name, (O) Life, is excellent: its glory is great, its light abundant. Its goodness came over (or overflowed), inaugurating the First Mystery, life which proceeded from Life and Truth which existed before the beginning. This is a wellspring of life which sprang forth from the Place of Life: we drink thereof, of this Fount of Life which Life transmitted was established in the House of Life, which crossed worlds, came, cleft the heavens and was revealed.

Thou hast shown us that which the eye of man hath not seen, and caused us to hear that which human ear has not heard. Thou hast freed us from death and united us with life, released us from darkness and united us with light, led us out of evil and joined us to good. Thou hast shown us the Way of Life and hast guided our feet into ways of truth and faith so that Life cometh and expelleth darkness and goodness cometh and casteth out evil. (Like) the mingling of wine with water, so may Thy truth, thy righteousness and thy faith be added to those who love Thy name of Truth.

And Life be praised.

[This is the set prayer for the mambuga (sacramental drink). Make the pihta and the mambuha and place them (ready for) the masiqta, and then make the myrtle wreath.]

In the Name of Life!²⁾

The Light became light, the Light became light! The Light became the light of the First Life. Glory²⁾ dawned³⁾ and (there was)

²⁾ 'ruta. I am reluctant to accept without reservation Lidzbarski's translation "Erleuchtung". The root could be 'R' as the 𐌸 would disappear: derivation from 'WR or AWR or unlikely.

³⁾ Nihrai "it became light" "was light" is freely translated as "dawned".

praise of the Mana who came from his Place. He came (with) an ether-wreath, with benefits that are from the Place of Light and the Everlasting Abode. Yufin-Yufafin was the weaver of the wreath; she who brought it was 'Nišbat'-Utria (She-planted i.e. was the mother of uthras). And he who set wreath on was 'It-Yawar-Ziwa (There-is-dazzling-Radiance) son of 'Nišbat'-Utria: he brought it and set it on the head of the Mana, planted it (there) so that it was set up (thereon).

The wreath flames and the leaves of the wreath flame. Before the Mana there is radiance, behind the Mana there is light and glory, at either side of the Mana are radiance, brilliance and purity; and at the four corners of the heavens ¹⁾ and on the seven sides of the firmament dwell silence, bliss and glory.

And Life is victorious.

Enlightened and enlightening are words of light to the souls of this masiqta. Sure, assured, ²⁾ armed and prepared, resplendent and beauteous (are they) when the wreath with its mysteries is set on the heads of these souls of this ascent (masiqta) to the great gate of Abathur's house. They will open to them the great gate of Abathur's house and will guard them by secret and watchful manas. ³⁾

And Life be praised!

[These two prayers are said over the myrtle-wreath in the masiqta].

In the name of the Life!

Manda-d-Hiia went to the stars. His appearance ⁴⁾ loosed the bound (souls): he knit (them into?) the communion that is without parting and without limit or number, by his word which issued from him in that place. All the worlds were confounded: the works

²⁾ The play on words is intentional.

³⁾ Or, acc. to Lidzbarski, "in verborgenenen wohlverwahrten Gewändern bewahren".

⁴⁾ In support of his translation "des (schönen) Aussehens" Lidzbarski adduces GR 10,6 and JB 110,3. I cannot bring myself to agree, for the stars here are enemies, far from admirable. True, in Syriac we get gabra hizua "a man (of handsome) appearance" in proof of GR and JB, but hizua both in Syriac and Mandaic has also the meaning "a vision", "appearance". The reference is to Manda-d-Hiia's (or Hibil-Ziwa's) descent to the planetary purgatories in which souls expiate sins committed on earth.

of the House ¹⁾ were destroyed and there was security for sons of the Great Family of Life.

He planted his planting and descended to the earth, (where) the hand of Evil, of the Lord of the House, lay heavy upon them. And when wickedness oppressed them, they beheld his radiance, and some of the celestial fruits appeared to them, the strength and name of the Ineffable One Who is all light was revealed to them and some of His glory was communicated ²⁾ to them and Knowledge of Life (Manda-d-hiia) was revealed to all who love his name of Truth at the place which is wholly (inhabited by) those convicted of sin.

And when they beheld him, the lords of the worlds were confounded but did not, from their thrones, loose (the bonds of) the captives.

He passed by: the captives were freed. He loosed them from their sins and trespasses: yea, release from their bodies was made possible to them. And (as for) the lords of the House who looked on, their ranks were discomfited and they were unable to reach him. Yea, the name of Abathur was (set) over them and the name of Yuzataq-Manda-d-Hiia was fulfilled and revealed to those who love his name. And his name shall (aid) the souls of this masiqta: it will be his name.

And Life is victorious.

[This is the recitation appointed for the masiqta. Read it over pure oil in something (pure?) and place it before thee and then read the masiqta].

In the name of the Strange (Sublime) Life!

This, the glory and light of life, is to bring forth the spirit and soul from the body and to clothe the living soul in a living garment. Yea, she is solaced ⁴⁾ and liveth, the counterpart of Life, she that emanated from a ⁵⁾ of Life, with the Outer Life, with Hauraran and Karkawan-Ziwa, with Treasure-of-Light, the solace

²⁾ Lit. "went out over them".

³⁾ The "pure oil" of the masiqta is the expressed oil of sesame and date juice. These are pounded together and strained. Baptism oil is sesame oil only.

⁴⁾ Hadinat (Lidzbarski leaves untranslated) is probably a corruption of ha dīnat as translated; but the meaning is doubtful.

and great support of life, with life that emanated from the Life and with the truth which existed of old in the beginning. They live in their shecinahs, ¹⁾ and the Great Light (abideth) in its purities.

When any human being departeth from his body, there come towards him seven godlike appearances ²⁾, and each standeth by his own. And Šauriel the Releaser cometh - he who releaseth spirit and soul from the body. Up there, with those works, he standeth with the vesture of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-ḡ-Hiia which releaseth (the soul). And Hauraran and Karkawan-Ziwa remove from her that in her which is of the body, and she putteth on the dress of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-ḡ-Hiia. Garment on garment she putteth on, she arrayeth herself in robe after robe. When she weareth the vesture of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-ḡ-Hiia there, she laugheth, rejoiceth, leapeth for joy, danceth, exulteth and is overjoyed about the glorious splendour ³⁾ resting (upon her) and the glory that accrueth to her.

Onward she goeth in the vesture of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-ḡ-Hiia. The planets who are in their places were out of countenance on seeing it: they clenched their fists, beat on the forecourt of their breasts and say "Woe on (us) planets! for they (we) are powerless, but the works of Their hands are victorious!"

And they say "How beautiful is this radiancy, how steadfast this light, how lovely this glory and how wondrous this appearance!" And they ask "Who will clothe us with this radiance? Who will cover us with this light and who will shed on us this glory? And what is it that passeth before us in this guise? for it is fair, shining and bright: in this world nothing made can be compared to it!" And they exclaim "How good is Kuṣṭa to the good, and Manda-ḡ-Hiia to all his chosen, (those) who stand in their bodies and dedicate themselves to the name of the Life and to becoming (thus)!"

She goeth on in the vesture of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-ḡ-Hiia and they let those deeds of hers pass by and (escape) the hands of all the planets.

And on she ⁴⁾ went and reached Abathur's house of detention,

³⁾ See above, p. 20, Prayer 24 "rejoicing, laughing, dancing, exulting about the glorious splendour" etc.

(Abathur), the Ancient, Lofty, Holy and Guarded one. There his scales are set up and spirits and souls are questioned before him as to their names, their signs, their blessing, their baptism and everything that is therewith.

The soul of N. hath entered the House of Abathur and hath given her name, her sign, her blessing, her baptism and everything that is therewith!

The souls of our fathers were signed with the sign of Life and the name of the Life and the name of Manda-q-Hiia was pronounced over them. They put them in the scales, putting in their deeds and rewards ¹⁾ and weighed them. And the perfect went in (also), the spirit with the soul, but they took them out (for they were) clean. Radiance issued from the radiance of Abathur and clothed them and they brought light and covered them (therewith).

(Like them) she (the soul) put on garment on garment and robe over robe like the vestments of Abathur. There she laugheth, rejoiceth, leapeth for joy, danceth, exulteth and is overjoyed about the glorious splendour which resteth (on her) and accrueth to her ²⁾. And she proceedeth in the vesture of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-q-Hiia and went on ³⁾ and reacheth the watch-house (house of detention) of four beings, sons of perfection, 'In-Hai, Šum-Hai, Ziv-Hai and Nhur-Hai ⁴⁾. Each of these beings clotheth her with his radiance and each covereth her with his light. Garment on garment she putteth on, with garment after garment doth she clothe herself. When she puts on the vesture of the sons of perfection she laugheth, rejoiceth, leapeth for joy, danceth, exulteth and is overjoyed about the glorious splendour, the honour resting on and belonging to her.

She proceeded in the vesture of Yuzaṭaq-Manda-q-Hiia and went ⁵⁾ onwards and reached the Waters of Death ⁶⁾. The waters covered her, (but) Radiance crossed over - his name abode in his škinta: honoured and chosen, he created ⁷⁾ himself - and said "Life, I am Thine, and for Thy name's sake came I forth from the world of

And Adatan and Yadatan hand her over to two 'uthras, to 'Ušar-Hai and to Pta-Hai who open the Door ³⁾ of Life, plant the plant of Life and establish the first counterpart of the House of Life. They raised her up beside the living ⁴⁾ they bring her in, in the likeness of Life they support her in the Place where radiance, like light, flameth. And the spirit ⁵⁾ of N. went and became of the same nature as the soul and was established in the House of Life.

And Life is victorious.

[Note. The following hymn reads like pure nonsense. Lidzbarski suggested that it had been mutilated and misunderstood: Das Stück besteht aus abgerissenden schwer verständlichen, wohl auch stark enstellten Sätzen. (M.L. p. 84, n.4)].

Rightly did the baptist baptise me (in the waters of?) Yaluz-Yaluz⁶⁾ for their spring is Hammamulai ⁷⁾. My name, Ksasar-Hamamulai is spoken, disseminated, guarded, hidden and pure. They (the waters?) knew the source from which they proceeded: its name was on the

²⁾ šurik with ziwa occurs fairly often. Lidzbarski translated "Ausfluss" (cf. ܙܝܘܐ); but a connection with ܫܪܝܬ is indicated, a verb used for lightning and meteors.

⁴⁾ D.C. 3. arimlḥ kanfia hua.

⁵⁾ "Of the same nature as the soul". Commentaries say that after purification the spirit unites with the soul "as one". (ATŠ No. 282 "the twain become, as it were, a single body").

⁷⁾ 'Ulai was the ancient name of the Karun river in Khuzistan. Here, Hamamulai perhaps = "the hot springs of the Karun"? There are hot springs at Shustar.

sky, its glory on the earth. For upon treasure, in treasure, the Great Life existed and was fulfilled in Its glory.

I sit on a perfected garment ¹⁾ and by the great fountainhead of Yukabar-Hiia, beneath a Vine which riseth above me. Praise-of-Life standeth before me. "Who will manifest himself and come and speak to me?" "I am he who is manifest, for I am great". The life that is beneath me is the Vine which riseth above me, Praise-of-Life standeth before me. This is my name and my sign which I received from waves of water and from treasures of radiance and from the great and lofty Mixing-Bowl (?).

In the name of the Life!

I am baptised in the name of the Strange Life, the Sublime (Being) above all works. I am established in the name of Treasure-of-Light. Yawar from the House of Life revealed (himself?) and shone forth ²⁾, establishing his counterpart, transplanting the Great Life in his light. The worlds thrust at us, but we fell not; backed by Thy truth, we have confidence. The first sprout hath burst forth - a ray ³⁾ of the great radiance of Life in its triumphs; Truth (kušṭa) and the great Source (kana) ⁴⁾ of its glory.

52

Whose son am I? (Of?) the guarded Mana, who is Yusmir, the First Great Radiance, son of the great Primal Life, who pondered and went forth seeking His own, that which came from Him. The congregation of souls, on the last day, when departing from their bodies, rejoice in Him, embrace Him and rising up, behold the outer ether and the enduring Abode and praise the Great Life in Its light.

And Life is victorious!

¹⁾ "In a perfected garment" would make better sense, if sense were possible in this obscure hymn.

²⁾ 'Udna is "ear". In one copy only Lidzbarski found 'uṣṛḥ on which he based his translation. I suggest that 'udna is simply a miscopying of udna "and shone forth". Yawar is always associated with light.

³⁾ See p. 46, n. 2. Or, "a flash".

⁴⁾ The word has kana has varied meanings: a receptacle, collection, assembly, group, stem, race, base, fundament, origin, place of origin, source, home etc.

53

A letter, union and victory have come to this the soul of N. from the House of Life. Its fastening is water, its wreath is light, its weapon the living word, and its seal the Chosen, the Pure One. And the First Life is established in Its škinta.

And mingle the "water of prayer" ³⁾ with the wine ⁴⁾ and recite over them "Yukašar chose her (the soul) who passeth over" and recite "The Life spoke and opened" and part thy pandama and eat thy pihta and drink thy mambuha and recite "The Water of Life burst forth in splendour in its škinta.]

Yukašar chose her that passeth (crosseth) over ⁵⁾; he chose her, called her forth and established her. He clothed her in radiance ineffable and brought light abounding and covered her therewith. ¹⁾ A faṭira is a disc of dough without leaven or salt. A number of these (usually sixty) are made for a masiqta, but only two small fragments (as described above taken from a pile on the ritual table) are eaten by celebrants. The remaining faṭiria are buried in the sacred precincts at the conclusion of the rite.

²⁾ The word (always written bḥ) is pronounced Ba, and priests all say that it refers to the dove. The rite of slaughter of the dove is one of the ritual mss in a priest's library.

³⁾ See p.36 n. 2.

⁴⁾ Hamra (wine) is made just before the masiqta by macerating four raisins in a bowl of water.

⁵⁾ D.C.31 libraia (= לעברא) i.e. the soul crossing the "waters of death". Lidzbarski, M.L. 88:5, translates "den Jenseitigen". The context shows that one soul is meant.

The Great Life spoke and revealed (opened ²⁾) with His mouth, in His own radiance light and glory.

If it is for (several) souls that he has recited read as written, but if for a single soul say "the soul of N. shall be awakened" ³⁾. And say "The Great Life spoke and opened with His mouth" and part thy pandama, eat thy pihta and drink thy mambuha. And recite "The living water shone forth in its place" then rise, and read one prayer after another until the (prayer) "Yukašar chose her that passeth over" hath been offered up.]

In the name of the Life!

Living waters shone forth (in splendour) in their škinta. The robes of ⁴⁾ the good were resplendent in their place. The great Mana was dazzlingly bright in ⁵⁾ His glory. So (too) shall these living, (brightly) shining, steadfast and vigorous souls shine in splendour in the great Place of Light and the Everlasting Abode.

[This is a prayer of dedication for the "water of prayer"]

²⁾ Priests associate this short verse with the opening up of the pandama for the sacramental eating and drinking.

This rite is, according to tradition, an "opening of the mouth" of the dead, as the celebrant acts as the proxy of the deceased. Cf. the Babylonian pit pi.

³⁾ Nitiaria (see p. 48, n. 6) could also mean "will shine forth".

⁴⁾ Read d-ṭabia.

⁵⁾ l'qarh is written: (chez lui?).

Fragrant incense riseth to its place and Thou, Life, be victorious! The Forgiver of sins, trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes will forgive all those who love his name of Truth (kušta) and (likewise) the soul of N.

And Life is victorious.

In the name of the Life!

Praised be the First Life, praised be the Word of the First Life: praised be that radiance, light and glory; praised be that Light which is boundless and endless and none know when it came into being. Praised be the Lord of Greatness ¹⁾ and praised be all the 'uthras that stand to the right and left of the Lord of Greatness and praise the Lord of Greatness. Praised be my father Yawar, praised be all the 'uthras who stand and praise my father Yawar. Praised be that great first Jordan in which the First Life was baptised. Praised be all jordans of living water: praised be the fruits, grapes and trees which stand by them. Praised be all the mighty and lofty worlds of light; praised be all those sanctuaries (škinata) of the Hidden ²⁾ for in each and every škinta sit a thousand thousand 'uthras, ('uthras) without end, and the myriad myriad sanctuaries that are countless. Praised are those thousand thousand 'uthras without end and the myriad myriad sanctuaries beyond count.

Praised be all those banners of radiance, light and glory unfurled before them which give them light. Praised be the great gate of the House of Abathur; praised be all 'uthras who stand before Abathur and praise him. Praised be the three hundred and sixty scales which are set up before the ancient Abathur; praised be that first great Scales that was set up before Abathur the Ancient. Praised be that great occult Drop from which he proceeded. Praised be all 'uthras who sit upon thrones of rest and recite ordinances and masiqtas and secret prayers. Praised be those recitations, masiqtas, and secret prayers in which the Great (Life) is praised. Praised be those priests ³⁾ who sit with them.

¹⁾ A priest who instructs postulants for priesthood is called a rba and his office rabuta, so that Mara-d-Rabuta could be translated "lord of instruction".

Praised be all mountains of radiance, light and glory; praised be all roads and paths of light.

First Life! Lift up Thine eyes upon these souls called upon, raised up and signed in this masiqta and (the souls of) our father, brothers and sisters who have departed the body, and of those who still tarry in the body. Deliver them, save them and protect them from this world of the wicked and from those watch-houses (purgatories). Let thy mercy, Great First Life, rest upon them. And ye shall say "Life is established in its indwellings".

And Life is victorious.

If thou recitest for (several) souls read as written, if it is one soul say "Lift thine eyes upon the soul of N"']. •

59

Life is fulfilled in its own glory and the Great Light established by its victories.

[This is the prayer offered up for the pihta].

The Great Life dwelleth in those that love Him, and His devotees dwell in the Great Place of Light and the Everlasting Abode.

And Life be praised!

[This is the dedicatory prayer for the mambuha.]

61

An earthly wreath fadeth, ¹⁾ but the wreath of Life is fresh and living ²⁾. The wreath of an elect righteous man is set and shineth on the heads of those who love the name of Truth (kušta). The wreath is from the world of light and the robe from the Everlasting Abode. The ether-wreath is set, with its purities ³⁾, and shineth on the heads of these souls of this masiqta.

And Life is victorious.

[This is the prayer put up for the wreath of a masiqta. If thou recitest for several souls, read as written, but if for a single soul say "on the head of this soul of N."]

²⁾ Rauzia is best rendered here by "fresh and living".

³⁾ Or "victories".

62

The worlds glisten (with costly) oil, but Naṣōraeans shine with the radiance of Life.

63

In great radiance am I immersed and in steadfast light am I established. Manda ¹⁾ baptised me, Kuṣṭa confirmed me. A letter, communication (communion) and purity came to me from the House of Life. Its fastening is water, its wreath is light, its weapon the living word, and its seal the chosen, pure one ²⁾. Every man who openeth it and readeth therein shall live, shall be whole and his name will be set up in the House of Life, in the name of the great Sublime Life from worlds (of light?).

And Life is victorious.

[This is the prayer offered up for the masiqta oil.]

64

The Life dwelleth in its own radiance and light.

And Life be praised!

[This is the confirmation of the (prayer) "Yukašar chose her who passeth over". Here recite "Ye are set up and raised up" and the masiqta-hymns.]

65

Ye are set up and raised up into the Place where the good are established amongst manas of light, the souls called upon and raised up and signed by this masiqta and (the souls of) our fathers, our teachers, our brothers and our sisters who have departed the body, and of those who are(still) living in the body. Your manas shall be set up in the Light and ye will be established in the Light.

And Life is victorious.

In the name of the Life!

I am crowned with a wreath ³⁾ and lay me down ⁴⁾

²⁾ The personified manda (this time the cult-hut and its precinct)? Or Gnosis?

³⁾ Or "I have reached my end". The translation given above is probable, as a dying person is dressed in a spotlessly clean rasta (white ritual dress), and crowned with a myrtle wreath after being thrice immersed from head to foot.

⁴⁾ "Lay down" or "slept", a synonym for death.

In a dress in which there is no blemish.
 No spot is there in the dress,
 Nor is there aught missing or lacking in it.
 The Life knew about me.
 Adam, who slept, awoke;
 He grasped me with the palm of his right hand
 And gave (not?) into my hand a palmbranch. ¹⁾
 Light cast me into darkness,
 But the darkness was filled with light.
 The day that light ariseth,
 Darkness returneth to its place.
 The souls of this masiqta
 Approach a cloud ²⁾ of light.
 Their journey is to the Place of Light.
 And Life be praised.

[This is a masiqta hymn]

67

With him, with the Deliverer ³⁾
 The souls of this masiqta will ascend.
 They will behold the Place of Light
 And the Everlasting Abode.
 On their road the Seven will not detain them,
 Nor will the Judge of the False question them.
 The Life will count you in His reckoning
 And the good will set you up in their midst.
 To the place to which the good go they will guide you
 And in the place in which they stand they will set you up;
 Lamps of radiance are found before you,
 Beams of light behind you.
Kušta will come at your right
 And Piety will smoothen your path.
 For you there will be loosings ⁴⁾
 From here to the Everlasting Abode.
 For the ferry which ferries over the Elect
 Will set out towards you and take you across.

¹⁾ כַּעֲיִן = a palm-branch (of victory). Coptic. Delete la?

²⁾ Clouds act as ships for spirits.

³⁾ The Death-Angel, Šauriel.

⁴⁾ "Loosings" i.e. prayers of intercession.

(Then) from Abathur of the Scales
 A saviour will come forth towards you.
 The saviour that cometh towards you
 Is all radiancy and light from head to foot
 Like the wreath in his right hand.
 And on his two arms is a robe.
 Bestir yourselves! Put on your robes!
 Put on your living wreaths, gird on your girdles
 In which nothing is awry or blemished.
 Above your head there will be fruit,
 And there, at your time and season
 Your manas will be set up in the Light.
 Your manas in the Light will be set up.
 (So) rise up, behold the Place of Light!
 And Life is victorious.

Between the Hidden and the Radiance,
 Between Light and the 'uthras,
 Between the Hidden and the Radiance
 Stand those who question the soul,
 Saying to her "Speak! say, soul,
 Who constructed thee? who was thy Builder?
 Who built thee and who was the Being, thy Creator?"
 The soul spoke and said —
 The edified, well-constructed soul spoke —
 And saith to the Being who questioneth her,
 Said to him, "My father, One built me, One constructed me".
 One was the Being who transplanted me;
 One of the sons of salvation in his goodness
 Took (accepted) his lot (duty).
 He folded me in a wrapping of radiance,
 Took (me) and gave me over to Adam.
 Adam, in his simplicity, whilst he knew not nor understood,
 Took and cast me into a physical body ¹⁾;
 Took me and cast me into a physical body
 That is all sour and bitter fluids and decaying substances ²⁾.

¹⁾ 'Uṣṭuna a column, pillar, support, is also used for the trunk of the body, especially of cosmic man.

²⁾ In ATŠ.: 'lania bišia kē šatin mia hiia gidia umraria u'lqia hauia 'lauaihun [Evil trees when (although) they drink living water, sour, bitter and rotten (fruit) will be upon them].

(There) the soul remaineth and waiteth in the hostel of the body
 Which he had bequeathed her: sitteth and watcheth over it
 Till its measure and count were accomplished.
 When its measure and count were accomplished
 The Deliverer came to her ¹⁾;
 To her came the Deliverer
 Who loosed her and bore her away:
 (Yea), he who had bound her, who had loosed the soul,
 Went before her whom he had bound.
 Coming behind him, the soul hastened
 Reached ²⁾ her Deliverer, ran (after) him
 Who had bound her to her dwelling.
 The soul and her Deliverer (go):
 Her course is to the Place of Light,
 To the place whose sun goeth not down,
 Nor do its lamps of light grow dim.
 To it, and to that place, those souls
 That are called upon in this masiqta
 And signed by this sign, are summoned and invited.
 They shall behold the great Place of Light
 And the abiding Abode.
 And Life be praised.

69

Bliss and peace there will be
 On the road which Adam attained:
 Bliss and peace there shall be
 On the road which the soul traverseth.
 The soul hath loosed her chain and broken her bonds;
 She hath shed her earthly garment. ³⁾
 She turned round, saw it and was revolted
 She uttered an evil curse on the being
 Who had clothed her in the body.
 She provoked the Framers-of-Bodies, she roused him
 From the lair in which he lay. She said to him,
 "Rise up, look, Framers-of-Bodies;

²⁾ D.C. 3 miṭia. (D.C. 539, M.L. mitiḥ). "Hasted to reach" conveys the meaning better.

³⁾ Lit. physical garment.

The hollow of thy hand is filled with water!"
 The voice of the Framer-of-Bodies (is heard)¹),
 Who howleth and weepeth for himself
 And saith "Woe is me that the hollow of my hand
 Is filled with water!" And to her he saith
 "Go in peace, daughter of the free, whom
 In the house of evil ones they called handmaiden.
 Go in peace, pure pearl that was transported
 From the treasures of Life;
 Go in peace, fragrant one who imparted
 Her fragrance to the stinking body.
 Go in peace, radiant one, who illumined
 Her dark house. Go in peace,
 Pure and chosen one, immaculate and spotless!"
 Flying, the soul went
 Until she reached the House of Life:
 She arrived at the House of Life.
 'Uthras went forth towards her,
 Saying to her "Take and put on thy robe of radiance
 And set on thy living wreath!
 Arise, dwell in the škintas,
 The place where 'uthras abide, conversing;
 And Life is victorious and triumphant is Manda-ḡ-Hiia
 And lovers of his name".
 And Life be praised!

70

Blessed and praised be Life
 Who is filled with compassion for these souls.
 Praised be thou, my lord, Manda-ḡ-Hiia,
 For thou raisest up these souls and dost not condemn them.
 Praised be thou, pure Yušamin,
 For thou wilt give them thy helping hand.
 Be ye praised, Šilmai and Nidbai,
 For ye will give true witness concerning them.
 And be ye praised, Hibil, Šitil, and Anuš
 For ye will ransom them from the House-of-Dues
 And from Abathur of the Scales!

For toward you will go forth a messenger,

¹) The Fashioner of Bodies must be the unsuccessful creator, Pthahl.

And the messenger who goeth toward you
 Is all radiance and light from head to foot.
 In his right hand a kind of wreath
 And on both his arms a robe.
 Up! put on your robes, set on your living wreaths!
 Gird on your girdles that are flawless and faultless!

Above your heads there will be fruit,
 And your lamps will hang amongst lamps of light
 And will shed light.
 The Lord of Tolls will not confront you
 Nor will lying judges put you to the question.
 They will bring you liberating words ¹⁾
 From here unto the Everlasting Abode,
 The building that was built for you in the House of Life,
 Will not come to nought in an age of ages!
 And may some of Manda-d-Hiia's radiance and light
 And the revivifying-breath of Life ²⁾ rest upon us!
 Blessed is the Voice of Life
 And praised be the great Beam which is all light.
 And Life be praised.

[After thou hast recited "The Life dwelleth in its own radiance and light", "Ye are set up", "I am crowned with a wreath and lay me down", "With him, with the Deliverer", "Between the Hidden and the Radiance", "Bliss and peace there will be", "My vigilance and my praise giving", "Go in peace, Pure Chosen one", "Well, well is it for thee, soul" and the other hymns, as many as thou art able, then recite the "Blessed and praised is Life" of Shem son of Noah.

If thou readest for (several) souls, read as it is written, but if only for one soul, say "The soul of N." and pay attention, with all watchfulness, clearness of mind and studious attention and recite "Good is the good for the good"; perform kušta ³⁾ with one another and recite "In great radiance am I immersed".

And pray a prayer for yourselves and make pihta and mambuha

¹⁾ Širiata in magic texts is "exorcisms", i.e. words that liberate. Lidzbarski translates Balken (from שְׂרִיטָא, שְׂרִי).

²⁾ A free translation. Ruaha has the meaning of enlargement, refreshment, restoration.

³⁾ Just as in the Eastern Church the Pax marks a stage in the ritual of the mass, so in Mandaean rites the kušta is performed after every stage of a rite.

for yourselves ¹⁾ and eat your pihta and drink your mambuha And offer up the prayer "Good is the good for the good", perform kušta ²⁾ with one another for yourselves and (then) honour ³⁾ your crowns. And Life is victorious.]

In the name of the Life!
 Blessed and praised be the Life!
 Blessed and praised be the name of Life in the Place of Light!
 Blessed and praised art thou, my lord, Manda-d-Hiia;
 Thou and thy strength, thy radiance, thy light, thy glory and thy help.
 Praised art thou, my father Yušamin the Pure,
 Son of a transplanting of the mighty Life.
 Praised art thou, Second Life, Life that is from Life.
 Praised are ye, Šilmai and Nidbai, guardian 'uthras of the jordan.
 Praised are ye, Nšab and Anan-Nšab.
 (Praised are) ⁴⁾ our fathers Hibil, Šitil and Anuš
 The name and chief of the whole race.
 Praised art thou, Lofty Abathur;
 Blessed and established is the great škinta in which thou sittest.
 Praised are ye four beings, sons of Perfection, who go to meet the good;
 Go forth to meet the good and clothe the good with robes.
 Praised art thou, Earth of Light and blessed and praised Those who dwell in thee.
 Blessed art thou, Road of the great ⁵⁾, path of the perfect
 And track that riseth up to the Place of Light.
 Blessed art thou, Naširutha ⁶⁾ from whom the elect learn;
 From thee learn the elect, and deal out reward ⁷⁾ and pious gift ⁸⁾

¹⁾ The pihta and mambuha consumed by celebrants at the beginning of the masiqta and at its end are the ordinary sacramental bread and water. They are consumed by the priest as himself, whereas the pihta and mambuha of the masiqta are consumed by the priest as proxy of the deceased. Moreover the former is made of saltless flour, (the fašira, to which scraps of ritual food are added) and the mambuha is hamra and water.

²⁾ See p. 57. n. 3.

³⁾ See p. 28, n. 3.

⁴⁾ Missing in D.C. 3 and D.C. 53.

⁵⁾ Or "teachers", see p. 50, n. 1.

⁶⁾ A word which means true religion, the inner teaching.

⁷⁾ The fees given to priests.

⁸⁾ Offerings in kind, fruit, corn, vegetables, etc.

They deal with reward and pious gift and rise up and behold the Place of Light.

Praised art thou, jordan of living water, for from thee we obtain purity;

We obtain purity from thee and receive the pure sign.

My fathers beheld the Life and my teacher the Place of Light.

The 'uthras of light are victorious,

And victorious Abathur and the sons of Perfection

Who stand, praising the Life.

Enlargement ¹⁾ of life there shall be for the believing

Who have departed out of our midst;

The believers, the poor, the lowly and priests.

And my lord Manda-d-Hiia will lend them his helping hand.

Thankfully received are the good gifts ²⁾ (tabuta) of life,

The good gifts of life and of knowledge of life,

The pihla ³⁾ that at the name of the Life.

For any man who giveth an oblation,

His oblation will be his helper: elect and perfect men

Who bestow oblations will rise by Kušta's path.

To them ⁴⁾ it shall be given.

Of the Ether-wreath they twisted them a wreath

Of speech and hearing, of joy, purity, goodness and greatness.

A wreath from the Vine Ruaz He will set on the heads

Of those souls called on, signed, and raised up by this masiqta;

(And the souls of) our fathers, our teachers, our brothers and our sisters, of those who have departed the body and those who are yet in the body:

(A wreath like that) set on Its head by the Great (Life)

And by the Great (Life) given to 'uthras

And given by 'uthras to their priests.

Healer, whose medicine is water, come!

Be thou a healer to thy devotees,

To thy devotees be thou a healer

²⁾ Tabuta here refers to the ritual food placed on the ṭariania (sacred tables).

³⁾ I am still of the opinion that pihla here refers to the phallus which, on the table of oblation is modelled in dough and represents the male principle of creation. The meaning of the verb depends on that of pihla,

⁴⁾ With Lidzbarski (M.L. p. 107, n. 3), I read "them" rather than the written "you".

And to him that giveth oblation be thou a helper:
 On him whom thou hast healed, do thou,
 My lord, bestow soundness.
 Behold him who standeth before thee and condemn him not.
 My Lord, High King of Light, Revealer
 Whose eyes are uncovered, seeking justice
 And enacting justice for those who love it,
 Do justice on those who persecute us,
 Those persecutors who pursue us,
 And on the wicked and furious ones
 Who scheme to work evil upon us.
 If it please Thee, High King of Light,
 Look on us and condemn us not!
 Behold these souls who believed in Thee
 And for Thy name's sake stood by on earth
 And were persecuted. Show us pure ether-air
 So that we may forget earthly persecution,
 That we may forget the persecution of earth
 And the vexation of the wicked and liars.
 Strengthen our insight, our voice, our vigilance and our praise!
 Thereby the Great Life communed with thee
 And set thee up completely(?) ¹⁾ with His radiance
 And His light, Manda-ḡ-Hiia!
 And may the vivifying-power ²⁾ of Life rest upon us.
 My elect, ye shall say "Blessed be the Voice of Life
 And praised be the great Beam which is all light!"
 And Life be praised!

[This is the "Blessed and praised be the Life" of Shem son of Noah. Afterwards, read here "Blessed and praised be Life" of the souls, and then recite "Good is the Good for the good".]

72

Good is the Good ³⁾ for the good, and His nature ⁴⁾ is set upon

¹⁾ The sentence is obscure, but is addressed to Manda-ḡ-Hiia?

²⁾ Again ruaha ḡ-hiia is paraphrased.

⁴⁾ Kiniana, a word of wide meaning; "a name" (tribal or generic name), "nature", "characteristic", "qualify", etc.

those who love His name. We will seek and find, speak and be heard. We have sought and found, have spoken and been heard in thy presence, my lord, Manda-d-Hiia, Lord of all healings.

Forgive him ¹⁾ his sins, trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes and (those of) him who furnished this bread, masiqta and (ritual) food ²⁾. My lord, Manda-d-Hiia and (Thou) Great First Life, forgive the sins trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes of the donor(s) of fee and oblation, and their wives, children, their priests and those who placed (brought) this bread and food; (likewise) you, my parents, teachers, instructors and preceptors when ye support from the Left to the Right. ³⁾ And ye shall say "Life be established in Its Dwellings and Life be praised; Life is victorious over all works.

[Recite this "Good is the Good for the good" when thou readest a masiqta. When thou performest a baptism recite it, when thou distributest oil recite it, when thou recitest the Rahmia ("Devotions" ⁴⁾ recite it, and after the Rahmia. And recite it when thou partakest of the (ritual) dish. ⁵⁾

73

In the name of the Life!

A sealed letter which leaveth the world —

A letter written in good-faith (kušṭa)

And sealed with the seal of the Mighty (Life) —

Righteous men wrote it, believing men tied it on ⁶⁾,

And suspended it about the soul's neck

And despatched it to the Gate of Life.

• The soul, in her wisdom,

• Pressed her nail on the letter,

Her nail she pressed on the letter;

She imbued it with her mystic radiance,

Wrapped it and veiled it in her light.

How came it that Daium saw

That the soul bore a letter?

¹⁾ The person for whose benefit the masiqta is celebrated.

²⁾ Tabuta "goodness" in ritual refers to the sacramental food, the bread and the fruit. Lahma (lit. "bread") can refer to any nourishing food.

⁴⁾ Prayers recited at the three daily prayer-times.

⁵⁾ Patura = any table, tray, large dish or food-mat on which the sacred food is spread out. The clause is missing in D.C.3

⁶⁾ See J. 𐌸𐌹 3, "to tie around".

How was it that Daium¹⁾ saw it
 As her seven sons gathered about her
 And said "Who hath written the letter
 Whose secret no man knoweth?
 Who wrote the letter that is sealed in
 By these protective²⁾ strands?"
 The letter is written in good faith,
 And sealed with the seal of the Mighty(Life).
 Righteous (men) wrote it, believing men tied it on
 And hung it about the neck of the soul
 And despatched it to the Gate of Life.
 The soul flieth and goeth until she hath reached
 The watch-house of the Seven.
 The Chief-of-Dues, when he saw her,
 (And) the Governor³⁾, when they saw her,
 Murmur discontent⁴⁾ and say
 "Who hath written the letter
 Whose secret no man knoweth?
 Who wrote letter that is sealed
 By these protective marks?"
 "The letter is written in good faith
 And sealed with the seal of the Mighty (Life).
 Righteous (men) wrote it;
 Believing men tied it up
 And hung it about the neck of the soul
 And despatched it to the Gate of Life".
 The soul flieth and travelleth on
 Until she reacheth spirits of Purgatory⁵⁾.

²⁾ Mišra has a double meaning here, and in my translation I have tried to convey both. In general mišra is a line traced about a sacred or untouchable thing or area. It isolates that which it contains from contact. In ritual, it refers to the furrow drawn about a purified area, which is purified by water, in much the same way as the Parsi priest pours water into the protective gutter (pavi) round a sacred area. The ceremony of "the Letter" is protected by such water-containing furrows. Mišra (Aramaic מִשְׂרָא) could also mean a rope, "a twisted cord".

⁴⁾ DMDM = "to mutter angrily".

⁵⁾ The maṭaraiia, officers of the watch-houses, or places where travellers are detained at frontiers, are, as the Diwan Abatur shows, demons, spirits who torment and purge souls after death.

The spirits of Purgatory abased their heads
 And the soul passed the purgatory-spirits by.
 The soul flieth and goeth
 Until she came to the waters of death.
 As she reached the waters of death
 There came forth towards her
 A great Beam ¹⁾ of radiance (and) of life, (who)
 Grasped her by the palm of her right hand
 And brought her over the waters of death ²⁾.
 The soul flieth and goeth
 Until she reacheth the House of Life.
 When she reached the House of Life
 She uttered a cry to the House of Life,
 And when He heard her call, the Life
 Sent a messenger towards her,
 (Who) grasped her by the palm of her hand,
 Conducted her, (came) to support her
 In the likeness of the Life to the place
 Of radiance, light and beams of effulgence ³⁾;
 To unite her to (the company of) 'uthras
 And to set her up amongst beams of light ⁴⁾.
 Upon her head they placed a wreath of ether
 And took her out of the world in splendour.
 Life supported life: Life found Its own:
 It hath found Its own, and my soul hath found
 That for which she hoped.

And Life is victorious.

[Up to here recite over the flask of oil as it is put into clay up to the mouth of the bottle. And the clay must be pure and from the jordan.]

74

Bound (secured) and sealed are the spirit and soul of N. by the seal of Kuṣṭa and the great safeguard of truth by the word of Kuṣṭa and the raising (power) of Yukabar-Ziwa.

²⁾ See p. 46 n. 2.

³⁾ Read abrḥ as in D.C. 3 and M.L. p. 113:8.

⁴⁾ Pasimka = a beam or ray of light.

[This is the conclusion of the "Letter". Set (press) thy seal-ring and the nail of thy little finger of thy right hand into the clay, seal it and read this conclusion over it. And Life is victorious].

And take the phial into thy hand and recite "Water of Life art thou" over the bottle. And recite "Hail to the First Life" for the incense and cast incense on the fire and recite "We have acknowledged", "Praises", "To Thee" and "Raising my eyes"; and the bottle shall be in thy hand. And take care that thou redest to the end with attention!

And recite the eight prayers for the pihta over the bottle and the two prayers for the mambuha over the bottle and recite over the myrtle wreath "The Light became light", "Enlightened and enlightening" and place the bottle on his head. Recite "Manda-ḏ-Hiia went to the stars: his appearance loosed" over the bottle and take with thy forefinger some oil from the mouth of the bottle and recite "(In the name of the) Strange (Sublime) Life, this, the glory and light of Life" and at the place where it saith "to send forth spirit and soul" say "of N." and where it saith "And Šauriel the Releaser cometh, who releaseth spirit and soul" say "of N." and at "everything that is therewith" sign the mouth of the bottle; and at "the house of Abathur" sign the mouth of the bottle. And where it saith "the spirit of N. went and became like the soul and was raised up into the House of Life and Life is victorious" sign the mouth of the bottle. Of the guarded Mana", cover the bottle with the clay and take thy seal-ring with three of thy fingers - thy thumb and the finger next thy thumb and the little finger - and recite "The sealed letter which leaveth the world" and at the place where it saith "a letter written in good faith and sealed with the seal of the Mighty (Life)", seal with thy ring and the nail of thy little finger. And until the end let thy seal and the nail of thy little finger rest in the clay. This is the Benediction of Oil, which Bihram-Rba, son of Adam, celebrated for his mother Hawa wife of Adam when she departed the body, whilst Hibil-Ziwa sat before them.

This Benediction of Oil was in the Diwan ²⁾ of Ramuia son of 'Qaimat of the town Ṭib, written by Zazai-ḡ-Gawazta son of Hawa. And Bayan-Hibil son of Brik-Yawar wrote it. Here he distributed it, with these books, amongst a hundred Naṣōraeans, from his own Diwan which he had copied from Ramuia son of 'Qaimat's Diwan that was found in the possession of Haiuna daughter of Yahia and Bainai son of Zakia.

And Bayan-Hibil son of Brik-Yawar said "Just as it was written, I wrote it and all the mysteries of the Oil were therein. As far as Jerusalem, the city of the Jews, their mysteries (sacramental ceremonies) are like these.

And Life is victorious.

Exhort those who administer the oil to be careful. If he (the apparently dying person) doth not depart the body, let them bring him to thee. Recite "In great radiance am I immersed", break open the seal, bear it away (?) and throw it into the jordan.

And when thou administereest oil, beware lest thou make a mistake. If thou hast committed an error, it will need a "masiqta of the sixty" ³⁾ for him on whom the oil falleth and it will be well. If impossible to carry him ⁴⁾ read a "sixty" masiqta for him with seven food-trays ⁵⁾, and at "that which is with her" ⁶⁾ sign him and at "the House of Abathur" sign him.

⁵⁾ The word arabata-variously spelt as arawata, (aruhata in D.C.3) — must be, I think, the rahbata or rahuata of the ritual mss. It seems to mean "spreadings". In actual modern ritual it is either a very large ṣarjana, or a tray, or an area of purified and smoothened mud upon which food-offerings are laid out for a zidqa briha. (Blessed Oblation). It occurs only in the plural. Priests translate the word simply as "food-offerings", "sacred foods" but can never be relied upon for exact meanings. רַחֲבָה, רַחֲבָה, רַחֲבָה = to be wide.

⁶⁾ Prayer 49 ma d-bh.

And in the last upraising sign him alone at bit Abatur and (then) sign the souls of our fathers.

For a masiqta thou requirest meat, water of prayer,²⁾ incense, pihta, hamra, wreath and oil. And in (on) the seven trays: - place there all that thou wishest in the trays together with those mysteries (named above).

And when (there is) a masiqta, read the homilies about the soul³⁾; let them be many, and be compassionate. It is good (beneficial) for a soul on whom oil falleth. Recite over him and over the seven *rahbata*⁴⁾ and (pray for) Mandaeans, Naṣōraeans and the faithful. And pray the masiqta prayers "We have acknowledged", "Praises", "Thee", "Lifting eyes", "I sought to raise eyes" and all the appointed prayers for the pihta and mambuha, the "bindings and loosings"⁵⁾ of the masiqta from beginning to end.

Be careful; make enquiry, display kindness, show compassion (during?) the homilies, and loose him from his sins.

And Life is victorious.

Then Hibil-Ziwa taught and said "Great disgrace will fall on any Naṣōraean who (whilst) reading the masiqta openeth his pandama or adulterates the water of prayer. He will not behold his Creator and will be smitten with that blow which was administered to the First Eldest One because he sinned and blundered before his Parents. And I, Hibil-Ziwa, will not reckon him amongst my own, nor count him as one of my own".

And Hibil-Ziwa said "Any Naṣōraean who holds (to?) the pandama and doth not adulterate the water of prayer, as long as he remaineth in the body shall have increase⁶⁾, speech and a hearing because he hath neither removed nor changed aught of that which his fathers

This is the Book of Gadana which Hibil-Ziwa gave to the chosen elect, which I have copied for myself. I am poor, lowly, child-like and striving, one whom the Seven and Twelve persecute; one of the Root of the First (Life), one insignificant amongst my fellow-priests and ganzibras, earth beneath the feet of Našoraeans and dust beneath the feet of the pious ³⁾.

I, a slave who is all sin, copied this Book of Gadana for myself so that there should be someone to commemorate my name on earth and yonder in the celestial worlds of light. For my heart hath loved the Life and mine eyes wait upon Manda-d-Hiia, who will be to me a support, a deliverer and a rescuer from the sons of Krun ⁴⁾ And I testify to the Life and to my lord Manda-d-Hiia with a true and faithful heart.

I am Rabbi Adam-Yuhana son of Bihram son of Sa'dan son of Msa'dan, Kamisia by name, Riš-Draz. I copied it for myself from the book of a righteous and upright woman, a believing (creature) whose mind is pure; in it there is no lechery, lust or harlotry. She consecrated herself to love of Truth (Kušta) and copied this Book of Gadana so that there should be for her a commemorator on earth and in the mighty celestial worlds of light, yonder. She was my own paternal grandmother, her baptismal name was Anhar daughter of Šarat. May there be for her enlargement of life! And the name by which she was called ⁵⁾ was 'diia, daughter of Adam son of Sa'ad-Juwiri. (*She copied it from.*²⁾ the copy of the great, lofty and respected R. Ram-Yuhana son of R. And now, ye priests who hold to it, be staunch to this masiqta so that there may be forgiveness for your sins, and the Life and Manda-q-Hiia and all the 'uthras sons of light will be your helpers. But we will abandon and not approach any man untrue to it.

And Life is victorious.

So these prayers were arranged from the "Explanation of Prayers of Baptism and the Masiqta" which was copied from the Diwan of Ramuia son of 'Qaimat: their father wrote (it?), Baian-Hibil son of Brik-Yawar and our master Baian son of Zakia. It was in his library. So that these injunctions were written by Baian son of Brik-Yawar. He distributed these books here amongst a hundred Naṣōraeans from his own library, which he had copied from the Diwan of Ramuia son of 'Qaimat which was housed by Haiuna daughter of Yahia and Baian son of Zakia.

For it was written in the town of Ṭib. And Zakia copied it from the Diwan of Ramuia son of 'Qaimat and Yahia (?) copied from the Diwan of Sam son of Anuš-Yahia, and Sam copied from the Diwan of Bihram son of Brik-Alaha...? and Anuš copied from the Diwan of 'Qaiam son of Šarat and 'Qaiam copied from Qaiuma son of Brik-Alaha and Qaiuma copied from Šganda son of Yasmin, and Šganda son of Yasmin copied from the Diwan Zazai-q-Gawazta br Hawa and Zazai-q-Gawazta copied from the Diwan of the First Life.

And Ramuia son of 'Qaimat said "From the day on which it fell from (was written by) Zazai-q-Gawazta son of Hawa till now, the years in which I wrote it, is (a space of) 368 years in the ages". And Ramuia son of 'Qaimat said "I wrote this Diwan in the town of Ṭib in the years when Anuš son of Danqa departed with the heads of the people (ethnarchs), in the years when the Arabs advanced".

Then Baian-Hibil son of Brik-Yawar wrote "I purified myself when I got possession of these mysteries. And I myself travelled around and went on foot to Naṣōraeans and took many diwans from place to place. And nowhere did I find "mysteries" as reliable as these Mysteries of Baptism and Masiqta and Oil-of-Uncion. I have written them here and have distributed them to a hundred Naṣoraeans in order that they may hold to and be staunch to them.

“And now, ye priests! Hold and abide by this end (purpose), like ’uthras of light who stood by these mysteries, all of them, and confirm it in a communion to which Yawar is joined.¹⁾”

“And any man who doth not confirm this end (conclusion) we will avoid and not approach him. He may go in his clothes and roll in his filth! His habitation will be the Sumqaq Well.”

Then the writing of Ram-Ziwa-Bihram son of Baian: — “I have looked into the Diwan of ‘The Great Wellspring’ of Ramuia son of ’Qaimat. Any person who writeth the Book of Gadana and removeth any of the injunctions assigned and written therein, Thou wilt place in clouds of darkness. And anyone who writeth a book of rejection, or removeth any of the injunctions written therein so that they are broken, shall be cursed with a great curse. For this is the curse which the First Life uttered and pronounced, “Anyone who becometh hostile to the Life shall die the second death of an enemy: he will belong to the Darkness; he will fall and for him there will be no uprising”.

(But) those who have not removed trust in the Life or (changed) any part of that which they wrote and taught about it, any individual, he and his opinion: and hath delivered them from their sins. . .²⁾ Moreover, anyone who cuts a copy, or extracts therefrom the name of its owner, shall be cut off (himself and sent) to the watch-houses (purgatories) of the planets. And at the Great Judgement he will stand up, but Abathur will not take his hand in *kušta*³⁾.

Life is victorious over all works and victorious is Yawar-Ziwa and his helpers, his people, his priests, and his holding (partisans).

And Life and all Its works are victorious.

Praises, praises to the Ancient, the First,
 To the Son of the great Primal Life
 Whom Life called, prepared, armed and sent Him forth
 To the generations. (Lo) Thou camest and didst open a door,
 Thou didst level a road and tread out a path,
 Didst set up a boundary-stone
 And didst knit together a community.
 Thou wast Helper, Saviour and Guide
 To the Father of the great Family of Life ³⁾,
 And didst knit it together in a Communion of Life,
 Didst build it into a great Building of sound construction ⁴⁾
 And didst bring it ⁵⁾ forth to the great Place of Light
 And the Everlasting Abode.

O callers whom I have summoned!

O nourishers whom I have nourished!

O builders whom I have raised up

And brought out from amongst the peoples, nations and tongues!

Behold, here I stand! Behold, here I dwell!

Worlds against whom I guard myself

Though your words are not far from my face,

If ye take mountains (of food) as your viaticum for eating,

¹⁾ D.C. 53 has umištaklan in the next line. I think that the verb here is ŠKLL ("restoring our souls and "perfecting our souls"), see ܫܟܠܠܐ. (M.L. has umištaklan).

²⁾ In M.L. p. 134:9 and D.C. 53 dukran: D.C. 3 has the more probable dukranan ("our mentioning", "our commemoration").

³⁾ I.e., Adam.

⁴⁾ Lidzbarski translates švara "truth" but this translation does not convey its literal meaning of "soundness" "reliability".

⁵⁾ "It" is the great Family of Life.

They will not satisfy (lit. "complete") you.
 If ye take seas for your drinking
 They will not make you perfect ¹⁾ (content you).
 (But) if with perfections ²⁾ ye stand before the Outer Life
 And before the Eternal Abode, I will count your number,
 And your reckoning shall be reckoned.
 Betimes I will come and will fly
 And will reach ³⁾ the sons of my Name, the sons of my Sign,
 And the sons of the great Family of Life.
 I will bind you together into the bundle ⁴⁾ of Life
 And I will build you into a great Building of Truth ⁵⁾
 And will bring you forth to the great Place of Light
 And to the Everlasting Abode.

If there is no hatred, rancour, or dissension amongst you
 The hand of the mbartablas (customs-officers?) will not search amongst your garments;

Ye will not pass over the Bridge ⁶⁾
 Nor walk in a narrow street;
 Ye will not stand before the judge
 Nor look on the countenance of the Adversary-at-law;
 Nor will ye see an averted face.
 The chief customs-officer will not question you.

Ye will go forth: ye will behold the Perfecter of Souls,
 One who setteth on paths of surety
 His friends that are made perfect,
 A great comrade of the faithful,
 One of the great band of souls,
 Who will come out toward you
 And clothe your souls in a garments of radiance

¹⁾ D.C. 53 lagmirilkin. As the reference is to the ritual meal, the reference may be to the sacramental meal of another rite.

²⁾ The expression tušlimia is often used for perfected souls.

³⁾ Read 'pra u'mtia.

⁵⁾ Or "sound construction", see p. 79, n. 4.

⁶⁾ The "bridge" here probably refers to the Zoroastrian "Bridge of Çinvat", "narrower than a hair" over which departed souls must pass. Only the righteous succeed. The hymn was probably written at a time when the state religion was Magian. Tidun from ADA to pass, make a pass.

And in good pure vestments ¹⁾ of light
 Which he will bring you from the Great Place of Light
 And the Everlasting Abode.
 He will bring out toward you wreaths,
 A wreath of victories.
 And every leaf of your wreaths will (weigh)
 One thousand and eighty mithqals ²⁾.
 Its brilliancy will exceed the brightness of the Sun
 And its light outshine the light of the moon.
 Ye will receive your vesture and will receive your wreaths
 In the presence of the Great (Life).

Ye will be great, and called 'uthras amongst the 'uthras.
 Ye will open your eyes and behold your Judge.
 Betimes will the dayspring dawn upon you,
 In strength ye will arise and behold the Outer Ether
 And the great Beam who is all light,
 Who was set up before the Great Life:
 He whom Life created, prepared and sent forth
 To the ages and to the worlds.
 And ³⁾ every man who giveth oblation ⁴⁾;
 And took part in the communion ⁵⁾ from beginning to end.
 They will make as perfect as the manas,
 Like rays of light he will be made to shine
 On the day of deliverance, on the Day of Redemption,
 The great Day of Joy; so that his righteous act
 Stretcheth onward. It will precede you and will uplift,
 Showing you the Outer Ether and the everlasting Abode,
 The place which is ancient, (of) Primal Beings,
 And sons of the great Family of Life.

They eat of that which is imperishable
 And drink that which is not wine, eating well

²⁾ Mitqal: = shekel? (about one ounce?).

³⁾ D.C. 53 and D.C. 3 ulkulman (M.L. kul man. p. 137: 7f).

⁴⁾ Those who bring offerings for the Blessed Oblation.

⁵⁾ The expression is that used for partaking of food and water in the ceremony of Lauḡa, a commemorative meal for the dead.

And asking solace. And an 'uthra of Life
 Cometh and resteth upon them day by day and hour by hour
 Praises (be) to the fame of the righteous
 And to the existence of Chosen Elect (men),
 And to the Unearthly ¹⁾ Being who standeth without,
 Whose eyes are open and fixed upon those
 Who love his name of Truth (kušṭa) —
 Thou art he, Manda-ḡ-Hiia! for thou knowest
 About that in which the perfect man is made perfect,
 And about the virtuous man, in what his virtue consisteth ²⁾.
 And the Lie ³⁾, of what doth it consist.

Not a word issueth from the mouth of a perfect man
 But thou knowest it, hast understood and expected it
 In the great Place of Light and the Everlasting Abode.
 The mountain doth not boast its strength, nor a hero his doughty deeds, ⁴⁾

Nor doth a Bowman vaunt his bow, nor the physician his drugs,
 Nor the righteous and sage man the utterance of his mouth.
 Not so: it is an 'uthra of Life which cometh
 And resteth upon Thy devotees.

And those who seek from Him shall find, and to those who ask of Him

It will be given. Day by day, hour by hour, behold us
 Who stand in Thy name and are upheld by (calling on) Thy name.
 We hold to Thy Leader ⁵⁾ of the great company of Truth
 We have held staunch because of Thy victories.

Humiliate us not; cast us not into the hands of tormentors,
 Liars, hypocrites and the censorious.

Let not torturers strike us nor condemners damn our souls!

The good will see and will be found ready ⁶⁾,

(But) The wicked will be discomfited and the children of the world be shamed

Perfected (souls) will see that the Life existeth
 ,And will direct their gaze to the great Place of Light and the everlasting Abode.

²⁾ Lit. "what there is belonging thereto".

³⁾ Both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 have šaqara (lit "liar" M.L. 138: 6 ušrara).

⁴⁾ Read gabaruṭh.

⁵⁾ Br guda. (Not "curtain" here.)

⁶⁾ Or "are refreshed" i.e. partake of sacramental food, an ecclesiastical expression for eating and drinking at sacraments.

Thou, Manda-d-Hiia, callest the caller ¹⁾, nourishest the nourisher, buildest the builder,
 Exaltest horns ²⁾, enlargest footsteps and settest up a road ³⁾,
 And dost knit together in communion.

Thou art He who constructeth, and who takest out from amongst the peoples, nations and tongues every man who is summoned, worthy and invited. To every man whose term of life is over Thou wilt be a Helper, Saviour and Guide to the great Place of Light and to the everlasting Abode. As to one whose term is incomplete ⁴⁾ and he standeth (liveth) in the body, (able) to open his mouth, lift up his voice, pray his prayers and to offer up his praise, and whose feet can walk to my House ⁵⁾, thine 'uthra shall come and shall rest upon him, Thy friend.

Diffuse Thy light over all who love Thy name of Truth (kušta). Thou hast spoken with Thy Word and hast commanded us with Thy commandment, "Over your words My Word hath precedence: and at the raising of your right hands (towards Me?) My right hand will be lifted ⁶⁾ towards you. Ye will call, and I will answer you quickly. Ye will seek My hand and I will not withhold it (from) your hands".

We will pray with Thee the 'uthras' prayer and ask of Thee, of the Great (Life), ⁷⁾ a petition for ourselves, for our friends, for our friends' friends and for those who love the great Family of Life, for the whole Naširuta ⁸⁾ of Life, fulfilled and disseminated on earth. Thou wilt bring us some of Thy radiance, thou wilt lend us some of Thy light. We will enter into Thy radiance will go forth in Thy light, will rise in Thy name and be kept right by Thy nature ⁹⁾. Truth is Thy name, Knowledge of Life is Thy name,

²⁾ A common expression for giving self-confidence.

³⁾ Dirka in both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53; M.L. 139:6 kudka (boundary-stone).

⁴⁾ Lit. "who has his measure" (or "span"), i.e. has years of life still before him: everyone being allotted a fixed measure of years.

⁵⁾ D.C. 53 and D.C. 3 differ here from M.L. (which has lrarubia sigia ḏ-lgrh instead of ulbit sagia ḏ-lgrh).

⁶⁾ I.e. in blessing.

⁸⁾ Naširuta: here probably the whole body of believers, the teaching of the Našoraean.

⁹⁾ Kiniana means both "nature" and "name".

precious is Thy name, magnified is Thy name, victorious is Thy name, victorious are the words of truth which issue from Thy mouth, and victorious are all Thy deeds¹⁾.

And Life is victorious!

77

In the name of the Life!

Thee (O) life, (is it meet) to praise, to honour,

To magnify and to bless;

First Life, Second Life and Third Life,

Yufin-Yufafin²⁾ and Sam-Mana-Smira³⁾

And the Vine which is All-Life

And the great Tree which is all healings.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour and magnify

And to bless 'Uṣar-Hai⁴⁾ and Pta-Hai⁵⁾

• Who open (reveal) the pihta of Life⁶⁾

And transplant a planting of Light,

And instal the First Counterpart

In the House of Life.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless Nbaṭ⁷⁾

The First great Bursting-Forth (Emanation),

The exigence of Life⁸⁾ in Its nature.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

The Lord of Great Fruition. the great and high Being

Who was fruitful, begetteth and produceth

¹⁾ Kuṣṣa is more than "truth". As antithesis to "he": it is "sincerity", "good-faith", "rectitude", "fidelity".

²⁾ Cf Yafehiyah "divine beauty" Targ.Y. Deut. xixv, 6. The verb פה' is not Mandaic, so that this is probably a name of foreign origin.

³⁾ Lidzbarski always translates Sam Mana Smira as "Sam der wohlverwahrte Māna".

⁴⁾ Either "Treasure-of-Life" or "Treasury of Life".

⁵⁾ Literally "He (or "they") opened Life", i.e. "revealed or began life".

⁶⁾ Or pihta q-hiia = "Bread of Life".

⁸⁾ Ṣurik hiia "need (or necessity) of life," could be almost rendered by the French "élan vital".

Great fruit for Himself.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Yukabar-Ziwa, who increased in his brilliancy

And was great in his light.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Yuzataq-Manda-d-Hiia, the life which proceeded from Life,

The truth (kušṭa) that was aforetime, in the Beginning;

Who was mightier in His radiance than the worlds of light.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Haš, ¹⁾ the Stem of splendour, ²⁾ radiance, light and honour

Whose branches are a thousand thousand and its tendrils

A myriad myriad. Well is it for him

Who hath looked on that Tree!

Bihram ³⁾, who saw it, lived, shone, was cured and established

And his name hath not died.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Šanašiel ⁴⁾, who standeth at the Gate of Life

And prayeth for spirits and souls.

He interpreteth silence, inspireth hope

And taketh in keeping in the World of Light

The prayers of pious and believing people.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Haiašum-Kušṭa ⁵⁾, messenger of Life,

The Word of the first chosen elect (men).

He crossed the worlds, came, pierced the firmament

And revealed himself.

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Bhaq-Ziwa ⁶⁾, who is called "He acted and succeeded in his škinta."

(Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless

Yukašar ⁷⁾, source of radiance

²⁾ Hadra in D.C. 3 and D.C. 53, M.L. 142:3 has hidra.

³⁾ The Bihram Rba in whose name all baptisms take place? This line hints at a human being.

⁴⁾ Possibly from ܡܫܝܬܐ "to blossom"?

⁵⁾ "May-the-name-of-Kušṭa-live".

⁶⁾ The root BHQ means "to glisten, to be white".

⁷⁾ It seems likely that the words of the preceding clause attached to Bhaq-Ziwa, were originally part of those attached to Yukašar, whose name seems to mean "the spirit of success".

Who bestoweth radiance and displayeth his light.
 (Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Biriawiš, the strong source (kana) ¹⁾,
 The Kana took thought so that its radiance increased.
 (Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Ayar ²⁾, the pure Vine which abideth
 In the great and lofty Treasure-house ³⁾ of Light.
 (Meet it is) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 The pure Yušamin ⁴⁾ who resteth upon
 The treasures of the waters
 And upon mighty wellsprings of light.
 (Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 The 'uthra Tauriel ⁵⁾, the being who resteth by
 The pastures ⁶⁾ of the water.

- When a fragment from the little finger of his right hand
 Fell (off?) There was consternation on earth,
 And vexation(?) ⁷⁾ in the world of falsehood.
 (Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Adatan and Yadatan ⁸⁾, who stand at the Gate of Life
 And praise and extol Life,
 And pray for the spirits and souls
 Of righteous and believing people
 In the Place of Life.
 (Meet is it) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Šilmai and Nidbai ⁹⁾, two 'uthras
 Delegates of Manda-d-Hiia

¹⁾ See p. 47, n.4. The Kana of the next line probably means the Divine Source of all Water of Life in gnostic symbolism. Biriawiš = Piriawis, the heavenly jordan, see p. 12 penult.

²⁾ Ayar, "ether", "pure air" is personified in Mandaean texts. He seems to correspond with the "most thin air" of the Essenes (Josephus, vol. iv, p. 155) and the Iranian Vayah (Ether).

³⁾ See p. 95, n. 5.

⁴⁾ Yušamin: see p. 7 and p. 13, n. 6.

⁵⁾ Tauriel is often invoked in phylacteries. An obvious cattle-spirit, he calls into mind the Mithra myth, in which the bull's blood released the forces of fertility and life. The verse is obscure. To lose a little finger is one of the causes of disqualification to priesthood.

⁶⁾ (See n. 5.) (Syr. ܡܕܝܢܐ).

⁷⁾ Or consuming (rage)?

⁸⁾ Adatan and Yadatan, often mentioned as a pair: no function is assigned them, except here.

⁹⁾ Šilmai and Nidbai are the guardian spirits of the jordan.

Who are active and do (the work of) the Life.
 With kušṭa and with the testimony of the Life
 They immerse living, shining, bright and well-doing ¹⁾ souls
 Who go in sincerity to the Jordan (and are baptised)
 (But) not in the name of gods ²⁾ or of a messiah!
 (It is meet) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Šum-Hai, Rhum-Hai, 'In-Hai and Zamar-Hai ³⁾,
 Four Beings, sons of perfection,
 Who come towards sincere and believing people,
 And take them out of bonds
 (Tied by) the hands of the wicked
 And from beneath the claws of scheming men;
 And lift them up to the great place of Light
 And to the Everlasting Abode.
 They knit them into the Bundle of Life
 And build them into a great Building
 Of sure strength ⁴⁾.
 (It is meet) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Hibil, Šitil and Anuš ⁵⁾,
 Sons of a Stock which is living, light-giving,
 Vigorous and sturdy:
 Beings that cannot be taken by the sword
 Nor consumed by flames of fire;
 Nor swept away by floods of water;
 Nor will the thongs of their sandals
 Be dipped in the water.
 • They were judged and were justified;
 They sought and they found;
 They strove and reached the Great Place of Light
 And the Everlasting Abode.
 (It is meet) to praise, honour, magnify and bless
 Šihun, and Pardun, and Kanfun ⁶⁾,
 'Uthras whose names, each one, are in the House of Life ⁷⁾;

²⁾ Lit. in the name of Allah-cult, Allahdom, i.e. heathen

³⁾ Four beings mentioned in Prayer 17.

⁴⁾ Švara; see p. 80, n. 5 and p. 79, n. 4.

⁵⁾ The three sons of Adam Kasca.

⁶⁾ The names do not occur elsewhere as a trio.

⁷⁾ D.C. 3 has q-had had hawia šumaihun bit hiia adam kasia bihram uram utria q-had šumaihun bit (hiia) utrin trin kimamun. The sentence is obscure.

79

In the name of the Great Life!
 When the myrtle ¹⁾, the myrtle, flourished
 In the gardens of Hibil;
 When the wild marjoram grew in the precincts of the manda ²⁾,
 They gave me two twigs of myrtle
 From which they twisted a wreath for the jordan.
 For it is wondrous and fragrant is its perfume!

[Recite this hymn and twist a wreath of myrtle for thy staff, then read the jordan-hymn "Hear me my father, hear me".]

80

In the name of the Great Life!
 Hear me, my Father, hear me! Draw me upward
 (O) Great One, son of the mighty (Life),
 Our Father, son of the Life!
 Šilmai and Nidbai, lords of the jordan, hear me!
 Jordan, and both its banks, hear me!
 Hear me, Hibil-Ziwa, whose strength
 Resteth upon his brethren, the 'uthras!
 Hear me, Yawar-Ziwa, (thou)
 Whose creations rest on (depend upon?) the jordan!
 Hear me, Mana-Rba-Kabira ³⁾
 And raise that which ye have planted!
 Hear me, hear me, Habšaba ⁴⁾ and Kana-q-Zidqa ⁵⁾,
 • Hear me, hear me, Abathur-Rama ⁶⁾, whose strength
 Presideth over the Scales!
 Hear me, great Bihram! and raise me up
 Yuzaṭaq-Manda-q-Hiia!
 Hear me, (ye) Seven Mysteries which reside

¹⁾ The word also means "healed".

²⁾ In the sacred enclosure of the manda (mod. mandi) myrtle must be grown. Formerly, perhaps, marjoram was grown also, but it is no longer intertwined in the myrtle-wreath.

³⁾ The great mighty Mana.

⁴⁾ The first day of the week, personified, Sunday.

⁵⁾ The collection of food-offerings and offerings in kind brought for the Zidqa brika, Blessed Oblation.

⁶⁾ The spirit which sits on the frontier of the worlds of light with his scales, weighing their deeds.

In the Great Wellspring
 Hear me, (ye) three wellsprings which give out
 Radiance, light and effulgence!
 Hear me (ye) three manas
 Who rest upon the jordan with your treasure!
 Hear me, Anuš-'Uthra ¹⁾,
 Whose strength dwelleth upon me!

81

In the name of the Great Life!
 Hear me, my Father, hear me!
 And draw me upward, great Son of the mighty (Life);
 Our Father, Son of the Life!
 Šilmai and Nidbai, lords of the jordan, hear me!
 'Jordan and its two banks, hear me!
 Habšaba and Kana-d-Zidqa hear me!
 Hear me, Great Life, from the height,
 Hear me!

82 ²⁾

In the name of the Great Life!
 At the Fountain-head came I forth,
 At the Source of springs of life went I hence.
 Three škintas (sanctuaries) did I found
 And set over them guardians as rulers.
 The guardians I appointed to rule over them
 Are sublime, blessed and trusty
 To the uttermost.

[Repeat this hymn when thou art baptising and takest up the mambuha ³⁾ into the phial from the jordan, and recite the prayer "At the Fountain-head of Water came I forth" and then recite "Blessed art thou, Outer Door".]

83

In the name of the Great Life!
 How lovely are plants which the jordan hath planted

¹⁾ Anuš-'Uthra is a spirit active in helping the Naṣōraeans. See G.R., many passages.

²⁾ Quoted G.R. p. 145.

³⁾ The sacramental water or sacramental drink.

And raised up! Pure fruit have they borne
 And on their heads they set living wreaths.
 Yawar-Ziwa rejoiceth in the good plants
 Which the jordan planted and raised.
 The Plants rejoice and flourish
 In the perfume of Manda-d-Hiia
 Which breatheth ¹⁾ upon them.

84

Truly did my baptiser baptise me,
 Well did my baptiser baptise me,
 Truly did my baptiser baptise me
 And your baptism shall attain its end.

85

Šilmai hath baptised us with his baptism,
 Nidbai hath signed us with his pure sign,
 The great Anuš-'uthra hath placed living ²⁾ wreaths on our heads.

The jordan in which we have been immersed
 Shall be our witness that we have turned not away
 From our sign, nor have altered our ³⁾ pure Word.

87

- I rejoice in my priests
 And in Naṣōraeans who hearken to my converse.
 I rejoice in you, my priests,
 For ye have not changed my pure Word.

88

In the name of the great Life!
 May the sublime Light be magnified!
 Rightly do I say to you, my Chosen,

²⁾ I.e. fresh, or freshly cut, myrtle.

³⁾ D.C. 53 mimran, D.C. 3 mimrai. See M.L. 151; n.1.

Who went up with me to the jordan,
 Pervert and change me not, alter me not by hand,
 Pervert not nor alienate me,
 Men who have heard the Voice of Life!
 He who heareth the voice of Life
 Will be edified, will be built up,
 Built up and armed. (Such a man's) strength will be doubled.
 Moreover, those who listen to the speech of the Life
 Will be greatly increased,
 Will be enriched and will not lack.
 Into the communion that is great will he be knit,
 He will enter the communion that is great
 So that he will be united (therewith) and will arise
 And will behold the Place of Light.
 And Life is renowned and victorious,,
 And victorious the man who went hence.

89

In the name of the Great Life
 The great Light be magnified!
 To you do I call and (you) do I teach,
 Men who have received the Sign.
 Hearken not to the talk of all peoples and generations;
 Let not their stumblings cause you to stumble,
 Stumble not because of their stumblings!
 Be not interrogated at their tribunals,
 At their tribunals be not interrogated!
 Certainly have ye held to established truth,
 Ye have held to the certainty about which
 I instructed you. I call to my chosen ones so that Ye may not turn your thought away from Me.
 Because any man who is not steadfast (in thought)
 Whose mind is turned against me,
 Whose mind is turned from me,
 Great and not small will be his hurt ¹⁾.
 If ye have attained my strength ²⁾

²⁾ Or "my army".

Bear (arms for) me ¹⁾! If ye bear (arms for) me firmly
 Stand by me from beginning to end!
 But if ye have not attained my strength (or army ²⁾)
 Go from me, and approach not!
 For he that entereth it and beareth (arms) for me,
 His "garment" ³⁾ will be adjusted to the House of Perfection.
 But he that weareth it ⁴⁾ and doth not perfect it
 Will die and his spirit will extinguish.
 He will die and extinct will be his spirit,
 He will become the portion of the world.
 Thou hast conquered, Manda-d-Hiia,
 Good One, who confirmest Thy friends!
 Renowned and victorious is Life
 And victorious the man who went hence.

90

In the Name of the Great Life
 The sublime Light be glorified!
 A disciple ⁵⁾ am I, a new one;
 For I went to the jordan-bank
 And took my name on my head
 And in my heart I took a Sign.
 My Sign is not that of Fire,
 Nor is it that wherewith the Anointed One ⁶⁾ anointed,
 My Sign is a jordan of living water,
 The strength of which none can attain.
 He chose one out of a thousand
 And from two thousand he chose two,
 Making traders of them

¹⁾ Lidzbarski translated traget mich (carry me), literal but somewhat unsatisfactory. I suggest that the word here was some form akin to the Syriac ܡܝܚܐ, hence "Fight for me! If ye fight for me firmly, stand by me from first to last".

³⁾ Here a play on words: the garment is the mana, the imperishable soul, the "intelligence", "mind. See p. 4 note 1.

⁴⁾ Another play on words. another meaning of DRA "to bear, to carry, to take, to wear".

⁵⁾ Or "a priest". This is the meaning accepted by the priesthood here.

⁶⁾ The Messiah.

Who labour and ply their trade on earth.
 And they trade for fee and pious gift,
 And shine more than sun and moon.
 I came to the congregation of souls,
 For the Life sent me, sent me forth.
 There were some who bought my wares,
 There those who came to their end ¹⁾ and lay down ²⁾.
 There were those who bought my wares.
 The eyes (of such a one) were filled with light,
 Filled with light were his eyes
 (On) beholding the Great (One) in the House of Perfection,
 There were those who did not buy my wares.
 They went on, reached their end and lay down.
 They were blind and saw not,
 Their ears were stopped and they heard not
 And their hearts were not awakened
 To behold the Great One in the House of Perfection.
 As They called them and they answered not,
 When they call, who will answer them?
 Because it was given to them but they took not,
 Who will give to them when they ask?
 They hated the Way of Life and its Abode
 But loved the abode of the wicked.
 And lo! in the abode of the wicked
 Will they be held captive.
 They tied up their tribute, their money ³⁾
 In a lappet ⁴⁾ of their clothes.
 When they wish to lift their heads (hold their heads high)
 They hurl them down ⁵⁾ to the Gates of Darkness
 To my Chosen do I call, to my Plants

¹⁾ The word has a double meaning: "to come to one's end" (i.e. "die") and "to be crowned with a wreath" (a death-rite, see MMII p. 179)

²⁾ Or "slept", "died".

⁴⁾ A corner of the robe. This, in modern 'Iraqi villages, is often used as a purse, money is tied into it.

⁵⁾ A play on words.

Who stand ¹⁾ by the jordan. I say to them,
 "My children (who walk) in my road,
 My children (who follow) my road,
 Swerve not from it or its boundary!
 Let him who deviateth from its boundary
 Cling to the boundary-stone.
 He who hath turned aside from both
 Will fall into the uttermost ends of the world".
 Thou hast conquered, Manda-d-Hiia,
 Good One, who confirmeth his friends!
 Thou wilt forgive us who praise our Lord
 Our sins and our trespasses.
 Renowned and victorious is Life
 And victorious the man who hath gone hence.

[Up to here are the hymns and chants of baptism; and from here to below are the hymns and chants of the masiqta.]

91

My vigilance and praisegiving
 Are my ferrymen ²⁾ across (the waters of death);
 A transformation brought me over,
 A cloud ³⁾ of light took me over.
 In purity shalt thou rise to the Place of Light.

92

In the name of the Life!
 Go in peace, chosen, pure and guiltless one;
 Thou art without spot.
 Thou hast proven thyself by (thy sojourn on ²⁾ earth
 And thy destiny leapt upward from its struggles ⁴⁾
 From its struggles thy destiny leapt upward.
 Above all the world thou hast spoken.
 Chosen and pure one (saying),
 "I am a seer, a diviner;
 A seer am I and a diviner!"

⁴⁾ Daria; as in hirba udavia umutana d-hazin alma D.C. 22(r) 282 (Pet. (r) 287): "war and battles and the mortality of this world".

The worlds assembled for judgement,
 For judgement the worlds assembled
 And judgement was pronounced on them,
 On them was judgement pronounced,
 On those who did not perform the works
 Of right-dealing Man.
 But thou alone, Chosen and Pure One,
 Fair mana, that art burnished bright,
 Thou goest not to the judgement hall.
 Judgement will not be pronounced over thee,
 Over thee judgement will not be pronounced,
 Because thou didst perform the works
 Of right-dealing mankind.
 This ¹⁾, that they endure and bear,
 •Thou (O) Chosen One, wilt not find before thee.
 Escape the clutch of the planets
 And the forces of this world!
 Take, put on thy garment of radiance,
 Set on thy living wreath!
 Bow thyself! and worship!
 Prostrate (thyself) and praise the Great Life.
 Praise the Place of Life
 To which thy fathers go.
 Thou (O) Chosen One,
 Wast not from here ²⁾;
 From this place thou wast not transplanted ³⁾
 Thy planting, thy place was the Place of Life,
 Thy home the Everlasting Abode.
 They have set up for thee a throne of rest
 In which there is no heat or wrath.
 There is kept for thee a girdle
 In which there is no trouble or fault ⁴⁾.
 Good one! Rise to the House of Life!
 And go to the Everlasting Abode ⁵⁾!

¹⁾ Not hazra as in D.C. 53, but haza as in D.C. 3 and M.L.

²⁾ The earth.

³⁾ Lit. "Not from here was transplanted thy transplantation".

⁴⁾ asga = trouble, tiresomeness. Cf. D.C. 22 (1) ḏ-asga umuma lithh (as above). (G.R.I. 80: 4)

⁵⁾ The double meaning of taqna must be borne in mind. Here, possibly, a "light" meaning.

They will hang thy lamp amongst lamps of light
 And they will shine in thy time, and at thy moment.
 Arise! Behold the Place of Light!
 Renowned is Life and victorious
 And victorious the man who went thither.

93

The mana rejoiceth in its treasure
 And in the glory of Life
 Which resteth on it.
 I have acknowledged thee
 (O) elect righteous one,
 For thou settest my soul free
 From transitory things.

94

Hail to thee, hail to thee, soul
 That hast departed from the world!
 Thou leavest corruption and the stinking ¹⁾ body
 In which thou hast been: (thou leavest)
 Its abode, the abode of the wicked,
 The place which is all sinning,
 The world of darkness,
 Of hatred, jealousy and dissensions,
 The abode in which the planets go about,
 Bringing pains and blemishes,
 Pains they bring, and blemishes,
 Every day causing them tribulation.
 Rise up, rise up, soul!
 Ascend to thy first homeland.
 Rise, rise to thy first homeland,
 The place from which thou wast transplanted,
 To the place from which thou wast transplanted,
 To thy good dwelling, (the dwelling) of 'uthras,
 Bestir thyself! don thy garment of glory
 And set on thy living wreath. ²⁾

¹⁾ Read savia as in other mss.

²⁾ Both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 omit Tib 'l kursiak d-ziwa d-hiia tırşuih batan nhur (Rise, sit on thy throne of radiance which the Life set up for thee in the Place of Light.) See M.L. p. 160 n.1.

Rise! inhabit the škintas
 Amongst the 'uthras, thy brethren.
 As thou hast learnt, praise thy first Home;
 And curse this place, the house of thy fostering;
 For (during) the years that thou didst spend therein
 Every day the Seven were thine enemies,
 The Seven were thine enemies and the Twelve
 Beset thee with persecution.
 Renowned is Life and victorious,
 And victorious the man who hath gone thither.

95

Her Sunday, her kušṭa and her alms
 Bear witness for the soul.
 • Ye will be her witnesses
 And will pass her through at the toll-house.

96

I am provided and provisioned:
 'Uthras of light equipped me.
 I am provisioned; for Life provided for me.
 And I am equipped by 'uthras of light.
 They provided me with provision of Truth (kušṭa)
 And armed me with all their wisdom.
 Wherefore did Pthahil come into existence?
 And why did he create the world?
 Wherefore was a plan formed
 Whereby they brought me from my home?
 (Whereby) they sent me to a world of stumblings,
 Filled with knots and seals.
 It is all full of fire
 And sown with thorns and thistles:
 It is full of delusion,
 All full of deception and lie.
 The planets who dwell therein
 Conceive plots against me daily
 Plotting evil, and declare
 "We will divert her thoughts!"
 Of my heart that is full of true-dealing
 They say, "From us shall come that

Which will make it stumble ¹⁾”.

(Of) my eyes that gaze towards the Light

They say “We will make them blink”.

(Of) my mouth, which blesseth the Life,

They say “it shall speak untruth”;

(Of) my hands, which give alms,

And offer the clasp of good faith ²⁾,

They say “they shall commit murder”.

(Of) my knees which bend and worship the Life

They say “they shall bend for the Seven”.

(Of) my feet that tread paths of righteousness

And faith, they say, “they shall go on raids ³⁾” (“deeds of violence”).

I lifted mine eyes to heaven

And my soul waited on the House of Life.

And the Life who heard my cry

Sent toward me a Deliverer.

The Deliverer who came to me

Brought me that which was lovely;

He opened out a robe and showed me its radiance

And I cast off the stinking body.

He grasped me with the palm of his right hand

And led me over the waters of death ⁴⁾.

Over the waters of death he brought me

And led me onward; in the likeness of Life he supported me.

Life supported Life, Life found its own.

. Its own Self did Life find

And my soul found that for which it had looked.

Renowned is Life and victorious

And victorious the man who went hence.

97

He rose and took me with him

And did not leave me in the perishable dwelling.

²⁾ The ritual hand-clasp, also used as a form of oath or promise.

³⁾ חפא J. “impetuous attack”: (“Barefoot”, Lidzbarski’s translation, is unlikely, as it is not considered a sin to walk barefoot. bhifia also means “in mourning”)

98

The day on which the soul goeth forth,
 On the day that the perfected one ascendeth,
 On the day that the soul issueth from below
 The spheres of death, of contention ¹⁾,
 Strife was thrown into the earth.
 Ruha's slaves sit ²⁾ bewailing
 And the Seven sit in consternation.
 The robe of the stars is rent
 And dust is cast on Ruha's head.
 The hell-beasts ³⁾ weep
 And the demons of purgatories are panic-stricken.
 The Being who brought me hither,
 Who brought me that which was beautiful,
 Put on me a robe, clothed me in a robe of radiance,
 In a wrapping ⁴⁾ of light he covered me.
 He set on (my head) a wreath of ether
 And (gave me) of that which Life bestoweth on the 'uthras.
 He set me up amongst 'uthras
 And stood me up amidst the perfected (souls).
 A wreath of ether he set on my head,
 And gloriously he brought me forth from the world.
 Life supported Life,
 Life found its own,
 Its own did Life find,
 And my soul found that for which it had looked.
 Renowned is Life and victorious,
 And victorious the man who went thither.

Ye are set up and raised up, my Chosen ones,
 By the Word and Certitude ⁵⁾ that came to you

²⁾ Read yatbia.

³⁾ Zangaiia "barkers, roarers, bellers" - a name given to the wolves, lions and dogs who attack souls in the maṭarata (purgatories. See Diwan Abatur).

⁴⁾ Ṭarṭabuna, see p. 81. n. 1.

⁵⁾ In both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 it is ušvara. Lidzbarski translates "word of truth".

The Word and the Certitude that came to the good,
 The True Word ¹⁾ which came to believers.
 My Chosen, ye sought and ye found,
 Moreover ye shall seek and ye shall find.
 Ye sought and found, my Chosen ones,
 As the first (souls?) sought and found.
 Thou art victorious, Manda-d-Hiia.
 And thou bringest to victory all who love thee.
 And Life is victorious.

[Here recite "Blessed and praised is Life, that souls".]

100

In a building which Life buildeth,
 Good trees flourish.
 Fragrant is the perfume of the trees
 With the perfume of Manda-d-Hiia
 Which pervadeth them.

[Here recite "Blessed and praised be Life" of Shem son of Noah, and "Good is good for the good".]

101

The Life hath founded a dwelling,
 And radiance dawned
 In the sublime Ether!
 I and my brethren, the 'uthras,
 Have set out every good thing ²⁾,
 Have set out the allotted portion of the Great (Life):
 We have offered it up in purity to the Place of Light.

102

The building that Life buildeth
 Will never come to nought.

[Repeat this hymn after thou hast partaken of the communion ³⁾

¹⁾ Read kšīṭa as in D.C. 3 and M.L. p. 165.

²⁾ "I and my brethren" means the celebrant and co-celebrants. The ṭabta refers to the small piles of ritual food ranged round the ṭarianas (tables) of the priests.

³⁾ I.e. have eaten a few mouthfuls of the ritual food.

and then say "Darkness is crushed back into the Dark ¹⁾ and Light set up in its place".]

103

Darkness is crushed back into the Dark
 And Light is set up in its place.
 The Life hath accepted your prayer,
 The 'uthras have accepted your praise
 The oblation is assigned to its lord,
 And bounty to him who giveth it.
 This soul of N. and the souls of this masiqta ²⁾ rest at the great Place of Light and the Everlasting Abode.
 And Life is victorious.

[Here recite "In great radiance am I immersed" and lift thy hand for the masiqta and pray a prayer for thyself.

And Life is victorious.]

104 ³⁾ (The Rušma)

My Lord be praised!
 May Kušṭa strengthen you! In the name of the great Life may healing and purity be thine!
 O my Father, their Father, King Piriawis,
 Great Jordan of living water,
 In the name of the Great Life
 We have cleansed our hands in truth (kušṭa)
 And our lips with faith;
 We have uttered words of radiance.

¹⁾ 'Uma in M.L. p. 166: 10, also in D.C. 53, D.C. 3 and most copies. 'Uma = "darkness", "gloom", "obscurity" (see ܡܥܬܐ rt.-meaning "to be dark, overclouded, and the Aramaic ܡܥܬܐ "to be dark, obscure" and cognates). The formula occurs again in Prayer 391, but, this time, both my mss. have 'ma (mother). The alteration may be deliberate, for in Mandaean mysticism "the Mother" is associated with matter, the gross and the physical.

²⁾ The soul of the person in whose name the masiqta was celebrated and other souls commemorated.

³⁾ This prayer, which is not in M.L., is recited daily by every Mandaean, and by every priest before each stage of a rite and every morning, whilst performing the minor ablutions. The water used must be "living" i.e. running, and each action and the verse accompanying it, is repeated thrice.

My mind is absorbed ¹⁾ in (thoughts of) Light.

Blessed is Thy name, praised is Thy name

My Lord, Manda-ḡ-Hiia, and blessed and praised

I, N. son of N (or daughter of N.),

Am signed with the Sign of Life

And the name of Life and the name of Manda-ḡ-Hiia

Were pronounced on me.

My Sign is in the great jordan of living water

And the Sign and name of Manda-ḡ-Hiia is mentioned upon me.

Darkness is crushed down, and Light set up

And the name of Manda-ḡ-Hiia is mentioned upon me.

(Three times)

My mouth was filled with prayer and praise.

(Three times)

My knees bless and worship the Great Life.

(Three times)

My feet tread the ways of Truth (Kušṭa) and Faith.

I, N. son of N., am baptised with the baptism

Of the great Bihram, son of the Mighty (Life)

My baptism shall guard me and will succeed.

And the name of Life and the name of Manda-ḡ-Hiia

Are mentioned upon me.

¹⁾ ŠHT, according to Lidzbarski is used almost always with fire in the sense of catch fire, and in Prayer 115 (M.L. p. 178, l. 9) he translates 'šḥṭibun' sich entflamnten''. Above, however, we have 'šḥṭabun in what is practically an identical passage. See J. ŠHT 2.

²⁾ Or, equally "health and purity" and for nihuilak "shall be thine". Asuta uzakuta is used in fact as a formula of polite greeting, a salutation. As this hymn is recited, the priest bows at every name. The prayer is not in M.L.

²⁾ 'zlat ("she-span") is a personification of pious wifehood of priestly caste. Šišlam-Rba, the prototype of Mandaean priesthood, took to wife 'Zlat, and the marriage is described as a pattern for earthly marriages.

³⁾ See p. 37, n. 1.

⁴⁾ There are two Abathurs, one appears to be an dmuta (or counterpart) of the other. In the less abstract form, he is Abathur of the Scales, the spirit of justice which weighs human souls in his balance.

 May there be forgiveness of sins for me!

These must be got by heart, and their correct recitation is an essential part of every priest's training.)

My Lord be praised!

¹⁾ The "Great Body". The Great Life projected itself as a universe into the Great Body, shaped, according to gnostic tradition, like a man's body with worlds as limbs and organs. Here personified: also called Adam Kasia.

²⁾ Zahriel was brought up from the underworld by Hibil-Ziwa, whose semblance wedded her there. Their offspring was Pthahil, who was therefore part darkness and part light.

In the Name of the Great Life!
 Up, up! (ye) Elect righteous ones,
 Rise up, ye perfected and believing ones!
 Rise, worship and praise the Great Life!
 And praise the great king Šišlam-Rba,
 And praise the Occult Tanna²⁾ and Ham-Ziwa,
 And praise the great Yawar and 'Zlat the great,
 And praise Simat-Hiia,
 From whom all worlds came into being;
 And praise the Wellspring and Datepalm³⁾
 From Whom the Father of 'uthras came into being.
 I worship and praise that lofty and great
 King of light, the Compassionate One
 Who is full of loving-kindness.

In the name of the Great Life!
 My good messenger of light
 Who travelleth to the house of its friends,
 Come, direct my speech and open my mouth in praise
 That I may praise the Great Life Wholly.

108

In the name of the Great Life!
 I worship Life
 And I praise my Lord Manda-ḡ-Hiia
 And that great Presence of Glory

109

In the name of the Great Life!
 I worship Life and I praise my lord
 Manda-ḡ-Hiia and that great Presence of Glory
 Which emanated from Itself.

In the name of the Great Life!
 I worship the Life

Then recite "In their name (= In the name of the Life) and "In the name of that (Primal Being) and set on thy crown and recite beside is "Life created (Yawar-Ziwa)", "Let there be light" and "Manda created me" and then recite "Incense that is fragrant", and "Lo for the First Life" for the incense and cast it on the fire. And here recite the Sunday prayer.]

113

In the name of the Great Life, may healing be mine,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, through this Sunday prayer!

"On the light of Ether do I stand,
 I stand for the Great Light with its purities!
 I am Manda-d-Hiia, emanation (lit. planting) of the Mighty
 First Life.

I cried to the first day of the week, (Habšaba)
 The lauded, the pure guardian of the Light
 Who enlighteneth 'uthras. To him I said
 'Rise up, go, set off, descend to the earthly world,
 To that world which is all birth,
 To be with the Elect Righteous,
 Men formed of flesh and blood.
 Hold them in thy grasp, strengthen them,
 Stand by them, take care of them,
 Give them strength and fortitude
 So that they may stand and worship and praise
 The Mighty Sublime Life!" "
 Then Sunday spoke, saying to Manda-d-Hiia
 "How canst thou send me to this world that is all birth
 To be with elect righteous (men)
 Formed of flesh and blood who do not respect me!
 They treat me with contempt, hold me in no great honour,

And remit not my sin and transgression?"
 Then Manda-d-Hiia spoke, saying to Sunday,
 "Up with thee! Go, set off, descend to the earthly world
 To this world that is all birth, to be with
 Elect, righteous men formed of flesh and blood.
 And grasp them in thy grasp, confirm them,
 Stand by them and take care of them!
 Turn back and drive away from them
 The seven planets together with their demons and devils,
 And their amulet-imps and their evil creatures;
 So that they will forgive thee thy sins ¹⁾
 And thy transgressions; will hold thee in great esteem
 And victory will be ours and will be thine".
 Then Manda-d-Hiia spoke and said to the elect righteous,
 "Give heed to Sunday the Enlightener whom
 I have sent to be with you in order to enlighten you,
 To uplift you and make you upright,
 And to bring you prayer and praise.
 Forgive him his sins ²⁾ and transgressions
 And hold him in great esteem."
 Manda-d-Hiia taught and expounded and said,
 "Anyone who doth not forsake his sins and trespasses
 On Sunday, nor holdeth him in high esteem,
 Will have no seat amongst the 'uthras
 Nor will he behold the great Countenance of Glory.
 For Sunday is more precious, greater and more beauteous
 And bright than all the 'uthras!"
 Blessed and praised is Manda-d-Hiia and the Confirmer".
 And Life is victorious over all works.

114

In the name of the Great Life!
 Sublime Light be glorified!
 Early I arose from my sleep: I stood,
 Into radiance that was great I looked,
 I gazed into radiance that was great,
 Into the Light which is boundless.

¹⁾ Read "they will forsake their sins and their transgressions".

²⁾ I feel sure that this should be "Forsake on it (Sunday) sins and transgressions".

When clothed ¹⁾ in robes of radiance
 And light was thrown on my shoulders ²⁾,
 A wreath of ether He set on my head
 And set it on the head of all His race ³⁾.
 He hymned, and the 'uthras with Him hymn,
 And the Light-rays ⁴⁾ answer His voice.
 And it rouseth sleepers and maketh them rise up
 From their sleep.
 He said to them "Arise, ye sleepers who lie there,
 Rise up, ye stumblers who have stumbled,
 Arise, worship and praise the Great Life
 And praise His Counterpart, that is the image of the Life ⁵⁾,
 Which shineth forth and is expressed
 In sublime light."

And Life be praised!

 This is prayer and praise which came to them ⁸⁾ from

¹⁾ Not as in M.L. "Ich war bekleidet". Possibly "When the dress of radiance was put on"?

²⁾ D.C. 53 lkadfh "on his shoulder" (D.C. 3 lkadfiḥ): M.L. (from the Bodley ms. lkadjai) "on my shoulder". As the Bodley ms. is the older I have adopted this reading.

³⁾ In both D.C. 53 and D.C. 3 "He set an ether-wreath on his head and set it on all his race".

⁴⁾ Pasimkia: see p. 63, n. 4.

⁵⁾ Is the sun taken here as a symbol or image of the deity?

⁶⁾ The first few lines are identical with 104 (the Ruṣma).

⁷⁾ D.C. 3 makes 'shṭ abun two words (not 'shiṭibun as in the Oxford Ms.) De Morgan has 'shṭabun as in the Ruṣma and here. See Lidzbarski's note, M.L. 168 n. 2 on the meaning, which he associates with fire. Jastrow, 𐤌𐤍𐤕 however, gives good reason for his second meaning "to absorb".

⁸⁾ D.C. 3 and M.L. "came to us"

The great place of Light and the everlasting Abode.

We praise (Him) with it when we have risen from our sleep,
Before any have spoken falsehood.

For any man who prayeth this prayer there will be forgiving of sins and transgressions in the great place of Light and in the everlasting Abode.

And Life is victorious.

116

Blessed be thy name and praised be thy name

My lord, Manda-ḡ-Hiia!

Pure mountains that quake not have blessed thee:

'Uḡania ¹⁾ (interpretations?) of truth which are unchangeable
Have blessed thee.

Sons of salvation who sit in thy company

Have blessed thee.

Yawar-Ziwa, the great king of Naṣirutha

Hath blessed thee;

Ayar-Nhura, the pure, the envoy who is all righteousness,
Hath blessed thee

And I ²⁾ worship and praise that channel of light,

The messenger of all rays-of-light.

Blessed is thy name and praised is thy name,

Being who resteth upon the ṣkintas!

Upon ṣkintas ³⁾ doth his name rest.

Every day, daily, they gaze on his likeness

And upon the great Countenance of Glory.

And Life be praised!

[Pray these four prayers, "On the Ether-Light do I stand", "Early I rose from my sleep", "We have purified our hands in kuṣṭa", and "Blessed be thy name and praised be thy name". Recite them for the "Devotions" for daybreak after incense.]

117

I worship, praise and laud

That Šrar, the great occult First Vine

Whose fruits are a thousand thousand,

¹⁾ מַנְדַּיָּא "turn". interpretation". (In later Hebrew, see J. מַנְדַּיָּא)

²⁾ D.C. 53 has ḡ-ana "whom I" etc.

³⁾ M.L. "upon all ṣkintas."

And a myriad myriad His tendrils;
 Upon Whom I called and He answered me.
 Further, when I call on him, He will answer me;
 For He will come and will heal me,
 Will lift me up, raise me and confirm me ¹⁾
 Will direct my eyes to the Light,
 And my feet to steadfastness
 My mouth to wisdom and my heart to vigilance.
 Then I worship, praise and laud
 That first great occult škinta
 That is the house of dazzling beings.
 Then I worship, praise and laud
 That occult, first škinta
 Which my Parents ²⁾ inhabit.
 Then I worship, praise and laud
 Yon Ruaz, the great first secret Vine
 Which loosed its milky juices ³⁾ into the habitations.
 Then I worship, praise and laud
 That Ruaz, the great first Light
 Who hath sovereignty over all worlds of light.
 Then I worship, praise and laud
 That great, occult, first škinta
 To which the eyes of Naṣōraeans,
 Men set apart, and the elect righteous
 Look, that they may rise and behold
 The great place of Light and the Everlasting Abode.
 And Life be praised: Life is victorious.

[Pray this prayer in the Rahmia (Devotions) of the seventh hour, after incense on the fire (and after?) "On the Ether-Light do I stand"]

118

It is time to pray the "Devotions",
 The great moment for humble worship ⁴⁾,
 For offering up propitiatory prayer ⁵⁾

²⁾ "My Parents", i.e. according to priestly teaching the cosmic Father and Mother.

³⁾ "Nourishing juices" is perhaps better. From HLB? Lidzbarski (M.L. p. 181, n. 1) rejects this derivation.

⁴⁾ Lit. "to humble oneself".

⁵⁾ Hilita from (חִלָּה) "to assuage by prayer or gifts"). French douceur.

To my lord, Manda-d-Hiia,
 For arousing ¹⁾ the elect righteous.
 The priests say to Manda-d-Hiia
 "We will abjure that which we possess
 Of fee, alms and benefit
 And the (false) deity ²⁾ of the House ³⁾.
 We will come and will be believers."
 Manda-d-hiia saith to them, to the priests,
 "Your Father hath great strength,
 Surpassing all limit, (stronger)
 Than passionate thoughts, vain things
 And the devouring flame.
 The Good One clotheth His children:
 He covereth them and raiseth and showeth them
 That there is great enlargement ⁴⁾ of Life
 And your souls shall rejoice
 With clouds (spouses?) of light.
 But other souls will die and become
 As though they had never existed.
 Ye shall receive your vestments: ⁵⁾
 Ye shall receive your wreaths.
 In the presence of the Great (Life?)
 Ye will be great, and will be called
 'Uthras amongst the 'uthras.
 And ye will say "The Living stand
 In the dwelling of the Life".

And Life is victorious over all works.

[Pray this prayer in the evening devotions after incense (and) after "For the Ether-light do I stand".]

119

In the name of the Great Life
 Be the sublime Light glorified!
 On Sunday, the first of days,

¹⁾ Read as one word, lmtiauria. Different readings by scribes suggest corruption. Lit. "in order to awaken (or arouse)".

²⁾ Read ulalahuta.

³⁾ "House" here = the earth, the world.

⁴⁾ Or "rebreathing", "refreshment", "renewal".

⁵⁾ Titqablun 'uṣṭlaikun omitted in D.C. 53 : see M.L. 183 :4 and D.C. 3 p 162, l. 5.

Who hath seen that which I have seen?
 Who saw Manda-ḡ-Hiia
 When he went and came to the world?
 He went (thence) and came to the world.
 The Earth lay prostrate and was affrighted.
 He taught, and lovely was his voice!
 And he lifted it up, in his mouth there was eloquence,
 Eloquence he put into his mouth.
 He revolutionized and forsook the world:
 The world he revolutionised and forsook.
 Spirit (ruha) sitteth in lamentation
 In lamentation sitteth Ruha;
 And the Seven sit in consternation;
 They weep and prolong their mourning
 Because their mysteries are disclosed,
 Because disclosed are their mysteries.
 They will be brought to an end
 On the great Last Day.
 Namrus ¹⁾ feared and trembled,
 Her weapon fell from her shoulder,
 From her shoulder fell her weapon
 And her bows ²⁾ from the palm of her hand,
 Ruha addresseth her sons,
 Her good-for-nothing idle (sons),
 She saith to them, "Sons, when terror overtaketh your mother,
 What will you Seven do?
 When the Strange Being cometh,
 Who will rise to confront him?"
 A consuming ray ³⁾ of light
 Is in Manda-ḡ-hiia's hand; felling them
 He cometh (to?) the rebels.
 The Son-of-Life raiseth his Voice
 At departure ⁴⁾ of the Seven
 Saying to them "I have brought wares

²⁾ Plural.

³⁾ Or "a mace".

⁴⁾ paṭur occurs in D.C. 36 and DC. 6 of prayers, that they are the soul's paṭur (paṭurḥ hinun) i.e. "her discharge", her "permission to leave" seems the likeliest translation.

To my friends.
 I brought truthful words to believers.
 Men who buy my wares,
 Their merits wreath their heads
 Twined are their merits,
 And their horns are exalted
 On ¹⁾ their heads.
 They will arise and will behold
 The Place of Light.
 Renowned is Life and victorious,
 And victorious the man who went hence.

120

My day — what is it amongst the days?
 A day, My day!
 What amongst the hours is one hour?
 My day, what is it amongst the days?
 The day on which the radiance of Manda-d-Hiia shone forth,
 My day is Sunday, chief of days,
 The day on which the radiance of Manda-d-Hiia dawned:
 On my day the radiance of Sunday dawned
 Upon us and enlightened us beyond measure.

121

Before the Wellsprings were transmuted ²⁾
 Before the Awakening ³⁾ without,
 Before ye were in existence
 I was in the world:
 The Voice of living waters (Water of Life),
 (Waters) which transmute the turbid waters.
 They become clear and shining ⁴⁾
 They gush forth and cast out impurities.

²⁾ The whole hymn deals with the transmutation of turbid water by Water of Life: (šinia, from ŠNA "to change"?).

⁴⁾ Nasbia tuqna has the double meaning "take on restoration" and "assume luminosity".

Wherefore should the First (Life) desire sons from the dregs?
 Voices cry aloud proclamations ¹⁾
 Planning schemes, all of them talk!
 (But) one Voice cometh and teacheth all sayings,
 One Being cometh and teacheth about this and that.
 (As for) us, who have praised our Lord
 Thou wilt forgive us our sins.
 Thou wast victorious, Manda-d-Hiia
 And thou ledest all thy friends to victory.
 And Life is victorious.

122

O Lord of devotions,
 O Lord of Prayers
 And of hymns and good ²⁾ books,
 O Lord of prayer and praise,
 Hear my voice and condemn me not!

123

Except for six or seven nations,
 Fruit is set up on the Tree;
 On the Tree fruit is set up
 And (other) trees gather together toward it.
 Toward it do the trees assemble,
 And a throne is set up for the Lord ³⁾ of Radiance
 For the Lord of Radiance a throne is set up
 And the Lord of Radiance sitteth thereon.
 Before him are set up recompenses
 Which he delivereth to the perfect,
 To the perfect doth he deliver them
 And said "To each according to the works of his hands
 It is awarded". And he said ⁴⁾ "Every man who toiled ⁵⁾
 And was long-suffering shall come and take with both hands,

¹⁾ Or "sacred instruction" "scriptures".

²⁾ Reliable, orthodox books.

³⁾ Read lrab.

⁴⁾ Not in M.L.

⁵⁾ D.C. 53 is defective. For kulhin d hua read as in other mss. kul man d hla u'tangar. The verb is הלא not הלא (in Mandaic there is no distinction between the two hs.). Jastrow gives as the meaning of הלא, הלי "to be faint, to labor" i.e. to toil till fatigued. For 'tangar read 'tnagar (cf. ܬܢܓܪ).

But he who did not toil nor endure,
 Standeth empty in the House of Dues.
 He will seek but will not find,
 And ask, but nought will be given him,
 Because he had in his hand and gave not,
 He will search there in his bosom and will find nothing."
 Thou art praised, Manda-d-Hiia
 Who dost not condemn thy friends.

124

I seek a boon from the Life,
 From Thee, mighty Life.
 I seek a boon from the Life —
 That Ye will rightly guide Your praise ¹⁾
 For me.

[These three antiphonal hymns and three chants are for the first day of the week.]

125

In the name of the Great Life
 At the beginning of the construction ²⁾
 I issued from thee, everlasting abode:
 At the beginning of the Building I emanated from the Builder,
 The Great (Life) who built me.
 From the Builder, who is the Great (Life)
 Who constructed me, I came.
 My Transplanter transplanted me.
 I came: my Transplanter transplanted me
 With advice that was counselled by the Great (Life),
 With advice given by the Great (Life)
 They sent me that I might build a building,
 That I might construct a building for the good,
 For true and faithful men,
 I built and constructed it;
 And at the beginning of the building I established,
 I planted living plants therein,
 True and faithful men.

²⁾ Lidzbarski took banana to mean "in a cloud". The context, however, and the evidence of other texts proves the word to mean the act of building, construction, a building, and usually the act of creation.

I entreat my Builder (Creator) (saying)
 "Keep Thine eye on my Plants
 Upon my Plants keep Thine eye,
 Lest, perchance, they droop ¹⁾ and lie down
 Forgetting the good things commanded (them),
 Until they sleep (droop) and until they lie down,
 And until they forget Me (and) the good things commanded,
 Until they forget Me!
 (Then) will apostasy enter into them."
 Beware of it, my brethren! Beware of it my friends!
 Beware, my friends of Jesu, the pseudo-Messiah,
 And of those who misconstrue appearances
 And alter the words of My mouth.
 If ye are wary, my brethren, if ye are wary, my friends,
 If ye are wary, my brethren, when ye depart from your bodies
 I will be a Helper to you.
 A Helper and a Support from the Place of Darkness
 To the Place of Light.
 Thou hast conquered, Manda-d-Hiia
 And makest victorious all those who love Thy name.

126

At the beginning of the pure Kimša ²⁾
 Accompanied by sublime Rays of Light,
 I gazed and beheld a great (sprouting) ³⁾ Shoot
 Which was transplanted from within the great Jordan.
 Sublime was his voice his perfume fragrant,
 His appearance shining and splendid!
 And Life is victorious.

127

A Being, chosen, righteous, sprang up
 And shone forth in the world.
 He appeared in the world and shone forth.
 He spoke with the Mighty Life;
 With the mighty Life he spoke,

¹⁾ In the Middle East a gardener says of a drooping plant that it is nāima "sleeping", and here "sleeping" applied to a plant would mean "drooping".

²⁾ Kimša especially when used with KMS appears to mean "formation", "materialisation", "taking shape" or "consummation". Here, possibly "formation" is the word.

³⁾ Nibṭa. "a sprout", "outgrowth".

And revealed mysteries that were veiled,
 Mysteries that were veiled he revealed.
 His glory resteth on his friends,
 On his friends his glory abideth.
 But the whole world ¹⁾ persecuteth him.
 When he saw that the worlds persecute him
 He lifted his eyes to the Place of Light.
 They opened the Gate of Light to him
 And he arose into Life: They (Life) supported him.
 Life supported Life,
 Life found Its own,
 And my soul hath found
 That for which it had waited.
 Thou art victorious, Manda-q-Hiia,
 And thou bringest to victory
 All those who love thee.
 And Life is victorious.

128

O Man, whom acclamation chose out,
 Who wast selected out of the world,
 They will cause thine eyes to shine, good one! ²⁾
 For they have clothed thee in a robe
 Which is beautiful.
 Because of thy cry and the sound of thy teaching,
 The Great Life hath accepted thy prayer
 And thy praise.

129

"Whither goest thou, chosen ³⁾ righteous One
 Whom all thy friends seek, for Whom all Thy friends
 Long and desire Thine appearance amongst them?"
 "I have gone to build a building ⁴⁾
 Yonder in the world.
 I built it ⁵⁾ and constructed it

²⁾ In D.C. 3 and Oxford ms ṭaba (not uṭaba).

³⁾ D.C. 53 has bhiria: read bhir as in other mss.

⁴⁾ For banta in D.C. 53 read binta as in other mss.

⁵⁾ Read banth as in other mss.

And set it up in the beginning.
 Into the Building I transplanted
 Plants that were living,
 True and faithful men.
 I entreat my Builder,
 The Being who guardeth the Building,
 I entreat my Builder (saying)
 'Direct Thine eyes to my plants,
 Upon my plants keep Thine Eye;
 For perchance they may wilt ¹⁾ and lie down
 And forget the good things They commanded;
 Until they sleep and until they lie down
 And until they forget the good things commanded (them)!'
 The Being cried to the world from one end to the other,
 To the world's end the Being called the world and said,
 "Well is it for one who taketh heed to himself!
 The man who taketh heed to himself
 Hath not his like in the world! Moreover,
 Men who are staunch shall live:
 But those who turn aside shall come to an end.
 Those who turn aside shall die ²⁾
 But those who are staunch shall find certainty.
 My brethren, hold firmly to your staves ³⁾
 And endure the world's persecution.
 The worlds' persecution endure
 With a true and believing heart.
 Worship Me with uprightness
 And I will act as your Helper,
 A Helper and support from the Place of Darkness
 To the Place of Light.
 And Life is victorious.

130

On the day on which They opened
 The great gate of the Dwellings ⁴⁾

²⁾ So in both D.C. 53 and D.C. 3. The line is missing in M.L.

³⁾ The olivewood staff (margna) is part of a priest's insignia, so that priests and not laymen are addressed.

⁴⁾ Hilbunia is a literary word for "houses". Literally hilbuna means "egg", for which the usual word is bit (which also means "house"). In poetry, human beings as well as divine personages live in hilbunia.

The radiance of the King over the holy 'uthras
 Was enhanced.
 To true and faithful men there came
 Prayer and thanksgiving.
 They rejoice and delight therein
 And raise their prayer and praise
 To the Place of Light.

[These three hymns and three chants are for the second day of the week (Monday).]

131

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 "Thou camest from the House of Life;
 Thou camest - what didst Thou bring us?"
 "I brought you that ye shall not die:
 That your souls shall not be pent back.
 I brought you on the day of death, Life;
 On the day of affliction, Joy. ¹⁾
 I brought you a serenity
 That existeth not in the unrest of nations".
 "This, this hast Thou brought, Good One!
 To the true man what hast Thou brought?"
 "I have made him My treasurer,
 Made him ruler over all that I have.
 I have given him precepts of right-dealing
 By which he entereth and departeth ²⁾
 As a man who hath realised his desire.
 Chosen ones! ye have asked and have found;
 Furthermore, my chosen, ye shall seek and find
 Just as the first (believers?) sought".
 And Life is victorious.

132

Come, come, King of 'uthras,
 Lofty Messenger, who came from His Father's House.
 Come! receive my prayer and my praise
 And lift it up in peace to the Place of Light!

¹⁾ Read hadua as in D.C. 3 and the Oxford ms.

²⁾ I.e. "is born and dies".

133

Thou camest from the House of Good Beings.
 (O) would ¹⁾ that Thou hadst not come into corruption
 Into the evil and falsity of this world!
 Would that Thou hadst not come into corruption
 And hadst not been seen by my eyes!"
 "If verily I came, if verily I appeared,
 Thine eyes are eyes of falsehood
 Whilst my eyes are eyes of truth.
 Lying eyes are darkened utterly.
 Eyes of falsity behold not the Truth!
 If thou wishest to see, Ruha, ²⁾
 Go to the house of him who knoweth Me,
 Those who know me, for I dwell amongst them
 In the hearts of my friends
 And the thoughts of my disciples".
 And Life is victorious.

134

Come, come, King of 'Uthras,
 Lofty Messenger for whom my eyes look!
 Hearken, hear my cry
 And lift up my prayers and my praise
 To the Place of Light.

135

Fragrance came from its place,
 Truth came from its Home,
 Fragrance came from its place,
 It came and settled in the House
 It crieth and maketh the dead live,
 It arouseth those who who are dying
 And lying prone.
 It awaketh souls who are fit for ³⁾ and worthy
 Of the Place of Light.
 This, this is what the Good One did,

¹⁾ 'dilma indicates a doubtful or sarcastic statement, or a negative form of stating a condition. Ruha is the speaker.

²⁾ Both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 have lruha: the Oxford ms. ruha.

³⁾ D.C. 3 ḏ-šihia, D.C. 53 ḏ-šihā.

And set up that which liveth, His Sign.
 The planets assembled, they went.
 They confronted him that ruled them,
 Saying to him, "Hast thou not seen, Alaha-Alihun ¹⁾,
 That a Fragrance hath come from its place,
 A fragrance from its place hath come?
 The (And that) Mana hath moved from its place?
 It calleth and maketh the dead live,
 And rouseth the dead ²⁾ and the sleeping;
 It awaketh souls who are fit for and worthy
 Of the Place of Light.
 This, this hath the Good One done,
 And hath set up that which liveth, His Sign".

Alaha-Alihun opened his mouth,
 Saying to his sons, his first-born,
 "Come, come, my children,
 My first-born and my offspring!
 Listen to the thing which I say unto you!
 If ye find a righteous man,
 Bow yourselves low before him,
 One bow for himself, and the second
 For the Fragrance of Life which resteth upon him".
 Behold, Life is victorious!
 Life triumpheth over this world.

136

Come, come, Manda-d-Hiia!
 The Mount of Darkness becometh light,
 It groweth light, the mount of Darkness,
 And the turbid waters become fresh ³⁾.

[These three hymns and three chants are for the third day of the week (Tuesday).]

137

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!

²⁾ D.C. 53 and D.C. 3 both have mitia: The Oxford ms. maitia "dying", which Lidzbarski has translated "bringt her".

³⁾ The antithesis of turbid. The adjective means "fresh" also of myrtle.

There was a Cry in the firmament
 And thunder sounded in the House of Stars.
 Ruha and the planets sit in lamentation,
 They sit in lamentation over a man
 Who sprang up from the Earth,
 About a man who sprang up from the Earth
 And rent a fissure in the House,
 A fissure he rent in the House
 And into it he cast dispute.
 A dispute he cast into it,
 Not to be resolved for an age of ages;
 (Not) until Manda-d-Hiia cometh
 Bringing with him three chosen ones,
 Bringing three chosen ones with him
 And lifting them up to the everlasting Abode,
 To the place which is light-giving and effulgent.
 Summoned and invited (thither) are your souls,
 And the souls of our good brothers
 And those of our sisters who are believing.
 Thou art victorious, Manda-d-Hiia,,
 Good One, who establisheth his friends!
 And Life is victorious.

138

The voice of a hidden Sprout ¹⁾
 It spoke and discoursed from the Earth,
 From the Earth it spoke and discoursed.
 The Great Life, from the Occult, answered it,
 From the Occult the Great Life gave it reply.
 And It transferred thither and sent a Messenger.
 The Messenger (whom) It transferred and sent
 Subdueth the might of rebels.

139

I ascended the mountain Carmel ²⁾,
 Thee I ascended, Mountain, Mount Carmel!
 The mountain of Carmel I ascended.

¹⁾ I take "sprout" to be a young "plant", that is a young believer.

²⁾ Karimla, Carmel, is mentioned in the 26th. fragment of the Drašia d-Yahia.

Twelve vines ¹⁾ awaited me.
 The vines saw me, the Vines beheld me.
 When they saw me, the vines waxed great,
 They spread out their foliage.
 They increased, spread out their foliage,
 Increased their fruit and their blossom.
 (Yet) they knew me not, did not discern me,
 Nor did they take heed of me.
 They knew me not, did not discern who I was,
 Nor whose son I was ²⁾,
 The man who saw me and discerned me,
 His course is set for the Place of Life!
 Thou art victorious, Manda-d-Hiia
 And ledest all thy friends to victory.

140

Between mountains twain,
 And between three škintas,
 Between mountains twain
 Yawar, the Chosen One, founded a škinta ³⁾
 A škinta did Yawar found,
 And chosen righteous were established therein,
 Therein were the chosen righteous established ⁴⁾.
 And they arise and behold the Place of Light.

141

Who will come, who will tell me,
 Who will inform me, who will teach me,
 Who will come and who will tell me
 What 'uthras are like, what 'uthras resemble,
 And what do rays-of-light resemble?
 'Uthras resemble Radiance,
 "Rays" resemble Light.
 'Uthras pledge their word ⁵⁾
 And do not lie.
 The planets lie: they

²⁾ The second ana is a miswriting. (Not in D.C. 3.)

³⁾ Škinta: The cult-hut?

⁴⁾ The second mutqaimia is omitted in D.C. 53.

⁵⁾ Lit. "take oath".

Come to an end on the Great Last Day.
 Life is extolled, and victorious
 And victorious is the man
 Who went hence.

142

The advent of Hibil-'Uthra —
 Like Šitil, he goeth to the house of his friends,
 Priests who hearkened to the voice of Anuš the great
 'uthra;
 They worship and praise the Great Life
 From the beginning unto the end.

[These three hymns and three chants are for the fourth day of the week (Wednesday)].

143

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be glorified.
 In the glory of my Father I stand,
 And with praise of the Being who is my Creator:
 In the glory of my Father I stand
 And am upright in the House of Perfection.
 At my voice the earth trembled;
 At my radiance the heavens were shaken,
 The seas dry up,
 Flowing streams fall into barren wastes.
 Destroyed, rent asunder are fortresses
 And earthly men of might are quelled.
 Mountains, however lofty,
 Like bridges are laid flat.
 As for the wicked, who rise up against me,
 There is a Being who will hew them down,
 Not with my strength but in the strength of the mighty Life.
 And Life is victorious and victorious the man
 Who went hence.

144

By my pure radiance am I protected;
 And the 'uthras, my brothers, are covered with light.
 Through the vigilance and praisegiving of the 'uthras,
 My brothers, the glory of Life cometh and resteth upon me.

145

When the Mighty ¹⁾ (Life) speaketh
 In the Great Place, the House of Perfection
 The Great and Mighty One transporteth (or createth)
 Šilmai and Nidbai: It transported Šilmai and Nidbai
 And gave them to Nṣab-Ziwa as his helpers.
 When Nṣab-Ziwa had reliance on the 'uthras,
 The perfect beings whom They had sent down,
 He spoke with his calm voice
And the chosen go out towards him ²⁾
Towards him go out the chosen.
 And he giveth them some of his glory
 Some of his glory he bestoweth on them,
 And the chosen on earth are confirmed
 The elect righteous are confirmed;
 They rise up and behold the Place of Light.
 Extolled is Life victorious,
 And victorious is the man who went hence.

146

I am preserved by my pure radiance
 Like the Mighty One ³⁾ in His Glory.
 My raiment shone forth in the House
 And my prayer and praise rise upward to His Place ⁴⁾.

147

Miserable ⁵⁾ am I!
 When shall I go (hence?)
 (When will) my aching heart find relief?
 My heart that aches (when will it) find relief?
 And my soul, that they made an alien,
 Find its vent?
 In the place where they are much questioned
 The glory of Life will rest on me.
 And it will rest upon my priests and (those)

²⁾ The couplet is missing in D.C. 53: I take it from other mss. including D.C. 3 and the Oxford ms.

³⁾ Again, the plural indicates the Great Life.

⁴⁾ In D.C. 53 very plainly latrh.

⁵⁾ Ania means both "poor" and "miserable".

Whom the Seven persecute in this world.
 (Yea) the Seven persecute sorely!
 The worlds which persecute and wrong,
 The Seven, they and their king,
 Are bound for conflagrations of fire.
 (But) the good, the elect, the just
 And the perfect rise
 And behold the Place of Light.
 Life is extolled, victorious,
 And victorious is the man who went hence.

"I am poor ¹⁾ and submissive,
 An elect righteous one ²⁾.
 Listen, hearken to my cry!"
 "Thou, poor one, with thy children,
 Thine offspring and thy priest,
 Shalt rise and thou wilt behold
 The Place of Light".

[These three prayers and three hymns are for the fifth day of the week (Thursday).]

149 ³⁾

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 At the door of the synagogue
 Her mother meeteth Miriai,
 Miriai her mother meeteth,
 And she questioneth her straitly,
 "Whence comest thou, My daughter Miriai?
 That thy face plucketh (colour from) the rose.
 Thy face plucketh (colour from) the rose
 And thine eyes are full of sleep,
 Full of sleep are thine eyes
 And thy brow beareth marks of vigil!" ⁴⁾

²⁾ That is to say, one of the bhuria zidqa, one of the Mandaean community.

³⁾ The conversion and baptism of Miriai are described in G.R., see Lidzbarski's translation, p. 341; and in J.B. II p. 123. See also 162, p. 140.

⁴⁾ שְׁהָרָה "to be awake: šaharta = "a vigil", "a watch"? Doubtful: the word could also mean "sleep"!

And she (Miriai) answered her,
 "Yea, these two or three days
 My brothers stayed in my Father's house;
 In my Father's house my brothers stayed
 Chanting wondrous chants.
 At their voice, at the sound of the discourse
 Of the 'uthras, my brothers,
 No sleep cometh to mine eyes,
 To mine eyes no sleep cometh
 And my brow (keepeth) vigil". ¹⁾
 Hast thou not heard, daughter Miriai,
 What the Jews say about thee?
 The Jews say 'Thy daughter is in love with a man,
 She hath hated Jewry and loved Naširutha;
 She hath conceived hate for the synagogue-door
 And love for the door of the maškna ²⁾.
 She hath taken dislike to the phylactery-band
 And loveth the fresh (myrtle-) wreaths.
 On the Sabbath she carries on work;
 On Sunday she keepeth her hands therefrom.
Miriai hath hated ³⁾ the Law
 Which the Seven imposed (bound) upon Jerusalem' ".
 On the place where she was standing,
Miriai scattereth the dust with her foot
 And sayeth "Dust on the mouth of the Jews!
 Ashes on the mouths of all the cohens (priests)!
 And dung beneath the horses' hooves
 Be upon the Elders who are in Jerusalem!
 That which I have come to love I cannot hate.
 That which I (now) hate, I cannot love.
 (No love have I) except love for Manda-q-Hiia,
 My Lord, who standeth by (me) and will be
 My Helper, lending hand and support
 From the Place of Darkness to the Place of Light".
 Thou hast vanquished, Manda-q-Hiia!
 And bringest victory to all those who love thy name.
 And Life is victorious.

²⁾ The maškna is the Mandaean cult-hut and its enclosure.

³⁾ In D.C. 3 slith, Oxford ms. asliṭh "rejected".

150

On the day that the great gate of the Dwellings¹⁾ opened,
 The radiance of the King upon the holy 'uthras was increased.
 The 'uthras bowed in adoration
 And the Great Life accepted their prayer and their praise
 From beginning to end.

151²⁾

When will my Lord come from thee
 Victorious heaven?
 He will lift my head from my knees
 And dry my eyes from my tears.
 My lap that is full of ignominies
 He emptied³⁾ before Him
 I lay low⁴⁾ and I arose.
 I will tell him everything: of how
 All the worlds have harried me,
 Many were the persons⁵⁾ who harried me.
 (But) my brethren, sons of Kušṭa,
 Do not fail me.
 The worlds stoned me with stones
 (But) my brothers were moved in words to anger thereat⁶⁾.
 (O) that my Lord would come from thee
 Victorious heaven! for He will lift my head
 From my knees and dry my eyes from my tears.
 My lap, which was full of ignominies,
 He hath emptied out before Him, I lay low
 And I arose⁷⁾. And I will recount to Him everything,
 How all the worlds persecuted me;
 Many were the persons who harried me,
 (But) my brothers, sons of Kušṭa, do not fail me.
 The world stoned me with stones,

²⁾ This prayer differs considerably in the D.C. 53, D.C. 3 and D.C. 1 versions from the Oxford ms. which Lidzbarski used.

³⁾ Oxf. ms. 'nfiš qudamḥ "I will empty out before Him"

⁴⁾ Oxf. ms. rmia qudamḥ 'qum, for qudamḥ rmit uqamit in the other three.

⁵⁾ Almia for "persons", see p.2, n. 3.

⁶⁾ Lidzbarski is mistaken: the soul makes no complaint about her "brothers in Kušṭa".

⁷⁾ See ns. 3 and 4.

(But) my brothers, in words were angry (thereat ¹)
 They said to me "Why weepest thou, Daughter of Kušta?
 (Why) do thy tears ²) fall down into thy bosom?
 Thou knowest well thy road!
 Thy boundary-stone is firmly erected!
 Between lamps of light
 They will lift up thy lamp,
 Between lamps of light
 Thy lamp they will set up ³),
 And they will shine forth.
 In thy time and season arise,
 And behold the Place of Light.
 Extolled is Life and victorious
 And victorious the Man who went hence.

152

Ye are uplifted and fortified
 By a word of sure truth ⁴)
 Which hath come to you.
 A word of sure truth hath come to the good,
 A truthful word to the believing!
 To the Place which is all Life
 Your souls are bidden and invited,
 And the souls of your good brothers
 And of such of our sisters who are believing.

153

A cleft was cloven in the earth:
 Thunder sounded in great Sion,
 The being who breached the breach
 Was unable with (all) his might
 To stop it up.
 Another who was with him,
 A weaver of a fishing-nets he was,
 Cast his net for fishes great and small.
 Fish who had strength thereto

¹) Omitted in D.C. 53.

²) Read dimik as in D.C. 3.

³) The repetition is in D.C. 3.

⁴) Švara is more than "truth": it is something sure, fact, something that cannot be shaken, certainty, also (physical) soundness.

Broke the net and got out.
 Fish whose strength was not equal thereto,
 Lay beneath the lead ¹⁾.
 On the day that the breach will be closed,
 On the day that the waterwheels ²⁾ gush out,
 On the day that the breach is blocked,
 Ye fish, where will ye go?
 O ye who sup on ³⁾ scourge and despotism,
 What will ye do on the Day of Judgement?
 O ye who wear flowers and silk
 What will ye say to the Being of the Scales? ⁴⁾
 Voices have been voiced,
 Opinions have been given, all (kinds of) pronouncements;
 Yet there cometh one Voice
 And teacheth all voices,
 There cometh one Saying
 And teacheth all sayings.
 There cometh one Being,
 Who explaineth them one by one.
 We who praise our Lord,
 Thou wilt forgive our sins and trespasses,
 Our sins and trespasses Thou wilt forgive us,
 Which we foolishly committed in the world,
 For the sake of the strength of the holy
 And the true-dealing of the believing.
 Life is victorious and victorious the man
 Who hath gone hence.

154

I have spoken and discoursed with my voice:
 "O Lord of devotional prayer ⁵⁾,
 O Lord of prayer and praise,
 Hearken and hear my voice,

¹⁾ The silīta is the selīya of the modern fisherman on the Tigris and Euphrates: a circular net, weighted round its circumference by lumps of lead.

²⁾ Wooden irrigation wheels. (P.) The naura is still employed but has been largely replaced by oil-pumps.

³⁾ I.e. "are avid of", lit. "eat." M.L. has šauṭa for šūṭa.

⁴⁾ Abathur (Muzania).

⁵⁾ I.e. the Rahmia, daily devotions.

And be Thou, Great Life,
To me a Helper”.

[These three prayers and three hymns are Friday's.]

155

In the name of the Great Life,
Sublime Light be magnified!
Stand by Me, be steadfast,
(Ye who) know Me;
Stand by Me, be staunch,
My friends.
Stand by Me staunchly
(Ye who) know Me,
Like a stone column in storm-winds!
Tempest may go, tempest may come;
(But), My friends, change not
(The words of?) My mouth.
For men who stand firm will live,
(Whilst) those who turn away will meet their end,
Those who turn away will die
Those who remain staunch will find
Sure truth. My brothers,
Speak truthfully, not with lying lips
Prevaricate. Be not like a pomegranate
Which on its outer face is sound,
Outwardly sound is its surface,
But inside it is full of dry husks.
Be like a wine-jar full of Azmiuz wine;
Its outside is clay and pitch
But inside it is Azmiuz wine.
The Voice of Life calleth
And the ears of the chosen hearken.
Extolled is Life and victorious
And victorious the man that goeth hence.

156

By the bank of the great Jordan of the First Life,
A sublime Vine standeth erect.
Each and every day my prayer and praise
Riseth before it.

157

To the mountains I say
 How fragrant are your odours,
 How delightful your perfume!
 Within you ¹⁾ all is full of brightness!"
 They reply, "The Being who passed through our midst
 Hath no tangibility or substance,
 No substance or tangibility hath He,
 Nor is there any kind of need in Him.
 The Being who passed amongst us,
 Released some of his vivifying power ²⁾ amongst us."
 The wicked hold their power of reproduction
 (To consist of) questions ³⁾ (?) and words.
 But not in questions(?) and words can the vivifying power ⁴⁾
 Of Life be comprehended,
 But in truth and belief
 Which the Elect hold as their vital principle.
 Every man who holdeth to his vital principle
 And is steadfast therein, raiseth up life,
 To support it (life).
 (But on) one who did not grasp his vital principle
 And did not stand firmly upon it,
 From yonder they loose strife,
 They loose strife from yonder
 And he will become the portion of the world.
 And Life is victorious.

²⁾ Niṣubta is a word of very complex meaning. It is primarily the urge to propagate, reproduce, the élan vital, the vivifying principle, procreation, planting, implanting. At the beginning of the hymn the poet, admiring the sweet herb-scented mountains, is told by them that it is the divine vivifying power of Life which has produced their perfume and beauty. The working of the vital urge in man is then described as a yearning for true life, the life of the soul. In later Mandaean literature niṣubta is an expression for a wife or bride, nṣab niṣubta = "he took a woman to wife".

³⁾ Šulīa. "Questions" is šulīalia, not šulīa. Šul ܫܘܠ is a word for "lower parts", "sexual part", and here possibly that is the meaning. A play on words may be intended.

⁴⁾ The varying value of niṣubta makes translation difficult, and the whole poem is obscure.

158

O shoot which sprouted within the Tanna ¹⁾
 O prayer and praise
 Which came to us from the Place of Light!

159

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 The departure of the sabbath
 With its evening ²⁾ (marketh),
 The entry of Sunday for good.
 At the departure of the sabbath
 With its night,
 The Good One set forth and came into being
 And he took his lofty throne
 And placed in it that which he brought ³⁾.
 And he took his shepherd's-pipe of Truth
 That is filled with prayers ⁴⁾ and praise.
 Once on a time, Good One,
 I played ⁵⁾ thereon.
 The door of the heavens opened!
 A second time, Good One,
 Did I hymn therewith,
 And all the wicked became good!
 And a third time, Good One,
 I hymned therewith.
 All were stirred to consciousness
 And they arose.
 It said to them, "Rise up, come ⁶⁾,

¹⁾ Tanna, see p. 9, n. 1. A modern Mandaean legend was related to me which may be founded on this prayer. It was that a green shoot sprouted in Noah's wife's oven as a portent that the flood was imminent. See MMII pp. 259-260.

²⁾ Read brmaš. (Bar maš and brmaš, "son of groping", "son of searching", may be deliberate play on words.) I translate "with its evening", not in the Christian sense of an "eve", because with Mandaeans a day begins at dawn, not at sunset of the previous day. ܡܪܬܐ = "evening", "night".

³⁾ Another play on words: ܡܬܢܐ = "time"?

⁴⁾ Read pisnia. Dalman gives pisan as "prayer, supplication" (loanword from the Greek).

⁵⁾ Lit. "I discoursed, preached".

⁶⁾ Not in M.L., but in both D.C. 53 and D.C. 3.

Ye sleepers who lie sleeping!
 Arise, ye erring ones who have stumbled!
 Is not my rule hard upon you?
 And doth not my high lash fall heavy upon you?"
 They say to him, "By thy life,
 Our father ¹⁾, Son of the Life,
 Because of the radiance and light
 Thou hast brought with thee
 Thy rule is not hard on us
 Nor does thy high lash strike hardly upon us!
 But as for the wicked,
 The son of the wicked,
 It entered his body
 And felled him (to the ground)".
 Once I cried to the evil one
 "Keep aloof from my gnostic!" ²⁾ (or "Avoid my hand!")
 I repeated, saying to him,
 "Keep aloof from my friends!"
 And a third time I spoke to him
 To the wicked one, and I will not let him go free,
 I will slay him utterly, the evil one,
 And will cast him into world's end
 Into world's end will I cast him
 For I cried to him ³⁾ in his ear and he heard not,
 In his ear I cried and he heard not.
 I showed him, before his eyes, but he looked not.
 I showed him, but he saw not with his eyes.
 He will meet his end on the great Last Day.
 As for us, who praise our Lord,
 Thou wilt forgive us our sins and trespasses.
 Life is renowned and victorious,
 And victorious the man who went hence.

It revealed itself, and set off and came,

²⁾ In D.C. 3 and the Oxf. Ms. ḏ-siṭar mn yadai huia; DC .53 ḏ-saṭar mn 'dar huia, "Be an avoider of my hand".

³⁾ Read qrilḥ as in M.L.

The face of the day ¹⁾ the name of which is holy ¹⁾.
 Secret mysteries were revealed to the 'uthras
 Enlightenment was revealed, and praisingiving
 That was great and boundless.
 The 'uthras who were transported thereby
 Rejoice in its wondrous radiance
 From beginning to end.

[These three prayers and three hymns are for the seventh day of the week (Saturday).]

161 ²⁾

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified.
 The outgoing of the sabbath with its night ³⁾
 Is the entry of Sunday for good.
 (At) the outgoing of the sabbath with its night
 The Life summoned me, from amongst Them,
 And some of His serenity He imparted to my mind.
 He issued a command, and they clothed me with radiance,
 Brought me light that was powerful
 And covered me (therewith).
 They armed me with their armour
 And gave command; to the earth they sent me
 To voice the Call of the Life,
 To found a society in the House,
 To found abodes and to build in them sanctuaries ⁴⁾,
 To ordain priests ⁵⁾ who are fit for
 And worthy of the Place of Light,
 To smoothen a road for the good,
 To prepare a path for the believing,
 To make plain and lift up
 Probity ⁶⁾ to its place;

²⁾ This prayer is not in the Bodleian ms. (Oxford Marsh 691) — hence not in M.L.

³⁾ Three words are combined: b rmaš m'ii. See p. 135, n. 2.

⁴⁾ mašknia = cult-huts.

⁵⁾ Or "to teach disciples". The reference, however, is to the ordination of priests.

⁶⁾ Tuqna. Or "steady light", or "honesty" or "orderliness," "orthodoxy".

And to leave dross behind ¹⁾ at its proper place,
To deliver the whole congregation of souls,
(The souls) of Naṣōraeans and Mandaeans,
So that the sinner may have no power over them.
I set forth: with my radiance that is great
I came to this world,
I called with the voice of Life,
And I caused a society to dwell in the House ²⁾.
I founded škintas, I built in them sanctuaries,
And I instructed priests (or disciples)
Who were fit for and worthy of
The Place of Light.
I levelled a road for the good
And prepared a path for the believing,
I made plain and set up probity
In its place
And left the dross behind at its place.
I delivered the whole congregation of souls,
(Those) of Naṣōraeans and Mandaeans,
So that the sinner should have no power over them.
Who told the sons of the Evil One
That they should go forth towards me?
They say, "Man, give us some of thy radiance
Which is great, and some
Of thy light which is boundless!"
I answer them, "Efface yourselves,
Be banished from before me
(Ye) dead ones, evil ones
Who have not beheld Life!"
Who giveth the portion of light
To Darkness, or truth to the wicked?
The truth which was mine I have given
To Naṣōraeans, righteous and believing men.
Behold, they dedicated themselves to goodness,
They will rise and will behold
The Place of Light.
Life is extolled and victorious
And victorious the man who went hence.

In the name of the Great Life,
 Sublime Light be magnified.
 At the going-out of sabbath,
 On the eve of the first day of the week, for good,
 — The going-out of the sabbath —
 At eventide Miriai went to the door of the sanctuary ²⁾
 To pray her prayers and to praise the 'uthras.
 All the evil ones who saw Miriai wore the qulab (tunic) ³⁾
 All of them had put on clothing,
 Wearing weapons they go forth toward Miriai,
 Saying to her, "We adjure thee, Miriai,
 By the Word, by truth and troth,
 Moreover we adjure thee, Miriai.
 By the Being from whom thy enlightenment proceeded,
 The Being whom thine eyes beheld,
 (Tell us,) What is He like?"
 I do thus; I say to them,
 "Be blotted out, be banished from my presence,
 (Ye) dead, (ye) wicked men
 Who beheld not the Life
 Nor have ye seen that which mine eyes have seen,
 Nor heard that which my ears heard.
 The Being whom mine eyes ⁴⁾ beheld —
 There is not His peer in the world
 (Though one were) to lift eyeballs
 From bank to bank of the world!
 At His tread and at His footsteps
 The earthly world was alarmed.
 The dead heard Him and lived.
 The sick heard Him and were cured,
 Lepers heard Him and were healed,
 They got up, they arose, they were healed
 By the healing of Manda-d-Hiia

²⁾ Maškna = that which is called to day a mandi, i.e. the Mandaean place of worship.

³⁾ קִלְבָּן qilbān A tunic without or with short sleeves (χολόβιον). See Jastrow,

p. 1328. The word is omitted in D.C. 3.

⁴⁾ D.C. 3 ainik; D.C. 53 ainai

Which, in His goodness, He bestowed upon them.

And Life is victorious.

[Pray these two prayers in the Rahmia (Devotions) for candidates for priesthood, on Saturday evening after "It revealed itself and came". Then recite "Poor am poor I! from the fruits".]

163 ¹⁾

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 On Sunday, on the chief of days,
 Who saw that which I have seen?
 Who saw Manda-dHiia who set out and came to the world?
 He set out and came to the world and three 'uthras came with him.
 When he had put ²⁾ on a robe of radiance and light
 Thrown ³⁾ over his shoulders,
 An ether-wreath he set on his head
 And he set it on all his kin.
 On Sunday, on the chief of days
 Who hath seen that which I have seen?
 Who saw the Stranger who went
 And stayed at the house of his friends?
 I, who saw the Stranger,
 Mine eyes were filled with His light
 Mine eyes with light were filled
 And knowledge (manda) dwelt in my heart
 In my heart knowledge dwelt
 And my mouth filled with his praise;
 His praise filled my mouth.
 And I arose, and I praise my Father.
 I arose and (gave?) praises to my Father
 From dawn until the decline of day
 I praised His great radiance
 And I praised his lovely light:
 And I praised my father Yušamin the Pure,
 The being who dwelleth on the water-springs.
 I praised the four beings sons of salvation,

³⁾ D.C. 3 mramia, D.C. 53 mramai.

Beings who grasp the hand in troth ¹⁾
 Praises to the great First Palmtree! ²⁾
 From it I brought me garments,
 Garments I brought me from it
 So that the good might come and clothe themselves.
 Praise my Lord, Manda-d-Hiia,
 Who will be my support in the world,
 A support in the world will He be to me
 And His hand will help me
 To the Place of light.
 Blessed and victorious is Life
 And victorious the man who went hence.

164 ³⁾

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 I beheld a mountain,
 White as the congregation ⁴⁾ that had formed itself on it.
 The day on which a wind breathes (over it?)
 Nations delight in its perfume.
 The day on which the wind holds the valleys ⁵⁾
 They are illumined by its radiance.
 When standing at my place, I made a great request,
 A boon. I said "Grant me that from my mountain-home) ⁶⁾
 And from the home of the great company that (dwelleth?) therein
 There may be (brought?) a Healer of souls;
 A Healer there may be for souls
 Who healeth but taketh no fee".
 As I was standing at my place
 The boon I had asked was granted me,
 Granted me from the mountain-home,
 From the home of the great community therein.
 I became a healer for souls!
 I became a healer for souls

²⁾ See p. 14, n. 6.

³⁾ Not in M.L.

⁴⁾ Kana cf. kana d-nišmata, "congregation" or group of souls.

⁵⁾ D.C. 3 has parata.

⁶⁾ 'qar, aqar, qar = the French chez: i.e. an habitual residence, hence "home" seems an adequate translation.

Who healeth but taketh no fee.
 I set forth, came and reached
 The gates of Babylon. Of the children of Babylon
 There were some who shut their doors on seeing me:
 There were those who shut their doors.
 And there were those who opened their doors.
 Those who shut their doors
 Hated life and loved death,
 They loved death and hated life
 And will be held back in the Abode of Darkness.
 Those who opened their doors
 Loved Life and hated Death,
 They hated Death and loved Life.
 They will rise up in purity
 And will behold the Place of Light.
 Life is extolled, Life is victorious
 And victorious is the man who went hence.

[These two prayers, pray them at the dawn of Sunday after "My day what is it amongst days" then recite "Poor am I; from the fruits".]

165 ¹⁾

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Life be magnified!
 Poor am I! From the fruits... ²⁾
 And displaced am I, from far away am I!
 A poor one whom the Great Life afflicted ³⁾,
 A displaced (being), for the 'uthras removed me;
 They brought me from the Abode of the Good;
 Yea! they assigned me a dwelling in the abode of evil ones,
 Yea they made me dwell in the abode of evil ones
 Which is all full of wickedness.
 All full of evil, full of consuming fire.
 I willed it not, nor do I desire
 To dwell in the futile dwelling,

²⁾ This makes no sense. I suggest that originally piria was Piriawis, and that it was mn Piriawis atit (I came from P.)

³⁾ A play on words; 'nun also means "answered me": 𐌸𐌵 means (a) to answer (b) to afflict, oppress.

With my strength and with my vigilance (Perforce and with vigilance?)

Have I dwelt in the futile abode,
By my vigilance and my praise
Have I kept myself alien from it,
From the world.
I have stood amongst them like a fatherless child,
Like a fatherless child, or like
A fruit tree with none to tend it ¹⁾.
I hear the voice of the Seven,
Who murmur and confer together:
They say, "Whence is this being? (this) stranger,
Whose whose speech is not like our speech?"
I did not listen to their talk
And they were filled with evil rage against me.
The Life, who heard my cry, sent towards me a saviour.
He sent me a gentle 'uthra,
A being equipped and equipping.
He discoursed with me in his pure voice,
Just as 'uthras discourse in the House of Perfection
And he said, "Fear not, poor thing; and do not tremble,
Say not 'I am alone!'
Because of thee, poor one the firmament
Was thus outspanned, the heavens were outspanned thus;
And stars were created therein.
For thy sake, poor one,
This dry land came into being,
The dry land came to pass and became solid
And fell into the water.
On thine account, poor one,
The sun came; for thee was the moon revealed.
On thine account, poor one, did the seven ²⁾ come.
And those twelve ³⁾ went hither.
At thy right hand, thou poor one, abideth radiance
And at thy left are beams of light.

²⁾ The planets.

³⁾ The signs of the Zodiac.

Stand firm! Rise in thy brightness ¹⁾ (?)
 Until thy measure (of years) is complete.
 When thy measure is complete,
 I myself will come to thee, I will bring thee
 Robes of splendour
 Which the world, covetous ²⁾, will entreat;
 I will bring to thee wrappings ³⁾,
 Good and pure, of the Light
 Which is great and boundless.
 I will deliver thee from the wicked
 And save thee from sinners.
 I will set thee in thy škinta
 In the Pure Place. I will rescue thee!"
 I hear the voice of the Seven
 As they mutter and whisper and say
 "Blessed is it that the poor one
 Hath a father, and the fruit-tree one who tendeth it.
 For us there is no father: our fruit-tree hath none to tend it!"
 Well is it for him whom the Great Life knoweth
 But woe to him whom the Great Life knoweth not!
 Well is it for him whom the Great Life knoweth,
 Who keepeth himself alien from the world,
 From the world of imperfection
 In which the planets sit.
 On thrones of rebellion do they sit
 And perform their deeds with a scourge.
 They stir up trouble about gold and silver,
 They cast into it (the world) strife,
 They stir up trouble cast strife into it.
 And they will go into the fire: will seethe,
 They will go into fire and will seethe,
 The wicked will seethe and their pomp
 Will perish and be brought to a stop.
 (But) I, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš,
 And my offspring and my kinsfolk

 Inspired in you. ²⁾

167

In the Name of the Great Life!
 Thee, my Lord, do I worship
 And Thee, my Lord, do I praise.
 Light-in-Truth do we call Thee.
 Look on us, Lord, and condemn us not!

168

Upon the Beginning of the great Ether of Life
 And upon the great Source of Healings
 Do I, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, take stand.
 I have made prayer and submission to
 That great ³⁾ Primal Mana and the Treasure of Treasures,
 And to Bihrun, Kanfiel, Nšab and Anan-Nšab,
 To Sar and Sarwan, Tar and Tarwan, 'Urfiel and Marfiel

¹⁾ Very plainly this in D.C. 53, but not in D.C. 3 or the Oxford ms.

²⁾ Lit. Nšablkun (planted on you) in both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53, The Oxf. ms. nšablun i.e. "which your Father transferred from the Mighty Life".

³⁾ All the beings named in this list appear to be personifications of some function or activity of life or light, but analysis of these names cannot be entered upon here.

And to Arsapan ¹⁾, the Youth of tender years,
 And to Yawar-Tatgmur and to Haš-u-Praš
 The 'uthra who is Nṣab and Anan-Nṣab,
 Bihram and the great Ram — Life is His name —
 Who receiveth prayer and praise
 And uplifteth it (them) to the Great Place of Light
 And to the Everlasting Abode.
 He will accept my prayer and praise, mine,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš,
 And lift it up to the Great Place of Light
 And to the Everlasting Abode
 Into His own škinta; will uplift it and will not let Distortion or fault appear therein.
 And Life be praised!

169

To thy name, Land (world) of Light
 And to the great Door of the House of Life
 Have I addressed my prayer and made submission,
 And to that great First Mana
 And that great first Source of glory who is Haš-u-Praš (He pondered and declared) and Prišaia-rba-qadmaia
 (Noble, great, First) is His name ²⁾;
 Our propitiation ³⁾ and our Awe.
 Wondrous is His voice,
 And His converse other-worldly.
 (He it is) who accepteth prayer and praise
 And taketh it up to the great place of Light
 And to the everlasting abode.
 He accepteth my prayer and my praise,
 Mine, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš,
 Who have prayed this prayer and (these) Devotions.
 And he lifteth it up to the great place of Light
 And to the everlasting abode
 And delivereth it to the great Yawar.
 This is prayer and praise which came to us
 —To the Elect Righteous—to this world

Which is all birth.

For every man who prayeth this prayer

There will be forgiving of sins.

To every Naṣōraean man who prayeth this prayer

And standeth at his devotions,

And mentioneth these names sincerely,

A guardian-spirit of light will come

And will abide in his house,

(And will abide in my house)

Mine, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš.

And I, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš,

By means of this prayer will seek and find

And speak and be heard,

I will seek justice and win (my case);

I shall be without sin or trespass

In the Great Place of Light

And the Everlasting Abode.

Life be praised! and Life is victorious.

(Translator's note). — At this point prayerbooks used by priests vary in order, and D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 no longer run parallel. Into

D.C. 53 I have inserted the longer form of Commemoration used at every masiqta. It is called the Abahatan Qadmaiia. In the list of commemorations, family names, the names of local priests, friends or relatives are inserted according to the occasion, place, or priests, but the beginning is always the same, and in the Abahatan Qadmaiia the names of heavenly beings, patriarchs, ethnarchs and liturgists are permanently embedded.

This prayer, the major Ṭab ṭaba ḥṭabia, is not in its full form. in M.L.

I have included here also the six prayers which follow the Abahatan Qadmaiia in D.C. 3.

174

I beseech the Life and my Lord Manda-ḡ-Hiia and the 'uthras and kings of the worlds of the light for a sponsor for this high mystery (ḡinza) so that no lacking or deficiency may appear therein. Should there be anything missing or deficient, do thou, O Hibil-Ziwa, (thou) great Fulfiller, supplement it from thy treasure which is not deficient and from thy plenty which lacketh in nothing. Rid it and loose it from its sins, trespasses, follies, stumblings and mistakes, (and) mine, Adam-Zihrun son of Mahnuš who have prayed this prayer and (these) devotions. May there be forgiving of sins for me.

O Sunday, receive it, save it, establish it and raise it up to perfection!

175

In the name of the Great Life.

Then, when she reacheth the Seven Mysteries, servitors of the Seven go forth towards her. They come and surround her and question her and say to her, "O soul, whence comest thou and whither goest thou?"

I say to them, "I come from the Body²⁾, the name of which is the Earth and I am going towards the Good Consummation ³⁾".

They say to me, "Whose servant art thou and whose envoy art thou called?"

I say to them, "I am the servitor of the Beloved Consummation, and the envoy of the vast Ether".

²⁾ The cosmic Body of Adam Kasia.

³⁾ Kimša (see p. 119, n. 2.) here has certainly the meaning of final consummation.

Then they bless her (me) ¹⁾ and praise her and guard her and say to her, "Everyone who knoweth this saying will rise towards the Good Goal ²⁾" because they seek to grasp the mysteries of the Body. And they question her and then she riseth towards the Good Goal.

176

O King of all kings, O Father of all 'uthras; O Adatan and Yadata; O Šilmay and Nedvay, ye guardian 'uthras of the jordan; O Hibil-Ziwa, great Fulfiller who deliverest us from evil plots and deliverest us from all that is evil and ugly, O high King of Light, thou wilt give me comeliness of body, compassion of heart, fullness of hand and integrity of eye. O Life, and my Lord Manda-d-Hiia Thou deliverest me savest me and guardest me. O high King of Light!

177 ³⁾

In the Name of the Great Life.

Vines shone in the water
And in the jordan mighty they grew.
Ye are flourishing offshoots.
Messengers hither I bring you,
I give you great 'uthras.

I have twined for you and bring you
Garlands of myrtle and marjoram
For (lit. "in") the doors of the houses.

¹⁾ The poem veers constantly from the 1st to the 3rd person.

²⁾ Kimša. (?) See p. 158 n. 3.

³⁾ This prayer exists in several versions and appears to be very corrupt. Its use may elucidate the original meaning. It is recited when, at the Little New Year's Feast, priests hang wreaths of myrtle and willow on the door of every house. I venture on a reconstruction of the hymn as follows: —

(From the fourth line)

[Messengers (not a messenger) I bring you.]

Šgandia lhaka aitiikun yahbinalkun l'utria sagia

Gadlilkun umatnalkun bbabia d-hilbunia

Klilia d-asa umarwa (see note on this line)

Yanqia gadlalkun umatnalkun

Alma lkimṣat alma brikun

Yardna sagia brikinhun masbuta d-labaṭla

Mn riš briš. (cont. next page).

I will rear up for you babes
 And bring (them) to you.
 We bless you unto world's end :
 The full river (yardna)¹⁾ hath blessed you
 And the baptism which is unfailing
 From beginning to end.

178

Kušta strengthen thee ²⁾, my crown,
 Kušta strengthen thee, my teacher,
 Kušta strengthen thee, my turban,
 Kušta strengthen thee, guardian of my turban,
 Kušta strengthen thee, Great First Radiance,
 Kušta strengthen thee, Great First Light,
 Kušta strengthen you, my brother-priests,
 Kušta strengthen You, Life, my Parents ³⁾,
 Kušta strengthen thee, my treasure,
 Kušta strengthen thee, Guardian of my treasure!
 We kiss thee with a pure mouth. (Sixty-one times)
 In an inner vessel they concealed thee ⁴⁾.
 The Wellspring of living waters hath blessed thee,
 And the Naširutha which emanated therefrom
 Will be thine assuagement, it will be thy portion.
 And treasure will arise to its owner.
 And Thou, Life, wilt be victorious for ever and ever!
 And Life is victorious ⁵⁾.

(Note.)— The section which follows in D.C. 53 p. 200 begins in D.C. 3 p. 357 after the Blessed Oblation Prayers. It is the section which deals with marriage and with the newly-crowned priest. I translated

(cont.) I suggest that the proximity of marua to yanqia led scribes to confuse marba q-mrabia yanqia, D.A., p. 11, with the present line, especially as marba is pronounced marua. However, the verse is said at the New Year, when priests visit houses and distribute wreaths which are hung on doors of houses. My translation is free, based on this supposition.

²⁾ ASA in the sense of curing that which is sick, is unsuitable to the Mandaic form of greeting kušta asiak, especially as addressed to divine beings when "give thee thy full power" is implied by asiak.

³⁾ The cosmic parents, the Father and Mother.

⁴⁾ The taga (a silk fillet) is kept in a box.

⁵⁾ This prayer is repeated at putting on and taking off the "crown", see p. 28, n. 3.

the marriage hymns in Biblica et Orientalia no. 12, Pontificio Istituto Biblico, Rome 1950, but am glad to alter certain prayers, for second thoughts have improved the earlier translation. The first prayer, No. 179, is found in a slightly different version in the G. R. (See G. R. Lidzbarski's trs. pp. 271-2).]

³⁾ In G.R. "wisdom and praise". D.C. 38 agrees with D.C. 53.

⁴⁾ Masculine in D.C. 53 and D.C. 38; feminine in G.R.

- For every day thou praisest the Life.

An Espousal ²⁾ that none preceded
- Q. Thou art the First Cry:
The Life evoked Thee from its Nature.
- R. Thou art the Teacher of head-priests,

In the Name of the Great Life!

'Uthras assembled and Dwellings ⁴⁾ came together
And they set up a throne for Yawar, King of 'uthras,
They set up for Yawar, King of 'uthras, a throne,
And placed on his head fresh wreaths.
And his light shone forth over 'uthras and dwellings.

¹⁾ Or "association". The reference here is undoubtedly to the Father-Mother union at creation.

²⁾ Nišubta here is better translated thus. It is used poetically for "marriage" or "bride". See p. 135, n. 2.

³⁾ M.L. p. 232. These prayers describe the investiture of Manda-q-Hiia and are read for the investiture of a new priest and also for the bridegroom. See Š.q-Q. p. 45, n. 1.

⁴⁾ Škinata: probably the cult-huts, personified.

The 'uthras and dwellings that beheld the radiance of Yawar,
king of 'uthras,
All flocked towards him, they all flocked towards him,
And laid their pure right hands on him and blessed him
With the great blessing wherewith Yawar-Ziwa the king
Was blessed in his dwelling ($kinta)
And Life is victorious.

In the name of the Great Life!
On the day that they clad Manda-q-Hiia in his vestment,
His radiance shone forth over worlds of light.
His brilliance shone forth on worlds of light,
And the worlds of light that beheld his radiance
All gathered to him, all flocked toward him,
And opened their mouths and blessed Manda-q-Hiia,
Saying to him, "Blessed is thy radiance
That shineth over the waters!
How bright is thy radiance!
Thine appearance giveth out light and becometh not dim!"
(Give him to drink) ¹

182

In the name of the Great Life!
On the day that they tied the girdle on Manda-q-Hiia,
His radiance shone forth over 'uthras and Dwellings.
The 'uthras and dwellings that beheld Manda-q-Hiia's radiance
Were all afraid of his radiance,
At his radiance all were in awe,
And all gathered to him, all flocked towards him
And laid their pure right hands upon him
And blessed Manda-q-Hiia, saying to him
"Blessed art thou, our father, Manda-q-Hiia,
And blessed is this girdle wherewith they have girt thee!"
(Give him to drink.)

¹ The hamra (wine) given to a bridegroom is water into which grapes or raisins (symbolical of female fertility and of the Mother) and dates (symbolical of male fertility and of the Father) have been macerated into freshly drawn water.

183

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that they invested ¹⁾ Manda-ḏ-Hiia with the tunic ²⁾
His radiance shone forth over 'uthras and dwellings.
The 'uthras and dwellings that beheld the radiance of Manda-

All gathered towards him, all flocked towards him,
Laying their pure right hands upon him,
Blessing Manda-ḏ-Hiia and saying to him
"Blessed art thou, our father, Manda-ḏ-Hiia,
And blessed is he who hath transferred to thee these vestments
For all the worlds which behold thee
Are awestruck at thy radiance.

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that they invested Manda-ḏ-Hiia
With the stole ³⁾, Šamašiel,
Three hundred and sixty wellsprings of radiance sprang forth
therein,
Three hundred and sixty wellsprings of radiance sprang forth.
And the radiance of the wellsprings was visible at the jordan.

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that they set the crown on Manda-ḏ-Hiia
His radiance shone forth upon the Houses ⁴⁾,
Upon the Houses his radiance shone forth.
And He (that is) King of 'uthras, on beholding
The radiance of Manda-ḏ-Hiia's crown,

²⁾ The long tunic worn by a Mandaean (whether priest or layman) is called the ksuia or the sadra.

³⁾ A long strip of white cloth used sling-wise by the priest whilst baptising to secure the staff which he plants in the river-bed, from falling or floating away. This frees his hands. See MMII, p. 31 ff.

⁴⁾ Hilbunia = "eggs" (a bita is an egg, and bit "a house"). See p. 121, note 4.

Leapt up from his throne; he arose,
 From his throne he leapt up, stood up,
 And the three hundred and sixty thousand 'uthras
 With the King, stood and, laying their pure right hands
 Upon him, they bless Manda-d-Hiia, and say to him
 "Blessed art thou, our father, Manda-d-Hiia,
 And blessed this crown which they have set on thee.
 All worlds thereby shine from end to end.

186

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that they invested Manda-d-Hiia with the šarwala ¹⁾
 Nṣab,

His radiance shone forth over the Houses,
 Over the Houses his radiance shone forth.
 His radiance shone forth over the Houses.
 And the niṭufiata ²⁾ (heavenly spouses) who beheld Manda-d-
 Hiia's radiancy
 Say to one another: "Whence cometh this radiance that shineth upon us?"

And a Youth standing in their presence said to them,
 "This is radiance emitted by Manda-d-Hiia's šarwala, Nṣab".
 And all the heavenly women ²⁾ standing on the roofs,
 Bless him and say to him, "Blessed art thou, our father,
 Manda-d-Hiia! and blessed be he
 Who invested thee with these vestments!
 This their radiance is surpassing!"

(Give him to drink)

187

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that they invested Manda-d-Hiia with the staff
 (margna),
 Its radiance shone forth on the jordan.
 The jordan that beheld the radiance of Manda-d-Hiia's staff
 Leapt and rejoiced in the radiance of Manda-d-Hiia

²⁾ Lit. "Drops", see p. 37 notes 1 and 4.

And said to him, "How abundant is thy jordan!
The fruits and grapes and trees that are by it
Will be established.
Great is thy glory, and thy Root shall be preserved
From beginning to end".

(Give him to drink)

[Read these prayers for the staff and the crown both for a priest who celebrates a masiqta (for the first time) and for a bridal pair and chant these hymns.]

188

In the name of the Great Life!

I twined a wreath of myrtle and marjoram
And set it on the head of Yawar, king of 'uthras
And said to him, "Rejoice, Yawar, rejoice in thy living wreath,
Rejoice, Yawar, rejoice in the Spouse ¹⁾
Of brightness who hath been bestowed on thee.
Rejoice, Yawar, rejoice
At the kingdom ²⁾ that is bestowed upon thee.
Rejoice, Yawar, rejoice in the jordan
That they made flow for thee.
Rejoice, Yawar, rejoice in Šahrat ³⁾,
The Cloud of radiance who is bestowed on thee.
That floateth and floweth onward in thy jordan
From its source to its end ⁴⁾.

In the name of the Great Life!

Who, amongst the 'uthras, was it,
That placed the Wreath of the Great (Life)
Upon his head?
The Tannas ⁵⁾ and the Niṭufiata ⁶⁾ embrace one another
In the shade of the Wreath.
In the shade of the Wreath they embrace one another

¹⁾ Lit. "cloud" see p. 37, n. 4. The wreath is the "consort" or spouse of the taga, "crown".

²⁾ Mal Kuta. Or, better perhaps, "kingliness", i.e. status of kingship.

³⁾ So in all my mss. M.L. has Šarhat.

⁴⁾ See Š-d-Q. p. 47, n. 3.

⁵⁾ Tannas (tama), see p. 9, n. 1. and p. 12, n. 6.

⁶⁾ Niṭufiata, "Drops", see p. 37, n. 1.

And they lay their pure right hands upon him
 And bless him with the mighty benediction
 Wherewith Yawar was blessed
 In the Place of Light.

190

Our father, they made thee chief in Tarwan
 And gave thee authority (lit. "word" or "speech") in the place of Light

Yawar set a crown upon thee
 In the radiance whereof 'uthras shine,
 'Uthras shine in its radiance
 And the planets are in fear of it.

191

On thee, our father, they have conferred a pure sovereignty
 And a command which the Great (Life) hath entrusted to thee.
 They have given thee a banner of radiance,
 By which all the worlds of light are illumined.
 They have given thee a staff of living water,
 A rod by which all rebels shall be laid low.

192

Who hath sent thee, new king,
 Cause ¹⁾ of all these rites?
 Thou hast illumined the world of Ether
 And brightened the whole earth from end to end.

[193 ²⁾

Who sent thee, new king
 That sitteth in the saka ³⁾ of his teacher?
 Thou hast watered it with a great watering (?) ⁴⁾

¹⁾ Lit. "that from thee all these doings take place".

²⁾ The scribe of D.C. 53 has omitted No. 193, but, a repetition of these hymns includes it as No. 308. It is inserted here in its proper place.

⁴⁾ Af MSA (see Af. ~~1000~~). Or (equally) "hast consolidated it by a great solidification". The former meaning seems the likelier.

And thou hast illumined and ordered
The 'uthras in their dwellings (škinata)
From end to end.]

194

Our father, Šihlun-Ziwa, rejoiceth in his crown
And the Mighty (Life) rejoiceth in His Word.
The Dwellings of the Mighty (Life) rejoice and are glad
With King Yawar-Ziwa who hath planted thee ¹⁾ (here).

195

Our father, They will guard thy wreath for thee,
And the fellowship of the Great Life will rest upon thee.
Thine eyes ²⁾ shall enlighten thee, good one,
For as chief of the communion of Life ³⁾
Thou camest hither.

196

Our father, thy wreath is from the Vine Ruaz,
And the being who twined it is from the Place of Light.
Our father, the perfume of thy wreath is pleasing,
Like (the fragrance of?) the great Anuš-'Uthra in his Dwelling.

197

Planter of Plants, plant it (or "him") ⁴⁾
Twinner of wreaths, twine it ⁵⁾
Establisher ⁶⁾ of purities, establish
The bridegroom ⁷⁾ N. and make him prosperous.

198

I am small amongst 'uthras,
And a babe amongst Rays-of-Light;
Yet I grow great and my soul waxeth great,
For I have drunk water from the mouth of the Euphrates

²⁾ Ainak.

³⁾ The exact meaning of this phrase is doubtful. The prayer is also intended for the bridegroom, hence the translation I gave in Š. d-Q "Because thou comest hither for the chief function of life-union", is too free a rendering.

⁴⁾ Either the plant for the wreath, or the new priest or bridegroom; possibly both are included.

⁵⁾ If the priest is meant — "make him great".

⁶⁾ Read mtaḡnanin.

⁷⁾ If a priest, "the priest N."?

199

May pure guardians guard thee,
 May thy root be raised up and flourish exceedingly,
 And thy doings be made prosperous.
 And mayst thou rise up and behold the great Place
 The House of Perfection.
 And Life is victorious.

[These (antiphonal) hymns are to be recited over a priest who celebrates (for the first time) a masiqta, and over bridal pairs(?) These are prayers for the vestments and clothing (investiture) which I have copied who am poor, lowly and striving, small amongst my brother-ganzivri and priests, kissing the shoes on the feet of Naṣoraeans. I endure the world's persecution with a faithful and believing heart. I copied for myself so that there might be a commemoration for me on earth, and yonder in the mighty and lofty worlds of light. In the name of the Great Life

Sublime Light be glorified!

(Lo) the Voice of Life from the fruits

And the voice of radiant-light from afar;

The voice of 'uthras from the Land of Light

Who speak in their sublime voices and say,

"Whence came we into being? By whom was implanted

Our power of reproduction? ²⁾ Why was it implanted,

Our reproductive power? Our form, what doth it resemble?

Whence springeth our strength, that lofty strength

To which all the worlds cannot attain?

Whence came our voice, a pure voice

That is other(-worldly ³⁾, clear ⁴⁾ and dignified ⁵⁾ ?

¹⁾ Yatiria could refer either to the worlds (almia) or to the Great Life (hira rbia). It is difficult to decide to which the adjective belongs. See p. 1, n. 1.

²⁾ See p. 135 n. 2 and P.S. Supp. under ܝܬܪܝܐ. Here the question concerns the urge to reproduce, the vivifying principle, especially in reference to sex. This is a marriage hymn.

³⁾ Šanaī = "other", "strange", "changed" etc.

⁴⁾ Baṭar "luminous", "shining", "clear."

⁵⁾ Mitraurab (Palpel and Ethpauel of R.ḌB) "magnified", "glorified", "magnificent" etc.

Our praise is praise of the Great (Life),
 And our form is in the likeness of the Place of Light.
 Whence cometh our strength, lofty strength
 To which all the worlds cannot attain?
 Our voice is the pure Voice by which the bridegroom is summoned
 Into the škinta ¹⁾ in which 'uthras ²⁾ are sitting,
 And he is instructed.
 The king of 'uthras ³⁾ came,
 He set off and came, the king of 'uthras
 To the škinta in which the 'uthras sit.
 He said to them "About what have ye been instructed,
 (O) 'uthras?"
 "About the Mana that is within the Occult,
 About the Mana that came into being in the Hidden,
 And about the Radiance that gloweth
 In a hidden place".

O hang up ³⁾ light, let lamps of glory be hung up therein!
 "Whose is this brightness? From whom cometh this light?
 From whom doth this effulgence
 That is vast and boundless emanate?"
 "This is the radiance of Hibil,
 This is the light of Šitil,
 This is the effulgence of the great 'uthra Anuš,
 Which is great and boundless."

202

The radiance of Hibil is beauteous,
 The light of Šitil is bright.
 And this is the effulgence of the great 'uthra Anuš
 That is great and boundless".
 O hang up light!
 Let lamps of glory be hung therein!
 O hang up light,
 Let lanterns of light be hung therein!

¹⁾ The reference is to the heavenly cult-hut (or wedding-booth in which the priests and bridegroom sit for the ceremony).

²⁾ I.e. the priests, who represent the 'uthras.

³⁾ Talai Imperative, feminine: A female attendant is addressed.

203

"This building ¹⁾, whose is it?
 Whose is it, this building?
 This building, whose is it,
 That hath so sweet a fragrance,
 Whose fragrance is so sweet
 And in which fair trees are set?"
 "This is Yawar's building,
 This is the building of Yawar,
 This is Yawar's building,
 This, whose fragrance is sweet,
 This, so sweet of odour.
 And wherein fair trees are set".
 Enjoy the perfume of the trees,
 For the fragrance of Yawar hath rested upon them.
 Enjoy the fragrance of the trees,
 For the fragrance of Manda-d-Hiia hath rested on them."
 O hang up light.
 Let lamps of brightness be hung therein
 O hang up light,
 Let lanterns of light be hung therein.

204

They sent Hibil-Ziwa to make report ²⁾
 Unto the 'uthras who sit there.
 And he said unto them,
 "From the Radiance proceeded Light,
 And from Light proceeded Ether:
 Ether proceeded from Light,
 And glory ³⁾ is manifest to the 'uthras
 Who are sitting here".
 "Sweet is thy voice, youth Hibil,
 When thou speakest in the garden of Adam

¹⁾ The 'ndrunā or škinta in which the priests who perform a marriage sit is a light booth built of reeds and intertwined with myrtle and roses, so that it has a pleasant perfume.

²⁾ This is a reference to the marriage ceremony. Here Hibil-Ziwa is the prototype of the priest sent to report that the bride is properly attired etc. to report that the bride is properly attired etc. (See Š. d-Q.)

³⁾ Or "companionship", "fellowship". Lidzbarski translates Glanz.

And chantest sublime hymns.
 Sweet is thy voice! and its sound went thither".
 And Life is victorious.

205 ¹⁾

When the Proven One, the Pure One, went
 To the Place where perfected (beings) ²⁾ dwell
 — Great is he, the Good (Spirit)! —
 Towards his Father ³⁾ was his course set,
 His course was set towards his Father,
 To say to Him that which was sublime and ineffable
 In the Occult Place.
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 A Home of splendour ⁴⁾ (and) glory ⁵⁾
 Shall be founded therein,
 Glory will be enshrined therein,
 And 'uthras will seek one another in prayer,
 'Uthras will pray to one another,
 Each one will glorify his his brother,
 His brother each one will glorify,
 By counsel which goeth thither from thee".
 "Thou art empowered, great Spirit!
 Go, shed glory there,
 Go, shed glory there: let them be glorified
 With the glory that is Ours and thine.
 They shall be glorified with that glory,
 And receive the blessing that we have sent them.
 The blessing we have sent them they shall receive,
 They will grasp Thy benefaction,
 It shall be so that 'uthras may know
 That thou art the greatest of all the 'uthras;

²⁾ So literally. In Š. d.-Q. 4. : 4. I took tušlimia, a plural, to be an epithet for the Great Life (also a plural). Several passages in this group of prayers confirm my original idea, that the Great Life is meant.

³⁾ Plural, because he is speaking to the Great Life.

⁴⁾ See op. cit. p. 54, n. 1.

⁵⁾ Or "honour".

For thou hast opened up and shown to them
 And bestowed on them radiance and praise".
 "I went thither, thither went I,
 And shed upon them a blessing.
 The blessing that I shed upon them
 They receive, and in their blessing
 We bless Thee ¹⁾: We bless Thee with
 A benediction, with theirs,
 They will glorify Thy praise,
 (And) will be glorified by Thy praise.
 By Thy Word they will be raised up,
 They will be raised up by Thy Word,
 And from (that which is) Thine
 They will not depart".
 Priests bless the great (spirit) in secret
 And bless the great (spirit) who honoured them
 And honour dwelt upon them.
 And Life is victorious ²⁾.
 May there come One from Thy radiance before me
 And One from Thy light behind me!

206

(The alphabetical prayer on pp. 161 and 162 is repeated here)

207

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 A Vehicle ³⁾ am I, a small one,
 Light rested on my thought.
 I travel on, I go on,
 I and the life's traveller whom they bound to me.
 I spoke to her, to life's travelling-companion
 Whom they joined to me, saying,

²⁾ Only the latter a part of this poem is in M.L. p. 249, l. 1 ff.

³⁾ The word 'gla' is derived from the root 'GL "to roll, עָגַל hence an 'gla' עֲגִילָא is a "roller", "wheeled vehicle". The idea of motion is conveyed. Here, in 'gla', the last meaning is possibly a typical Mandaean pun on one meaning of the mana. It is here, therefore, the mana, rolling onward on its life's journey. (The other possible meaning "calf" is, of course, unlikely).

"I travel¹⁾ by my own strength;
 (But) thou, in whose strength dost thou journey on?"
 She spoke, the life-traveller that is they joined to me
 Saying to me, "Just as thou travellest onward
 By thine own strength, I (travel) by faith.
 Kušta (ruleth) my heart ²⁾, my eyes are
 The eyes of Radiance.
 And my heart hath been tested by chosen ones".
 We entered into garments and covered ourselves
 And the act of reproduction was brought into being.
 The act of reproduction came into existence
 And elect ones began and will be established.
 Life is renowned (and) victorious
 And victorious the man who went thence.

208

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified.
 His nuptial couch is spread for the bridegroom
 And bowls of wine are mixed for him.
 The bridegroom's bolster is clods of earth,
 (Earth) the bridegroom's pillow, his vault is the sky.
 The bridegroom's robes are of pure ⁴⁾
 The bridegroom's girdle is all of well-springs,
 Full of wellsprings of radiance, light and glory.
 The bridegroom's tunic is of foaming waters,
 The bridegroom's wreath is of a pure kind of vine,
 The bridegroom's staff is of camel-thorn tree ⁵⁾

¹⁾ This prayer is said whilst walking from the marriage booth to the bridal chamber.

²⁾ D.C. 38 l bab like D.C. 53. D.C. 3 l bar.

⁵⁾ A flowering and highly scented shrub or tree common round the Mediterranean and in the Middle East. Its leaves are shaped like the print of a camel's foot in sand.

And they say "Come, that we may make
 A great wedding-feast for the bridegroom
 As hath been commanded us by the Great (Life),
 To make his appearance bright,
 To prosper him from beginning to end
 And cause good fortune to rest upon him.
 And we will say unto the bridegroom, hymning him,
 "Rejoice, Bridegroom, rejoice,
 Rejoice in thy living wreath!
 Inasmuch as thy wreath is fresh,
 Thine appearance shall be bright
 And thou shalt be confirmed in the happiness (lit. "glory")
 Which the Great Life hath sent thee".

They bring in white flour by the khôr (heap)
 They enter with sacks of fine meal and (household?)
 And finest flour²⁾ without measure. requisites¹⁾,
 Sheep arrive in flocks, and numberless oxen.
 They bring in myrtle by the load,
 And trails of jasmine in bunches.
 Okes of gold they bring in,
 And silver tied up in moneybags;
 Precious stones and pearls,
 All the handiwork of craftsmen;
 Oil and wine, all collected by experts.
 All of them — a thousand standing on the ground
 And two thousand standing on the roofs.
 (And) the thousand thousands of 'uthras
 Standing by the bridal-canopy, say,
 "Come, let us make a great wedding-feast for the bridegroom,
 As hath been commanded us by the Great (Life),
 To make his appearance bright,
 And to make him prosperous from beginning to end.
 To cause good fortune to rest upon him.
 And we will hymn the bridegroom, saying to him,
 'This radiance, whose is it?
 This light, whose is it?

¹⁾ Šilia = requests, desires (things asked for or needed) needs, requisites.

²⁾ simad: 𐌸𐌹𐌻𐌰? Or simat "treasure"?

This effulgence, that is great and boundless,
 Whose is it?'
 "This radiance is Hibil-Ziwa's, this light is Šitil's;
 And this effulgence is of Anuš the great 'uthra,
 So great and boundless".
 "The radiance of Hibil is beauteous,
 And the light of Šitil bright,
 And this effulgence of the great 'uthra Anuš,
 Is great and boundless".

210

Sun in his majesty bowed down before the bridegroom
 And shed some of the rays of light which clothed him
 And clad the bridegroom therein and said to him,
 "I and my warriors and doughty men,
 Will stand and take care of thee
 From beginning to end".
 Moon, lord of crown and wreath,
 Placed his crown and wreath on the bridegroom,
 And said to him "Our father, thy wreath is the wreath of 'uthras,
 And thine ardour ¹⁾ proceedeth from the strength of Radiance.
 The king of 'uthras that beheld thee
 Removed his robes of radiance;
 He clad thee therein and said to thee,
 'How lovely are thy robes!
 Thine appearance is bright, and shall be confirmed".
 Mars, lord of arms and war, put on his armour
 And war-harness and standeth before the bridegroom's bridal-canopy.
 And slayeth devils and demons,
 Putting an end to and slaughtering his foes,
 And he said to him "I, with my warriors and mighty men,
 Will stand here and will guard thee from beginning to end.'
 Mercury, learned and wise, instilled some of his wisdom
 Into the heart of the bridegroom,

¹⁾ D.C. 3 has šugandak, D.C. 38, like 53 šgandak. The word is an obvious substitution of a familiar word for one unfamiliar, probably a word derived from the root ŠNG which appears only in Šingilan 'utra, the name of a spirit. In Syriac  = to be in love and  (variously vocalised) = love, desire, passion.

And hymned the bridegroom and said to him,
 "Who sent thee, new-made king?
 These doings all take place on thine account.
 Thou hast brightened the Ether-world
 And hast made the whole world better
 From one end to another".
 Jupiter, Son of the water, bringeth his vesture to the bridegroom
 And hymned him and said to him,
 "Thy vesture, our father, is the vesture of 'uthras,
 And the light thrown upon (thy) shoulders
 Will make thee (weigh) light ¹⁾ our father, in the Scales.
 And sealethe thee with the Pure Sign".
 Saturn, in his beauty and his ruddiness,
 Bringeth his smock to the bridegroom.
 And he hymned the bridegroom and said to him,
 "O 'uthra in whose resplendence Naṣōraeans exult,
 Vaunting themselves in the Word,
 The world of light vaunts itself about thee,
 (And) about the king Šihlun-Ziwa(?) who hath transplanted thee."
 Venus, Lady of Beauty and Desire,
 Brought her wreath and girdle-string to the bride,
 Which they placed on the head of the bride;
 And they hymned the bride and said to her,
 "O crowned bride, who sittest upon columns of water ²⁾,
 Rejoice, and rejoice in the spouse who hath taken thee to wife,
 And rejoice in thy living wreath.
 Inasmuch as thy wreath is living (refulgent)
 So shall thine appearance shine,
 And thou shalt be preserved until world's end."
 And Life is victorious, and victorious the man
 Who goeth hence.

211

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified.

(Refrain)

I and the bridegroom's groomsman
 Are the straps of his sandals
 And the poles of the bridal canopy.

¹⁾ It is easy to confuse the 2nd. sing. Imperfect of QLL with TQL.

²⁾ See Š.q-Q. p. 58 n. 5.

I and the bridegroom's groomsman

Washed in the waters of the sea: in the waters of the sea we washed

We revealed not our secret to the sea,

To the sea we revealed not our secret.

Nor did we broadcast our wisdom to the wilderness !

O crowned bride, who was it,

Fruit that is crowned for bridal ¹⁾, who

Revealed our secret

And broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness?

Perchance Sun revealed our secret

And broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness?

(Nay!) Sun revealed not our secret

Nor bruited our wisdom in the wilderness.

Sun, of whom ye spake,

Rose at dawn and set at dusk,

Sun revealed not our secret

Nor broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness!

(Refrain "I and the bridegroom's groomsman" etc.)

O crowned bride, who was it?

Fruit that is crowned for bridal, who

Revealed our secret and broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness

Perchance Moon revealed our secret

And broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness?

(Nay!) Moon revealed not our secret

Nor broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness.

Moon, of whom ye spake,

Rose at dusk and set at dawn.

Moon revealed not our secret

Nor broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness.

(Refrain repeated)

O crowned bride, who was it?

Fruit crowned for bridal, who

Revealed our secret and broadcast our wisdom in the wilderness?

Three 'uthras ²⁾ not of this world revealed it.

²⁾ The three 'uthras, Hibil, Šitil and Anuš.

They are like one another in stature and dimension,
 They are clothed in one (and the same) radiance
 And one light is spread over them all.
 When they speak, the speech of these good beings is one,
 Like the speech of Mighty Beings
 In the Great Place, the House of Perfection.
 Betwixt them there is no hatred,
 Quarrelling or division.
 Life is renowned (and) victorious
 And victorious is the man who goeth hence.

212

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified.
 There is a Vine for Šitil and a Tree for Anuš ¹⁾
 Šitil hath a Vine yonder
 In thee, Land of the Leal,
 Laden with reward, laden with oblation and laden
 With Naširutha. The tendrils that are at the leaf-ends
 Bore prayers, hymns and sublime recitations.
 When I rose in my place
 I made a request that was great;
 I asked that a tall ladder be given me
 That I might place it against the Vine for ascent,
 Against the Vine for ascent I might place it,
 And might mount into my Vine,
 Might wax great and grasp its foliage,
 Might eat, be refreshed by its shade
 And enjoy its leafiness,
 Might twine me a wreath of its tendrils
 And place it on my head.
 When I rose in my place, they granted the request I made.
 They gave me a tall ladder that I could set against the Vine for ascent.
 Against the Vine for ascent I placed it.
 I rose into my Vine, I waxed great, I grasped its foliage,
 I ate, was refreshed by its shade and enjoyed its leafiness;
 From the tendrils of my Vine I twined a wreath

¹⁾ Šitil (Seth) and Anuš in this poem symbolise the soul and human spirit which compose the personality.

And set it upon my head.
 The worlds gathered together, the generations assembled,
 Twiners twined (wreaths) in imitation of my wreath,
 They twined that which had no resemblance (to it).
 They went, they put vines (vine-leaves?) on themselves
 And they say, "Man, whence is thy wreath,
 And whence (came) the being who twined it?"
 To them I reply, "Vanish, begone from my presence,
 (Ye) dead, wicked ones who beheld not the Life!
 As for me, my wreath is not from here;
 The being who twined it is not of this world.
 My wreath is of the Vine Ruaz
 And the Being who twined it ¹⁾ is from the Place of Light.
 The Being who brought it and set it on my head
 Is from the Eternal Home ²⁾".
 Renowned is Life Victorious
 And victorious the man who went hence.

213

In the name of the Great Life
 Sublime Light be magnified!
 I am a mana of the Great Life,
 A mana am I of the Mighty Life,
 A mana am I of the Great Life,
 A mana that emanated from Manas ³⁾
 A mana that proceeded from Manas ³⁾
 That went towards two lawful spouses ⁴⁾ of this world.
 I came and I opened living waters
 And gave them to the terrestrial pair to drink
 I opened living waters and gave of them
 To the bridal pair of this world to drink.
 I sowed in them pregnancy and birth
 And with sexual desire I enflamed them
 And caused love to dwell in both of them.
 With Kušta ⁵⁾ I spread them a bed of leaves

¹⁾ Three words missing from D.C. 53.

²⁾ See p. 2, n. 2.

³⁾ I translated this "the Mana" in Š. d-Q., because the plural here might denote the divine Being.

⁴⁾ Kišria "legally-joined-together" i.e.: (allowed by ritual law).

⁵⁾ Here "troth", "vow" i.e. the marriage pact cemented by oath.

That were from (living?) ¹⁾ trees,
 They will live and be happy and I, the Messenger Hibil,
 Have performed and arranged
 That which my Father ²⁾ commanded me.
 And Life is victorious, and victorious the man
 Who went hence.

²⁾ Plural, for the Life.

³⁾ D.C. 3 inserts a rubric before this hymn. A version of Pet. (r.) 276. It is also in the Ginza Rabba, (p. 274 Lidzbarski's translation).

⁴⁾ D.C. 3 and D.C. 53 have Bi lmihiuia, although the two words have been run together.

⁵⁾ Lidzbarski (G.R. trs. p. 274 : 30) "Er war der grosse Glanz". Pet. (r.) 276 : 17. As Yura is unusual as a form of Yur it is tempting to consider יורה "the first rain", "spring", "early season".

⁶⁾ In G.R. bškinatun. D.C. 53, D.C. 3 and D.C. 38 lškinatun. Possibly should be read "will build me into his škintas", a metaphor found elsewhere.

Renowned is Life victorious

Here D. C. 3 has a rubric: —

[When thou hast recited this hymn "Thou art come, Pearl" and endest it, then recite the wedding songs (hadiata, hidiata) "Behold, the wicked degrade" etc. but thou shalt not recite the wedding songs for a widow. Instead, they shall recite "Pure guardians shall guard you" only, without the wedding songs. (These) thou shalt not recite for a widow.]

The wedding songs are purely lay in character and I do not propose to include them amongst the liturgical prayers and hymns. They are essentially folk-songs and have a popular flavour. For my attempt to translate them, see Ṣ. d-Q. They are: —

215. 'hai qaṣaflia "Lo the wicked degrade my people" Ṣ.d-Q.
18 : 3
216. 'hai ya daragai "Behold, my portal" Ṣ d-Q. 18 : 8

¹⁾ Read 'uthras as in GR.

[This is the conclusion of the wedding songs (hadaiata).]

In the name of the Great First Strange Life from worlds of light, the Ineffable that is above all works, be there for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš healing, victory³⁾, strength, soundness, speech and a hearing, joy of heart and forgiveness of sins, (also) for my father Sam son of Anhar, my mother Mahnuš daughter of Hawa-Simat, my wife Hawa-Simat daughter of Maliha, my offspring Adam Yuhana and Šarat-Mumania the children of Hawa-Simat.

And may our thought, mind and intelligence enlighten us, (enlighten me) and my offspring, for the treasure of the First Life in these hymns and psalms of "When the Proven One, the Pure one went".

¹⁾ Various spelt, D.C. 3 has rabitua.

²⁾ See M.L. pp. x - xi.

³⁾ Or, of course, "purity".

233

In the name of the Great Life!
 When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the perfected ¹⁾ dwell
 To the Place which is all Radiance
 And light and glory abound (there),
 The Proven Pure One speaketh to the Perfect One ¹⁾
 Hidden and guarded within Its veilings ²⁾,
 Set apart by Its glory
 And giving out light in all Its wisdom.
 The Proven One, the Pure One speaketh
 Saying to the Great (Life),
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 The Ether hath all been made, ³⁾
 Created ³⁾ is the Ether, all of it.
 And in it, great Radiance will form itself
 And sublime Light be set up therein.
 In it there will be 'uthras
 And Rays-of-Light will be established therein,
 Appearances that shine with lovely radiance.
 Enlightenment ⁴⁾ will be raised up
 And will watch over all the 'uthras
 'Uthras will shine in the enlightenment
 Which went thither from Thyself.
 The Great Predestinate speaketh ⁵⁾
 To the Proven One, the Pure One,
 Saying to him "These be (welcome) words
 That thou hast spoken to us.
 Go thou, and become guardian to them,
 And all will shine through thy strength

¹⁾ Either "perfected (ones)" or "the Perfect Being". Mandaean theologian apparently accept both meanings

²⁾ Lit. "coverings", "raiment".

³⁾ D.C. 53 titbid, D.C. 38 mutbid, D.C. 3 titbar. The difference in meaning is slight.

⁴⁾ Or "vigilance". It is personified. As the next phrase refers to guarding, "vigilance" may be more suitable.

⁵⁾ Lidzbarski (p. 251 M.L.) begins at this line.

And will praise thy Garment
 And will honour thine appearance".
 The Chosen One gave praise with a pure mouth
 Because of that which the Great (Life) said to him.
 And Life is victorious.

234

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where perfected (beings) dwell,
 To the Place which giveth out light,
 And its praise is unsullied ¹⁾,
 Unsullied is its praise;
 Foreordained and blessed is its benediction:
 Foreordained is the blessed benediction
 Which holy manas pronounced,
 Which was pronounced by holy manas
 Predestinate, calm and perfected.
 The Proven, Pure One speaketh,
 Saying to the Great Life,
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 A world of light hath been made,
 Created ²⁾ is a world of light
 And a company hath been established therein,
 Dwellings ³⁾ have been set up therein.
 It will be bright in Thy praise
 In Thy praise it will shine,
 And will be blessed with Thy blessing.
 Mystic Sprouts (offspring) will come into being
 And at Thy Word they will flourish,
 They will flourish at Thy Word
 And Sprouts that are worthy will be raised up".
 The Great Life speaketh with Its pure mouth ⁴⁾
 Unto the Proven One, the Pure One.

¹⁾ Taqna "firm", "reliable", "constant" has also the meaning when applied to light, "steady", "unwavering", "steady", "continuous". P.S. Thes. under part. adj. gives "unsullied", which suits here admirably.

²⁾ Again, D.C. 3 has titbir "created".

³⁾ Škinata, could be translated better by some word like "sanctuaries".

⁴⁾ A few lines of this hymn were translated by Lidzbarski, M.L. p. 252 II.

It saith to him, "Thou art Our Thought,
 "Our Knowing and Our Understanding,
 Our Heart that is limitless, Our First Voice,
 Our Pure Garment and Our well-equipped
 First Discerner; for Our sake
 Thou wast transplanted.
 Go! Perform thy work, and thy pure offspring
 Shall attain perfection,
 They shall attain the highest, thy pure offspring,
 And be joined in union inseparable.
 Make a World of Light,
 And they will shine therein, yea, it shall be
 All radiance and light
 And will attain perfection".
 And the Great Life be praised.

235

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the perfected dwell,
 To the Tana ¹⁾ of glory
 Whose blessing hath blessed ²⁾ the Place
 In which the Secret One sitteth ³⁾
 And uttereth in Its Awakening ⁴⁾
 Giveth utterance there in its Arousing ⁴⁾
 And giveth out light by Its own thought;
 The Proven Pure One speaketh
 To Predestinate Perfection,
 Saying to Him, to the Pure Vein
 And Tongue that is limitless,
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life)
 May it be that we transport jordans,
 Permit that we transport jordans

¹⁾ In Š. d-Q. I translated this "glowing heart", a very free translation. See p. 190, n. 1. and p. 9, n. 1.

²⁾ D.C. 3 has brik not brika as in D.C. 53 and D.C. 38.

³⁾ See Š. d-Q., p. 73, n. 2. Plural, indicating the Great Life.

⁴⁾ Here 'ruta (See P.S. Thes. ܐܪܘܬܐ) should be thus translated. The idea appears to be that the Great Life has its periods of quiescence, ceasing to be, and that 'ruta is its awaking, its renewed activity, 'ruta also has a "light" meaning-"light which awakens", "enlightenment".

And a Pure Sign shall be established therein,
 A Pure Sign we will establish therein
 And there will be increase for all 'uthras,
 And 'uthras will be baptised
 As ye were baptised, they will confirm themselves
 By themselves, ¹⁾ (as) ye were confirmed
 Completely. They will shine, will enlighten one another
 And instruct one another about Thee, and Thy pure Vesture
 Which is sublime, and brighter than any (other) appearance;
 And about that which was transplanted from its place ²⁾,
 And about that which is destined to exist,
 And about that which was created in a hidden covering".
 The Great Predestinate spoke ³⁾,
 Saying to the Proven Pure One,
 To His pure Garment ⁴⁾ (?)
 There is nought without limit! ⁵⁾
 All that thou hast done shall be established.
 All thy vines will be illustrious,
 And in all thine actions there will be nought
 Lacking or amiss. In none will there be blemish
 And they will not go foolishly astray".
 And Life is victorious!

236

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where perfected beings dwell,
 To the Place where His appearance is lustrous,
 His countenance shineth and His Counterpart
 Is supported each and every time
 That they seek and find and discourse of their Creator.
 The Proven Pure One speaketh,
 Saying to the Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life)
 If it please Thee, Great (Life)
 Great (spirits) sit in glory,

¹⁾ Qualify themselves for grades of priesthood?

²⁾ I.e. the soul.

³⁾ Lidzbarski begins here, see M.L. p. 253, III.

⁴⁾ Doubtful.

⁵⁾ Lidzbarski p. 253, I. 6, ul'tia d saka ltlh, which he translates "zu dem Wesen, das endlos ist", probably a better version.

In glory they sit, the great (spirits),
 And converse in their speech that is not mortal ¹⁾,
 They talk in their gentle voices,
 And Thou sheddest upon them some of that which is Thine.
 And they sit in fellowship with Thee
 And employ themselves with Thy praise;
 And in Thy place, in prayer to Thee, do they converse.
 We will confirm their works,
 Their works we will confirm:
 We will raise up the horn on their heads
 And will establish their Root.
 And we will increase their victories: we will increase
 Their victories derived from Thy strength,
 Transmitted from Thy strength,
 (That) went forth, came and dwelt with Thine own".
 The Great Predestinate spoke to him ²⁾,
 Saying to the Proven, Pure One,
 "Go! invest ³⁾ the great (spirits) with radiance;
 Settle them in a place which is unsullied ⁴⁾,
 Reveal ⁵⁾ and give them pihta ⁶⁾
 And in praise thy (spirits) will shine!
 Act (thus) and support the Mana.
 Life will show Itself grateful to thee.
 Life be praised: Life is victorious.

237

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the Perfect One dwelleth,
 To the place where His converse is calm
 And His appearance wondrous,
 To the place where all are kings
 And where lust and misdoing exist not,
 To the place which is full of goodness

¹⁾ Lit. "not vain", "not worthless", "not temporary", "unending": "not mortal" is a very free translation.

²⁾ Lidzbarski begins at this line: p. 254, IV. M.L.

³⁾ Lit. "plant", "implant", "transplant", "transfer".

⁴⁾ Tagna, see p 187, n. 1.

⁵⁾ Lit. "open", "open up".

⁶⁾ The sacramental bread, lit. "the opened" ("broken into pieces"? or "revealed"?). See M.L. p. xxiii l. 1 ff.

(And) where Their raiment is prepared
 For the pure arriving (spirit) ¹⁾
 And for him whose form giveth light,
 The Proven Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life)
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, mighty (Life)
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 There shall be built a wondrous building,
 A wondrous building shall be built.
 Thy right hand shall erect it,
 Thy right hand will set it up
 And Thou wilt not cut it off from Thee.
 Thy first plan ²⁾, it will rise towards Thee,
 It will be set up, it will rise Thee-wards,
 And thou wilt not cut off from Thyself
 The First-born that Thou hast created.
 He shall be set up as Thy counterpart.
 He is a fair portal, he will rise Thee-wards,
 He will be established, will mount,
 Will direct himself Thee-wards;
 And will converse in Thy speech that is eternal.
 He will not sever from Thee nor from Thy society.
 Condemn him not!"
 All that the Proven Pure One had said ³⁾
 Everything the Proven Pure One said
 Pleased the Great (Life),
 And Sublime-Light riseth:
 He said to him "Thou art possessor of will,
 And lord of all victories.
 Thou hast conquered and hast prevailed over thy brethren
 And thy Father, (Whom) in secret thou blessest.
 Go, show light (ziwa) to Yušamin and reassure his heart!
 Say to him he shall not fear and reveal to him
 That which is established here.
 Explain it to him so that his heart may lighten
 And confirm it that his mind may be enlightened.

¹⁾ The couplet is obscure and translation tentative. Read 'taqnih for taqnalh?

²⁾ Or "thought", or "device".

³⁾ See M.L. p. 254 V.

Be gracious and kindly to him and bless him
 And show him the light of thy countenance,
 The light of thy countenance show to him,
 And say to him that he shall not be cast down,
 (But) be meek and humble, and he will illumine
 The 'uthras".

The Proven One did that which was commanded him,
 And the Mana thereupon supported the Proven One
 So that he performed that which was commanded him.
 And he went to the House-of-Life,
 He went, he said to Them, "Thus have I done,
 It hath been set in order. Should it not be so,
 Set Ye in order".

The Great (Life) blesseth the Proven One
 With His pure mouth for having made his report.
 And Life is victorious.

238

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where Perfection dwelleth,
 To the Mighty-in-Glory, to the Well-Ordered and Well-
 Ordering,

(Who) speaketh in His calm voice
 And ordereth His ordinances;
 Uttering in His calm voice
 His trustworthy teaching, His mystic ¹⁾ prayers,
 And His wise discourses ²⁾ which are not vain,
 The Proven One, the Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life),
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 We will twine circlets ³⁾ of radiance,
 Circlets of radiance will we twine,
 And will set them on the heads of the 'uthras,
 We will bring them from the Great Light.

¹⁾ D.C. 3 has šutaikun.

²⁾ NTF has as a derived meaning "to let fall a weighty observance" "to prophesy". (The usual meaning of ntufiata "drops", "consorts of divine beings" is impossible here.)

³⁾ Lit "wreaths": "crowns" of priesthood is the understood meaning.

We will watch over them.
 If Ye do not thus,
 In what can the 'uthras prosper?
 In what can the 'uthras delight?
 How can there be certainty for Rays-of-Light?
 From what will they derive fame and honour?
 And how can we preserve them,
 And with what will they seek and find,
 Speak with Thee and be heard?"
 The Great Predestinate speaketh; ¹⁾
 He saith to the Proven One, the Pure One,
 "Go, join with (unite with?) ²⁾ Radiance
 Take heed that they ²⁾ raiment.
 Give them of my Wreath of Ether ³⁾
 And all the 'uthras will rejoice.
 And from Us and from thee
 They will acquire renown and honour,
 Renown and honour they will have,
 And in strengthening honour they will be preserved.
 Our name and thy name shall be upon them
 And they will give praise in the Secret Place".
 And Life is victorious.

239

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the perfected dwell,
 To the place of pure wrappings,
 Vestments which radiance illumineth,
 To the place of Living Flame
 Where all are full of goodness,
 All open their eyes in radiance,
 In the radiance they open their eyes,
 And they shine in that Light;
 The Proven, the Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life),
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),

²⁾ An obscure line. "Change raiment" is unlikely, but I can make nothing else of it. M.L. has "und bewahre die wundersamen Gewände."

³⁾ Read ahbalun klilia ayar ("give them ether-wreaths")?

If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 I would say one word to Thee,
 One word to Thee I would say,
 That is sublime and illuminating
 And not (to be?) cut short!
 How superexcellent is Thy Likeness
 And how greatly hast Thou increased
 And established Thy sublime company!
 In the Ether (World) there is no water!
 As there is no water in the Ether,
 By what can the 'uthras be invigorated? ¹⁾
 How can the 'uthras thrive? ¹⁾
 And (how can) priestly knowledge be installed into their hearts?"

The Great Predestinate speaketh ²⁾
 Saying to the Proven One the Pure One,
 "How zealous thou art, Yawar!
 And how dutiful and faithful
 Are the words which thou hast spoken!"
 They created stocks ³⁾ of living water;
 They let it flow down to the ether,
 They sent it down, caused it to flow down,
 To the ether, to the dwelling of the 'uthras,
 All of them savoured it and it was fragrant!
 'Uthras savoured it and it was fragrant!
 All 'uthras will savour it and it will please.
 The 'uthras all drank and throve,
 They drank and rejoiced thereat.
 And into their hearts Naṣirutha
 Was poured. Life is renowned and victorious
 And victorious is Manda-ḡ-Hiia
 And those who love his name.

240

When the Proven One, the Pure One went

¹⁾ Niriuzun: or "will be glad".

²⁾ See M.L., p. 256 VIII.

³⁾ So D.C. 53, Both D.C. 3 and D.C. 38 have the singular. The passage was not properly understood in Š.ḡ-Q.

To the Place where Perfection dwelleth,
 To the Place where dwelleth the pure perfected Being ¹⁾
 Which proceedeth ¹⁾ from Itself, and Its speech (Word),
 Which proceedeth from Itself —
 And its speech and words are from It
 And from Its Counterpart ²⁾.
 The Proven One, the Pure One speaketh
 To the Great (Life), saying to Him,
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 We will summon Zihrun-Raza,
 Zihrun-Raza we will summon — him and his seven
 Mystic brethren who are with him.
 One is called "Radiance", another is called "Light".
 We will plant (them?) and they will shine forth
 And will be made manifest.
 And we will transfer for them jordan (flowing streams)
 That are transcendent, transcendent jordan
 We will transmit for them.
 They will govern a Kimša ³⁾ (treasure?) of living flame
 And the Root which the Son of Hidden Mysteries led forth.
 They will be baptised and established
 And we will establish the Kimša ³⁾.
 In their vestments we will establish their strength.
 There it shall come to pass, and at Thy name
 The elect thus far ⁴⁾ will be established.
 If Thou dost not act thus,
 Transitory matters may cause the Kimša to stumble away
 from Thee,
 Things which lead to destruction may cause it
 To fall away from Thee, and all sacramental rites ⁵⁾
 Will become marred.

¹⁾ The verb is plural in agreement with tušlimia, here undoubtedly the supreme Being.

²⁾ Dmut-Hva, the female aspect of creative Life.

³⁾ Kimša here seems to refer to the body of believers, the Mandaean "Church" as a whole.

⁴⁾ Lhaka lit. "to here", "up to this point".

⁵⁾ Razīa, "mysteries" = sacramental rites.

When the Proven Pure One said this ¹⁾,
 A Voice went down into all the worlds
 From the Secret Radiance.
 It spoke, it called Zihrun-the-Mystery;
 It spoke, it called on Zihrun-Raza,
 On him and on his seven mystic brethren
 Who are with him. It summoned them
 And it transported for them jordans.
 And it set them in rule over the jordans;
 Over the jordans it made them rulers
 And (over) never-ceasing well-springs.
 Renowned is Life victorious
 And victorious the man who went hence.

241

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where perfected beings dwell,
 To the Place which was self-created
 And a Presence (Parsufa) set up therein,
 A Voice issued from the Presence
 Announcing to the Chief of Rays of-Light,
 And causing the Great(est) Ray-of-Light to hearken:
 Teaching him about every matter,
 About every principal (important) subject,
 So that it was explained: — thus it is.
 The Proven One, the Pure One speaketh,
 Saying to the Great (Life)
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 I will tell Thee all that I have seen.
 I have seen — and I desire to call forth ²⁾ 'uthras
 — If it please Thee!
 I will call forth three 'uthras,
 And I will instal them in my abode (škintai).
 One shall be my companion,
 Another shall be, as it were, my counterpart,
 Another shall be young, and be

²⁾ Or "summon".

Satisfactory to my mind.
 They shall chant sublime hymns
 And read in secret books
 And recite therefrom,
 In all their wisdom performing rites that are seemly.
 Walking with me in the boundary of the Self (?)
 Walking according to my commands
 And not departing from (my word)
 From (my word) they shall not depart,
 Nor alter my pure Word,
 Nor change my rites which they perform
 And were ordained (to carry out).
 I have created them according to my design,
 And have set the Sign of Life upon their minds,
 Have marked them with the mark of the Great Life
 And placed my own name upon them.”
 And Life is victorious.

242

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the Perfected dwell,
 To the Place which is all radiance,
 And nought is as sublime or of like purity!
 (The Place) which is full of serene (beings)
 Honouring Thee with their praises ¹⁾;
 The Proven, Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life)
 “If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 I will call forth from my 'uthras, one,
 One from (amongst?) my 'uthras I will summon.
 And I will clothe him in my radiance
 With my radiance will I clothe him,
 And with my light I will cover him.
 I will cover him with my light
 And he will be protected by my name.
 He will have that which was apportioned him;

He will arise with his great (spirits) and ¹⁾ his host
 And will take to himself Knowledge of Life (Manda-d-Hiia)
 Who went thither.
 He will go to the world of Abathur,
 From whom imperfection originated,
 From him imperfection came into being
 And he sowed bad seed ²⁾.
 Bad seed did he sow and created creations
 Not worthy of him ³⁾, who asked no advice,
 Received no baptism, nor did they (he?)
 Grasp the right hand of his (their) father,
 But did that which was not commanded
 And performed that which was useless.
 One of my 'uthras shall go and shall confound
 All (those) creations, he will confound
 All the creations which he created,
 (Creatures) that have neither hand nor foot.
 He will straighten a road in the world,
 Whereby chosen ones will mount hitherwards.
 At his call ⁴⁾ they will come
 And will set up my boundary-stone
 And testify to the one, great, pure Name.
 The horn on their heads will be exalted."
 Renowned is Life and victorious,
 And victorious the man who went hence.

243

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where perfected (beings) dwell:
 Pure is the place, there is no grief in it,
 No infirmity existeth therein, nor is disquiet admitted there,
 Friction is not accepted therein,
 Wrath and violence have no place therein,
 Therein are no wrath and violence

¹⁾ In D.C. 53 plainly sagiih. D.C. 38 and D.C. 3 both have niqum bsigia "will arise to go".

²⁾ "Bad seed" refers to Pthahl, the unsuccessful creator, who was Abathur's son.

³⁾ Or, which were not accomplished successfully for him.

⁴⁾ So in D.C. 53. D.C. 3 and D.C. 38 have "my call".

But all is calm, all is kindliness,
 Because they within it are in harmony ¹⁾.
 The Proven One, Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life)
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 Thy will shall be (wrought) on the 'uthras,
 Upon the 'uthras Thy will shall be (done);
 All that Thou hast willed Thou doest!
 I have seen, I have spoken,
 And him whom I mention in Thy presence,
 I will reveal to him — this Abathur-Rama —
 Why he is fallen from his throne,
 Why from his throne he is fallen
 And went and became Him-of-the-Scales ²⁾,
 When I call in Thy name a second time,
 Lay Thou Thy right hand upon him!
 The Great Predestinate speaketh ³⁾
 Saying to the Proven One, the Pure One,
 "Thou knowest all hearts and discernest all thoughts,
 Thine eyes are well-open
 And thou distinguishest all those who know thee ⁴⁾.
 For thy fame's sake and for Our name's sake,
 When he is sinning, who will (can) permit it?
 Who will let him be when he offendeth?
 And casteth Our root into polluted waters?
 (One) who accepteth favour from Us and then goeth
 And casteth it nito the abode of the dark (powers)!"
 When the Proven, Pure One heard this,

¹⁾ The root is ܐܬܬܐܠܡ, and elsewhere I have discussed the varied meaning of the Ethpe. "Smoothened", "equalised"?

²⁾ Abathur-Rama is the higher counterpart of Abathur-Muzania (Abathur of the Scales). The latter is in charge of the balances in which souls are weighed, with the soul of Šitil, the purest of all human being) in the opposing scale. See p. 105, n. 4.

³⁾ M.L. (p. 258) here has twelve lines (only) of this poem. Owing to ignorance of the context, Lidzbarski has misunderstood it. Yawar is pleading for Abathur but the Great Life explains that he cannot allow Abathur's conduct to pass.

⁴⁾ Yadakh = "thy knowers": see N. 177: 18 and for paršit, ibid p. 22 n. 4.

He prostrated himself before Him and worshipped:
 He bowed himself and prostrated himself before Him
 And uttered much praise and said,
 "How sublime ¹⁾ is this that I have heard from Thee!
 I have accepted and am corrected by Thee!"
 And Life is victorious.

244

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the Perfected (One) dwelleth,
 (He said) "I will speak to Thee, Mystic Perfection,
 Who art hidden and guarded by Thy Veilings:
 I would tell Thee, Mystic Perfection,
 Secrets told by the 'uthras.
 One whom, according to Thy plan, I created,
 I sent to that world.
 How hideous and without beauty
 Was everything that he saw in that world!
 A world of sons of perfection
 From whom there was imperfection.
 He who went from here a noble ²⁾
Yonder they made him a slave,
A slave they made him yonder.
From the seven planets he suffered,
He suffered from the seven planets
And was tormented in the world.
He who went from hence rich ³⁾ (or "having plenty")
Was in need in the world.
 Yonder they made him their fellow,
 Yonder their associate they made him.
 From the seven planets he suffered,
 He suffered from the seven planets
 Was reduced to misery in the world".

¹⁾ D.C. 53 omits šanai. D.C. 3 has kma šanai etc.

²⁾ Or "free".

³⁾ Both D.C. 53 (p. 263 text) and D.C. 3 omit the lines in italics, viz. lhił abda šawuih sawuih abda umn šuba šibiahia sbal sbal mn šibiahia asniq bgauh d alma yatira d azal mn haka. For the missing lines see No. 272 (D.C. 53, p. 312 text), D.C. 3 p. 411 text, and D.C. 38, Š.d-Q. p. 24, l. 11 ff.

⁴⁾ Or "virtuous". Yatira from ܝܬܝܪܐ to be rich.

The Great (Life) with pure mouth (speaketh) ¹⁾,
 Saying to the Proven, Pure One,
 "This that one of thine 'uthras hath told thee,
 If virtuous is he about whom one spoke,
 He about whom one of thine 'uthras spake,
 One of thine 'uthras shall bring thee information,
 We are creating (?) ²⁾ an earth of fire,
 And the planets who enslaved him
 Will go to fiery chains.
 Pthahil, who made the earth shall be baptised
 Here in the white Jordan.
 The thousand thousand vestments ³⁾
 That will go out towards him
 And presences without end
 Will have compassion ⁴⁾ and will together
 Stretch forth (their hands) in pact and peace ⁵⁾."
 "How sublime is that which Thou sayest to me!
 Thou hast reassured my heart!
 Thou dost indeed support and lift up,
 Equippest with arms and givest enlightenment!"
 And Life is victorious.

245

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the Perfected (Being) dwelleth,
 To the Place where the Almighty
 Empowereth Itself and its Presence (Parşufa),
 And steadfast and shining is its Countenance,
 Showing forth Its Likeness in the Secret Place;
 The Place where Their Voice is lovely
 And the sound of Their speech is sweet;
 And sublime is the Place where the Great (Life) abideth!
 Praise of Them is unbounded ⁶⁾

²⁾ Lidzbarski (M.L., p. 259 l. 2 f.) anin tibil nura qria. Read qrainin we have created". (Š-d-Q qrainh)

³⁾ A punning equivalent for mania.

⁴⁾ Lit. "will be theirs", i.e. compassion for Pthahil.

⁵⁾ A free translation, they "extend (their hands) in kušta".

⁶⁾ An idiomatic form, see p. 197, n. 1 and elsewhere. In this type of hymn it is always difficult to distinguish whether the plural refers to the Supreme Being or the spirits surrounding Him.

And mighty (beings) shine in their hierarchies
 And perform all that They (He) desire (desireth);
 The Proven Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life)
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 Reveal to me the mysteries of blessing (prayer)
 And about the armour ¹⁾ of their souls,
 And about the radiance transmitted to Thyself".
 The Great (Life) with His pure mouth (speaketh) ²⁾
 And saith to the Proven One, the Pure One,
 "Thou art blessed from the Place (in which) we are blessed ³⁾
 And from the Place in which We came into being Thou camest into being.
 And from the Place in which We were (self-) planted
 Firm and implanted was thy native strength? ⁴⁾.
 Our radiance and thy radiance are victorious,
 Victorious is Naṣirutha ⁵⁾ that is of Us
 And victorious is he whom I summon into it.
 And (those whose) eyes open in radiance and light".
 And Life be praised!

246

When the Proven One, the Pure One goeth
 To the Place where Perfection dwelleth:
 When, filled with innocence
 And bright in all his goodness,
 When beautified by his great radiance
 And by his pure being ⁶⁾
 They(?) travel to that Place,
 The Proven, Pure One spoke,
 Saying to the Great (Life),
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),

²⁾ See M.L., p. 259 XIII. The first part is missing in M.L.

³⁾ The verb is passive.

⁴⁾ As indicated on pp. 135 and 171 the meaning of the verb NŠB and the word nīsubta is wide and vague. Hence the couplet is paraphrased with misgiving.

⁵⁾ Here, the vocation of priesthood.

⁶⁾ The verse is obscure. My former translation is impossible. Should it be "with a pure being"? 'na is always abstract!

If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 Support my words! Let there be thrones
 And we will set them up in the worlds of light.
 So that 'uthras shall sit (thereon)
 And recite thereon.
 So that their ranks ¹⁾ will shine thereon.
 By their words they will edify them,
 So that their ordered array may besem their splendour.
 And the revered ones, when sitting on their thrones,
 Sitting on their thrones,
 Will shine with a steady light.
 He spoke with His pure voice,
 The Great (Life) who dwelleth in that Place ²⁾
 Spoke with His pure mouth
 And said to the Pure One,
 "Thou art a pure Helper! (Go),
 Do all that thou desirest (to do)".
 "According to Thy will and mine
 I have constructed thrones,
 Thrones I have provided
 And have instructed the 'uthras who sit on them.
 The 'uthras who sit on them I have instructed,
 And they praise the Great (Life) Who counselled me.
 They praise me, for I prepared for each one
 His throne. The 'uthras stood and praised
 That which I had sought and found
 Through the goodness of the Life.
 For them had I sought and found
 Through the goodness of the Life
 Who supported them."
 Renowned is Life and victorious
 And victorious the man who went hence.

247

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where perfected beings dwell,
 The Chosen One, whose vesture becometh him

¹⁾ Sidra also means "recitations", "chants".

²⁾ See M.L., p. 260, XIV.

And maketh his personality ¹⁾ greater
 Than all the 'uthras,
 His personality maketh him greater than all the 'uthras
 Greater than all 'uthras doth his personality make him,
 Because he beheld the Form of the Great (Life),
 Because he hath seen the Likeness of the Great (Life)
 Their radiance controlled his thought
 And Their thought: it was reciprocally outpoured.
 And They pray a prayer for the 'uthras.
 All 'uthras trust one another,
 Love one another in sincerity.
 There is no division amongst them
 Such as the Second ²⁾ brought about,
 So 'uthras are undivided from one another,
 All are armed with one armour,
 They are equipped with one armour
 And their speech is one in sincerity,
 In sincerity their speech is one.
 And they dwell in lovely radiance,
 In lovely radiance do they dwell
 The Being whose love filled them,
 And whose tranquillity and love rested upon them.
 Life be praised and Life is victorious.

248

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place when perfected (beings) dwell,
 —Great is he, the good (spirit)! —
 He set his course towards his Father,
 Toward his Father was his course set,
 To say to Him that which was sublime and precious
 In the secret place.
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 May it please Thee, Great (Life),

¹⁾ In these poems nafša is often used for "soul". Properly speaking it is a thir component of man's make-up; the self, or individuality as distinct from the ruha and nšimta

²⁾ "The Second", "Second Life"; the manifestation of the material world. ?

³⁾ Read rhamth...šidqh.

(That) a home of splendour¹), honour within it,
 Be established, dignity resident therein,
 And 'uthras will seek one another,
 'Uthras will seek one another (in prayer).
 Each will reverence his brother,
 Everyone will reverence his brother
 According to the counsel which went thither
 From Thee".
 "Thou art empowered, Great (Spirit)!
 Go, let Honour abide in that place.
 Let Dignity rest on that place.
 And in Our glory and thine they will become glorious,
 They will become glorious with that glory
 And will accept the blessing that We sent them:
 The blessing We sent them they will accept
 And be grateful to thee.
 It will take place so that 'uthras may know
 That thou art the greatest of all 'uthras;
 For thou hast revealed and shown them light
 And dost give them the praise".
 "I went, I went yonder,
 Yonder I went;
 I caused blessing to rest upon them.
 The blessing I shed upon them
 They (thankfully) receive.
 And we will bless them with a benediction²),
 Benediction we will pronounce upon them
 And in Thy praise they will (themselves) gain honour.
 They will gain honour in praise of Thee,
 They will establish Thy word.
 Thy word they will establish
 And will not depart from Thee."
 Priests in secret bless the great (spirit)
 Who honoured them and caused honour to rest upon them.

¹) A pun on 'qar and 'qara follows; play on words is characteristic of Mandaean poetry.

²) Read dilkun for dilun? ("and bless Thee with a benediction").

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where perfected beings dwell,
 To the Place where dwelleth the Perfected ¹⁾,
 Hidden within its Self and aloof,
 He goeth towards Him, speaking to Him,
 (Uttering) a sublime saying.
 "If it please Thee, great (Life),
 If it please Thee mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, great (Life),
 I will speak: accept Thou mine (utterance).
 There shall be pure signings;
 And there shall be perpetual watchfulness.
 It will be Thine armament;
 With it 'uthras will equip themselves.
 Thou equippest them with Good-Faith (kušṭa)
 And Good-Heed ²⁾.
 Nor will they rest idle when Thou hast armed them
 With Good-Faith and Good-Heed.
 They will keep silence and observe obedience.
 Thinking like Thee and acting like Thee,
 Thinking and acting like Thee.
 And their deeds will be honest,
 Reliable will be their rites ³⁾.
 And zealous counsel will issue from them.
 Kings, they will counsel one another
 And unite, great and small, in communion."
 And Life is victorious.

250

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the Perfected One abideth,
 To the Place where the sound of His voice ⁴⁾ is mild,

²⁾ Or "Truth and obedience".

³⁾ Both translations of this line are possible.

⁴⁾ Again here the reversion to the singular points to tušlimia as an epithet for the Great Life. The narrative returns to the plural after "luminous and lovely".

His appearance fair; and luminous and lovely
 Are Those ¹⁾ who dwell there
 And to Themselves absolutely true;
 Truth and armed-readiness are at Their head;
 In Their place They discern, know and distinguish
 And in their inmost ²⁾ Self They are watchful.
 The Proven, Pure One speaketh,
 Saying to the Great(Life)
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 Speak ³⁾, open (reveal) Thy treasury,
 Speak ³⁾, reveal Thy treasury
 And take therefrom a boon,
 A boon take out of it
 And grant to me a servant.
 A servant give to me in whom
 There is no lacking or fault.
 With him bring my brethren, with him bring
 All my sons, bring my sons;
 So that in him and in Thee they may be raised up,
 Be raised up in Thy resurrection
 And be blessed with a benediction
 That is from Thee."
 The scheme which the great (spirit) planned ⁴⁾,
 He planned it for good. (At) the place
 That the great (spirit) thought out
 The 'uthras bow down and give praise,
 The 'uthras worship and praise
 The Being who opened His treasury,
 The Being who sent them a benefit.
 The 'uthras bowed in adoration
 And were grateful for all His favours.

²⁾ Lit. "in their heart of themselves".

³⁾ Mahl Or, (Biblical Hebrew, demon. of מול 'to present, show') "Reveal" ?
 (See J. under מלל III).

⁴⁾ M.L. has the final lines, p. 260, XV.

251

When the Chosen One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the Perfected (Being) dwelleth,
 To the Place where deeply revered
 Is His steadfast Form, he (the Chosen One)
 Spoke, saying to the Great (Life) Whose Form is constant,
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 (Let us) open a Light-Euphrates,
 A Light-Euphrates we will open up
 And set therein a sturdy root
 So that from the root there will be pure Vines
 Who will offer up praise to Thee;
 So that from the Vines which appear
 Sprouts may grow out, healthy offshoots;
 So that from the offshoots that show forth
 We may institute, reward and oblation ¹⁾.
 We will institute reward and oblation,
 We will lead in a congregation of souls ²⁾,
 In a congregation of souls we will take the lead.
 From it (the Euphrates) water will gush out,
 There will be assurance for all Rays-of-Light,
 They will be full of faith and put their trust in Thee".
 "Thou hast spoken and thou hast established,
 Do thou confirm it and bring it to a successful conclusion".
 "I came, and I opened up a Light-Euphrates
 And established therein a baptism that is efficacious ³⁾,
 I set up thereby a sturdy Root
 That giveth forth light and is bright
 And will not be cut down".

And Life is victorious.

252

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the Perfected (Being) dwelleth,

¹⁾ Or "fee and oblation", i.e. the offerings of the faithful in money or kind which constitutes the stipend of every priest.

³⁾ Lit. "that is not void", "not useless".

To the Place where His speech is pleasant
 And His converse sublime and foreign (to the earthly world),
 To the place where personality and manhood exist not;
 [He spoke to the Great (Life) saying:]
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 We will set up a pure Crystal,
 A pure Crystal will we set up
 And arcana that are within it
 Shall be established. The 'uthra Hibil
 Shall come, shall dwell on the Euphrates
 And will guard it. At his right hand
 Two beings will come. We will establish and found ¹⁾
 Three škintas. On them Thou wilt cause blessing to rest:
 Blessing Thou wilt bestow on them.
 The arcana concealed therein, one by one
 Will come into being ²⁾. There will be
 A Pearl that will enlighten darkened hearts.
 All will be filled with faith,
 It will arouse the fallen (who have stumbled).
 He who is aroused by it will get up,
 (But) he who causeth stumbling
 Will perish on the spot.
 He who is worthy, deserving and perfect
 Will not be cut off from his place.
 He will be completely confident,
 (For) the Life will be his support,
 His support will be the Life
 And he will be protected in his own place."
 And Life be praised!

253

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the perfected dwell,
 To the place of Safe-keeping
 That is set apart for the company ³⁾ of the Great (Life).

¹⁾ Ōstiknat ? (D.C. 3 Ništaknat, also D.C. 38. Read (mistiknia?).

²⁾ D.C. 38 repeats tihuia.

³⁾ I.e. companion spirits.

The Proven, Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life)
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 I will speak a word ¹⁾: uphold it!
 I word I would speak, uphold it!
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 This shall be done ²⁾; a secret watcher
 (Be appointed?) set over Man,
 His guardian. I will remain a long time,
 — And I will guard him! —
 To cheer ³⁾ him and to raise him up toward Thee;
 To cheer him and to raise him up
 Towards Thyself, so that he may come
 And behold Thy countenance, may come
 And grasp Thy right hand in fealty ⁴⁾,
 May rise up and listen to Thy converse
 Which is not of this world ⁵⁾".

"Thou hast said it! Go, seek him out
 And bring him here: seek him out ⁶⁾
 And bring him hither
 And the Life will be mindful of thy goodness".
 Bringing abundant radiance and boundless light.
 Bringing radiance in abundance I went;
 To the secret watcher I came. "Rise up",

²⁾ D.C. 38 (Š. d-Q. p. 26, ult.) nitbad hazin.

³⁾ I have been in doubt about this word. In D.C. 53 it is spelt biuiḥ and in Š.d.-Q. p. 27: buina. The verb BAA (Arm. ܒܥܝ "to seek" is the first and easier solution, but the unusual first 'i' in biuiḥ makes this unlikely. It may come from a verb equivalent to the Aramaic ܒܘܥ "to rejoice" ܒܥܝ and this is confirmed by the Syriac Pa. ܒܘܥ "to console" (i.e. "gladden") (ܒܘܥ conso-lation). According to the poem, there is no need for the speaker to seek the watcher, since, apparently he is already with the watcher (a priest, or priesthood, personified?).

⁴⁾ It is usually necessary to paraphrase sentences which refer to the act or rite of kuṣṭa.

⁵⁾ Mnakvra lit. "estranged" foreign, removed i.e. "not of the mortal world". "transcendent", "ineffable" convey the meaning.

⁶⁾ Buiḥ.

(I said to him) "Rise up! Watchers ¹⁾ are many.
 Thou hast kept thy watch; arise, put on
 (The robe) which the Great (Life) hath sent thee
 And go towards Him. Come! He hath required thee with Him
 And I have sought thee, so come to us
 And hearken to His converse which is ineffable ²⁾.
 The Great (Life) hath stretched forth His right hand to thee ³⁾
 Put away passion from thy thought.
 Thy thought shall be filled with Ours
 And thy garment and Our garment will be one".

Life be praised and Life is victorious.

[These two "responses and two hymns are to be recited for the owner of a crown ⁴⁾ when thou celebratest his wedding. Recite them after the chant "To the place where speech is pleasant". And recite them for the novice in the škinta: (but) do not recite them for a layman's wedding. Beware! for they are recited for the owner of a crown ⁴⁾. And then recite the hymn "To go and to perform his works" unto its conclusion ⁵⁾.]

254

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the Perfected dwelleth,
 To go and to perform his works
 And to be manifest therein
 And to institute a guardian ⁶⁾

 I, whom the Great (Life) had commanded
 To relieve ⁷⁾ all the škintas,
 I, the First (Life?) enlightened Him.
 "Because of me, the 'uthras were set at rest,
 Because of me, the 'uthras were satisfied
 And the Rays-of-Light ranged in their degree;
 All of them shone in one another's radiance

¹⁾ Maṭaraiia : a rare use of the word in this sense, which usually means inhabitants of the maṭarata.

²⁾ See p. 210, n. 5.

³⁾ See p. 210, n. 4.

⁴⁾ The "owner of a crown", i.e. a priest.

⁵⁾ The rubric of D.C. 38 is slightly longer.

⁶⁾ A passage here is apparently missing.

⁷⁾ Or "to serve", "to gratify".

And light was established in all minds.
 Over all the works that I had made
 I set up the Great (Life).
 And I became a guardian in them
 I was a guardian within them
 And *I upheld*¹⁾ all the worlds of light
 In their places."
 And Life is victorious over all works
 And victorious the man who went hence.

255

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the place where the Perfected One dwelleth,
 To the place of veiled radiance
 (Where) His Likeness is beauteous;
 The Proven Pure One speaketh
 And saith to the Great (Life),
 "Thy disciple am I, for I have grasped
 And understood some of Thy wisdom
 I stood before Thee like a son
 Who standeth before his father.
 Thou spakest to me and I hearkened,
 And that which Thou didst command I did.
 The glory which Thou didst bestow on me
 I transmitted to all the worlds of light.
 With that which Thou didst vouchsafe to me
 I benefitted all the Rays-of-Light.
 From Thee I have not departed
 And the speech of others existed not for me".
 The Great (Life) praiseth the Proven One, the Pure One,
 With His pure mouth, (saying to him)
 Who had made his report,
 "How submissive and humble thou art, Yawar!
 What an alleviator²⁾ and peacemaker thou art!
 Thou makest 'uthras agree and pacifiest them
 And givest stability to the Rays-of-Light!"
 And Life is victorious.

²⁾ Lit. "smootheners", "straighteners" (of rough places).

256

When the Proven One, the Pure One went
 To the Place where the Perfected One dwelleth,
 To the place in which the Transcendent ¹⁾ abideth,
 Dwelling therein in a set limit
 Within an appointed limit abiding therein,
 Resting within it, in the Holy ²⁾ Place,
 The Proven, Pure One speaketh
 Saying to Them, the Great (Life),
 "If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 If it please Thee, Mighty (Life),
 If it please Thee, Great (Life),
 The works which I have performed are set in order,
 They are set in order, the works I have performed.
 And all that I did in Thy presence
 Will be established, and these words
 Which I spoke before Thee (also).
 And (as for) me, they will realise my vision.
 I have acted as thou didst desire".
 When the Proven Pure One had spoken thus,
 The Great (Life) rejoiced thereat, embraced him
 And kissed him with His pure mouth.
 And he veiled him with esoteric veils ³⁾
 With esoteric veils did He cover him.
 And a cloud which emanated from Himself
 He spread over him: it hid the great (spirit)
 Which He had concealed therein.
 And they called him "All- 'uthras-confirm him"
 And "One who arrangeth-ordinances-and-sublimates-
 All-minds" is he called ⁴⁾ (?)
 And Life be praised.

Translator's note. — The preceding hymn-cycle, known as the Kt azil bhira dakia must be a selection from a volume of gnostic poems with this title. Three other poems from this lost composition are included in the G. R. (right side). The first two of these were translated

²⁾ Yagra = "precious", "venerated"; "holy" conveys the idea.

³⁾ Mania gawana "inner vessels", "inner garments", "inner vehicles"? — in any case, something which conceals, or covers up.

⁴⁾ My translation of the last few lines is very tentative, it is obscure.

by Professor Mark Lidzbarski in his Ginza, der Schatz oder das grosse Buch der Mandäer, (in these pages referred to as G.R.) pp. 355-370. They were also translated into Latin and transliterated into Syriac by M. Norberg in his Codex Nasaraeus (3 vols. 1815-1816) pp. 3-23. (Lidzbarski belittled Norberg's work in a somewhat unfair fashion.) The third poem, included in some codices of the Ginza Rba, as in my own copy, D.C.22 (dated 1274 A.H.), but missing in copies seen by Lidzbarski and Norberg and also in Petermann's facsimile (1867), is undoubtedly from the same lost book.

To take the first two of these, both deal with 'uthras who have in some manner bungled their parts in the cosmic plan; namely, Yušamin, Abathur and Pthahil. The first two become reconciled to the Great Life. Yušamin's re-instatement after intercession by the "Pure, Chosen One" is the theme of the latter half of hymn 237 in the present collection, and hymn 243 is an attempted intercession for Abathur. Pthahil, however, persists in rebellion and turns to the planets and demons for support. The Great Life intervenes in Yušamin's plan to punish Pthahil, and, softened, the latter at last makes his submission.

In the second Ginza poem the 'uthras urge Manda-ḡ-Hiia to reprove Yušamin for mistreating the "pure pearl" (the soul) and Manda-ḡ-Hiia tells Hibil-Ziwa to remove the "pearl" from material creation. Light, loveliness and perfume thereupon depart from the earth. Yušamin and Pthahil protest, Pthahil from the chains into which he was cast for his rebellion.

The story is a complicated one, but all ends satisfactorily with the restoration of the soul to earth and the triumphant supremacy of light and order.

The third poem, that which is missing in G. R., is in the style of all the poems of the collection, including the formula "If it please thee, Great (Life)". It describes the resentment of Pthahil who is still in bonds. He complains and threatens 'u haizin akšalta mak-šlillia hašta mšawina lpisusta ḡ-lahuat (If thou hast made me fall thus, then now I will make such a breaking-up as has never been") and he summons the planets one by one and arms them.

Just in time, a message reaches him from the Great Life, and meditation and repentance change his attitude to one of humility. He is immediately surrounded by hosts of 'uthras and re-instated in favour, whereupon he calls the planets to order.

Translator's note. — Following the Kt azil bhira dakia in D.C. 3. D.C. 53 and D.C. 38 there is an astrological section bound into the prayerbook for the convenience of priests performing marriages, for they are always consulted by bridegrooms as to the propitious day and hour for the consummation of the union. It would endanger the happiness of the pair if the act took place under unfavourable astrological conditions. The section, known as the Šabania Šaiia was translated by me in the Šarḥ d-Trāša d-Qabin d-Šišlam Rba (Š. d-Q.) so that I propose to omit it here together with the long colophon which follows it. A third part therefore begins on page 257 of D.C. 53. It contains prayers which have occurred earlier in the manuscript, for the same prayers serve on a variety of occasions: those for marriage are used at the consecration of a priest, and so on. When duplication occurs, I shall refer back to the prayer by number and page of both translation and text, but will not re-translate.

See no. 171, p. 154 of the translation, p. 287 of the Mandaic text (D.C. 53).

(These are hymns of "When the Chosen One, the Pure One went"
 I copied for myself so that there should be commemoration (of my name) on earth and yonder in the mighty and celestial worlds of light, and for love of holy truth and (with) reliance on the high King of Light, His name be praised in the great place of light! I am poor, lowly and infantile, a slave that is all sin and as dust beneath the feet of Naṣōraeans, one who kisseth the shoes on the feet of the pious, the least of my brother-ganzivri. I am Rabbi Adam-Yuhana son of Sam son of Bihram son of Adam-Yuhana son of Msa'ad known as Kamisia, family name Riš-Draz. ¹⁾ Šalmana. A person who, in anticipation of death, lives in a state of complete ritual purity, subsisting only upon sacramental food and drink.

²⁾ Nasaka (a) from Arabic and P. نك "pious" (b) from نسخ "to copy".

And they compared and studied them carefully¹⁾ according to their powers (ability).

And Life is victorious.

Prayers 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, and 292 are identical with prayers 180-187, pp. 162-166 of the translation, and pp. 202-207 and 330-335 of the Mandaic text, D.C. 53.

Following, prayers 293 to 304 inclusive are identical with prayers 188-199: trs. pp. 166-169 and pp. 335-338 Mandaic text, D.C. 53. The colophon which follows differs from other colophons in the book, and I omit it. The series of hymns which occupies the next section are for the ordination of priests, known as their "coronation". All the features of coronation are present, the immersion, oath, unction, and investiture with royal insignia. The "crown", however, is a tubular silken fillet. Šišlam-Rba is the prototype of priest and bridegroom.

305

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that they placed the crown on Šišlam-Rba
Jordans formed themselves at his right,
At his right jordans formed themselves.
In them signs were graven,
Signs were graven in them,
Banners and holy vows²⁾,
Banners and vows,
And kings, *Tannas*³⁾ and Drops
All bow down and worship the great Crown
And the Vine which they had transplanted from it⁴⁾
For ever and aye.

306

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that they placed the crown on Šišlam-Rba

¹⁾ Haqrnun

²⁾ Kuštia yaqria (Or, "precious pacts").

³⁾ Tannas and Drops are mentioned together in Prayer 189. Lidzbarski translates "Drops" as "women". The reference may be to bystanders, probably women of two classes.

⁴⁾ Some obscurities in these hymns defy translation! The "vine" which has been transplanted is, presumably, the new priest. Could the "crown" (taga) at one time have been of vine-tendrils?

Treasure of Life (Simat-hiia ¹⁾) shone therein.
 And in his vesture twelve mirrors were formed,
 Twelve mirrors were formed in his vesture
 And seven others in his seal-ring ²⁾.
 And five Drops... (?) ³⁾
 And eyes discern in them sublime treasure.
 They twine ⁴⁾ trees with gold (Trees are twined with gold?)
 Bountiful is their load of pearls!
 Who, amongst all the kings,
 Will confirm and view the crown
 Which they set on him
 For ever and aye?

307.

In the name of the great Life!
 On the day that they set the crown on Šišlam-Rba,
 The jordans, frolicking and dancing,
 Restless, and giving the two banks ⁵⁾ no peace
 Rejoicing, laughing and disporting themselves,
 Say, "Our glory hath shone here,
 It hath shone in this new crown,
 The like of which existeth not.
 Blessed is this new crown
 And blessed are its leaves, which shall not fall!
 For ever and aye.

308.

In the name of the great Life!
 On the day that they set the crown on Šišlam-Rba
 The jordans all assembled, and Rays-of-light,
 And wellsprings and Tannas;
 And palms are interwoven ⁶⁾ into the tendrils
 Of the crown and brighten Šišlam-Rba's crown.
 And they submit themselves to the glory

²⁾ Gušbanqa = "a cylinder-seal, signet-ring" גושבן קא

³⁾ Perhaps amia here should have been ainaniata (see No. 308) and that scribes inserted a gloss?

⁴⁾ Sarsin (P.S.Thes. سارسين "to twist, to twine".

⁵⁾ For the missing line, lkifh trin see D.C. 53, No. 389 p. 470 text) and B.M. Or. 6592 : 352. (It is also missing in D.C. 3.)

⁶⁾ In all versions 'strih, except D.C. 3, which has 'utrik.

Conferred upon it. And all kings
Do homage to its radiance, light and effulgence.
Eternally.

309

In the name of the Great Life!
On the day that they set the crown on Šišlam-Rba,
Rays-of-light summon the kings,
They call to the kings, the rays-of-light,
And škintas say to one another,
"Come! let us go and see Šišlam-Rba
Upon whom the Great (Life) hath set a crown;
Seven reliable kings ¹⁾ set it upon him
And King Manhriel conferred the sign (insignia) upon him
And took his hand in holy troth ²⁾,
And raised him, set him up
In the House of the Perfected,
For ever and aye.

310

In the name of the Great Life!
On the day that they set the crown on Šišlam-Rba
Channels of light were formed ³⁾ therein
Channels of light formed themselves (therein)
And the glory (or "praise") of the 'uthras shone bright.
There was radiance, there was light!
Sublime ether was in them,
It was diffused into flowings of water
And streams without end.
They (all?) come and kiss the crown of Šišlam-Rba
And rest in its shelter
Evermore.

311

In the name of the Great Life!
On the day that they set the great crown

¹⁾ At the "coronation of a king", i.e. ordination of a priest, seven "kings" (priests) must assist the ganzibra who is chief celebrant.

²⁾ A free translation: the rite of clasping the right hand in oath. "King Manhriel" = the chief celebrant at the "coronation".

³⁾ For 'štria read, as in No. 392 (the same prayer) 'štararbḥ. D.C. 3 p. 336 has 'štria, (so has D.C. 34 and B.M.O. 6592 : 380).

Upon the Teacher of 'uthras, Šišlam-Rba,
 Jordans formed themselves at his right,
 At his right jordans formed themselves
 And the cloud Šašqaliel ¹⁾ (journeyed?) ²⁾ with them,
 With them (journeyed?) the cloud Šašqaliel
 And a škinta was founded for (him her ?) in the jordan;
 For (him her ?) in the jordan a škinta was founded ³⁾.
 And in the ether a banner was unfurled for him.
 Kings of the worlds of light assembled,
 All laying their pure right hands upon him,
 Laying their hands of troth (kušta) on the crown of Šišlam-
 Rba,
 And blessing it and honouring it
 In the highest degree.

[These seven prayers of Šišlam-Rba shall be recited by the ganzi-bra when placing the crown on a postulant and the priests shall recite these seven other hymns and make the antiphonal response.]

312

In the name of the Great Life!
 Blessed is this pure voice and blessed your planting!
 Blessed is this new crown and blessed this hymning!
 And blessed is this sanctuary (škinta) in which kings are sitting!
 For ever and aye.

313

In the name of the Great Life!
 O king, thou art a mirror! (Yea)
 Radiance art thou, of genuine form;
 Oh thou art a lofty force!
 For all strength ⁴⁾ is derived from thee!
 Blessed is this new crown
 And blessed its treasure which thou hast shared with them
 For ever and aye.

¹⁾ The root ŠŠQL (Šaf. ŠQL) is used with sails or wings. The "cloud Mašql'il" (var. Mišql'il) is mentioned in the (Lidzbarski's trs. p. 402) l. 26.

²⁾ Here rdibun, but in the same prayer later (No. 393) grabun. B.M. Or 6592 : 391 rdabun. D.C. 3 p. 337 : 6 has rdubun. The reflection of a cloud in water is a symbol of marriage. Cf. Prayer No. 188.

³⁾ Probably "for him".

⁴⁾ Lit. "all strengths" in the plural.

314

In the name of the Great Life!

How wondrous is the strength of the Great (Life) ¹⁾,
 And how great is the glory which thou sheddest on us!
 Thou hast illumined us with thy great radiance
 And we praise thee and the crown of Šišlam-Rba.
 We magnify it and honour it
 And bring it our homage
 For ever and aye!

315

In the name of the Great Life!

Our father, thou art a king, a son of kings,
 For thou putttest on the crown for kings,
 The crown thou putttest on is for kings ²⁾
 And thou bestowest victory on palm-trees ³⁾.
 Šišlam blesseth his crown
 And 'uthras and sanctuaries (škinata) establish it.
 Cause some of thy glory, which is great,
 To rest upon us, and give us ⁴⁾
 So that our minds may rejoice in it
 For ever and aye.

316

In the name of the Great Life!

Hail to him! Again, hail to the king of kings,
 Šišlam-Rba! Hail to him on whom the hand of a king
 Hath set his crown⁵⁾; whose kingdom abideth and passeth not away.
 It passeth not away, the kingdom of a king
 As long as air and water flow -
 For ever and aye.

317

In the name of the Great Life!

¹⁾ D.C. 3, p. 338 : 9 "of 'uthras".

²⁾ In Prayer No. 397 the couplet is tagia lmalikia taršit tagia taršit lmalikia (thou putttest crowns on kings).

³⁾ The palmtree is the symbol of "the Father", (see p. 14, n. 6.) also of priesthood.

⁴⁾ "Give us thereof?" No. 397 has uahbilan d'ušran hadibh; D.C. 3 p. 339 : 1. uahbalan etc. ("Give us that in which our minds delight").

⁵⁾ Bis.

Thou art the Teacher ¹⁾ of ganzibria ²⁾,
 Thou art the King of all 'uthras!
 Good is it for him who beholdeth Thee with his eyes,
 Good is it for him who discerneth Thee in his thought! ³⁾
 He shall rise with Thee to the Place of Light.

318

In the name of the Great Life!
 My day, what is it amongst days? A day.
 My day, what is it amongst hours? A single hour.
 What is my day amongst the days?
 The day on which a kingdom was accepted.
 My day, what is it amongst days?
 The day on which treasure was divided.
 The King divided His treasure
 And gave his kingdom to Šišlam-Rba.
 Šišlam-Rba shone in his crown
 And we praise and magnify Thee
 Because Thou art called the Teacher of 'uthras
 For ever and aye.

[These are seven antiphonal hymns. The response ⁴⁾ to these hymns of "Šišlam-Rba" shall be recited by the priests. Should the ganzibra recite those hymns, the ganzibra shall recite one and the priests one.]

319

In the name of the Great Life!
 Thy strength shall increase, our father,
 And grow mighty by means of this secret mystery, Zihrun,
 By which all 'uthras are fortified.
 Be strengthened and increased in might and power
 By this seal-ring ⁵⁾ which is bestowed upon thee,
 And thou hast authority over it.

²⁾ Ganzibria, (plu. of ganzibra). Now the title of the chief priest.

³⁾ The words b'uṣriḥ, "in his thought", omitted in No. 317, are in No. 398 (which includes both Nos. 316 and 317), and also in D.C. 3, p. 339 : 12. The line is repeated in No. 398.

⁴⁾ Pasuk = response; the part read by the priests in an antiphonal hymn.

⁵⁾ At coronation (ordination), the new priest is invested with his ring of office; a gold seal-ring upon which are engraven the words Šum yawar ziwa ("the name of Yawar-Ziwa"). It is worn on the little finger of the right hand.

Thou hast been given authority over a treasure ¹⁾
 Of living flame, and over a Root
 Which is the product of gardens ²⁾.
 Go, become great and glorious! ³⁾
 Guard thyself, be confirmed (in office)
 By this seal-ring which is set upon thee
 So that thy strength may increase Yonder,
 And the Elect righteous may be uplifted by thy fame!
 And Life is victorious!

[This hymn for the seal-ring shall be recited by the ganzibra and priests over the seal-ring for the novice-priest when he assumeth thereby his kingship.]

320

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that they set the crown on the king
 And the king accepted his kingship,
 His radiance was seen in the light of the banners ⁴⁾,
 And the water-springs that were in the jordan
 Waltzed ⁵⁾ with one another!
 The king took his crown
 And was resplendent in its sublime radiance.
 And he distributed crowns to the kings,
 To the kings he distributed crowns ⁶⁾.
 And his brilliance, his light and his great glory
 Rested upon them
 For ever and aye.

[The ganzibra chants this hymn to them (whilst) distributing crowns amongst the 'uthras⁷⁾ and kings, and the 'uthras and kings give him myrtle; they give him myrtle.] ⁸⁾

²⁾ A play on words br guima, lit. a son of mysteries (things hidden) is also "a son of gardens".

³⁾ In D.C. 3 ʿgadal is repeated.

⁴⁾ The word drabša comes from the P. درفش = a bright or glittering object "anything glittering or flashing".

⁵⁾ Or "whirled round together", i.e. danced for joy.

⁶⁾ At the coronation rite of a postulant to priesthood, newly woven fillets ("crowns") are distributed to ganzivri and priests present at the rite.

⁷⁾ The word 'uthras refers to the ganzivri, just as malkia ("kings") means "priests".

⁸⁾ The rubric in D.C. 3 differs: it directs the ganzibra to distribute myrtle with the crowns.

321

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that the kings assembled (to be)
 In company with the king, the son of kings,
And he distributed crowns and treasures to the kings¹⁾,
 The kings extended their right hands,
Their right hands the kings held out,
 And they received crowns from the king,
Crowns they received from the king.
 And they bless him with a great benediction
 And honour him who gave them crowns and treasures
 For ever and aye.

[The priests shall repeat this hymn, taking the crowns from the ganzibra who set the crown on the postulant.]

322

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that a vision was verified by eyes ²⁾ (?)
 And the newly-inaugurated ³⁾ banner was purified (?) ⁴⁾ thereby
 Its inauguration (consecration) ³⁾ was shared amongst the banners
 And the banners shone in its radiance,
 They shone with great radiance and praised the king's crown.
 They praised the king's crown ⁵⁾ and said to it
 "Thy counterpart ⁶⁾ shineth in the ether,
 In the ether thy counterpart shineth
 And the ether delighteth in thee!
 'Uthras, kings and jordans praise thy counterpart
 For ever and aye.

[The ganzibra shall recite this prayer for the sewing of the postulant's crown. When praying the devotions before the secret prayer is said,

¹⁾ Lines in italics are missing in No. 321, but are given in No. 402 (p. 477 in the text), also in D.C. 3 p. 341, and B.M. Or. 6592 : 423.

²⁾ Or "his vision". Tiqnat = was stabilised i.e. realised.

³⁾ Mšaria = "begun", "new", "inaugurated": as a derived meaning "consecrated". The new priest has his own banner, a new one. Read drabša here as in Prayer No. 403 (text p. 347) not drabša.

⁴⁾ Both D.C. 53 and D.C. 3 have here 'štalalbḥ (𐌸𐌵𐌹𐌸𐌵𐌹𐌸) = "prepared" ("purified") B.M. Or. 6592 : 4 has 'šalalbḥ. D.C. 53 No. 403, however has 'tkalalbḥ = "is perfected thereby".

⁵⁾ No. 404 has "praised the great crown".

⁶⁾ Or "thine archetype".

he shall sew the postulant's crown and shall recite this prayer over the crown.]¹⁾

323

In the name of the Great Life!
 Shine forth, give out light, pure Mirror!
 For in all worlds thou wilt be called "Illuminator".
 Rise to thy feet, great 'uthra!
 Let all thy treasure awake ²⁾ for us
 That we may shine and rejoice thereat:
 'Uthras and kings who sit in this sanctuary
 Will beam and rejoice thereat!
 From beginning to end.

[The priests and ganzivri who are sitting in the sanctuary shall recite this hymn when the postulant comes and sits upon a chair. Then he shall rise to his feet and recite the appointed prayers (mandiz) as far as the prayer "Darkness is crushed down"; with witnesses, one on his right and the other on his left.]

324

In the name of the Great Life!
 Thou enlightenest them by thy word(s)
 Sublime ³⁾ and pure,
 And glorifiest the worlds by thy glory.
 Our father, thou enlightenest them
 By thy pure eloquence
 And thy root shall be exalted
 And attain the summit.

[The priests and ganzivri shall recite this hymn when the postulant is ending his set pieces, and the witnesses shall sit and recite this hymn, as below.]

¹⁾ The crown is tubular. At the consecration of a priest long tubes of woven silk and cotton are cut by the ganzibra into short lengths: two of silk for himself and the postulant, 24 of cotton for other priests (if the postulant is the ganzibra's first pupil). Women present sew the ends together so as to form "crowns", but it appears from the above insertion that the ganzibra himself completes the silken crown of the new priest.

²⁾ The "treasure" which the new priest is to "awake" or "illumine" (the word means both), is his accurate recitation of the Book of Souls before the assembly of examining priests.

³⁾ Only D.C. 3, p. 342 has šania. B.M. Or. 6592 : 126 also omits.

325 ¹⁾

In the name of the Great Life!
 The Great (Life) rejoiced, It was glad
 That Yawar hath looked ²⁾ for a banner of radiance.
 And the Rays of Light rejoiced because
 We have crushed down darkness
 And brought to nought the rebellious Voice.
 If thus we have acted, and thus it was ordained,
 Then it is You, the Well-Ordered,
 (Who hath) ordained it.

[The witnesses recite this hymn whilst sitting on chairs, and shall recite all the hymns (given) below.]

326

In the name of the Great Life!
 Our father, thou art a pure mirror!
 In all worlds thou hast become an Illuminator.
 Rejoice, our father! and take joy
 In all thy kingliness!
 Thou, our father, art he in whom we shine and glory,
 And (in whom) the 'uthras and kings
 In this sanctuary shine and glory
 For evermore.

[All shall recite this hymn; then the postulant (when) he has risen ³⁾, shall kiss them on their heads, give them myrtle to smell at, and shall kiss the ganzibra and take the book ⁴⁾ from him.]

327

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that Myrtle emerged from the Wellspring ⁵⁾
 And her waters, it grew upward ⁶⁾ in its glory.
 The waters rushed forth and were divided
 And ether emanated from light.

²⁾ I suspect strongly that the original had sakahlh = "planted", ("stuck in") the banner. The pointed end of the pole is driven into the earth.

³⁾ The Perfect tense.

⁴⁾ The Book of Souls.

⁵⁾ The "Wellspring" = the "Mother", see p. 14, n. 5.

⁶⁾ 'tšadal = "became great", "was raised up" (to dignity).

The king took the first myrtle ¹⁾
 From the hand of the new king
 Who by him had been instructed in the sublime mystery.
 He twined him ²⁾ a (myrtle-) wreath;
 On the jordan he bestowed its purity.
 The king was ratified (?) ³⁾ by the myrtle
 And the jordan crowned ⁴⁾ by the king,
 They are reciprocally crowned ⁵⁾, mutually aggrandised
 And rise and behold the Place of Light.

[The ganzibra recites this hymn, takes the myrtle from him, smells at it, twists a wreath for himself, twists a wreath for the postulant and gives it to the postulant who takes the wreath and staff. Then he gives the order that they should honour (their crowns).]

328

In the name of the Great Life!
 Blessed be this škinta of the Mighty (Life)
 In which crowns have been formed
 Crowns have been formed in it
 And a crown for a king, son of kings, was set on,
 A crown was set on a king, son of kings.
 All the kings pay homage to thee ⁶⁾
 And kings, 'uthras, Tannas and Drops
 All bow down and reverence thee
 In whom crowns (or "his crown") and mysteries
 Have been confirmed
 And škintas; an indwelling of the Mighty (Life)
 Hath proceeded from thee (?) ⁷⁾.

¹⁾ One would expect "from his first-born", but the bukra refers to the first myrtle that the new king twines as a king into a wreath.

²⁾ D.C. 3 omits gdalḥ and has asia for asa.

³⁾ D.C. 3 has trīṣ for tqun. Cf. the barsom as confirmation of Persian kingship.

⁴⁾ The Ethpe. and Ethpe. pf KRK (to turn, surround, enfold, encircle etc.) have many derived meanings. 'tkarak "crowned" occurs in the phrase hu taga 'tīrša d-malkia bgauḥ 'tkarak (D.C. 36) "it is a crown set on, wherewith kings were crowned".

⁵⁾ D.C. 3 has the correct mitkarkin: D.C. 53, No. 408 p. 480 l. 1. has mit-gadlin

⁶⁾ In the other mss ldilak. The cult-hut, scene of the coronation, is addressed

⁷⁾ Škinat kabiria minak praš, The meaning appears to be that the Great Life is incarnate in the priest's office. Škinat here might be rendered as "shecinah", "indwelling"?

And in thee the elect righteous will be uplifted;
 They will worship and give praise
 For thou wilt be called
 "A škinta which nourisheth sucklings"
 For ever and aye.

[This is the prayer for the consecration of the cult-hut (škinta) when thou intendest to take thither the first postulant on the Sunday. The priests recite this hymn before entering the cult-hut; (they recite it) and then they enter the cult-hut.]

329 ¹⁾

In the name of the Great Life!

Oh a burnished treasure art thou!
 Oh a glittering thing ²⁾ art thou!
 (Thou) mirror ³⁾ of kings!
 In its glory kings shine; they shine in its glory.
 They prepare crowns with his; ⁴⁾
 Crowns they fashion with his.
 Watersprings are crowned (?) by his (crown) ⁵⁾
 And watersprings, radiancies ⁶⁾ and mirrors
 Worship the great Crown: they praise it, guard it
 And say to it "Blessed is this (thine) appearance
 Which we praise; and by it, in thy škinta
 We shall be guided aright, we shall be rightly guided ⁷⁾
 In thy škinta, and with thee we shall be united
 For ever and ever.

[This is the hymn for the releasing ⁸⁾ of crowns on the Sunday

¹⁾ This prayer is the last in Lidzbarski's collection, but his version differs from those in my collection, cf. the two texts. He takes it as an address to the banner (which it is not, even in the Oxford version, see l. 2 of the prayer) for it is addressed to the crown and its wearer.

²⁾ Drabša here is "that which glitters" see p. 226, n. 4; not "banner": the crown is meant. (P. درشان = "to shine".)

³⁾ Or "vision".

⁴⁾ The reference, as the insertion which follows it shows, is to the preparation and presentation of crowns to all the priests present at the ceremony.

⁵⁾ Lidzbarski (and the Oxford ms.) bziwḥ mitkarkan. Bziwḥ is missing in D.C. 53, and I translate mitkarkan in the same sense as "And the jordan crowned by the king". see p. 230, n. 4'

⁶⁾ Or "radiant beings". (Lidzbarski Glanzwesen.)

⁷⁾ Nitṣ. (TRṢ to make or set right, etc.)

⁸⁾ Or "inauguration", "consecration" see p. 227, n. 3.

when the ganzibra wishes to consecrate ¹⁾ the cotton crowns for the priests ²⁾. Wearing all his vestments ³⁾ and all his clothes ⁴⁾, the crown in his right hand and the staff in his left, he goes to the bank of the Piriawis, the jordan, and takes also in his right hand with his own crown the cotton crowns which he wisheth to consecrate. Then he performs the ritual ablution in the jordan and comes towards the kinta ⁵⁾ and the banner. And he examines all the clothes and recites the Asuta ⁶⁾ to the Gate of Mercies ⁷⁾ and the kings as much as he is able. And after that he entones this prayer over each crown, once over every one. And Life is victorious.]

These are the antiphonal hymns of Šišlam-Rba and their refrain, the hymn of the ring, and all the hymns for postulants (ordination hymns). I copied this collection from beginning to end for myself, so that I might act and be successful in the world and that there may be one to mention my name on earth and yonder in the mighty and lofty worlds of light. For I have copied with a sincere and believing heart: my heart hath testified to the Life and to my lord Manda-ḡ-Hiia, so that they would be my support and my saviour. I am poor and lowly... (etc.)

(The colophon resembles other colophons in the book)

This miscellany of the Coronation was set in order and brought to successful conclusion from beginning to end in the name of the Life and as a token of Knowledge-of-Life and trust in the high King of Light, and in the names of Hibil, Šitil and Anuš — praised be their names in the great Place, the House of Perfection! It was completed on Friday (yuma ḡ-rahāṭia) which is 'rufta (Friday), the fourth of the month Akir-Paiiz (Last-of-Autumn) which is Ṭabit, Capricornus, in the year of Wednesday (i. e. which began on a Wednesday) in the year 1217 by Arab computation — may the world founder upon them and Manda-ḡ-Hiia bring to nought their rage against the congregation of souls!

It was copied in Huwaiza, by the waters of Karka... (etc.)

THE BANNER HYMNS ¹⁾

In the name of the Great Life! may there be health, victory and forgiveness of sins for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš because of these antiphonal hymns for the banner.

330

In the name of the Great Life!

When radiance came forth the white land, Paris ²⁾,
A young lad, Arsapan, son of radiant-beings,
Unfurled a banner ³⁾. He unfurled a great radiance
So that 'uthras and škintas shone in the banner's brilliance,
They shone in the brilliance of his banner
(That was) like the radiance in the House of the Mighty (Life)

331

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that Šišlam-Rba ⁴⁾ unfurled his banner
Over corporate beings ⁵⁾,
Three hundred and sixty wellsprings
Of radiance, light and glory were formed by him.
The glory of Šišlam-Rba's banner
Shone forth over three ⁶⁾ Wellsprings of Radiance
And the three wellsprings of Radiance
Who beheld the brightness of Šišlam-Rba's banner
Prostrated themselves before its glory:
They prostrated themselves,
The three wellsprings of radiance,
Praising the banner
To all eternity.

¹⁾ Lidzbarski included nineteen of the banner hymns in his collection (M.L. pp. 264 ff.).

²⁾ Lidzbarski (M.L. p. 264, n. 1) suggests that "Paris" is "Pars, Persis im Gegensatz zum Schwarzland (sawwād) Babylonien so benannt".

³⁾ For the banner as a light-symbol see p. 231, n. 2 and p. 226, n. 4.

⁴⁾ The great Šišlam is the archetype of king (priest) and bridegroom.

⁵⁾ 'Uṣṭunia = lit. "bodies" (headless). 'Uṣṭuna is the word used in priestly commentaries to connote the physical; the trunk (column) of Adams "Body", i.e. the universe conceived as a human shape.

⁶⁾ "Wellsprings" are, I imagine, a poetical name given to the three celebrants necessary for a masiḡta: other ceremonies require seven celebrants. See l. 5 of the next hymn.

332

In the Name of the Great Life!

On the day that Šišlam-Rba unfurled his banner
 Its glory shone out over three hundred and sixty thousand jordans,

The glory of the banner of Šišlam-Rba
 Shone out over seven wellsprings,
 And the wellspring Šihmai ¹⁾ spurted upward
 Before the radiance of Šišlam-Rba's banner.
 The perfume in the banner was delightful
 And (as) it appeared over the škinata (sanctuaries).
 How it becometh Šišlam-Rba when he is illumined
 By the wondrous banner Zihrun!
 How beauteous it maketh Šišlam-Rba
 When he is proclaimed King of all beams of light!

333

In the Name of the Great Life!

On the day that Šišlam-Rba shook out the banner Pirun
 And unfurled it at the head of the škinata,
 Its glory shone out over Wellspring and Palmtree ²⁾.
 (When) the Wellspring and Palmtree beheld ³⁾
 The glory of Šišlam-Rba's banner,
 A gush of radiance inundated Šišlam-Rba's banner
 And made his banner, Pirun, bright
 Beyond measure.

334

In the Name of the Great Life!

On the day that the banner Šišlamiel was unfurled,
 Its radiance beamed forth over three hundred and sixty
 Worlds of Light.
 Over three hundred and sixty worlds of light
 Its radiance beamed forth.
 And the three hundred and sixty worlds of light

²⁾ See p. 14, notes 5 and 6.

³⁾ d hzath is influenced by the gender of ainz.

Which beheld the brightness of the banner Šišlamiel
All flocked towards it,
Towards it they all gathered
And uttered a benediction on the banner of the Great
Bihram ¹⁾,
Saying to it, “Thy radiance, (O) banner Manhariel,
Hath dawned and thine appearance shone out,
And thy jordan hath strength and flow ²⁾
From end to end.

335

In the Name of the Great Life!
On the day that Bihram the Great unfurled the banner Šišlamiel,
Its radiance shone out over the waters,
Over the waters its radiance dawned,
Its radiance dawned over the waters
From the waters its radiance flooded upward
Its radiance surged up from the waters
And shone out over the worlds.
Worlds and kings who beheld the radiance of
The banner Šišlamiel, all gather towards it,
All gather towards it and utter blessing
Upon the banner of Šišlam-Rba and say to it
“Blessed be thou, Šišlamiel-Banner,
And blessed be the man that hath unfurled thee.
Great glory hath he given thee
And great is the crown ³⁾ he set on thee!
He hath given thee myrtle which strengtheneth 'uthras:
Jordans exult ⁴⁾ in thy radiance
And 'uthras delight in thy fragrance Exceedingly”.

336

In the name of the Great Life!
On the day that Šišlam-Rba unfurled his banner

¹⁾ In the Vendidad (19:37). Varathragna's epithet is barō-χ'avəna: usually translated "glory".

2) Motion.

³) At the consecration of the banner, which is extended full length before the white silk is draped over the crosspiece, a myrtle-wreath is slipped over the peak by the priest or priests officiating.

⁴) D.C. 3 has šahfja "flow out", D.C. 53 (like M.L.) šahbia (ŠHB to exult in, vaunt, joy in etc.).

The radiance of Bihram-Rba's banner
 Shone forth like the great mirror
 That resteth in the Jordan.
 Its radiance appeared and his škinta
 Shone, and his people ¹⁾ were confirmed in victory.
 And Life is victorious.

[Recite these seven hymns for the banner when unfurling it ²⁾.]

337 ³⁾

In the name of the Great Life
 It hath risen, it hath shone forth
 Thy radiance, king of 'uthras!
 It came; upon the 'uthras and škintas it shone.
 The 'uthras and the škintas who beheld thy glory
 All bless thee with a blessing,
 A blessing they pronounce upon thee
 And the 'uthras honour thee
 Because thou camest into existence
 Through the hand of a king.
 The king blessed thee with a great blessing
 And gave it (thee?) to me, Hibil-Ziwa.
 To me, Hibil-Ziwa he gave it
 To give light to worlds, to kings
 And to jordans and škintas
 All of them, fully.

338

Hibil blessed thee with a great blessing
 And gave thee to the Occult Adam ⁴⁾,
 Adam blessed thee with a great blessing
 And gave thee to the Chosen Elect.
 He gave thee to the Chosen Elect
 To enlighten and stabilise their counterparts ⁵⁾
 Fully.

²⁾ These seven prayers are said by a priest over the banner during the recitation of his daily office.

³⁾ This prayer and 348 are said whilst crouching and holding the staff of the banner.

⁴⁾ This Occult Adam, is the cosmic Adam, archetype of the physical Adam.

⁵⁾ The dmuta is the over-soul, the counterpart of the earthly being in the ideal world of Mšunia Kušta. It often acts as conscience or guardian angel, according to commentaries,

339

The Chosen Righteous rose to their feet
 And grasped thee with their right hands.
 They went to the jordan of living water
 And set thee up, so that thy radiancy
 Might be shed on the jordan.
 The water and thy brightness become blended together;
 Thy brightness and the water are combined
 Enhancing (the brilliance of) Šilmai and Nidbai.
 And these, the elect who go to the jordan,
 Are illumined by thy radiance.
 Do thou guard them and establish them
 And make their baptism successful!
 Life is victorious.

[Chant these hymns before thou conveyest the banner to the jordan.]

340

In the name of the Great Life!
 Who took up the banner Zihrun
 In which the worlds and generations glory
 And went to the bank of the jordan Piriawis?
 The jordan Piriawis on beholding the brilliancy
 Of the banner Zihrun, leapt towards its radiance:
 The waters and jordan and springs which dwell
 In the jordan (Piriawis) leap towards the radiance
 Of the banner Zihrun and exult exceedingly.

341

In the name of the Great Life!
 Yawar took up the banner Šišlamiel
 In which the worlds and generations exult,
 And went to the bank of the jordan Piriawis.
 The jordan Piriawis when it beheld the banner Zihrun
 Rejoiced with a great joy, exceedingly.

[Chant these hymns and take the banner to the jordan and plant it on the bank of the jordan. Then recite "Shine forth, shine forth, brightness of Yawar".]

342

In the name of the Great Life!
 Shine forth, let Yawar's radiance shine forth
 Over the jordan. The brightness of the banner
 Hath shone forth over the living waters! It shone forth:
 The waters dance towards its radiance
 And the radiance towards the waters. Waters and radiance
 Are intermingled ¹⁾, are interlaced, and its brightness
 Inspiritheth the 'uthras in their škintas
 Immeasurably.

(Recite these hymns when thou graspest the banner on the jordan-bank. Then recite "As the head of three škintas".)

343

In the name of the Life,
 As head of the three škinata ²⁾ —
 Who was set up as their head (Chief)?
 Whom did they set up as their chief?
 Who unfurled the banner at the jordan,
 Who at the jordan unfurled the banner?
 And who took the staff into the jordan?
 As the head of the three škinata
 Who placed the great crown on their heads ³⁾?
 On their heads and banners Yukašar placed the great crown;
 He unfurled the banner at the jordan,
 Yukašar unfurled at the jordan the banner
 And Yusmir took the staff into the jordan.
 And Life is victorious.

[Recite these hymns whilst grasping the banner on the jordan bank ⁴⁾, then perform thy baptism ⁵⁾.]

344

In the name of the Great Life!

¹⁾ Or "embraced one another".

²⁾ Three cult-huts? Or are, as I think may be the case, three concelebrants meant?

³⁾ D.C. 53, p. 363 and D.C. 3, p. 235 have brīšaiin udrabšaiin. Lidzbarski, using De Morgan's transcription, (D.M. p. 175) has brīšaiian. "on our heads" and omits mention of the banners.

⁴⁾ The banner is grasped first below the peak and then, standing, above the peak.

⁵⁾ Or "perform thine immersion".

The Great (Life) rejoiced; It rejoiced when Yawar looked ¹⁾
 Towards the banners of radiance and beams of light.
 It rejoiced that we have trodden down darkness
 And have brought to nought the rebellious Voice.
 If we have done thus and it was brought about,
 Nevertheless it is You, the (well-)ordered,
 Who have ordained it!

345

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that 'uthras put into order
 A jordan of living water
 And a baptism was performed therein,
 They took the banner Bihram
 And brought it into the škinta of Šišlam-Rba.
 And at the door of his House of Radiance
 They unfurled it so that 'uthras and škintas
 Might shine in its brightness and rejoice
 Exceedingly.

[Recite these two hymns after thou hast performed the baptism, and take the banner into the cult-hut.]

346

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that great Bihram furled his banner
 Three hundred and sixty guardians presided thereat ²⁾.
 They concealed it in its strong-box ³⁾
 And set the seals of the mighty (Life) upon it.
 The mighty (Life) blesseth with His pure mouth
 The Being who had settled here, and saith to him
 "Lend with increase some of thy radiance,
 And illumine the whole world with thy light!"
 Our father enlighteneth with his wondrous voice;

¹⁾ For skarh, D.C. 53, p. 363, 1.17, read skalh as in D.C. 3, D.M. and other mss.

²⁾ I.e. were present, lit. rested upon it.

³⁾ Lidzbarski (M.L. 273 : 9) transliterates כְּסֵאֲפִיָּא and translates "Ketten von Edelsteinen". D.M. however (178: penult.) like D.C. 53 (364 : 11) and D.C. 3 (236 : 21) has bšaftia hiliḥ. Safta (the more usual form of the word) in Arabic and Persian = "chest for valuables", "wallet", "purse" "casket" etc. and occurs several times in Mandaean texts in this sense. (e.g. bšaftia q-zahba, D.C. 36 II no. 189). The banner is, in fact, kept in a box.

And he said, "Any man who is pious and believing,
 Who went not early in the morning to the jordan
 Nor is signed with the sign of the jordan. ¹⁾)
 Utterly.

[Recite this hymn and fold up the banner on the great day of Daima ²⁾), by itself. And, any day on which thou baptisest, fold the banner ³⁾) and cover it up with this hymn.]

347

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that the radiance of the banner Šašlamiel ⁴⁾
 Was hidden in its casket of radiance,
 All the 'uthras rose from their seats.
 And pronouncing a sublime blessing upon Zihrun-Šašlamiel ⁵⁾
 The banner, they took it from its pedestal ⁶⁾) of radiance
 To inner houses ⁷⁾) so that it was hidden.
 They cover it, bless it, guard it and say to it,
 "As surely as thy radiance waiteth safe in its casket,
 Will thy form be kept safe. All worlds which behold thee
 Will bless and praise thee for ever and aye".

[Recite this prayer and furl the banner when thou hast finished all thy rites. Recite it by itself alone and fold it before they cover (put away) the banner of the day, whilst thy crown is on thy head, except at the festival of Daima. (On that day.²⁾) read both hymns. Then roll up the banner and hide it in its chest (or "casket"). And Life is victorious! ⁸⁾]

348 [THE BLESSED OBLATION PRAYERS]

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that Ayar (Ether, Air) emerged from the Wellspring
 The waters flowed hither, hither flowed the waters
 And radiance in the jordan. (The use of)

²⁾ The feast of Daima, a baptism-feast, occurs ninety days after Panja (Parwanaia), the five intercalary days.

³⁾ The banner is about three meters long and an ell wide.

⁴⁾ Var. Šišlam'il.

⁵⁾ Not Zihrun and Šašlamiel as written (v. D.M. op. cit. pl. 178 : 10).

⁶⁾ Its base, its column, i.e. the banner-pole.

⁷⁾ Lit. "to inner eggs".

⁸⁾ Here Lidzbarski's collection has No. 329 (given in this book on p. 231).

Myrtle was appointed.¹⁾ they twine its sprigs
 And its destination²⁾ is the sacred table³⁾.
 We ašgandia (acolytes) have become acolytes⁴⁾
 And were admitted into the radiance of the mighty (Life);
 By the radiance of the mighty (Life) we are sheltered.
 And the Wreath is set up, into circlets it was twined,
 It was plaited with myrtle leaves.
 Trees bore their fruit (lit. "burden")
 Naširutha was manifest in the full jordan
 And they were refreshed in the full jordan,
 Before you, 'uthras, my brothers,
 Fully.

The šganda reciteth this hymn for the Blessed Oblation when the myrtle and phial are in his hand. Then the ganzibra taketh the myrtle and phial of wine⁵⁾ from the acolyte and reciteth "Come, come, lofty acolyte, from the House of my Father".]

349

In the name of the Great Life!
 Come, come, lofty messenger⁶⁾,
 Come, come from the House of my Father!
 Come and irradiate us with the radiance of Life,
 With the radiance of Life irradiate us!
 And refresh us with some of the good things⁷⁾
 Provided there⁸⁾. For thou⁹⁾ art called
 Sustainer¹⁰⁾ of 'uthras for ever and aye.

¹⁾ Myrtle and its ritual inhalation is an important rite in the "Blessed Oblation". Cf. the barsom in early Zoroastrian ritual.

²⁾ Lit. "its course, ("its journey) is to".

³⁾ The patura, corresponds to the sacramental table or altar. It may be a clay table, or a mat, or a purified washed surface. The sacred meal is arranged on it, see p. 61, n. 5.

⁴⁾ Ašganda, šganda, see p. 5, n. 4. Usually a young man or boy who must be of priestly birth. He is consecrated for his office every time he officiates.

⁵⁾ The "wine" is unfermented.

⁶⁾ Šganda, in its more ancient meaning, see p. 5, n. 4.

⁷⁾ Ṭabuta ("goodness", "good things") here refers to the food-offerings.

⁸⁾ A better version of this prayer occurs in D.C. 42 ls. 617 ff. uṭaibinan mn ṭabuta ḡ-šra (var. 'šria) 'lḥ aminṭul ḡ-mṭaibana ḡ-uthria 'tiqrit. The same version occurs in D.C. 50. The form is Afel. Cf. Hif. שרי (J., 2) "to provide a living for".

⁹⁾ 'tiqria in both D.C. 3 and D.C. 53. I prefer 'tiqrit, see n. 8.

¹⁰⁾ Mṭaibana = one who refreshes or provides with food and drink, "sustainer", "food-giver" etc.

[The ganzibra shall recite this hymn and take the phial of wine and the myrtle from the acolyte]

350

In the name of the Great Life!
 On the day that a root of fresh myrtle
 Was set up before the king,
 The king stretched forth his right hand for it
 And gave it to the 'uthras and acolytes
 And said to them "Take from me this fresh myrtle
 And bless the škinata ¹⁾ with a blessing,
 A blessing pronounce on the škinata
 And illumine and restore the 'uthras and škinata
 Situate at thy right and at thy left
 For ever and aye. ²⁾

[The ganzibra shall recite this hymn and distribute myrtle to the 'uthras ³⁾ and priests. Then they shall recite the "sealing" prayers, ⁴⁾ to the end of that which blesseth (bless) the Blessed Oblation, and he shall seal (conclude) it.]

In the name of the Great First Strange Life from worlds of light, the Ineffable who is above all works, may there be health, purity, and forgiving of sins for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš
(etc., the usual insertions with family names occurs in all mss.)

And we shall be blessed by means of these prayers and benedictions of the pihtania ⁵⁾ of the Blessed Oblation, and our thought, mind and understanding shall be enlightened by the might of Yawar-Ziwa and Simat-Hiia.

351

In the name of the Great Life!
 This is the Blessed Oblation!
 Kušṭa regaleth his friends,

²⁾ For a slight (and possibly better) variant of this prayer see Š. d-Q. pp. 61-62.

³⁾ See p. 226, n. 7.

⁴⁾ Haṭamata = confirmatory or concluding prayers.

⁵⁾ Pihta (= "opened"). Bread broken ritually and distributed and eaten sacramentally is so called. Cf. the Aramaic "piece", "bread (Targ. O. Gen. xiii 1; Targ. Y. ib. xl, 16); etc. See p. 37, n. 3. pihtania appears to be the plural form, "pieces of bread").

Kušta his friends regaleth,
 He hath prepared and blessed it with his blessing.
 I testify to Yawar-Ziwa
 Of whose bounty we have partaken(?) ¹⁾

352

In the name of the Great Life!
 I am the white Pihta ²⁾
 From Life's treasure-house was I transplanted;
 I was transplanted from the treasure-house of the Great Life,
 With ³⁾ the jordan they sent me to earth,
 With the jordan to earth they sent me
 To spread truth in the world,
 In the world to spread truth,
 To enlighten darkened hearts,
 My treasure, which I instilled into it ⁴⁾.
 I illumined and transformed it completely
 Completely did I illumine and transform it.
 I brought and ⁵⁾ set down in it a good ⁶⁾ (gift)
 I removed from it the misery ⁷⁾
 Which the Seven had brought to bodies
 (That) the Seven had brought to bodies
 And they dwelt in darkened hearts.
Pihta they ate not. (but) his Creator spoke
 And made man, who ate not pihta,
 Listen to Him. And He said,
 "Look to it lest ye eat with a lie!
 Beware that ye eat not falsely!
 Look to it lest ye partake of it hypocritically!"
 For the wicked and liars who eat it with falsehood

¹⁾ Or, if we read, as in D.C. 53, pp. 376, 379, 380, 382 and D.C. 3, pp. 247, 248, 250 and 251, "who quickeneth us with his bounty".

²⁾ Wheat for the pihta is the best and whitest. Ground by the priest, it is mixed with water from river or jordan (salt being first added). Formed into discs, the dough is baked over the ritual brazier just before use. The pihta consumed during the masiqta by the priest as proxy for the deceased is made otherwise. See W.W. pp. 242-255 for full description of the rite.

³⁾ Or "from the jordan".

⁴⁾ I.e. into the world.

⁵⁾ D.C. 3 has atit "I went" (as translated in Z.D.M.G. Band 105, Heft, 1 p. 134, l. 5.)

⁶⁾ Tabta = "a good thing, gift", etc. or "goodness". See p. 254 n. 1.

⁷⁾ Lit. "sighing" "lamentation".

Will be bound and lie in darkness,
 They will be bound and lie in darkness,
 Darkness degraded ¹⁾ and lay heavy upon them.
 The eyes of the wicked look on darkness

 And Life is triumphant.
 I testify to Yawar-Ziwa
 Of whose bounty we have partaken ²⁾.

In the name of the Great Life!
 The white Pihṭa am I!
 The creature of light, I came into existence.
Pihṭa am I, the white,
 For Yawar was my Transplanter ³⁾
 My Creator was Yawar, from his treasury he brought me.
 Yawar-Ziwa took me and gave me to Nṣab-Ziwa.
 Nṣab-Ziwa took me and gave me to Zarziel-Nhura-Rba.
 Zarziel-Nhura-Rba took and gave me to Hibil-Ziwa.
 Hibil-Ziwa took and brought me into the earthly world;
 He took me, brought me down; set me down in the earthly world.
 As food for Adam and all his sons.
 Whilst the first generation existed
 They ate me in good faith,
 In good faith did they eat me;
 No trickery ⁴⁾ did they perform with me,
 They performed with me no misuse ⁴⁾.
 Nor did they omit or subtract from ⁵⁾ me
 They committed no omission or subtraction

³⁾ Or "creator".

⁴⁾ Hargta = (a) friction, rubbing (b) "distortion", "obliquity", "false dealing", "misuse": e.g. kuṣṭana damia lmuṣana d-mutaqin ulaṣit bgauḥ hargta (G.R. r. 214, Lidzbarski's trs. And the creatures of the Seven

 When a second generation came into being
 They (too) ate me aright,
 Sincerely they ate me:
 No trickery did they perform with me,
 They performed me with no crooked dealing,
 They did not omit or subtract from me,
 From me they neither omitted nor subtracted
 And the creatures of the Seven had no power over me.
 When a third generation arose,
 Adonai ¹⁾ built a House,
 A house did Adonai build,
 And the Seven obtained a hold ²⁾ in it,
 Then it was dispersed amongst the three hundred
 And sixty two nations ³⁾.
 And then I was taken from their midst
 And they cast me amongst the three hundred
 And sixty-two nations.
 Then they ate me with falsehood,
 With falsehood did they eat me,
 Wrongly did they use me,
 They used me falsely
 And did with me that which was deficient and lacking,
 That which was deficient and lacking they did with me
 And creatures of the Seven gained dominion over me.
 Then strength was taken from me,
 And radiance, order, taste and glory.
 And they made me the fodder of beasts.
 Souls departed from bodies without their measure.

 Then their father Pthahil arose and gave them commission
 And said to them "Go, create the thing that ye have wished

 Thereupon, with the mystery of ashes and red dust ⁵⁾

 Pthahil, when he saw it

 From whom every wild beast had its being.
 Cast it not down as invitation to the House
 Of the devil Simiael ⁴⁾
 Which is full of foul pollutions!
 The crumbs ⁵⁾ which fall from you,
 Cast into running water ⁶⁾ lest they fall to the ground,
 Lest your feet be placed thereon.
 Trample it not underfoot! ⁷⁾
 For it came from the Place which is life-giving,

²⁾ The Pael and Ethpa. of ṬUB when speaking of sacramental meals = "to partake of", "refresh oneself with".

³⁾ The Lion of Judah? The wild beasts which it produced were presumably sects which originated from Judaism.

⁴⁾ A demon of blindness, mentioned in G.R. (trs. p. 200 n. 1), and several times in D.C. 40 and other mss. Lidzbarski takes it (mistakenly in my opinion) for Ismael.

⁵⁾ Lit. "the fallen that fell", i.e. any fragments or crumbs.

⁶⁾ "Jordan" is not necessarily consecrated running water.

⁷⁾ Lit. "Do not put your feet on it".

From the Place which is life-giving it came;
 It was transplanted from amongst
 Worthy treasurers. My Elect!
 Hearken and hear, and take care of my benefaction
 Which came from the House of the Great Life!
 And Life be praised!
 I testify to Yawar-Ziwa
 Who quickeneth us ¹⁾ with his bounty.

355

The white Pihla am I
 Which the Life summoned and sent
 In His benevolence.
 In the strength of Hibil-Ziwa
 He sent me to this world;
 Made me chief of His Kimša (hidden treasure? ²⁾)
 And called me Uplifter of prayers.
 I came, and became an offering set apart
 For the world, and source of strength for the priests. ³⁾
 I held a portion of Life,
 And called with the voice of a son of the Mighty (Life);
 I set apart Sunday and the morn of the day
 Whose name is revered.
 And I dwelt therein to reveal its glory.
 I revealed (it) to the priests
 And dwelt in their hearts.
 Goodness I give to them: enlightenment in plenty
 So that they be not lacking or faulty.
 They shall offer up prayer and praise
 And put them up in a sublime voice.
 They will shine in the Treasure of Life
 And the Word that came from the House of the Great Life.
 They shall be established in sanctuaries:
 They will rise up, they will behold the Place of Light.
 And Life is victorious.

¹⁾ Here not ṭarbinin but ṭarbinan in both mss.

²⁾ Riša ḡ-kimša. Kimša is a word of obscure meaning. It sometimes seems to be derived or influenced by KMS (not KMS̄) as here. (כמס Ass. כמס "to hide, store away".

³⁾ A free translation.

I testify to Yawar ¹⁾
 Who refresheth us with his bounty.

356

In the name of the Great Life!
 The voice of Manda-d-Hiia
 Calling to the chosen righteous,
 To the chosen righteous it calleth
 Warning them about my Oblation.
 It uttered to them a first warning,
 Admonishing them about my Oblation.
 He said to them: "Behold my oblation,
 Behold my oblation, behold my oblation
 That was transplanted from the House of the Great Life;
 My oblation translated from the House of the Great Life!
 Partake thereof in sincerity, silence and purity".
 With a second warning he admonisheth them about my oblation
 He said to them "Behold my oblation,
 Behold my oblation, behold my oblation
 Transplanted from the House of the Great Life!
 Partake thereof with prayer and praise".
 With a third warning he admonisheth them about my oblation.
 He said to them "Behold my oblation,
 Behold my oblation, behold my oblation
 Transplanted from the House of the Great Life,
 My oblation transferred from the House of the Great Life.
 With hymns and recitations partake thereof.
 Behold my oblation, behold my oblation, behold my oblation!
 Eaters of ²⁾ my oblation are like šibia ³⁾
 Like šibia are those who eat my oblation,
 Like a lion lying ⁴⁾ halfway on the road.

²⁾ D.C. 53, p. 378 ult. has aklh man; D.C. 3 p. 249: 13 f. aklh mn. The latter appears the more likely version.

³⁾ Šibia. My attempted translation in Z D.M.G. p. 141:12 (op. cit.) is unconvincing. The whole passage is obscure. The mention just below of the lion lying in the road suggests that šibia was in the original šidia (hunted, ambushed), but such a simile appears out of place. Šibia are evidently people who misuse the zidqa in some way.

⁴⁾ See n. 3. Rmia (past part. RMA = "cast", "placed", "laid down" or "lying". In Z.D.M.G. I took it as a miscopying of ramia.

My zidqa (charity) ¹⁾ is like a mountain,
 A mountain over which no highway hath been levelled.
 My charity is like a sea,
 A sea over which there is no way of crossing. ²⁾
 He who eateth my oblation but surrendereth nothing ³⁾
 Is cut off and will fall into the great Sea of Suf; ⁴⁾
 He that hath but giveth nought,
 His eyes will not behold the Light.
 This is a Blessed Oblation!
 Kušṭa regaleth his friends,
 Kušṭa his friends regaleth!
 He prepared and gave it his blessing.
 I testify to Yawar-Ziwa ⁵⁾
 Who refresheth us with his bounty.

357 ⁶⁾

Behold my oblation, behold my oblation, behold my oblation!
 Who ate it?
 The Jews, an evil nation, accursed and blasphemous ate it.
 The Kiwanaiia ⁷⁾ ate it, who cut it (?) in flames of fire.
 The demented Yazuqaeans ate it, who reverence fire
 Crazy creature who reverence fire
 Serving a thing that is powerless.
 Idumaeans ate it, who destroyed their virility,
 Cast away, destroyed is their manhood,
 And they set up Death ⁸⁾, worshipping him.
 Zandiqs (Manichaeans?), who rest on supports of falsehood,
 ate it,
 On pillars of falsehood do they rest
 And cut off their seed from the world.
 Arabs ate it, evil liars, a wicked race
 Who drink blood. Naṣoraeans ate it,

¹⁾ Here zidqa has the more abstract meaning of "charity".

²⁾ D.C. 3 has mabuta, D.C. 53 mabra "traversing".

³⁾ Or "Is not made perfect therein". Again obscure. My translation is influenced by what follows.

⁴⁾ The Sea of Reeds, which swallowed up Pharaoh and his host.

⁵⁾ Here, and at the end of the next hymn, D.C. 53 omits Ziwa.

⁶⁾ This hymn is not separated from that which precedes it.

⁷⁾ Kiwanania: "people of Saturn", "Saturn-worshippers"?

⁸⁾ Or "a corpse" (מיתה).

A people, a stock, a family group ¹⁾.
 The faithful of heart ate it,
 Righteous and believing people ate it,
 Those baptised in water ate it who at their baptism
 Arise and behold the Place of Light.
 And Life be praised! Life is victorious!
 I testify to Yawar-Ziwa who quickeneth us with his bounty.

In the name of the Great Life be there healing and victory and forgiving of sins for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam!

358 ²⁾

In the name of the Life!
 When He opened His Garment ³⁾
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared, to whom was light given?
 To whom was light given and to whom was enlightenment revealed?
 Enlightenment, to whom was it revealed,
 And on which of the 'uthras did They bestow it?
 When He opened the Garment of Life
 And the radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared,
 (When) Radiance appeared in its Place,
 Light was given to Yawar,
 Light to Yawar was given,
 And he, Yawar, told it ⁴⁾ to all the 'uthras.
 The 'uthras who listened to the enlightenment (teaching)
 Of Yawar, rejoiced and gloried therein to the uttermost.
 Without measure they rejoiced and gloried therein
 And were stablished thereby completely
 He said to them "Rejoice and be edified, (ye) 'uthras
 By the enlightenment which your father hath transmitted to you

¹⁾ ama kana umkanana (a free translation).

²⁾ The series which follows is devoted to praise of Yawar. The name is derived from YWR or 'WR, and illustrates the use of a regular but rare form of Peal active participle of roots ending in 'r', usually connoting an active agent, e.g. dakar (a mentioner), pašar (a loosener, exorcist) našar (watchman, guardian). See N. p. 230. Hence Yawar means one who blinds or dazzles with light.

³⁾ "Opened His Garment", a mystical expression meaning "revealed Himself", "appeared".

⁴⁾ 'mrh in in both mss.: better perhaps "caused it to rest on all the 'uthras".

From the Mighty (Life)!" And they say to him,
 "Blessed art thou, our great ¹⁾ First Enlightenment
 Brought hither for our sakes, by virtue of which
 We (too) give light. And we praise the Great (Life)
 Who gave thee". And Life be praised!
 I testify to Yawar, who quickeneth us
 With his bounty!

359

When He opened His Garment
And when Radiance was formed,
When Radiance appeared, to whom was construction ²⁾ entrusted?

To whom was (the work of) construction given?
And who was named as head of reproductive power ³⁾
Who was named as head of reproductive power?
And who became chief of mighty ones?
When the Life opened Its Garment,
And the Radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared;
When Radiance was manifested at its place,
Production was entrusted to Yawar,
To Yawar was (the work of) construction given.
He, Yawar, was named head of reproduction ³⁾,
He was created chief of mighty ones.
He implanted the reproductive power
In his brethren, and set them up
And instructed them in their places,
He established them and instructed them
And showed them archetypes
So that all should not pass away.
For the radiance of Yawar ⁴⁾ is not cut off
From above them in the Secret Place.
The Life accepteth ⁵⁾ the dues and oblations
Of Yawar who quickeneth us with his bounty.
And Life is victorious.

²⁾ Tuqna in both its meanings, "light" and "construction".

³⁾ See p. 135, n. 2.

⁴) Or "dazzling", "dazzler". Yawar is not a loan-word from the Persian yawar "assistant". See p. 252, n. 2.

⁵⁾ D.C. 3 hiia qablūh, D.C. 53 hiia qablūih. The sentence is somewhat suspect.

360

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance formed itself,
 On whom did the Great (Life) bestow a good ¹⁾ gift
 On whom did the Great (Life) bestow bounty?
 And whom did They endow ²⁾ with blessing?
 When Life opened His Garment,
 And the radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared,
 (When) Radiance manifested in its place,
 The Great (Life) bestowed bounty on Yawar,
 Yawar took the good gift
 And therewith refresheth (both) great and small.
 He refreshed Yušamin and refreshed the 'uthras his sons,
 And the 'uthras, sons of Yušamin.
 Rejoice in the benefaction ³⁾
 In the benefaction they rejoice
 Wherewith Yawar had refreshed them completely.
 Of his benefits they partook ³⁾, all of them,
 For the radiance of Yawar is not cut off
 From above them in the Occult Place.
 And the Great (Life) accepted the fee and oblation
 Of Yawar. They partook of his bounty fully.
 And Life is victorious.

361

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 Upon whom was Understanding ⁴⁾ bestowed?
 To whom was Perception given,

¹⁾ It must be remembered that these hymns refer to the sacred bread, fruit, vegetables and wine of the Blessed Oblation, i.e. to natural products eaten sacramentally. Hence ṭabta and ṭabuta refer to the good gifts of the Life, and the Pa. of the root ṬUB applied to the sacramental acts of eating and drinking, which impart life and strength to body and soul, is best translated by such words as "refresh", "quicken" and "partake of". The latter word is employed in the same sense that Christian communicants employ it.

²⁾ Lit. "in whom They made blessing dwell".

⁴⁾ Madihta = Understanding, perception, discernment. Part of the line missing in D.C. 53.

To whom did They give explanations?
 To whom did They explain about all the distinctions ¹⁾,
 And whom did They proclaim as the Voice of Life
 That is not interrupted?
 When Life opened His Garment,
 And the radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared,
 Radiance appeared in its Place,
 Understanding was given to Yawar,
 Perception was bestowed on Yawar,
 And he, Yawar, hearkened and received understanding of Life.
 He was instructed by by Their Word,
 And he hearkened to Their pure Voice.
 And he came and summoned all the 'uthras.
 They came, and heard that which the Life had said to him.
 Heed that which the Great (Life) taught!
 Heed that which the Great (Life) explained!
 And following it, be ye all united!
 Hear its praise from me. Rise to the Place of Light!
 And Life is victorious.

362

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 (As) envoy, whom did They send? ²⁾
 Whom did they send as Life's messenger?
 Whom did They set in command over them all? ³⁾
 Whom did They put in command over them all?
 With Their warning whom did They warn?
 When Life opened His Garment,
 And the radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared,
 When Radiance appeared in its place,
 Yawar They sent (as) Envoy
 As Envoy They sent Yawar.
 They sent not all (any of) the 'uthras

¹⁾ D.C. 3 has lkul afrišta: "about every explanation" (or "distinction"), D.C. 53 lkul afrišta, as translated.

²⁾ The construction is curious but, the context makes it evident that Yawar was the Envoy and not the being to whom an Envoy was sent.

³⁾ For kulhun D.C. 3, 255 : 8 and kulhin D.C. 53, 385 : 3 read lkulhun as in the next line.

They did not send all 'uthras;
 Nor did they teach all worlds (persons),
 All worlds they did not teach
 That they will rise, that they will see Us
 That they will rise, and will see Us
 And be established in praise of the Mighty.
 They say to him ¹⁾, "Blessed and lauded be the Great Life
 Who raised thee up that we might praise the Life
 And thyself who art sent to us as Life's Envoy".
 And Life is victorious!

363

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 To whom was prayer and praise given?
 Prayer and praise, to whom were they given?
 And for whom was glory (ziwa) reserved and appointed?
 The Great (Life) invested Yawar:
 He (They) called him and gave him command, saying to him,
 "Go, go, Yawar and make thine appearance
 To the Elect Righteous yonder.
 Come! rejoice in Us, and gladden the 'uthras with thee.
 'Uthras shall be joyful: 'uthras shall rejoice
 And 'uthras shall know who is more revered
 Than any other ²⁾.
 And Life is victorious.

364

When He opened His Garment,
 And when Radiance was formed ³⁾
 When Radiance made its appearance.
 To whom was mystic converse ⁴⁾ given?
 On whom was mystic converse bestowed?
 And into whose heart was it poured?
 Into the heart of whom was it poured,

²⁾ Lit. "than whom".

³⁾ 'štarar in this line is missing in D.C. 3.

⁴⁾ D.C. 3, 256 : 14 has šuta kasīata "talk (of) secret things", but below like D.C. 53, šuta kasita.

Awaking all its perfections?
 When the Life opened His Garment
 And the Radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared in its Place,
 Mystic converse was given to Yawar.
 Yawar was on guard ¹⁾ and was watchful!
 And came and kept watch over all the 'uthras!
 And Life is victorious.

365

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 Who was the architect of the ether-world?
 In the ether-world who was the architect? ²⁾
 Who built a building therein,
 In it who built a building?
 Who designed it ³⁾, set it in order, ⁴⁾
 And upheld it so that it shineth
 From end to end?
 It was to Yawar that They gave charge of it,
 Because of his radiance They set him in charge,
 And he whose glory is sublime sheddeth light upon it;
 In his building he standeth ⁵⁾.
 It is not vain, or void, not hath it come to naught
 Because he consulted the Life,
 Because he was advised by the Life about it.
 Life designed and founded the building
 And Life is victorious.

366

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 Radiance (Ziwa) appeared with Yawar.

¹⁾ These two lines might also be an address to Yawar (naṣar is an alternative form of naṣur).

²⁾ A line is missing here in D.C. 3, p. 257.

³⁾ J. בִּינָה to lay out, plan (a city) (Pl. BNA?)

⁴⁾ D.C. 3, 257 : 7 tiqnḥ

⁵⁾ Or "confirmeth his building".

They (the Great Life) created Light within the Garment.
 When Light approached ¹⁾ Radiance,
 They called to Yawar and commissioned him, saying,
 "Go, go thou Dazzling One,
 Show thy divine image to the elect righteous
 That they may see thee and shine
 And may exalt Laufa (communion) ²⁾ to its rightful place.
 At its rites ³⁾ they will behold Us
 And will be confirmed in praise of the Mighty (Life).
 They will behold the Great (Life)
 And the Place which hath no end!
 And Life is victorious.

367

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 To whom was his mystic archetype ⁴⁾ given,
 A mystic counterpart, to whom was she given
 And for whom was she guarded and established?
 When He opened His Garment,
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When the radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared
 And Radiance appeared in its place,
 A mystic counterpart for Yawar
 Was concealed and guarded.
 And Life is victorious.

368

When he opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 For it, Transmitters were appointed
 For it, there were appointed Transplanters.

¹⁾ In such texts as the Alf Trisar Šuialia it is assumed the nhura (light) is the (female) complement of the (male) force ziwa (radiance, glory).

²⁾ Laufa (union, communion), is the simplest form of commemorative meal for the dead. See W.W., pp. 232-5. Its modern name is lofan.

³⁾ D.C. 3 p. 258 : 2 l'bidatak "at your rites".

⁴⁾ Dmuta, translated in No. 366 as "divine image", is the ideal counterpart; also "appearance", "likeness". See p. 236 n. 5.

(But) yonder, yonder They covered up its arousing ¹⁾ brilliance,
 It doth not flash forth amongst dull-witted Plants!
 But was reserved for one, one (only),
 And will rise with him to the Place of Light.
 And Manda-d-Hiia will watch over him in his place;
 He will guide him, will rejoice with him
 And be his companion for ever and ever.
 And the Great Life be praised in his light!
 Life is victorious!

When He opened His Garment
 And when Radiance was formed,
 When Radiance appeared,
 Who was king over the Light?
 Who became king over Light?
 And who, in his realm, was named chief,
 Who was named chief in his realm
 And who became Captain of the mighty?
 Who was it who twined (wreaths) of virtues ²⁾
 And set them on the heads of enlightened ones?
 When Life opened His Garment
 And the radiance of the Mighty (Life) appeared,
 Radiance appeared in its place
 Yawar became king over Light,
 He it was who became King over Light.
 In his realm he was named Captain,
 Captain he was called in his realm
 He became Captain of the Mighty.
 He twined ³⁾ (wreaths of) virtues
 And set them on the heads of enlightened ones.
 (Yea), Yawar arranged all, and did nought therein
 Amiss or lacking, Nought was wanting, nought defective.
 Nothing grieved him, (for) in it all
 There was nothing awry!
 And Life be praised!

In the name of the Great Other Life, be there health, purity,

¹⁾ 'ruta (from 'WR, YWR, AWR) I have translated by two words to convey the double meaning here.

²⁾ Or "purities".

³⁾ 'Uṣṭun, 'uṣṭuna (see p. 233, n. 5.) I.e. the body of the cosmic Adam.

strength and soundness, speaking and a hearing and the aid of mighty 'uthras, sons of light, for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam, and for my offspring, Adam-Yuhana and Šarat-Mamania children of Adam-Yuhana.

May it establish our names in the House of Life and may the eye of Manda-ḏ-Hiia be directed upon us, with the help of Hibil, Šitil and Anuš!

They appointed, and the Body ¹⁾ consisteth of Radiance within radiance, ether within Ether,
 Counterpart of Life within Counterpart of Life ²⁾
 Piriawis within Piriawis!
 The Being who came and opened their eyes
 To the living waters (Water of Life)
 And poured them into their hearts
 And (bestowed) wisdom and faith on the 'uthras:
 He, (that) Being, will come and will open my eyes,
 Mine, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 And pour into my own heart wisdom and faith,
 So that I may stand and may worship and praise
 The Mighty, Other-world (Strange) Life;
 That I may bless this kana ḏ-zidqa ³⁾ and Table.

.....
 And (bless) thee (also), our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam ⁴⁾,
 And the priests and laymen of the škiṇta (cult-hut)
 Who sit at thy right and thy left,
 For an age of ages and for world without end;
 And Life is victorious.

371

In the name of the Great Life!

²⁾ Both have dmuṭ hiia bgu dimat hiia. Here dimat undoubtedly is dmuṭ, counterpart" and not "tear"! See p. 40, n. 3.

⁴⁾ This part of the hymn refers to the celebrant, and is chanted antiphonally by the priests present. (Today, owing to the lack of priests, the celebrant himself repeats the whole hymn.)

At the Source of the great Stream ¹⁾
 Of the predestined ²⁾ Ether-World do I stand!
 I am the Word of the First Life.
 Pre-existent am I to all 'uthras,
 For the Life created me and blessed me
 And gave me strength, benison and goodness ³⁾,
 And sent me to bless my mystic brethren,
 All the 'uthras; to speak and to be obeyed.
 And I came and blessed them and gave them strength,
 Benison and goodness, just as my Father ⁴⁾
 Had given them to me.
 And I, likewise, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam —
 Or any man who is sincere and believing
 And utters this saying sincerely —
 Will receive a blessing like the blessing
 And outflow ⁵⁾ of the Ether-Land,
 Foreordained and blessed by the Second Life.
 And all 'uthras of the world of Light
 Are blessed by it.
 It came to this world which is all birth
 And to sons of the great Family of Life.
 And Life is victorious.

372

At thy name, Predestinate One,
 Predestined by the Life, and at the source
 Of the great Outflow of the Ether-land,
 — Predestined and blessed is all the Ether,
 Son of plenteousness ⁶⁾ (?) from which Light emanated!—
 Again it happened: the Life produced ⁷⁾ Radiance.
 The Tanna dissolved: ⁸⁾ waters came into being

²⁾ 'tila ("ready", "prepared", "future", "designate" "predestined". Lidzbarski G.R. trs p. 403, n. 4 says "עתיחא" findet sich an einige Stellen als Bezeichnung für höhere Wesen".

³⁾ D.C. 3, p. 261 omits a line here.

⁴⁾ Plural, i.e. Life.

⁵⁾ Širiana, see p. 202, n. 1.

⁶⁾ Br malia.

⁷⁾ Cf. these lines with that obscure hymn, No. 12, substituting ham ziwa for sam ziwa.

⁸⁾ D.C. 3 p. (262 : 8) has praš for pšar.

There were freshet springs ¹⁾,
 There was union without division,
 Abundance that never lacked
 And blessing never incomplete.
 Lift up thine eyes!
 Behold yon great mystic primeval Šar-Ziwa! ²⁾
 He is from the lofty, secret and protected Place,
 From mighty and celestial springs of light (he emanated),
 A being who spoke and heard,
 Was judged and was vindicated
 Before the celestial Mara-d-Rabutha ³⁾.
 Come! Lay thy hand of truth (kušta)
 Thy great right hand of healings
 Upon this kana d-zidqa ⁴⁾ and thy table,
 (And upon?) our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 And the priests and laymen of the škinta
 Who sit at thy right and thy left.
 Bless these (persons) and those souls
 Of the living ⁵⁾; bless (also) and mention
 (Their names) with "forgiving of sins"
 ("Be there for them") and with "Thy blessing shall Rest upon them for an age of ages
 And world without end".

And Life is victorious.

373

In the name of the Great Life!
 And in the name of the Manda-d-Hiia
 And in the name of the great powerful Mind ⁶⁾
 Who thought and evoked companionship for Himself,
 And said "There shall be companionship for Me

²⁾ Šar-Ziwa is an epithet applied to Hibil-Ziwa (See G.R. trs. pp. 163, 28).

³⁾ Mara-d-Rabutha, "Lord of Greatness" is, in the texts which describe the ordination of priests, the prototype of rba or rbai, the priest who initiates and trains the young postulant to priesthood.

⁴⁾ See p. 260, n. 3.

⁵⁾ Haiania. This might mean either the dead who are commemorated, or living persons, the relatives or teachers of the priests.

⁶⁾ Mana here has this (foreign) meaning (Avestic manah), and not the Aramaic meaning ("garment", "vessel" etc.) Mandaean writers love word-play, and therefore references to a robe or vessel are sometimes hidden references to mana meaning "soul" or "mind".

In my dwelling! And I will administer all works
 And will create a world of ether
 And make a durable ¹⁾ Abode.
 There shall be mystic 'uthras
 By whom elect righteous (people) will be set up (fortified)
 Prepared for the everlasting ¹⁾ Abode.
 And then He, the great and powerful Mind ²⁾
 Pondered and created mystic 'uthras.
 And he created one mild 'uthra
 Who was sublimer than all the 'uthras.
 And He blessed him, established him and strengthened him.
 To him he gave the waters, and spread
 Abundance in the worlds of light.
 He set him over all jordans and streams
 And over the Root which originated therefrom.
 He showed him favour, blessed him and confirmed him.
 And over the kana d-zidqa (Oblations) and the Table ³⁾
 He made him ruler. And He made him ruler
 Over all sanctuaries (škinata),
 So that they should exist through his strength.
 And they will thrive in their sanctuaries
 For through him all the 'uthras are refreshed,
 They rejoice and are completely enlightened.
 And they praise Manda-d-Hiia who instituted for them
 This kana d-zidqa and Table
 In their sanctuaries. So that from him
 There was ṭabuta ⁴⁾, and by him it was bestowed
 Upon the righteous elect who were worthy
 Of the Everlasting Abode. Because it was prepared for them ⁵⁾
 By him. And by (means of) that kana d-zidqa and Table
 By which their souls are uplifted ⁶⁾,
 Everyone who partaketh thereof in silence
 Shall have strength and firmness like 'uthras,

¹⁾ Daura taqna, a firm (or steady, durable, lasting, abiding) abode is the antithesis of daura baṭla — the vain (or void, perishable, null, useless, ceasing) abode.

²⁾ See p. 4, n. 1.

³⁾ Patura "table", see p. 61, n. 5.

⁴⁾ I. e. the sacred meal on the ritual tables.

⁵⁾ D.C. 3, p. 264 : 9; D.C. 53 has 'tiṭh.

⁶⁾ Read miṭqaimia? niṭqaima is obviously wrong.

And increase and knowledge like sons of salvation,
 And his name shall be established with his Father.
 (But) he who doth not partake of the Oblation in silence,
 - And there is nought which hath not its limit! — ¹⁾
 Will have neither lot nor portion ²⁾ in the House of Life.
 The great Mighty Mind (Mana) taught and revealed:
 He said "From him who refresheth himself ³⁾
 By this Kana d-zidqa and Table in silence,
 And pronounceth over it the name of the Life
 And the name of Manda-d-Hiia,
 My charity will not be cut off".
 So I worship, laud and praise the Life,
 My Father, who planted me and raised me up,
 Gave me strength and water
 And set me in authority over
Kana d-zidqa and Table.
 I accepted ⁴⁾ it from Him and went towards the škinata, ⁵⁾
 I came and established the 'uthras in their škinata
 So that in them they should speak and be heeded,
 Should have strength and increase
 And praise the Being who placed them therein.
 (But) any man who doth not partake
 Of this kana d-zidqa in silence
 And doth not pronounce the name of Life
 And of Manda-d-Hiia over it,
 A great retribution will befall him,
 He will no more be counted among 'uthras.
 For when this kana d-zidqa and Table were transported hither,
 I was its guardian, it was I who transferred it (them?)
 From my Father, and distributed it (them)
 Amongst the škinata of all the 'uthras.
 When elect righteous (men) have come into existence
 I will go towards them with guardian(-spirits);

¹⁾ This tag, probably a proverb, occurs in several Mandaean compositions, it means roughly, "and there is always an exception". See G.R. pp. 75, 290, 291 and 292.

²⁾ Hlaq umnaq = hlaq umna.

³⁾ Or, in ritual language "partaketh of".

⁴⁾ Lit. "I took it from Him".

⁵⁾ The škinata of the 'uthras are the prototypes of earthly sanctuaries (the cult-huts), and 'uthras are depicted as performing in the world of light the sacred rites which men perform on earth.

I will give them strength, and water and abundance,
 And knowledge like (that of) mighty 'uthras,
 Sons of light. I will set up for them
 A kana d-zidqa and Table.
 In their houses, and by association therewith
 Their souls will be uplifted.
 For this kana d-zidqa and Table
 Were the product of the great First Vine.
 And when He appeared and came into being
 And created companionship ¹⁾ for Himself,
 He said, "For me there shall exist an Ether-world,
 And in it there will be sanctuaries (škinata)
 We will set up 'uthras in them.
 Upon them will rest (my?) glory ¹⁾:
 They will speak with the voice of Life
 From beginning to end. And we will transport to them
 Sublime and illumined jords ²⁾, and we will bless them
 With a blessing. So that there will be bounty ³⁾
 From them, and the kana d-zidqa and Table
 Will be given (furnished) by them.
 Strength and soundness will result to all the worlds of light,
 And (also) to the elect righteous who are refreshed
 By this kana d-zidqa and Table.
 And they will speak and will be heard.
 Now I worship, laud and praise
 That great First Vine who ruleth all the worlds of light
 And blesseth the elect righteous with His blessing
 And with the bounty (good food) brought to them,
 By which they are strengthened and increased in might.
 Their hearts leap for joy: they are elated
 And their appearance becomes bright in every way.
 They praise Manda-d-Hiia who bestowed upon them
 This kana d-zidqa and Table
 Set up for them in their sanctuaries.
 (But) anyone who doth not partake in silence

¹⁾ Šauta has at least six possible meanings (including "thirst" and "obedience"!)

²⁾ Rivers are meant here, I think.

³⁾ Tabuta. Here better rendered "wholesome food"? See p. 254, n. 1.

Of the kana d-zidqa and Table and omitteth to mention
 The name of the Life and the name of Manda-ḏ Hiia, thereon,
 All demons and devils will not absent themselves from his table!¹⁾
 Because he heedeth not every word of his Father ²⁾
 The Seven will become his persecutors ³⁾
 He will be put to the question before his Father.
 The great and mighty Mana taught and told
 The elect righteous and the Naṣoraeans
 Who are to exist in the earthly world ⁴⁾,
 "When ye beget generations and when ye teach them
 Their knowledge, Explain to them,
 Show them and tell them
 About the rites which ye have performed;
 About the kana d-zidqa and Table.
 (Teach them) to partake thereof in silence
 And to mention the name of Life and the name
 Of Manda-ḏ-Hiia thereon. "Partake of it,
 And when ye have refreshed yourselves
 Pronounce this blessing upon it
 And a Helper will be yours!"
 Then I worship, praise and laud
 That Mystic, Great First Cloud ⁵⁾ (Spouse)
 From whom all good things came forth,
 And all the 'uthras who (were found?) worthy ⁶⁾
 When these wholesome things were transplanted.
 They gave me orders concerning them
 To set them down and protect them everywhere
 In every place where partakers refresh themselves.
 And they shall have strength and (bodily) soundness in their škinata (dwellings);
 When they refresh themselves therewith
 They rejoice and their souls exult exceedingly.
 They praise Manda-ḏ-Hiia who gave them
 This kana d-zidqa and Table of which they have partaken
 And praise him eternally.

²⁾ Plural, (Hiia rbia).

³⁾ Lit. "his persecution".

⁴⁾ D.C. 3 has mistakenly šaiatlh for šaialth

⁵⁾ Anana: "Cloud", see p. 37, n. 4.

⁶⁾ Or "zealous".

Manda-d-Hiia revealed and said
 "Any man who partaketh in silence
 Of this kana d-zidqa and Table and pronounceth thereon
 The name of Life and the name of Manda-d-Hiia,
 'Uthras of light shall bless him with their blessing;
 He shall be protected by the Secret Name
 And it will protect all the 'uthras.
 There shall be one Helper for him:
 All that he hath said will be heard by hosts
 Of 'uthras of the Ether-world".
 And Life be to (those who) know,
 Life to the believing and Life to men
 (Who) instruct us (in the faith)
 And Life is victorious over all works.

374

In pure raiment do I stand;
 In that glorious splendour in which I stand
 I worship, praise and laud
 The four hundred and forty four thousand names
 Of Yawar-Ziwa, son of Nbat-Ziwa, King of 'uthras,
 The great Viceregent of škinata (sanctuaries),
 Chief over mighty and celestial worlds
 Of radiance, light and glory;
 Who is within the Veil, within his own škinta,
 Before whom no being existed.
 Then I worship laud and praise
 The One Great Name, which is great
 And the Name which is powerful.
 Moreover I worship laud and praise
 That Mystic First Mind (Mana) of Glory,
 Who emanated from Himself, Whose brilliance
 Exceedeth all (other) mystic glories;
 It is greater than word of mouth (can describe)
 And His light mightier than lips can express.
 For He is the great mystic First Mind (Mana)
 Whose glory was transmitted
 Neither from the uttermost ends of the earth
 Nor from gates within it.
 For He is the Mana (Mind),

The great, the Mysterious, the First,
 Whose glory was transmitted by redoublings ¹⁾ of radiance
 By intensifications ¹⁾ of light.
 Then I worship, laud and praise
 The redoublings of radiance
 And intensifications of light by means of which
 The great mighty Mana was formed and made.
 Then I worship, laud and praise
 That pure Staff ²⁾ which was conveyed to him
 By Šar-Gufna, the great mysterious First.
 Then I worship, laud and praise
 That pure Wreath which was transmitted to him
 By Pirun, the great, mystic, First Vine,
 Then I worship, praise and laud the pure vestments,
 And the coverings of radiance which were transmitted to him
 From the mighty Tannas ³⁾ of the jordan.
 Then I worship, laud and praise
 That banner Zihrun, which was unfurled before
 The great mighty Mana, in the radiance of which banner
 Three hundred and sixty-six mighty celestial worlds of light shine.
 Then I worship, laud and praise
 That 'Uthra whom they summoned
 From amongst a thousand thousand 'uthras, 'uthras
 Innumerable. They clothed him with radiance,
 Covered him with light, transmitted to him strength
 From the strength of the Great First Life his Father,
 And "speaking and being heard" ⁴⁾
 From the "speaking and being heard" of the great Mana,
 The mighty, mysterious, First, of the glory of Life.
 They called him, armed him and sent him saying to him,
 "Arise, go to Mšunia-Kušta ⁵⁾, to the chief of worlds,

¹⁾ A typical play on words. "Aufia = increase, doubling, output, sprouting, foliage. (Cf. Syriac  and  "to fold over, double, multiply, increase".

²⁾ The ritual olivewood staff, part of the regal insignia of priests.

³⁾ Like Lidzbarski, I am mystified by this word. It dissolves, (ham ziwa pšar tana No. 19), it is personified in company with niṭuṭiata, "Drops", suggesting "vapours" No. 308, also No. 378, p. 284. (See p. 9, n. 1).

⁴⁾ This is a religious expression for prayer and communion in thought.

⁵⁾ I cannot understand why Mšunia-Kušta, a world of immaterial ideals or prototypes, should here be called "of the darkness". The line may have been inserted by accident.

That which is called 'of the darkness',
 And teach pious, believing and amiable Naṣoraean
 That they should set up their Table,
 (A Table) replenished with food;
 And their Cup (a Cup) full of mambuga ¹⁾.
 So that the good may behold and be refreshed ²⁾,
 The wicked be discomfited and the children of the world
 Put to shame.
 The righteous ³⁾ will see that the Life existeth.
 They will raise their eyes
 Toward the great First Father of Glory
 And toward the Lord of Celestial Greatness ⁴⁾
 Who giveth light (and?) sure strength
 To the righteous,
 And ⁵⁾ to thee, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam, (be there)
 Lofty strength, great and mighty confidence,
 Grace, fame and honour!
 And shouldest thou seek the honour that is hidden,
 The Mana will come and will rest upon thee,
 Our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 And (upon) thy brother-priests here.
 And the right hand of the 'uthras
 Will be laid upon thee, thyself, our father
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam and (on) all the priests
 And laymen of the sanctuary (škinta).
 And Life is victorious.

375

I have blessed, my Lord, all the good things ⁶⁾
 Which Thou didst make for the ancient world in the beginning,
 (For) from Thee they opened and came forth.
 This is a tree ⁷⁾ which is a Tree of Life,
 And a Vine, a Vine of Life!

²⁾ Or "partake thereof".

³⁾ Šalmania = those who are perfect, the righteous.

⁴⁾ Mara-ḡ-Rabuta, see p. 262, n. 3.

⁵⁾ This part of the hymn is probably chanted by the assistant priests.

⁶⁾ Food, ritual food, wholesome food.

⁷⁾ "The tree" here probably refers to the priestly bridegroom, and the "vine" to his bride? See the rubric at the end.

Satisfying (fare) that is superior to all means of healing
 Is that which thou hast brought, revealed
 And given to these souls!
 Blessed is this pure oblation
 Which goeth before its Giver.
 In joy he (or "it") opened his mouth
 At the Judgement and pleadeth his cause
 Before the Being sitting in judgement!
 (It is) a deliverer of the bound,
 It cheereth those who are in affliction,
 Causeth sucklings to flourish,
 Is the sight of the blind
 And the hearing and pleasure of the deaf.
 It establisheth speech in the mouths of the stammering,
 And the deaf and the dumb.
 Its presence is praised,
 For thereby souls are held together.
 And (it provideth?) means of ascent
 To the Great Place of Light
 And to the everlasting Abode.
 And blessed art thou, our good father!
 For we have eaten of thine Oblation
 And have lived ²⁾.
 And we have drunk from thy mambuga ³⁾
 And were refreshed (have benefited by)
 Thine unction, thine oblation, thy bounty ⁴⁾,
 Thy basket ⁵⁾ when full of food
 And thy bowl when full of spring-water ³⁾.
 And may this kana d-zidqa and Table
 Increase and be plentiful in thy house,
 Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 As was the table of Adam the First Man,
 Which lacked nothing, nor was it stinted.
 (So be it with) this kana d-zidqa and table

¹⁾ Lit. "talketh its speech", i.e. makes a speech in defence of the soul to the judge.

²⁾ D.C. 3, p. 273 uyainin: D.C. 53, p. 406 uhiainin.

³⁾ See p. 262, n. 1.

⁴⁾ Here probably the sacramental food.

⁵⁾ Sala (or "a straw or reed food-mat").

In thy house, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 For an age of ages and for ever and ever!
 And Life is victorious.

[This petition of "The great Father of Glory" is a blessing bestowed on a bridegroom,]

(Note. — Probably for the marriage of a priest. One such marriage forms part of the consecration of a ganzibra.)

376

In the name of the Great Life!
 And in the name of the great Father of Glory!
 Now thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that benediction wherewith
 The great first Palm-tree ¹⁾ was blessed.
 And the Palm-tree blessed the bursting forth ²⁾
 Of its foliage. It was so, and the sprouting ²⁾ (branches)
 Blessed runnels (of sap) and established them
 And established the waters of life.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing conferred upon
 The eight hundred and eighty thousand banners ³⁾
 And conferred upon the great Mirror.
 And the jordan were blessed thereby and the running streams
 And (that) whereby the seven mystic mirrors were blessed.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 And the 'uthras and the škinata, by that blessing,
 Bestowed upon the ⁴⁾ Tanna and Ham-Ziwa (Radiance-glowed ⁵⁾),
 And upon the First Word given them.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing wherewith the Great Mystery was blessed.
 And the Great Mystery blessed the two manas
 Who dwell with one another.

¹⁾ The symbol of the male principle of creation, see p. 14, n.6. ("it sprouted, gushed forth", "burst forth" see p. 84 n. 7).

²⁾ Nbat the name of a life-spirit), with which here nbat is confused; one would expect nibṭa, as in the next line. The context makes the meaning clear. Nibṭa = "a shoot, sprout, a sprouting outward and upward, hence newly-sprouting vegetation and branch. Fig. "an emanation".

³⁾ Or "rays of light" (see p. 226, n. 4).

⁴⁾ D.C. 3 p. 274 inserts latiqria before tana ('tiqria "not created"?)

⁵⁾ See obscure references in prayers Nos. 12, 18, 106 and 372.

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, with that blessing
 Wherewith the secret and guarded Treasure was blessed,
 And a mystic Sprout ¹⁾ emerged therefrom.

And the mystic Sprout ¹⁾ blessed the Eggs (hilbunia ²⁾)
 And the Drops concealed within them.

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam
 With that blessing wherewith Smandr'iel ³⁾ was blessed,
 Whose fragrance is pleasing like the fragrance of the Vine
 When in leaf, like the foliage of the fresh myrtle
 Which was set up before the King, also the blossom
 Which came from them.

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, with that blessing
 Wherewith the mystic Table was blessed,
 And wondrous apparel, and the great Crown,
 Were blessed therewith.

Then thou art blessed, our father Adam-Yahia son of Sam,
 With that blessing wherewith were blessed

Zihwat-Aina, Kihwat-Aina, Piršat-Aina and Nibšat-Aina ⁴⁾.

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, with that blessing
 Wherewith Nbat-Mana-Kasia was blessed

When He was sitting in his House (hilbuna) and had no consort.

When He was blessed with this blessing

A Wellspring gushed up ⁵⁾ before Him

And She, the Wellspring, parted for the nišubta ⁶⁾ Planting?
 (Bridal?)

Within the Tanna ⁷⁾.

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,

With that blessing wherewith was blessed

King Ganzaiel, so that the treasure of 'uthras

²⁾ Hilbuna: (usually a poetic term for "house", "dwelling", p. 121, n. 4): the word here may refer to testicles.

³⁾ The Blossom-spirit, a spirit of fertility, often mentioned. In J.B. text p. 5, 1.16 Samandriel receives praise and prayer and keeps them in his treasury.

⁴⁾ The Wellspring moved (or "trembled"), the Wellspring kihwat (was troubled?), the Wellspring parted, and the Wellspring gushed forth (or sprang upward).

⁵⁾ See p. 271, n. 2.

⁶⁾ The whole of this very obscure passage seems to deal with the union of the two creative principles, see p. 135, n. 2.

⁷⁾ Tanna, see p. 9, n. 1.

Was set up (?) with him ¹⁾.
 Then thou art blessed, our father, with that blessing
 Wherewith the covering seal was blessed;
 And the covering seal blessed the drops
 Which were directed towards it, and the seven drops
 Blessed the 'uthras, the lords of seals.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, with that blessing
 Wherewith the great kinta ²⁾ of two kings was blessed
 So that they were completely established.
 And the great kinta blessed the two kings.
 And the two kings blessed the 'uthras, guardians
 Of the kinta. And they said to them,
 "As abundantly as flow the waters in the jordan which travel on,
 May your love and favour flow to the 'uthras." ³⁾
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing wherewith was blessed
 The great kindly Aether-air of Life.
 And they (the Life) said to it,
 "Just as rare air delighteth (the soul)
 So doth thy fragrance give delight,
 O lord of the house and these benefactions! ⁴⁾
 And thou shalt have increase like holy manas
 In their perfection ⁵⁾: Thou shalt have the lustre and glory
 Of (like?) the jordan ⁶⁾. As abundantly as jordan (rivers)
 Flow, so will love of thee ⁷⁾ increase before thee
 In the minds of thy brother-'uthras!
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing wherewith was blessed
 The mystic Tanna. And the mystic Tanna

²⁾ Kinta (Lidzbarski "ein Wort kosmischer Bedeutung"). In modern ritual a clay box used as altar, it is found in such varied meanings as "wrapping", "veil", "receptacle", "box", "cavity", "hole", "community", "foundation", and "constitution". D.C. 3. p. 276 : 15 has kinta q-rba trin malkia for kinta q-rabtia trin malkia in D.C. 53 410 : 4f.

³⁾ See line 24 f.

⁴⁾ The house of the priestly bridegroom (a ganzibra must be married himself, and must perform a marriage-ceremony for a priest before he is properly consecrated in his office).

⁵⁾ Klulaihun. Klula = (a) veil, wrapping (b) fulness, completeness.

⁶⁾ D.C. 3 q ardna; D.C. 53 uyardna.

⁷⁾ Lit. "thy love" (for "love of thee").

Blessed the rivers and running streams
 And said to them, "Whoso amongst 'uthras drinketh water from
 you,

Shall have strength, increase and perception;
 Strength and soundness will abide with him
 Like beams of light".

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing which Ham-Ziwa bestowed upon
 The Beam-of-Light whom he set beside him,
 And he endowed her with his wisdom and his faith.
 And from them proceeded fertility (niṣubta).
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 By that blessing which two pure manas
 And holy kings pronounced.

And They say to him "Arise,
 Go, lay down an earth: spread out a firmament
 And hang up therein three hundred and sixty lamps.
 Found a dwelling-place, draw down rivers
 And distribute streams; make worlds of light;
 Cause kings to dwell therein and give them fame,
 Honour and increase. Bestow on them the power of reproduction ¹⁾
 And mystic treasure, so that they may worship,
 Praise and raise up prayer and praisegiving
 To the great Father of Glory."

And the great Father of Glory gave them living waters, ²⁾
 And wholesome food ³⁾. And he conferred on them
 Pregnancy and birth and increase and benefaction ³⁾.
 And He set up a Table for the good
 So that they might eat well and be refreshed
 He gave them banners of radiance and beams of light
 And He gave them pure-air (Aether) ⁴⁾ which delighteth them
 And sweeteneth the sanctuaries (škinata).
 He gave them rays (of light) in which the Table (might be) set up
 And draw (the faithful) into their sanctuaries
 And running streams of living ⁵⁾ water —

²⁾ Or "Water of Life".

³⁾ Ṭabuta.

⁴⁾ Ayar, see p. 86, n. 2.

⁵⁾ Hira is omitted in D.C. 3.

That for which their hands had pleaded,
 (So that) they praise Thee for evermore.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith the Vine of Life
 Was blessed and liveth ¹⁾
 And the wondrous Vine blessed her young vines ²⁾, her sons,
 And said to them "Ye shall have strength and increase,
 And the lustre and glory of the Jordan, ³⁾
 And an assignment in the worlds of light".
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, with that blessing
 Wherewith the great Ganzaiel ⁴⁾ was blessed;
 And he blessed three 'uthras
 And gave them strength and firmness and said to them
 "Like as the bud which appeared in that Vine
 And remained and sent forth a shoot ⁵⁾,
 May the radiance that resteth on its tendrils
 Have blessed thee" ⁶⁾. And he said to them
 "As long as water flows will the lovingkindness
 Of the mystic Mana ⁷⁾ flow on, and He will enlighten thy mind
 With Naṣiruta (priestly wisdom) and thou wilt receive Fame and honour from the ether".
 (And he said to them) Ye will shine like the brilliance
 (Of the sun?) ⁸⁾ and your forms will give out
 A sublime effulgence ⁹⁾ Ye will beam like Hibil-Ziwa
 Amongst the 'uthras. And thou shalt (ye will?) have
 Increase like the sublime Vein ¹⁰⁾ which They created. ¹¹⁾
 And They constructed škintas, made 'uthras,
 Drew down rivers, distributed streams
 And gave them food (ṭabuta) and a Table,
 And bestowed upon them the blessing

¹⁾ Qaima as in D.C. 3, not qaimh.

²⁾ "Plants", "offspring", i.e. "shoots", "suckers".

³⁾ See above, p. 273, line 23 f.

⁴⁾ Ganzaiel appears to be the archetype of a ganzibra and the "three 'uthras" the three concelebrants.

⁵⁾ Niṣ(u)bia (ܢܝܨܒܝܐ J.).

⁶⁾ The construction is obscure.

⁷⁾ D.C. 53 has Tana (for Mana as D.C. 3, p. 279 : penult.).

⁸⁾ Ziwa is attributed in Mandaean poetry to the sun, tuqna to the moon.

⁹⁾ Tuqna, see n. 8.

¹⁰⁾ "The sublime Vein" probably means the jordan.

¹¹⁾ D.C. 3 has "which 'uthras created" (d-qrun iutria; p. 280 : 4).

Which They bestowed upon kings ¹⁾.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing wherewith the three kings blessed Ayar ²⁾,
 They appointed and made him Chief of the škinata
 And he was signed with a great seal
 And set up (as chief?)
 For ever and ever. They erected a throne for him;
 Spread above him a canopy of radiance,
 Hymned him and said to him,
 "Since the day that the great Jordan extended itself
 And a channel ³⁾ was allotted to each of the škinata,
 They made thee a king, our father!
 A collector of dues (of) portions allotted ⁴⁾ to the Life,
 And a twiner of the wreath for postulants (to priesthood).
 Instruct the young plant (nišubta) ⁵⁾ about the škinata
 (O) establisher of its treasures! Our father!
 O mana which passeth not away!
 Troth is not broken and Union
 In which there is no imperfection or fault!
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 By that blessing wherewith Ziwa-Kasia (Mystic Radiance)
 And Nhura-Yaqra (Holy light) ⁶⁾ were blessed:
 And ye shall have abundance, renown and honour.
 And honour, "speaking and being heard" will be thine,
 Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam
 Like the great Father of Glory by Whose word
 Worlds were created, and by Whose utterance
 Dwellings (škinata) came into being.
 And He gazed, looking upon His Likeness,
 And created 'uthras in His likeness;
 Made Seed and gave (it) to the 'uthras.

¹⁾ Priests. (D.C. 3, 280 : 7 brakbin malkia).

²⁾ Ayar, or Ayar-Rba, see p. 86, n. 2, in ritual scrolls which describe rites performed by spirits as prototypes of those performed on earth, (see p. 264 n. 5), is always cast for the role of chief celebrant.

³⁾ D.C. 3, p. 280 : 15 has the probably correct version, giuza, "channel". D.C. 53 (414:ult.) has ginza, "treasure".

⁴⁾ מְנָה, and מֶנֶן = "portion", "food".

⁵⁾ Here probably the young priest.

⁶⁾ The reference is to the "holy union" of the male and female principles of light.

Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing which the great Father of Glory
 Bestowed on His First-born, and the First-born
 Blessed the Palmtree and Wellspring ¹⁾
 Which proceeded from Him.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father.
 With that blessing which King Nbaṭ bestowed
 Upon the Egg, the secret mystery which proceeded
 From himself.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing which the Egg, the Secret Mystery,
 Bestowed upon its inner covering
 Which proceeded from the Hidden.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing which Yawar bestowed
 Upon the Living Flame.
 And it increased and was increased.
 And (may) the kana d-zidqa, Table, and this mambuha
 Increase and become plentiful in thy house,
 Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 And the 'uthras and škinata
 Who sit at thy right and thy left.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing which the mystic Vein ²⁾ pronounced
 And burst forth into sixty watersprings.
 And it said to them, "Your images will shine
 In my image, and your roots ³⁾
 Will become numerous ⁴⁾, and my root,
 And ye will have renown and honour
 Like holy manas in their škinata.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing bestowed upon
 The great mystic First Škinta.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,

¹⁾ Palmtree and Wellspring, see p. 14, notes 5 and 6.

²⁾ The mystic Vein (or Mystic Channel) = the Jordan.

³⁾ "Root" (širša) here has the extended meaning of "stock", "kin".

⁴⁾ The double meaning of the root NṢ is implied, i.e. refresh, "revive".

With that blessing bestowed upon the great Sacred Unique One ¹⁾:
 And He blessed the 'uthras, his sons,
 And the 'uthras and škinata blessed the postulants
 Who stand before them.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing which was bestowed on the three holy manas
 When remaining in their hilbunia ²⁾ ("eggs", "houses"?)
 So that none can behold their forms.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing bestowed on the pure Niṣubta ³⁾.
 From the jordan she arose, she endowed 'uthras with radiance,
 Gave light to the škinata, wreaths to the Drops
 And a chart ⁴⁾ to postulants. Blessed is this (chart):
 By it they are strengthened and praise
 The prolific Vine and the source of the flowing channel
 Which hath no end.
 The three holy manas will bless thee,
 Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam.
 They will hymn thee and say to thee,
 "As a leader of radiant spirits ⁵⁾ art thou come hither:
 As a captain of light thou goest thither,
 As head of the škinata thou twinest a wreath
 For the rays of light.
 Jordans will come into being, Yawar, in thy brilliance,
 And in thy Root ⁶⁾ (amongst thy kindred) rays of light will be set up
 At thy call and at the sound of thy preaching
 'Uthras gather about thee.
 Many vines will be raised up for thee.
 And they said to thee, "Just as jordans become many,
 So may thy charity to 'uthras increase".
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,

¹⁾ This mysterious Person is often mentioned in the religious texts. A masiqta is in his name. In the secret scrolls he is Adam-Kasia.

²⁾ See p. 121, n. 4.

³⁾ What are we to make of niṣubta here? Is she the personified spirit of procreation, or "the Bride", or...? See p. 171, n. 2 and p. 135, n. 2 for possible interpretation.

⁴⁾ Paršigna P., = "information (conveyed by a document) as chart, declaration, explanation, report, manual".

⁵⁾ D.C., 3, p. 283 : 15 has ziwa. D.C. 53 ziwia (p. 418 : 6).

⁶⁾ See p. 278 b, n. 4.

With that blessing bestowed upon Simat-Hiia ¹⁾.
 And Simat-Hiia was blessed when she arose,
 (And) came from the worlds of darkness.
 They retreated(?) ²⁾, and worlds of light were established.
 And all the 'uthras gather about Yawar,
 Blessing him ³⁾, Yawar, father of all worlds
 And founder of all škinata.
 The 'uthras and škinata arose ⁴⁾
 Blessing the sublime one, Yawar, great ruler of the škinata,
 And saying to him, "Blessed art thou, Yawar,
 And blessed is the Bride of Life who was thus proven ⁵⁾ (?)".
 Blessed is the breach which thou, Yawar, hast broached!
 Thou didst come and didst broach a breach.
 Thou hast exalted horns and hast separated
 The goodness of the good (good beings?) from the evil (evil beings?)
 And the wicked from the good and orderly.
 (Of all worlds of light) ⁶⁾
 And the Disposer (of all worlds of light and? ⁷⁾
 Of worlds of darkness transported his Bride ⁸⁾
 From her pit ⁹⁾, that Place.
 The škinata were blessed, and their Disposer,
 So that they were illumined
 By the blessing he bestowed on 'uthras. (?) ¹⁰⁾
 And he set up a Table for kings,
 Spread out the firmament
 And stars appeared therein.

¹⁾ Simat-Hiia is the consort (here the bride) of Yawar, and they are usually mentioned together as a pair. From this passage it would seem that Simat-Hiia is identified with Zahriel, who came from the worlds of darkness as bride of Hibil-Ziwa.

²⁾ D.C. 53 (418 ult.), uthašab; D.C. 3 (284 : 9) uthašib. For uthabiš?

³⁾ One would expect mbarkilḥ!

⁴⁾ D.C. 53 (419 : 5) qam; D.C. 3 (284 : 9) qum.

⁵⁾ D.C. 3 (284 : 16) ḡ-šarat; D.C. 53 (419 : 8) ḡ-šrat.

⁶⁾ I suggest that "of all worlds of light" is obviously misplaced, and should follow msadrana, making the next line "and the Disposer of all worlds of light and of darkness".

⁷⁾ See n. 6.

⁸⁾ That is to say, Simat-Hiia who had left the worlds of darkness to become his spouse.

⁹⁾ Gibta (Gubta "hill" or "pit") Or, "by her choice"? Doubtful. The word is rare, but occurs in Pišra ḡ-Ainia (J.R.A.S. 1937, 590 : 20).

¹⁰⁾ The construction makes translation doubtful.

Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
With that blessing bestowed upon beloved 'uthras
Formed from the loins of Radiance
And nurtured by beams of light.
Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
With that benison bestowed upon the holy Mana
When He was in His own škinta.
He blessed the jordan and extended it before Him
And blessed the Table and set it up before Him
So that they might eat at it and be refreshed,
And be sustained thereby on their thrones
Of radiance, light and glory.
And He created the Crown, set it upon His head,
Blessed it and held it on his right arm ¹⁾.
And He, the Holy ²⁾ Mana taught and said,
"Any man who crowneth himself
Will have neither lot nor portion ³⁾ in the House of Life".
Then thou wilt be blessed, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
With that blessing wherewith the great First Mana
Blessed Himself ⁴⁾. And the great First Mana
Blessed the eight hundred and eighty 'uthras
Who grasped the banner ⁵⁾ of the king.
And they hymn Him, saying to Him,
"When Yawar was successful, (with his Bride?)
She was neither wanting nor unworthy,
There was nought in her imperfect or amiss".
Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,
With that blessing bestowed on the disembodiment (spirits ⁶⁾)
Of good ganzivri, and thou wilt be blessed

¹⁾ The crown, when not on the head, is slipped over the right arm and kept there until the preliminary prayers are over.

²⁾ For gra in both mss, read yaqra as translated.

³⁾ Hlaq umnaq = hlaq umna.

⁴⁾ The First Mana was without predecessor.

⁵⁾ A reference to the consecration of the banner before baptism. The priests (and later persons to be baptised) grasp, first the lower part of the pole and then the peak when reciting the banner hymns.

⁶⁾ See J.B. trs. p. 181, n. 4, "für die den Körper abstreifenden Seelen"; i.e. spirits casting off the body.

(With a blessing bestowed) by Dmut-'Qara, and Niṣubta-Qadmaita¹⁾
 And The Drop upon whom the seal of a king was placed.
 And the Beloved 'Uthra ²⁾ blessed thee when he was baptised
 In those jordan. They immersed him, but he was not purified,
 (He was still imbued with) the hue of darkness
 Until Simat-Hiia arose. She took a pot of frankincense
 And a king's crown, cried in the jordan
 And blessed Yawar. And Simat-Hiia spoke
 Hymning the jordan and saying to it, (and) say ye it (too ³⁾!
 "From two mountains didst thou come into being!"
 How fitting it is that 'uthras pronounce blessing
 Upon Yawar, blessing him and uplifting him,
 And raising his Bride up to the Place of Light!
 They twine for him a wreath, a wreath of purities,
 So that Darkness on beholding it
 Is confounded and ashamed. When (thus) confounded
 The plots which it had in mind are nullified".
 When Simat-Hiia had said this,
 All the 'uthras observed silence ⁴⁾
 (But) Yušamin and Simat-Hiia bless Yawar
 Saying to him "Blessed art thou, Yawar;
 And blessed are 'uthras who abide with thee
 With that benediction wherewith the copious
 Flowings and upsurgings of mighty springs of light
 Were blessed; and wherewith was blessed,,
 ⁵⁾, the mystery which resteth within the Well-
 spring.
 Further, thou wilt be blessed, thou, Yawar;
 And thou, our father Adam-Yuhana son of Sam;
 With that blessing wherewith Šišlam was blessed

¹⁾ Literally the names of these personifications are "Counterpart-of-Glory" and "First-Bride" or "First-Propagation". Obscure allegorical references make the text unintelligible.

²⁾ "The beloved 'uthra" "is probably Hibil-Ziwa, who was baptised after his sojourn in the world of darkness and marriage with Zahriel.

³⁾ Timarulh D.C. 53, 421: penult, but D.C. 3 has himarulh.

⁴⁾ This could mean "I came into being".

⁵⁾ Niṣubta. Could here be either "his procreation", "his fertility" or "his Bride"!

⁶⁾ More literally "held their peace".

⁷⁾ D.C. 3, (287 : 15) has sar udnasar, D.C. 53 (422 : 14) sar utnasar. Possibly a miswriting for saq udna "rose up and appeared".

When he ascended and abode in his škinta,
 In his own House (Egg).
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father with that blessing
 Bestowed upon the Occult Radiance and sublime Light
 (Which) inspired the 'uthras.
 Then thou wilt be blessed, our father with that blessing
 Bestowed upon the mystic Vein ¹⁾ that dwelleth
 Within the Wellspring.
 And thy root will multiply (branch out)
 And the root of the 'uthras, thy sons,
 Like the Vein which is lodged within the Jordan.
 And thou wilt have chosen righteous ones
 Who will exalt Treasure of Life.
 And we will assign thee thy Niṣubta ²⁾ of Life
 (Spouses?) who bear witness ³⁾ to Life,
 Acknowledge Knowledge-of-Life
 Give alms and offer up this (prayer of) blessing
 Which was bestowed on the holy Mana.
 And Life is triumphant over all works,
 And victorious is Knowledge-of-Life
 And his devotees and his people for ever and ever.

377

And they address a hymn to him:
 "The Egg, the Hidden Mystery, hath blessed thee
 And establisheth thee.
 The Vein ⁴⁾ which hath no end hath blessed thee;
 Jordan and Table have blessed thee; Holy Kuṣṭa ⁵⁾ hath confirmed thee;
 The three Wellsprings which give benediction in the Jordan
 Bless thee, our father! ⁶⁾
 Crowns, and the secret treasure of the Egg of holy Manas
 Have blessed thee. The Spouse (cloud) hath blessed thee;
 A sublime Vine confirmed thee.

²⁾ Reproducing power? Or "planting" in the spiritual sense?

³⁾ The verbs which follow niṣubta are fem. plu.

⁴⁾ The references appear to allude to the various offices of a head priest, beginning with simple baptism.

⁵⁾ The kuṣṭa rite in all ceremonies, and at marriage.

⁶⁾ The triple baptism necessary in cases of pollution. (Read birkak).

The Great Life blesseth thee with His pure mouth

And the sublime Treasure which is with thee confirmeth thee ¹⁾).

[This prayer seeketh blessing on an infant, a postulant, or a masiqta. And when they brought Adam into his body, it consecrated him.]

378

In the name of the Great Life! may there be health, purity, joy of heart and forgiving of sin for Adam-Yuhana son of Sam!

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,

With that blessing which Hibil-Ziwa pronounced upon Adam,

The first man. Moreover, thou shalt be blessed,

Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,

And all thy škinta and the ritual food (tabuta)

And these priests and Mandaean (laymen)

Who sit to right and left of thee,

With that blessing wherewith Manda-d-Hiia was blessed

When he sprang forth and proceeded from the waters

And from celestial springs of light.

Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,

With that benediction wherewith Sam-Gufna was blessed.

And Sam-Gufna blessed jordans and running streams

And said to them "Just as ye have increased,

(Ye) jordans and running streams,

So shall the progeny of Adam the first man increase.

His race, his planting and his disciples ²⁾ (pupils),

Adam's", and thine (also) our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,

Shall be plentiful as this spring of living water —

And how profound it is no man knoweth! ³⁾

Thou wilt be blessed, our father, with that blessing

Pronounced upon Hibil-Ziwa by three 'uthras.

They said to him "Go, bring us joy, purity and goodness!

And bring us living waters (Water of Life) to the skinata (sanctuaries).

And bring us a sturdy stock ⁴⁾ by which sanctuaries and 'uthras

¹⁾ This prayer, like some of the more ancient and obscure prayers in the early part of the Book of Souls, makes the translator despair. It is full of esoteric and forgotten symbolism.

²⁾ Šualania and ašualania i.e. postulants for priesthood.

³⁾ D.C. 3 has, instead of this line, ulika d-adam 'utra (a miswriting).

⁴⁾ Širša, see p. 277, n. 3.

May be maintained.

In it they will shine and Rays-of-Light thrive".

Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,

By that blessing conferred upon the jordan Sindiriawis ¹⁾

And the great and lofty Fruit-tree ²⁾;

And that which the great and lofty Fruit-tree

Conferred upon its offspring, that is, its foliage.

Then thou wilt be blessed, our father, that that blessing

Conferred upon the jordan Hus and the torrent Pirun,

Conferred upon jordans (rivers) and running streams,

And upon the Table ³⁾ which is without stint

And given to 'uthras and to škinata so that

They may eat thereof and be refreshed.

And pronounce the blessing of the Table

Laying their pure right hands on it

And saying to it, "May this kana d-zidqa and Table be life-sustaining ⁴⁾

And plentiful" (and) in thy house, thine,

Adam-Yuhana son of Sam, (thy table and that of) thine ⁵⁾ offspring,

Adam-Yuhana and Šarat-Mamania the children of Adam-Yuhana,

Shall resemble that kana d-zidqa and Table which the Great and Mighty Mana

Brought and bestowed upon His offspring and sons.

Then thou wilt be blessed, our father,

With that blessing conferred upon Šar-Ziwa,

The First Being, who emanated from the vapours ⁶⁾ (?) of the waters,

When he rose to the bank of the jordan, blessed the jordan

And blessed (all) jordans and running streams.

And he blessed the abundance-producing ⁷⁾ utterance

Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,

Like that speech that bestoweth plenty ⁷⁾.

¹⁾ The "jordan" or river Sindiriawis is often mentioned, in G.R., as "a jordan of Life" (145 : 4, 146 : 37) and J.B. (p. 12 n. 1).

²⁾ Pira = "fruit" and "fruit-tree".

³⁾ See p. 260, n. 3 and p. 61, n. 5.

⁴⁾ The root NFS has two meanings, and there is a play on these in this passage; i.e. also "abundant and increased".

⁵⁾ In D.C. 53 "my offspring", D.C. 3 "thy offspring".

⁶⁾ Tanama: see p. 268, n. 3; p. 9. n. 1.

⁷⁾ Pa. YTR, active participle fem. yatarta.

So that thy treasure, thy oblation and thy goodness ¹⁾
 And thy prayer and thy praise may be much;
 Be increased, be life-giving and refreshing ²⁾;
 — Thine, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam —
 Like the Sprout ³⁾ which came and grew great
 In the worlds of Light.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing imparted to the mystic Crown
 They set upon the 'uthras.
 Thine appearance will be radiant and bright
 Like that crown that they set upon Manda-q-Hiia ⁴⁾.
 And thou wilt have plenty and renown
 Like the great Crown, which hath ⁵⁾ great renown
 In the worlds and ages. Thou wilt have honour
 Like that of teachers ⁶⁾ and postulants
 When they perform (rites) and give instruction
 And (so) acquire fame and increase.
 Then thou shalt be blessed our father.
 With that blessing wherewith Sar-and-Sarwan ⁷⁾ was blessed,
 The Emanation which came into being of Itself;
 And thy radiance will be vital and wax great ³⁾
 Like His radiance, and thy light increase
 Like His light. Thou shalt have jordan.
 And abundance like His abundance,
 That of the Emanation which emanated from Itself.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing bestowed upon the living waters
 And given to škinata. And they (the waters) spread and come ⁸⁾
 To the škinata: Hibil drew them down
 And sent them to the worlds.

²⁾ The word-play on the two meanings of NFS occurs repeatedly in this hymn.

³⁾ Naširuta (the cult, priestly gnosis, etc.) here might have this unusual meaning of "offshoot", "sprout". (J. 733)ii) (Cf. Tan Lekh, ed. Bub. 9).

⁴⁾ D.C. 3 q-trašlun, D.C. 53 q-trašlh.

⁵⁾ Read q-tilh for q-lla.

⁶⁾ Rbania (the rabbis) i.e. the priests who initiate postulants into the priesthood.

⁷⁾ Sar and Sarwan, usually a pair, here an "emanation" are mentioned in Prayer 45, also in G.R. 172 : 5, 221 : 4 and 374 : 14.

⁸⁾ D.C. 3 (293 : 3) tafin bisšar qiriš (uatin etc.) Corrupt.

(And thou shalt be blessed with) the blessing
 That Hibil-Ziwa gave to Adam. He pronounced benediction
 And said to him "Thou art blessed, Adam, First Man,
 And thy plants (offspring) ¹⁾ shall be blessed,
 And thy dependants ²⁾, and thy basket when full of bread
 And thy cup when full of mambugia ³⁾, and thy sons
 When they stand before thee."
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith the 'uthra Smandriel ⁴⁾ was blessed.
 And the 'uthra Smandriel blessed fruits, grapes and trees.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith mighty fruit (trees) were blessed,
 And wherewith was blessed the Living Flame
 And the Table that lacketh nothing.
 Rhām and Rhāmiel-'Uthra were blessed by it
 And Rhām and Rhāmiel-'Uthra blessed clouds of mist and rain.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam, with that blessing
 Which blessed all clouds so that they are not wanting or lacking,
 And so that this kana d-zidqa and Table
 Shall be neither wanting nor ill-provided
 In thy house, our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith those seven stars
 Were blessed, and sovereignty was given to them.
 Thou shalt be blessed, moreover, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith were blessed
 Those twelve constellations of the Zodiac.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 Wherewith the five sensory organs ⁵⁾ were blessed.
 Moreover thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing bestowed on heavens and earth;
 And they blessed the covering of Smandriel ⁶⁾-'Uthra
 And spread it out. Then thou shalt be blessed,

¹⁾ Šittia.

²⁾ Or "postulants"?

³⁾ "Watersprings", i.e. the sacramental drink.

⁴⁾ The spirit of blossom, see p. 272, n. 3.

⁵⁾ Gidia.

⁶⁾ The "covering" is over the earth only, since here it must mean vegetation, the province of Smandriel.

Our father, with that blessing wherewith
 The two pure mountains are blessed,
 In which (lie?) outstretched ¹⁾ the earth and sky,
 And they do not move, and are not removed.
 (Neither) shall be removed this kana d-zidqa and Table
 From thy house, Adam-Yuhana, son of Sam.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing bestowed upon the First Word,
 Assigned to 'uthras and škinata.
 And on beholding the First Word,
 The 'uthras and škinata all rose from their thrones,
 And addressed a hymn to Him saying to Him,
 "Our father! the Guardian of Truth (Kuṣṭa) hath blessed thee
 And the Nasiruta from which thou camest into being hath blessed thee.

Our father! the Cloud that gave thee being blesseth thee
 And a sublime Beam-of-Light will establish thee".
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith the holy Tanna was blessed,
 And by which the three hundred thousand 'uthras
 Who sit on the bank of the Tanna are blessed.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith Šihmai ²⁾ was blessed,
 The Pure Mirror into which all the worlds of light gaze.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith the Mystic Vein was blessed,
 And it was divided into three hundred and sixty thousand channels,

And was given to the 'uthras and škinata.
 And 'uthras and škinata shine therein,
 And are established thereby.
 And thine appearance, our father, shall shine
 Just as 'uthras and škinata shine, and thou wilt be established,
 And plants (offspring) will be raised up unto thee,
 Thy sons, like those. There came a glory
 Which resteth on 'uthras, and it shall come and shall rest upon
 thee,

¹⁾ The probable meaning is that from these two mountains a wide horizon, sky and earth, lies extended below?

²⁾ ŠHM = to beam, gleam.

Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam!
 Then, our father, thou shalt be blessed
 With that blessing wherewith are blessed
 Fruits, grapes and trees, and that conferred on
 The beloved 'uthra. And the beloved 'uthra
 Blessed the plants, his children: he gave them strength
 And increase and water.
 Then thou, our father, shalt be blessed,
 With that blessing wherewith was blessed
 The holy Splendour (Banner) ¹⁾: it was endowed with radiance
 From beginning to end, and to the 'uthras
 It gave the pure Word which they speak
 And which they hear (and obey).
 Hence those 'uthras blessed the holy Banner.
 And they come and bless thee ²⁾,
 And hymn thee, our father. They shed radiance,
 They blessed thee and the škinia of the mighty (Life)
 Blessed thee, and the great Tree which is all-healing. ³⁾
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith were blessed
 The Seven Ships ⁴⁾ which float and traverse the Dwellings.
 Thou shalt have progress-onward ⁵⁾ like those Ships.
 And thou shalt have speech and hearing
 Like the 'uthras who dwell in them.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith are blessed
 Books and reliable teachings; moreover, our father,
 Thou shalt be blessed with the blessing
 Which 'uthras pronounced upon Yawar
 When he brought his treasure and came towards them.
 Those 'uthras who blessed Yawar
 Will come and bless thee and hymn thee
 Saying to thee "(O) Advent of a pure Mirror! (Thou art)
 Chief of all enlightened beings!"

²⁾ D.C. 3, (297 : 1) has "bless us".

³⁾ Lit. "all healings".

⁴⁾ The planetary ships. The illustrations to D.A. show the planetary ships and their occupants.

⁵⁾ Sagia (a) way, moving forward, "procedure" etc. (b) "abundance" "plenty".

They pronounce blessings in the jordan
 (*Saying*²) "An Overlord¹) (?) of fair mirrors (art thou),
 Bestower of blessing in the jordan,
 And an Establisher²) (?) of all purities"³).
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 With that blessing wherewith holy manas were blessed.
 And the holy manas blessed the jordan of living waters
 Which they drew down hither and it cometh from its place.
 (So also) may kana d-zidqa and Table
 Be drawn to and come to thy house,
 Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam!
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith was blessed
 Sindiriawis, jordan of living waters,
 That was drawn down⁴) to the Earth and given
 To Adam, the first man.
 And a kana d-zidqa and Table will come
 To thy house, our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam,
 Like the Sindiriawis, jordan of living waters
 Which overflow⁵) and come (hither). (In like manner)
 They will come, and a kana d-zidqa will come
 And the Table and (all manner of) good things⁶)
 And will flow abundantly to thy house,
 Our father, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing which the three Vines bestowed
 Upon the holy Mana, imparting to Him strength and increase.
 They said to Him, "Go, appoint vines like thyself
 (Vines) which they have blessed (consecrated?) to the Holy Mana".
 (And they will come and will bless thee (also), our father! ⁷))
 "With Thy strength, (O) conquering Radiance!
 And conquering is the Cloud⁸) from which thou didst derive being".

¹) Should probably be šaliḡun d as translated.

²) Should probably be mḡaimanun d-zakwata as translated.

³) The hymn is obscure and translation tentative.

⁴) Or "flowed", "spread".

⁵) Both MSS have a miswriting — ṭatin for ṭafin (perhaps for d-atin)

⁶) I.e. foods for the ritual table.

⁷) This reads as if in parenthesis.

⁸) I.e. the "Spouse", i.e. the Mother.

Rejoice, our father rejoice! rejoice in thy škinta!
 Rejoice in the Plants, thy sons!
 How great is the glory of thy banner!
 Thy brightness our father, waxeth and increaseth
 Over thy škinta and all the 'uthras!,
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith was blessed
 The Pure Pearl, and she came and dwelt in the generations.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith were blessed
 The Three Wellsprings of Radiance,
 Whose light is lent to one another.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith is blessed
 The fair ¹⁾ Radiance, whose like is not found
 In the worlds and generations.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith was blessed
 The pure Kimša ²⁾ in which there is no fault
 Or falsehood, from which 'uthras had being,
 And from which polished mirrors appeared.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father,
 With that blessing wherewith
 A Mystic Emanation ³⁾ was blessed,
 And the Mystic Emanation blessed the Ether Earth ⁴⁾
 And established the corporate forms ⁵⁾ that dwelt therein.
 Then thou shalt be blessed, our father.
 With that blessing they bestowed
 Upon the Cloud Šarat. And thee (likewise)
 Will they come and bless: they will hymn thee and say to thee,
 "O Son of Treasures of Radiance! ⁶⁾
 O Son of škinata ⁷⁾ of the mighty (Life)

¹⁾ The adjective indicates that which commands reverence and admiration, hence "holy", "fair", "valuable" and "important" are legitimate translations. In Mandaic it cannot be translated "heavy" in the literal sense.

²⁾ Kimša, see p. 119, n. 2.

³⁾ See p. 271, n. 2.

⁴⁾ The immaterial world is meant, a counterpart of the earth.

⁵⁾ 'Ušṭunia.

⁶⁾ Or "thoughts of radiance".

⁷⁾ Here perhaps "indwellings of" etc.

O Son of banners erect (firmly set),
 Who goest towards thy Father! Thou art steadfast ¹⁾,
 Alterest not, nor changest aught
 Of that which the Life hath given thee.
 Evil (spirits) never held thee back!
 Thou dost walk according to the word of the wicked.
 Ruha was no enchantress ²⁾ for thee (?)
 Nor did she cast thee into her dark cauldrons!"
 And Life is victorious over all works

[This prayer, for the blessed "priest's portion" (?) ³⁾ is for a postulant, and the booth⁴⁾ (?), Parwanaiia, a book⁵⁾ and the Great Baptism. ⁶⁾]

379

Health, purity and forgiving of sins be there for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Sam!
 Thy propitiatory gift shall provide thy portion.
 For each one (for whom) thou didst intercede and help over,
 And didst pile up ⁷⁾ (gifts) here, Manda-d-Hiia will lay up
 A thousand thousand (gifts) in the world of light.
 Thou wilt have joy of heart, ease of body and fulness of hand!
 And thou shalt clothe with garments and cover with coverings ⁸⁾;
 Shalt break bread into fragments and set it in place,
 Shalt recite masiqtas, celebrate Oblation and make ṭabuta (ritual meals).

¹⁾ This should be šarii, as translated and indicated by the context.

²⁾ La huat lak ruha baznaqita D.C. 53 (437: penult.), D.C. 3 (306: penult.) baznarita. "Ruha was not to thee an aznaqita". As a second meaning under ܐܢܩ J. gives "to make a person's mouth water". Here perhaps "to make lovesick", or "desirous". This meaning fits Ruha's character as representing physical desires.

³⁾ Hilita = (a) propitiatory gift, propitiation (b) a gift to the priest. (J. Pl. HLY "to make sweet by a gift", "propitiate"). See p. 113, n. 5.

⁴⁾ Saka is a word used for the novice's booth. Gifts of money are given to the priests for the novice-priest.

⁵⁾ A zidqa brika should be celebrated by the copyist on completing a holy book. A sheep is killed for a lofani in which he and those who commissioned the copying share.

⁶⁾ Three hundred and sixty baptisms, necessary to expiate a serious pollution.

⁷⁾ Amart (ܐܡܪ) may have this meaning here as it is with nidgar.

⁸⁾ I.e. perform the ceremony known as Ahaba d-Mania, a zidqa brika performed for one who dies naked or in lay dress; a proxy wearing the rasta for the deceased.

Then strength, soundness and victory will be thine;
 And goodness, beauty, repute, honour,
 Glory, aid, speech and hearing; such as that
 Which the Life, His Father, gave to Yawar and Tauriel.
 And which Yawar and Tauriel bestowed on Hibil-Ziwa;
 And Hibil-Ziwa came and blessed three 'uthras
 And the three 'uthras blessed Adam and all his descendants.
 With that blessing shalt thou be blessed, our father,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam.
 Moreover, we bless thee for ¹⁾ the Unique Great Sacred (Being)
 Whose name is called "the great Mighty Mana (Mind)".
 When He came into being, formed Himself in His own perfection,
 Alone, in His škinta, for with Him there was no companion.
 Then He, the Great Mighty Intelligence pondered
 Within mighty inner Eggs that are hidden
 And created Companionship for Himself.
 In the beginning, He uttered a first cry ²⁾
 And created four hundred and forty-four thousand 'uthras
 And set them upon His right.
 With his second Cry ³⁾ he created three hundred and sixty-six-
 Thousand ³⁾ 'uthras and set them at His left.
 And at His third Cry he called into being
 Twenty-four thousand 'uthras and set them
 Before Himself. And He clothed them in His radiance
 And covered them with His light;
 And placed upon their heads outflowings ⁴⁾ of Radiance and light
 And created for them wreaths in the likeness of
 His (own) wreath, the Great Mighty Mana's.
 He placed in their hands a staff of living water
 And established in their right hand
 The holy handclasp of troth ⁵⁾.
 He spoke with his pure mouth
 And blessed them with his honest tongue
 And with faithful lips of radiance, light and glory.

¹⁾ Probably originally "The U.G.S.M. blesseth thee" - see p. 306.

²⁾ Qrita = "a calling-forth", "a creation"; "a cry".

³⁾ A gloss in D.C. 53 has "and six".

⁴⁾ Taufia lit. "overflowings".

⁵⁾ The act of kušṭa.

He created habitations (škinata)¹⁾ for them
 And drew down jordans of living water for them
 And said to them, "Ye shall rejoice and be glad
 In your škinata ¹⁾, like a jordan (river) of living water
 Your consort ²⁾ will resemble the Cloud ³⁾ (divine Spouse)
 From which ye came into existence,
 And your perfume and sweet odour like the fragrance ⁴⁾ of 'uthras.
 And a škinia was created: it was founded, it was, it appeared
 Of itself. It was a great Canopy (or pavilion?)
 For the Great Unique Holy One,
 A canopy of radiance, light and glory
 Which was all eyes.
 In the (eyes? ⁵⁾)
 It stretched out before Him, so that
 It doth not reveal to them, the 'uthras, His appearance.
 Then the Great Mighty Intelligence (Mana) planned and created
 Vast and pure worlds of light.
 Jordans He deployed, He made škinata ¹⁾
 Installed ⁶⁾ 'uthras and appointed ašgandia ⁷⁾
 Chief of these (ašgandia) envoys before Him
 Was Adakas, "the Great Word" is his name;
 For he is a "go-between", taking out ⁸⁾ praise,
 Blessing, prayer, heedfulness and enlightenment ⁹⁾.
 And them he giveth and he bestoweth on the jordan
 His blessing. So the 'uthras arise, worship his name
 And praise his title: they do not oppose his calling (name)
 For he, (as) the ašganda (envoy), receiveth the praise of the 'uthras
 And conveyeth it into the presence of the Great Mighty Mana
 And layeth it up in His treasure-house.
 Then those seven-hundred and seventy-eight thousand 'uthras,
 Who were created by the Second Cry of the Life, will bless thee.

¹⁾ Or "sanctuaries" the word has its customary vagueness!

²⁾ Or "companion"?

³⁾ "Spouse"? See p. 37, n. 4.

⁴⁾ Rba ḡ-'utria (in both mss.) should surely be riha ḡ-'utria as translated here.

⁵⁾ D.C. 3 (303:13) bania ptahibh, D.C. 53 (441:2) bainia ptahibh? Obscure.

⁶⁾ D.C. 3 uahib 'utria, D.C. 53 uauhb 'utria

⁷⁾ The Akkadian aš-gan-du meaning "Messenger", "ambassador" conveys the meaning of a "go between", "an envoy" and ašganda here is exactly that: "an intermediary", a "go-between".

⁸⁾ D.C. 3 mafaq.

⁹⁾ Or, "glory and vigilance".

By Them, and from those 'uthras one 'uthra was singled out,
 Younger than his brethren and older than his fathers.
 They assigned to him ¹⁾ his name, "Mahzian ²⁾)-the-Word,"
 That is Yuzaṭaq ³⁾ Manda-ḡ-Hiia is his name —
 And he gave them prayer and praise, (so as)
 To furnish the 'uthras in the Divine Presence ⁴⁾
 With praise (befitting) the worship
 Of their Father, the Great, Mighty Mana.
 And a messenger came to them, an envoy from the Presence
 Of their Father, the Great Mighty Mana, (saying)
 "The 'uthras' prayer is acceptable ⁵⁾ in the Presence
 Of your Father, and your prayer fitting
 In the eyes of ⁶⁾ the Chief of Envoys,
 The Messenger who came to Mahzian-the-Word,
 To rectify the rites of 'uthras, (to purge them)
 From fault and to put in order the worlds of light".
 Then the great Mighty Mana, when summoning Manda-ḡ-Hiia
 From His left, seated him on His right,
 And pronounced blessing on him and made him —
 — The younger brother, more reverend than his parents —
 Made him ruler over mighty and celestial worlds of light,
 Over jordans and running streams
 And over all dwellings, in order to regulate and to station
 The 'uthras in their (appointed) places.
 And by his brother-'uthras he is called "the Capable".
 Manda-ḡ-Hiia called three 'uthras and blessed them.
 And he summoned his elder brother Hibil-Ziwa
 And clothed him with his radiance
 And covered him with his light and shed on him
 Some of his glory, and held him (by the hand)
 In the presence of the great and mighty Mana,
 And said to him "At thy command have I summoned him,
 And I wish to send him to the worlds of darkness,
 To the powers of Siniawis, the under-world".
 The great Mighty Mana blessed Hibil-Ziwa,

²⁾ Mahzian, a spirit who bestows sight?

³⁾ Yuzaṭaq = Yuzadaq (Holy-Spirit? Spirit of righteousness?).

⁴⁾ Lit. Their Presence, i.e. the Divine Presence.

⁵⁾ Lit. "is accepted."

⁶⁾ Lit. "in the presence of", "before".

Gave him lofty strength and aid.
 And Hibil-Ziwa said "I will come,
 And with me will come Habšaba (Sunday)
 And Kana-d-Zidqa. With me will come lofty strength
 And help: with me will come sixty-six jordan,
 And within each jordan nine hundred and ninety-nine
Škinata. And in each škinta
 Fifty thousand 'uthras will dwell!"
 With that blessing thou art blessed, our father,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam! Moreover the mystic
 Well-ordered and well-ordering Mana will bless thee,
 And the hidden (unseen) and watchful 'uthras will bless thee,
 For their names abide in the secret and guarded place
 The radiance of which burneth and its light
 Was set up for all the 'uthras of the Ether-world.
 They acknowledge and praise it and the Great Life also
 Who is concealed in praise (addressed) to Itself ¹⁾ (?).
 Praised be all generations of living beings
 Which issue therefrom and exist and praise
 That mystic Intelligence, and the Radiance which burneth,
 And the Light set up in the great Presence of primal Glory
 In the Place where They sit, speak and are obeyed.
 (Yea), concerning everything that Ye have planned,
 Word came, and was obeyed in each aerial world!
 So also shalt thou speak and be heard, our father!
 Thou wilt ask, and it will be answered thee
 By that mystic and (all-) arranging Intelligence,
 For all that He planneth cometh into being.
 For He made, and establisheth before Him,
 Sixty worlds of light: when He spoke there came into being
 The 'uthras of the Ether-world, with their mysteries
 And their own speech.
 And then the mystic Intelligence, who giveth to every individual
 Strength and glory, appointed an 'uthra,
 An organizer, a great and lofty teacher of Truth,
 A pleasing being, an Enlightener,
 And He set him up as chief of all the 'uthras,
 And granted him speech and hearing so that

¹⁾ Or meaning perhaps addressed to the Mana?

He speaketh with him and he heareth Him,
 And He gave him dominion, and (granted him)
 To speak and be heard, from yonder radiance¹⁾ unto the depths of the earth.

With that blessing thou shalt be blessed, our father
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam.

Moreover, the Tree *Štarwan*²⁾ shall bless thee,
 From which proceeded wreaths of radiance,
 Light and glory for the Great mighty Mana.

Then that supreme Vine shall bless thee,
 That which was revealed from below the First Vine *Ruaz*³⁾.

It came to the earth (world) of Tarwan

And Nšab gave it to Tauriel-'Uthra

Who extended it over the Ether-earth.

And he made gushings forth of water

And made it flow to the world

Of sons of Perfection.

Then the First Life will bless thee,

And the Second Life will bless thee;

Manda-d-Hiia will bless thee

And the pure Yušamin⁴⁾ will bless thee.

All the 'uthras of the world of light will bless thee;

Sons of Perfection will bless thee;

Šilmay and Nedbay will bless thee;

Hibil, Šitil and Anuš will bless thee;

Abathur of the Scales will bless thee;

The Place that is all radiance and beams of light

Will bless thee. Those who are covered

With holy and well-kept garments will bless thee.

Radiant beings, lights and beams of light will bless thee,

And 'uthras, škinata and jordans.

Vigilance will bless thee, and the praise-giving

In which all 'uthras shine. Holy, predestinate,

Calm and perfected manas will bless thee,

And the Fellowship which existeth in the škinata will bless thee,

¹⁾ D.C. 3 (308 : 2) mn hibil-ziwa; D.C. 53 (445 : ult) has mn lhil ziwa, the latter being the more probable version.

³⁾ Ruaz (He-flourished, sprouted) is mentioned in Prayers 71 (a Vine,) 117 and 196.

That (their?) praise of the great First Life
 Will bless thee, Those mystic sproutings (emanations)
 Which bloomed at the word of the Great (Life) bless thee.
 That pure Vestment will bless thee, and that union
 That was knit together and cannot be divided, will bless thee.
 That mana ¹⁾ of glory which was blessed with a hidden blessing
 Will bless thee, for those who sit within it will bless thee.
 Yon pure great Vein will bless thee
 And the Tongue which hath no ceasing will bless thee.
 Those multitudinous ones who sit in pure glory
 And converse in speech which is not mortal, will bless thee.
 The Enduring Place in which they dwell will bless thee, ²⁾
 The Place whose glory is great will bless thee.
 That predestinate, pure Being, whose form sheddeth light
 Will bless thee. That mighty (Being) ³⁾ of radiance
 Will bless thee, that well-ordered and well-ordering One
 Will bless thee. All gentle voices, all bright banners ⁴⁾
 Will bless thee: those secret prayers will bless thee,
 And those columns ⁵⁾ of white water will bless thee.
 And the Vein of pre-existent Ether will bless thee.
 Yon pure Sam-Ziwa, whom the First Life created in secret
 Will bless thee, and that 'Uṣṭuna ⁶⁾ (Body) will bless thee
 Which dwelleth in the pre-existent Ether
 From which all 'uthras of the Ether-world proceeded
 And which they worship and praise.
 It created Ether, (It) created 'uthras for Itself,
 For Itself It created 'uthras,
 And dwellings (škinata) and lovely manas
 Proceeded from It. It will bless thee,
 That sublime Ether, from which there came to life ⁷⁾
 A living flame. And it is incorporated in all 'uthras
 And (in?) all that exists. Its name in secret and its appellation

¹⁾ Here mana must have its Semitic (Aramaic) meaning, i.e. "robe", "garment" or "vessel". Play on this word is implied.

²⁾ D.C. 3 (310 : 1 f.) has atra ḡ-naṣṣa ṣauthi unibirbak hanik rurbia ḡ-ziwa nibirkak hanik sdria umsadria etc.

 Whose form not one of the uthras beholdeth.
 And that great Vine which standeth in the presence
 Of the Lord of Greatness, will bless thee.
 The great body (corporation) of Pirawis will bless thee:
 The Treasurer of the world of light will bless thee
 And the pure mountain the radiance of which shineth forth
 And its light flameth, will bless thee.
 All these names will bless thee, our father,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam!
 Moreover, thou wilt be blessed with the blessing
 Pronounced in the Jordan and in the land of Hauraran,
 The great land of light. And upon thee shall rest
 Its glory and joy, that which abideth in the Innermost ²⁾.
 On account ³⁾ of its magnificence they rejoice, embrace one another

 Thy fragrance will be sweet like the scent
 Of trees of the world of light. Thy brightness
 Will break forth and thy light shine out
 In the earthly world like flashings of radiance,
 And beams of light, going forth to bring into existence
 And illumine a thousand thousand
 And eight hundred and eighty-eight thousand myriads
 Of mighty and celestial worlds of light.
 Thou wilt arise in the name of Life
 And wilt walk in the road of the upright.
 Mighty ones, sitting in glory, the living,

¹⁾ The prototype of a priest who initiates postulants.

²⁾ Status constructus of giuta is unexpected, as the sentence ends here.
 It was probably suggested to the writer by the frequent expression giwat
'qara, especially as 'qara occurs in the following line.

³⁾ Himat for mn himat.

⁴⁾ Freely translated; i.e., perform the kušṭa rite.

Will ask about thee, and living (souls) will discuss thee
 With praise of the Mighty Life.
 Filled with glory will thy heart be,
 And its joy rightly directed.
 And thou wilt ask and wilt find
 In the presence of the Great Life,
 Thou wilt speak and thou wilt be heard
 In the name of Yukabar-Kušṭa.
 And thy fame will be the fame of the Life
 And thy renown will be the renown of Yukabar-Kušṭa.
 And thine appearance will be (like unto)
 The appearance of mighty 'uthras, sons of light.
 Thou wilt be made great with the greatness of Manda-ḡ-Hiia.
 On earth thou wilt be as one of the 'uthras,
 And on earth thou wilt be named as
 One of the men (who were) the first Chosen Elect.
 Thou wilt be great and lofty, (they will ascribe to thee?)
 Fame and (good) taste, (name thee) head of the age,
 And thou wilt be a father of honour, who provideth
 His friends and the elect and the distinguished,
 With viaticum, (thou wilt be one) who appointeth
 'Uthras in their place and helpers of the Chosen
 Whose Signs were taken from the jordan.
 (Thou wilt be) the support of the discerning
 Who discern with their minds;
 The helping hand of the perfect
 Who, from first to last, establish perfection.
 The guide of sons loving the fellowship of Life,
 The deliverer of the righteous who are

 Thy perfume, our father, is fragrant; thine appearance
 Is effulgent and giveth out light.
 Thy presence giveth joy.
 Thou makest thy conversation alien to ²⁾ the worlds (the worldly) (?)

 Thy speech will delight and be pleasing
 And will resemble (that of) the worlds of life.

And thy words be like radiance, light and glory.
 Thou wilt seek an earthly dwelling:
 Thou wilt ask for and tread out roads to the Place of Light.
 Manda-d-Hiia will set up for thee a kana d-zidqa
 And a Table in thine own house, our father.
 And thy basket, so that it is filled with bread,
 And thy cup, so that it is filled with mambuga ¹⁾

 Thou wilt gather together friends,
 Wilt satisfy the hungry and refresh souls.
 Then came the glory of Life! It will rest on thee
 And the Likeness of the Great (Life) will protect thee
 From all that is hateful.
 Thy radiance will shine forth with the sun,
 Thine effulgence with the moon and thy glittering
 With the stars. Thy strength will be like

 Thy pleasantness like (that of) pure air ²⁾.
 And thy glory like fire.
 All the planets and the Twelve Gates ³⁾
 That look on thee will bow themselves before thee.
 Care will remove itself from thy heart
 And sighing from thy thought. Thou wilt have
 Joy of heart, wilt speak and be heard,
 Wilt ask, and there will be granted thee
 The strength of gods, with the command of angels.
 Thou wilt seek in the day and find by night.
 We will confirm thy speech in thy mouth
 And will set up thy throne in majesty.
 Thou wilt be the companion of the perfect
 And friend of the righteous and believing.
 The words of thy mouth will bring thee victory
 And thy good fortune will rejoice thee.
 Thou wilt act and succeed, wilt be on trial
 And be vindicated; wilt strive and wilt attain.
 Thy strength will be that of the storm-wind:

 Great is thy blessing! Nevertheless, I (too) have blessed thee

 Manda-ḡ-Hiia blessed thee with a true tongue of praise.
 I have blessed thee with lips of flesh,

 Light and glory.
 When thou bearest him to the earth ³⁾

 Of the elect righteous being who passeth over us!"

In the name of the Life!

I worship, praise and laud that great mystic First Jordan
 From which there was praisegiving,
 And its brightness inspired the 'uthras.
 From it living waters came into being
 And its light reinforced all light-beams.
 From it resulted the enlightenment of the 'uthras:
 In it they rejoice, and from it a wellspring of radiance
 Came into being. From it, fruits, grapes and trees
 Came to life; from it pihta (bread) derived its existence.
 And it was broken and given to the One Great First Mana.
 And He, the Great First Mana was invigorated thereby ³⁾
 And worlds of light, 'uthras and all škinata
 Refresh themselves therewith,
 Exist (live) and flourish.
 And they worship and give praise.
 Glory, serenity ⁴⁾ and delight come upon them;
 They rejoice, are glad, laugh and make merry,
 Exult and disport themselves.
 And on thee (too), our great, lofty and respected father,
 Glory, bliss, perception and felicity will rest.
 Yea, that jordan will bless thee

 water,
 Tunics of righteousness cover thee.
 On thy head he set a wreath, a wreath of praise,
 For 'uthras and škinata are twined³⁾ into the leaves of thy wreath."
 Moreover the Great Unique Sacred One ⁴⁾ will bless thee,
 Whose throne they set up at the kana d-zidqa.
 He measureth ⁵⁾ the pious offering of each individual
 And according to his works, He recompenseth him.
 He delighteth in the Chosen Elect and bestoweth raiment of light.
 And four Beings, Sons of perfection, bless thee,
 They who guard treasures of life and confer
 Garments of radiancy on the elect who dwell in the world.

¹⁾ Utnašat in both texts. Either "was great", "increased", or perhaps "refreshed"?

²⁾ D.C. 3 [323 : 9 inserts before nimarlak (read nimarulah ?)] Probably a miscopying.

³⁾ A play on words, mitgadlia also means "glorified".

⁴⁾ See p. 292. He is identified with the Mana Rba Kabira and with Adakas.

⁵⁾ D.C. 53 is defective here: D.C. 3 (323 : antpenult.) has ukaiil zidqa d 'niš 'niš.

It is they who make abundant ¹⁾ thine oblation and thy Table
Which is set before thy brother-priests.

All thy brother-priests gather about thee
And open their mouths, all of them, in a loud voice,
With acclamation, prayer and praise, they bless thee,
Hymn thee and say to thee, "All that thou doest will be rightly ordered:

All thy vines ²⁾ will give light,
And in all thy works there will be nought lacking or in fault.
And some of the blessing of the mighty First Life
Will rest upon thee."

And Life is victorious.

381

Darkness is crushed back into the Dark ³⁾:
Light is established in its place.
Life hath accepted your prayer
And 'uthras have received your praise,
In the name of Šarhabiel, the First Great Radiance,
To support the Great Mana at His Place;
And to uphold the hands of good people.
There shall be healing (power) of Life
And blessing upon this kana d-zidqa and thy Table,
Our father, Adam-Yuhana, son of Sam!
We establish thy consecration ⁴⁾ (as ganzibra)
And thy confirmer ⁵⁾ ratifieth thy consecration
In the world of light. And thy confirmer is sinless,
Thine advent is ⁶⁾ with sinless ones ⁷⁾ and thy confirmer sinless.
Come! as (one) fulfilled, deemed worthy, and established
In future honour and ample blessing.

²⁾ By "vines," the ganzibra's pupils, postulants to priesthood or his sons, are meant.

³⁾ See prayer 103, p. 102, n. 1.

⁴⁾ Tarša, taraša (lit. a "setting-up") is a ceremony of dedication or consecration, e.g. of the cult-hut before a masiqa, of the "crown" when set on the head of a new priest, and of a ganzibra newly appointed to office.

⁵⁾ Mqaimana here is the celebrant at the service of consecration of the new ganzibra. He must himself be a ganzibra.

⁶⁾ Or "induction", his coming as ganzibra.

⁷⁾ Ritually clean priests and head priest.

He will be possessor of fee and alms ¹⁾ (flowing like)
 The great rill of Water of Life which was drawn down (hither)
 And came from its Place. Tauriel-'uthra drew down to earth
 (Those waters) which come and come; come and cease not;
 They are never cut off, or lacking, or deficient.
 (In like manner) this kana d-zidqa and Table
 Shall never lack or be wanting in thy house,
 Adam-Yuhana son of Sam, our father,
 For an age of ages and for ever.
 And Life is victorious over all works!

[Then they shall set up the table ²⁾ of Blessed Oblation in (on) the altar-table ³⁾. And when they finish the dedicatory prayer ⁴⁾ the ganzibra takes the phial of wine ⁵⁾ and reciteth the hymn "Vines shone in the water", and he poureth ⁶⁾ (the wine) into the drinking-bowl and giveth it to the baruka ⁷⁾ and the two witnesses.]

382

In the Name of the Great Life!

Vines shone in the waters:
 Mighty ones were confirmed ⁸⁾
 For perfecting, for clearing the waters,
 Establishing Your likeness and giving us light
 Let your radiance shine upon us, great 'uthras!
 Shine, shine forth, come in mystic transfiguration ⁹⁾,

¹⁾ Agra uzidqa, "reward and oblation" i.e. fees received by priests for their services, and offerings in kind and money brought to them by the faithful.

²⁾ As I have seen this rite, I can explain the nature of "table" here. It is the earthen tray, or small earthen altar-table (tariana) on which the ritual food is laid out.

³⁾ The larger altar-table (tariana) on which the smaller (see n. 2) is placed.

⁴⁾ Qaianta.

⁵⁾ Water in which grapes or raisins have been macerated.

⁶⁾ (Cf. Hif היריק).

⁷⁾ The priest who has recited the foregoing prayers of blessing for a ganzibra.

⁸⁾ This prayer (given in another form in Studi e Testi 176, p. 64) is hopelessly garbled. D.C. 3 (326 : 7) has (for lka lhil in the latter) lkalh (D.C. 53 divides the word on two lines.) My translation in Š. d-Q. was governed by the variations. Hence for mitqaram which here obviously refers to the elevation of the ganzibra, I had "were established" (here). See also Prayer 177.

⁹⁾ bhulfa kasia. In the Š. d-Q. I translated "instead of concealing it". I think the translation given above may be the truer, but the whole prayer is obscure.

Let your radiance shine forth and the radiance of the king.

Let your fragrance come and overpower (us with its sweetness)

[This hymn the ganzibra shall pronounce over the wine-bowl, giving it to the baruka (blessor) and to the two witness.]

383

In the name of the Great Life!

On the day that Hibil-Ziwa

Walked with Yawar,

Myrtle with them was plentiful,¹⁾

Plentiful was the myrtle,

And to Yawar he gave it,

Into his right hand.

And he said to him,

"Take from me fresh myrtle

And pronounce blessing in the škinata

Its blessing pronounce in the škinata.

Then Yawar opened his mouth,

Blessing Hibil-Ziwa, blessing Hibil-Ziwa

And said to him, "Blessed art thou,

Our father, Hibil-Ziwa!

Like the myrtle that is in thy right hand

Thy Root shall flourish

Like the root of fresh myrtle:

And thou shalt have strength and increase

Like the living waters"²⁾.

[The "blessers" recite this hymn and give myrtle to the ganzibra.]

384

Myrtle, myrtle! The king took it;

The king was surrounded by the perfume of myrtle,

The king was surrounded by myrtle-perfume,

And blessing Hibil-Ziwa,

He said, blessing Hibil-Ziwa,

"Blessed art thou, our father Hibil-Ziwa,

Who hast brought this plant of fresh myrtle

And hast set it up in the dwellings of 'uthras.

¹⁾ There is a characteristic play of words on the two meanings of SGA.

²⁾ There are variants of the myrtle-hymns: I translated some in Studi e Testi, 176, p. 65.

The dwellings shine in its brightness
And delight in its fragrance for ever ¹⁾.

[The ganzibra recites this hymn and taketh the myrtle from the "blessers".]

385

In the name of the Great Life!

All who inhale thy perfume and are crowned ²⁾ by thee

Sixty heinous sins will fall away from him.

And all pure spouses will be made perfect, ³⁾

Delivered from evil actions.

(Those) who twine the wreaths and set them on our heads ⁴⁾

Will arise without spot and behold the Place of Light.

(The ganzibra reciteth this prayer over the myrtle, ⁵⁾ inhaleth its fragrance and giveth it to the šganda (acolyte) to smell, and to the "blessers" and all persons present; then he throweth the myrtle into the jordan and (folds and) putteth away the banner. And (then) they "honour their crowns.") ⁶⁾

Note. — Here D. C. 3 p. 328 has a colophon which begins: —

These are the prayers for the pihtania (breads) and all the blessings of the Blessed Oblation which I copied for my brothers and parents so that there may be support and a guardian for us on earth and forgiving of sins before the Life, my Parents, in the worlds of light, so that they may be instructed therein. I am poor, lowly... etc.

(Note. — Before No. 386 D.C. 3 inserts "In the name of the Great Life! On the day that Radiance appeared" etc. Prayer No. 414, p. 316).

²⁾ D.C. 3 (327 : ult.) ubgauak miḥkarak; D.C. 53 (468 : 1) ubgauak miḥkarkia. For the rendering "crowned" (certainly applicable here) see p. 230, n. 4.

³⁾ D.C. 3 (328 : 2) miṣtalmibak; D.C. 53 (468 : 2) miṣtalman, (jem).

⁴⁾ D.C. 3 (328 : 4) ubriṣaian; D.C. 53 (468 : 3) briṣaiia.

⁵⁾ These myrtle prayers and the ritual inhalation recall the Persian barsom rite. Its perfume was apparently inhaled ritually and was also a symbol of kingliness as appears in the Shahnameh (Shāhnāmeḥ, ed. Sa'id Nafisī, Teherān, 1914, vol. 9, p. 2995, 1.496 ff.). In this passage the king asks for barsom when food is offered: "food should be taken (only) when barsom is there". His request for barsom reveals that he is the king and results in his death.

⁶⁾ I.e., take off their "crowns" and kiss them, see p. 28, n. 3.

386

See Prayer No. 329.

(The rubric differs slightly, so I give it)

[This is a hymn for consecration of crowns on the Sunday when the ganzibra wishes to consecrate the cotton crowns for the priests. Wearing his vestments, with the (novice's) vestments and the crowns in his right hand and his staff in his left, he goes to the bank of the jordan, grasping the crowns which he wishes to consecrate together with his own in his right hand. Then, after performing ritual ablution in the jordan, he approaches the cult-hut and examines each (item) of the vestments, and recites the 'Salutation' at the Door of Mercies (i.e. facing North), to (as many) kings as he is able. After that he shall recite this hymn once over each crown. And Life is victorious!]¹⁾

In the Name of the Great Life!

Health, victory and forgiving of sins be there for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš, who have prayed this prayer and (these) Devotions. Forgiving of sins be there for a man whose eyes wait upon his Father and whose thought is directed to the Life and whose mind doth not stray from Knowledge-of-Life.

Poor am I who make this petition: a lowly man who hath kept aloof from the Seven. And I say "O Lord of the lofty firmament, (O) Being who accepteth request, receive my prayer and my praise here; guide it with Thy directing (power), grant me a place in Thy Place, give me a dwelling in Thy world. Do not question me about my sins and the burden which hath weighed down my soul in this world. Behold me, who have sought purification before Thee! Look on me, who have borne persecution for Thy name! End for me acts of violence, for I am Thy servant and Thy child. Now I humble myself and my children to Thy name, for I have been true to Thy name, and speak (it) in my heart and talk (of it) in my mind. And I subdue my form and my loins, (O) ¹⁾ superior to all glories, before the pure Light which is above all lights.

And I say, "O Lord of gleaming banners, Lord of mystic books, Lord of "Letters-of-Truth" ²⁾. Lord of prayer and praise, He who uplifteth the prayer of 'uthras and sponsors the praisegiving of kings, Support of prayerful thoughts! Let there be strength and constancy for all lovers of Thy name! Look upon me with Your eyes and pity me in Your heart! Support me with Your strength, clothe me with Your glory, cover me with Your light. Cut me not off from Yourself! And put far from me fear, dread and terror of the seven stars and the twelve constellations: deliver me from the hands of the wicked, and loosen my feet from the bonds of death. Cut me not off from Your presence. Arm me against all that is evil: be for me a bulwark against rebels and a Hand of Truth against the destructive powers of this world. Turn away, repulse from me insecurity¹⁾ (?), poverty, ill-luck, lack of sleep and hours of agitation, an evil day and blows (onslaughts) which occur all the time. Be to me Life in life; give me to drink of freshly-flowing Water of Life. Set up for me a kana d-zidqa, a Table and good fortune so that they are fully supplied²⁾ by Naširutha. And my brethren will be with me and will provide (me with) a peaceful transplanting³⁾: my wife, my plants (children), and my priests shall accomplish it.

I shall depart and come towards You after a (ritually) perfect departure (death), with pure oil⁴⁾, and with the proven Sign; in ripeness of years⁵⁾, without feebleness⁶⁾, in a blessed old age, in my own home⁷⁾.

Look on the plants, marvel at the šualania (those entering the priesthood under tuition); then let there be with You a forgiver of sins for me, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš who have prayed this prayer and these "Devotions". Forgiveness of sins be there for me, for my father and mother, for my teacher, for my wife, for my offspring, for my priests and for all souls who arose at the name of Life and verified the sign of Manda-d-Hiia with pious and believing heart.

Yea, Life, verily Life, life with the victorious there shall be for those love Their name! They will not sever the holy union knit between living ones, with those who know the Life and believe in the Life, and with those who teach us the faith. And Life abideth in Its Dwellings and Life is victorious over all works!

And now (I ask) of Life, Your compassion, Your forgiveness, Your reconciliation⁸⁾ and Your compassion, Yours, Great First Life! Pity, forgive, awake and have compassion upon this my soul, mine, Adam-Yuhana son of Mahnuš who have prayed this prayer and these "Devotions". Let there be forgiveness of sins for me! ²⁾ This is the great Commemoration prayer known as the "Our forefathers". It is usually preceded by the Ṭab ṭaba ṭabīa prayer as in prayer 170. It is recited at every rite for the departed.

³⁾ Noldeke suggested "End" for kimša (root KMS), noting that 'k' and 'q' are often interchangeable. Lidzbarski doubted this interpretation (see J.B. p. 192, n. 1) and in his note to Prayer 126 (M.L. p. 192, n. 1) suggested an "Ort im Jenseits". In Prayer 126 I translated the word "a formation", "taking shape" etc. The word is of a very nebulous meaning. See p. 119, n. 2.

INDEX

Note. On Names

In Mandaean literature spirits, angels, demons, and persons are given names denoting abstract qualities, activities, virtues, vices and so on. The abstract nature of the divine First Cause is divested further of any tinge of anthropomorphism by use of a plural form: It is named Hia, from the verbal root HIA "to exist"; hence it means "existence", "life". To this appellation are attached such adjectives as "First", "Second", "Third", "mighty", "majestic" and "multiform".

Abstract qualities of varied shades of related meaning are covered by the name Kuša, a personification of "truth", "pact", "sincerity", "good faith"; whilst category or species is personified in such names as Adam—"man", "mankind" and Anuš "humanity" "human being".

It is not always possible to discover the original meaning of a name. Most, indeed all of them, derive from a verbal root, or from a substantive. The suffix 'il or 'iil (corresponding to the "iel" of angel-names in English) is often attached to such names, for instance, RHM Rham'il "to love"; Tauri'il (taura, a bull); Nuri'il (nura, fire); Gadfi'il (gadfa, wing) and Gabri'il (gabra, male, man). In magical texts angel and devil-names are legion. In the Canonical Prayers they are comparatively few.
